

'Y' CABINET HEARS PLAN OF CAMPUS PEACE MOVEMENT

Ralph Gardner and Ezra Griffin State What Students Can Do To Outlaw War.

POINT TO LEAGUE'S WORK

Setting forth what students can do to outlaw war, Ralph Gardner and Ezra Griffin addressed the junior-senior Y. M. C. A. cabinet last night.

Following the discussion on war, members of the cabinet voted to support any peace movements which might be started on the campus.

"To take a definite stand against war, groups must first perfect their own organization," stated Griffin, in pointing out what must be done to prevent war.

To Spread Information

In a campaign against warfare, pacifists must disseminate information concerning war, telling how and why it is caused and the place armament manufacturers and capitalists have in starting conflicts, according to Griffin.

"In the third place, any group which wants to inaugurate campaigns against warfare must train real leaders to carry out the movement," said Griffin.

Griffin began his talk by summarizing the military conditions of the world today, laying special stress on the situation in Europe.

Tells League's Work

Ralph Gardner, president of the newly organized Foreign Policy league, spoke to the cabinet on the policy of the league towards war and of the mem-

'Y' MEN TO PLAN SUMMER SESSION

Students Planning to Attend Blue Ridge Conference Will Discuss Program Saturday.

Students interested in attending the annual Blue Ridge student conference, which will meet June 9-18 at Blue Ridge, will convene Saturday in the Y. M. C. A. at 12:00 o'clock to discuss the program of the session.

Statements in regard to Blue Ridge will be made at the meeting by R. B. House, Dean Francis F. Bradshaw, Ed Martin, W. T. Minor, and other individuals who have attended Blue Ridge conferences.

Delegates Chosen

The junior-senior Y. M. C. A. cabinet has appointed a long list of students to serve as delegates to the conference, and these men, together with any other individuals interested in attending are urged to convene at the session in the "Y" Saturday.

The conference this year is the first joint Y. M.-Y. W. C. A. affair that has ever been sponsored at Blue Ridge.

Since the University Y. M. C. A. has acquired a cottage at Blue Ridge, delegates to the campus will not have to pay rent for rooming in the hotel. This will save approximately $10.

Registration fee for the conference is $7, and meals cost approximately $1 a day.

Students will be at the Blue Ridge conference representing women's and men's colleges in 11 of the south-eastern states.

Carolina To Show Films On Children Today

Yale Films On Child Development Begin at 10:30 O'clock.

Two Yale films on child development will be shown this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Carolina theatre. The educational pictures are "A Baby's Day at 48 Weeks" and "From Crawling to Walking."

The first film shows the major events in the day of a 48 week-old baby girl, beginning with the waking at 6:00 o'clock and ending with sleep at 6:30 in the evening. It will show the mother taking care of the baby on all occasions but it also will picture how she gives the child freedom and the opportunity to learn for herself.

The second picture, "From Crawling to Walking," will show the first phases of the change, but will emphasize later stages.

These pictures are the first of a series of films that are being shown here for the girls taking elementary education.

DI WILL CONDUCT DEBATE TRY-OUTS

Preliminary Contest For Bingham Debate to Take Place Soon After Meeting

The Di senate will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in New West. Reports from all committees will be made, and try-outs for the Bingham debate will be held immediately after the meeting.

There will also be a report from the senators who debated the Speakers' club of the Woman's College of the Greater University last night. These debaters are: Senators Ernest Hunt, Reed Sarratt, and Bill Weaver. The subject they debated was Resolved, that co-education is desirable in all branches of the Greater University.

Bingham Debate For Juniors

The plan to open the Bingham debate to all the undergraduate members of both the Di and the Phi has fallen through, and only juniors may take part in it. The subject is: Resolved, that the North Carolina sales tax be repealed.

There will be discussion at this meeting of plans for awarding the certificates of good membership.

The new plan of floor organization will be continued, and if it continues to prove successful there will be a discussion of plans for making it a permanent part of the organization of the senate.

The bills that will be discussed at this meeting are; Resolved, that the Di senate go on record as favoring the Congressional appropriation bill that enlarges the Federal police powers; Resolved, that the University should finish the tennis courts immediately by means of charging students to play on them if necessary; and Resolved, that a general course of American government should be required of all students in the college of liberal arts sometime during their college career.

Law Group Meets Today

The Law association will meet this morning during chapel period in Manning hall. The meeting was originally called for yesterday, but was postponed because of the failure to secure a quorum.

BRADSHAW URGES STUDENT SERVICE

Phil Kind Sets Forth Policies For Coming Year at Frosh "Y" Cabinet Banquet.

"The Y. M. C. A. will make a bigger success of its work on the University campus if it finds and carries out things which need to be done and does not look to see how it is being rated as an organization," stated Dean Francis F. Bradshaw at a banquet of the freshmen Friendship council last night in the Episcopal church.

Bradshaw stated that a man never made a good football player by always looking at the score board and that neither could an organization make a success by always looking to see what people were thinking of it.

"Motives behind an organization are what count," said Bradshaw.

Kind Speaks

Phil Kind, Jr., president of the rising sophomore cabinet, made a brief address setting forth his plans for the coming year.

Kind emphasized carrying out a religious program in the group next year with stress placed on work on the campus. He advocated discussion groups in the regular meetings themselves and the bringing of speakers from other campuses.

Special music was played by Hubert John Liverman, pianist of the Carolina Salon ensemble. Kind was introduced by Charles Daniel of the program committee, who presided.

The supper was provided by the women of the Episcopal church, under the direction of Mrs. R. B. Lawson, Mrs. A. P. Hudson, and Miss Mabel Mallett.

A.I.E.E. WILL MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

Group Will Hear Report on Recent Inspection Tour.

There will be a regular meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in 214 Phillips hall.

The program for this occasion will consist of the presentation of two papers by members of the society. C. M. Garrison will discuss the recent inspection trip which the electrical seniors made to New York. J. R. Marvin has chosen as his subject "A Method of Harmonic Analysis."

The business program at this time will be an election of officers to serve during the next school year.

SPENSER'S WORKS GIVEN TO UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Mrs. Edwin Greenlaw of Baltimore has presented the University library with the valuable Variorum edition of the "Works of Edmund Spenser."

This publication is being issued by the Johns Hopkins University Press in eight volumes. "It comprises an accurate text of the famous author's poetry and prose, and all the important scholarship and literary criticism concerning him," stated R. B. Downs, librarian of the University.

Dr. Edwin Greenlaw, former dean of the University graduate school and later graduate dean at Johns Hopkins, was editor-in-chief of the new Variorum Spenser until his death in 1931.

Playmakers Will Choose Seven Casts Today

Try-outs For Experimentals to Be Conducted at 4:00 O'clock

Try-outs for seven one-act plays will be held at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon in the Playmakers theatre. The casts will have one week in which to rehearse for these experimental productions, which will be presented next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

The dramas are: "The Circuit Rider," a tragi-comedy of Ocracoke Island, by Patsy MacMullen; "Spare-ribs" a comedy of nautical cookery, by Donald Pope; "The Skeleton Rattles His Bones," a modern domestic comedy, by Douglas Hume; "Rich Man! Poor Man" a marxian romance, by Cecilia Allen; "The Golden Wedding," a romantic comedy, by Alton Williams; "Back Page," a newspaper melodrama, by Don Shoemaker; "When Floosies Meet," a farce of pseudo-artists, by Walter Terry.

PHI WILL DEBATE ON RACE BETTING

Members of Assembly to Discuss Betting On Horse Races In N. C. Tonight.

Selected members of the Phi assembly will stage a debate on the question of legal betting in North Carolina at 7:15 o'clock tonight in New East.

The query: Resolved, that parimutual betting on horse racing be permitted in North Carolina, was introduced by Wiley Parker. The question has created a great deal of discussion during the past month following the legalizing of betting in New York state.

Winthrop Durfee, Albert McAnally, and John Frink will uphold the affirmative of the question. Charles Poe, Francis Fairley, and Luther Britt will take the negative.

To Plan Smoker

June Grimes and Winthrop Durfee of the social committee will announce plans tonight for the Phi smoker to be given this week.

After the debate, the following bills will be called for discussion: Resolved, that the president of the student body should receive a stipend for his labors; Resolved, that the Carolina Magazine be published monthly with a magazine cover rather than as a supplement of the DAILY TAR HEEL; and Resolved, that light wines and beer be legalized in North Carolina.

The time of the try-outs for the Bingham debate will be announced at the meeting. Juniors are eligible for this annual debate with the Di senate.

Yackety Yack Meeting

All members of this year's Yackety Yack staff who desire to serve on the staff for next year will meet this afternoon in the Yackety Yack office in Graham Memorial promptly at 2:00 o'clock.

A meeting will be held later in the month for any others who may be interested in working on next year's annual.

COMMERCE FRAT TO DINE TONIGHT

Beta Gamma Sigma Will Initiate Members At Supper.

Beta Gamma Sigma, national scholastic commerce fraternity, will meet at 6:30 o'clock tonight in Graham Memorial at a supper session. Formal initiation of members will take place.

Each year the organization takes into membership juniors of high scholastic average. Third-year men must have completed two-thirds of their required courses for membership in the society.

ENGINEER ISSUE RELEASED TODAY

New Staff Confines First Carolina Engineer to Facts About University Department.

The last issue of the Carolina Engineer, professional journal of the school of engineering, for this year will be circulated today. This issue is the first of the newly elected staff, composed of W. W. King, Jr., editor, and M. E. Evans, business manager.

The current issue deals entirely with facts concerning the school of engineering.

As a matter of historical interest there is an article entitled "History of the School of Engineering" by W. C. Morrison, and a column, "Among our Alumni," by W. H. McNairy telling of the present positions of many of the graduates of the University school.

The only technical article of this issue is one written by Paul R. Hayes on "An Investigation of the Failure of Cast Iron Pistons in an Automobile." It is a condensed form of a paper submitted by Hayes to the annual southern student conference of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at Atlanta, and awarded first prize.

Surveying Camp

"The University's Summer Surveying Camp" was written by Paul L. Onasch and relates the purposes of the summer camp that is conducted each year at Brevard, N. C., by the department of civil engineering.

In this issue there is made public for the first time the fact that Neil P. Bailey, professor in the mechanical department, has accepted the position of head of the mechanical engineering department at Iowa State College. Professor Bailey has merited this appointment by his services here and at other institutions and will have the additional honor of being the youngest department head ever appointed by the school.

Other important articles are: "An Interview with Dr. Harry A. Curtis," by Jack Crutchfield; "Short Sketches of the Engineering Faculty," "Chemical Engineer's Day," by E. A. Gaskill; and "History of Radio Station W4WE," by R. Van Sleen.

Vaccinations Offered

All students interested in taking typhoid vaccine this summer should come to the infirmary during office hours this week to begin the injections. There is still sufficient time left to finish the immunization before the end of school.

Program to Include Music And Speeches

Organization Will Also Co-operate With Seniors in Orientation Program Next Fall.

ACCEPT REVISED BY-LAWS

The University club will sponsor a radio program over station WDNC Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, it was announced at the meeting of the organization last night.

The half-hour program will include musical selections by Bill Allsbrook and his orchestra, a survey of current news at the University and throughout the state by Lonnie Dill, editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL, and a sports forecast by Billy Anderson, co-editor of the sports department of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

First of Series

This will be the first of a proposed series of broadcasts which the club plans to continue next year. It is planned to have a wire to the Durham station from Chapel Hill so as to provide a convenient means to broadcast the daily programs which are being considered for next year. It is also contemplated to have open programs given from the lounge of the Union once a week, probably Saturday nights.

Programs of this type are now being broadcast daily from the Duke University campus. The programs from Chapel Hill will probably feature local orchestras, and will be arranged under the sponsorship of the University club.

The organization also decided (Continued on page two)

ARTISTS TO GIVE CONCERT SUNDAY

Helen McGraw and Katherine Defenbacher To Present Final Program of Sunday Series.

Helen McGraw, nationally known pianist, with Katherine Defenbacher, violinist and concert-meister of the North Carolina Symphony orchestra, will present the final program in the Graham Memorial spring series at a joint recital to be given next Sunday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

These artists have appeared in the concert series in separate recitals before to enthusiastic audiences, and their appearance together this Sunday promises to be one of the best in the concert series. The program will include Beethoven's "Sonata in F Major" and the "Sonata in E flat Major" by Richard Strauss.

GLEE CLUB TO APPEAR TONIGHT IN GOLDSBORO

The University Glee club, directed by H. Grady Miller, will appear tonight before a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs at Goldsboro on their guest night program.

Thomas Teer will be the accompanist. Incidental solos will be sung by Jesse Parker and Sam Lane.

Dean Van Hecke Returns

Dean M. T. Van Hecke of the law school has returned from Washington where he attended a three-day conference of the American Institute of Law May 10-12.
