

HANDBOOK STAFF ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR NEW EDITION

Modernized Manual to Present
Extensive Survey of Campus
Life to Freshmen.

STAFF WILL MEET TODAY

Vermont Royster, new editor of the Freshman Handbook, has announced that the work of assembling the book will begin this afternoon with a special meeting of the staff at 2:30 o'clock in Graham Memorial. The editorial board will also make its final decision on the proposed format changes for the next issue. Actual assembling of the material will be done by Royster and Ralph Burgin, associate editor.

Royster stated that the contemplated reduction in the size of the book had been definitely abandoned at the last meeting of the staff, as it was found impractical for the numerous uses to which the handbook is put. Some change in format will probably be adopted in an endeavor to modernize the appearance of the book and to make it one of the better college freshman manuals.

Barnes to Contribute

Harper Barnes, new manager of Graham Memorial, is preparing an introductory letter on the place held in campus life by the student Union. There will also be a word of welcome to the new

ENGINEERS VISIT N. C. MOTOR SHOP

B. W. Davis, Senior Engineer of Repair Plant, Conducts Group
Through Establishment.

Approximately 100 engineering students visited the Motor Repair plant of the State Highway commission in Raleigh last Monday, under the sponsorship of English classes of Professor J. O. Bailey.

Sixty members of freshman engineering English classes made a study of the plant in preparation for writing English term papers on the shop.

Along with the first-year men, approximately 20 mechanical engineering students made the trip. Professors visiting the organization with the students were Neil Bailey, Colin Carmichael, E. G. Hoefler, and J. O. Bailey.

Davis Is Guide

The University scholars were shown through the plant by B. W. Davis, senior engineer of the repair shop, who afterwards made a short speech on the establishment.

The state shop repairs trucks and vehicles for all the state institutions except the University. It is one of the most complete state owned establishments in the country, according to reports by members of the engineering faculty.

Each year the freshman English classes take trips to nearby towns to various plants and then write up reports of the visits for term papers.

Feature Board to Meet

There will be a special meeting of the DAILY TAR HEEL feature board this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Unexcused absentees will be automatically dropped from the staff.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN BY FRESHMAN CO-EDS

At a meeting of the freshman co-eds yesterday the following officers were elected for next year: Erika Zimmermann, president; Ruth Covington, vice-president; Eileen Smith, secretary-treasurer; Mary Horton Lloyd, social chairman; Margaret Howard, publicity agent.

The retiring officers are: Ruth Covington, Mary Ellen Holbrook, Christine Maynard, Jane Ross, and Erika Zimmermann. The meeting was the last of the year.

GRAHAM SPEAKS TO CHURCH GROUP

Murchison, Zimmermann, and Odum Also Address Episcopal Conference in Charlotte.

Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the Greater University, delivered an address at a conference on the various aspects of the new social program, sponsored by the Episcopal church at Charlotte Monday.

Drs. C. T. Murchison and E. W. Zimmermann, both of the school of commerce, also made talks Monday.

Dr. Graham analyzed the structure of industry as representing the interests of three groups, business men, workers, and consumers. "The values of all three as functionally necessary to a well balanced industrial self-government must be recognized if there is to be success in the movement for recovery," he stated.

No False Prosperity

"If recovery means merely the recovery of the old false prosperity, then recovery becomes merely the prelude of a crash, vaster and more terrible," Dr. Graham stated. "Recovery should mean not less emphasis on machines but more emphasis on human beings, not less emphasis on production, but more emphasis on distribution as a way of justice and balance and on consumption as a way of life.

"With fairer prices to consumers, a fairer deal to the farmers, more decent wages, hours, and conditions for the workers, more security for the work and homes of the people, and a bit of leisure for the creative imagination and recreative loungings of the human spirit, what an economically productive, socially balanced, and spiritually beautiful America we can plan to build in our time!"

Dr. Murchison described the

DOUGLAS TO TALK TO PHILATELISTS

Collectors Will Convene in Final Session Tomorrow.

The Chapel Hill Stamp Collecting club will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in New East building for its final session of the year.

Dr. J. G. Douglas will speak on "The Manufacture of Postage Stamps." The club is in its second year of existence. It meets once a month and at these meetings hears some speaker who discusses some topic of interest to the group.

Anyone above 15 years of age is eligible for membership in the group. The membership is made up of students, faculty members, and townspeople. Several in the group have notable collections.

PHI OPPOSES BILL TO LEGALIZE BETS ON HORSE RACING

Special Debate Held Before Vote
Taken On Bill.

By a vote of 13-9, the Phi assembly defeated the bill: Resolved, that pari-mutuel betting on horse racing be permitted in North Carolina, at the meeting last night.

A special debate was staged before the vote was taken on the bill. Winthrop Durfee, Albert McAnally, and John Frink upheld the affirmative of the question. Charles Poe, Francis Fairley, and Luther Britt took the negative.

During the discussion following the debate, J. W. Gilliam suggested that horse racing should be made an intercollegiate sport. He pointed out that the revenue from the betting could pay for finishing the tennis courts and erecting buildings.

The assembly favored the bill: Resolved, that the president of student body should receive a stipend for his labors; by a vote of 15-7. The bill: Resolved, that the Carolina Magazine be published monthly with a magazine cover rather than as a supplement of the DAILY TAR HEEL, was passed almost unanimously.

June Grimes and Winthrop Durfee of the social committee announced that the annual Phi smoker would be held Thursday, May 18, in Graham Memorial at 9:00 o'clock. The program for the smoker will be announced in tomorrow's paper.

Another debate is scheduled for next Tuesday's meeting. The query has not yet been announced. The following members will speak: J. D. Winslow, June Grimes, Kenneth Young, Robert Smithwick, Albert Ellis, and Dave Mosier.

SENATE TO MEET WOMAN'S COLLEGE IN RETURN MATCH

Hunt And Sarratt Debated in First Contest Monday.

A debating team from the Woman's College of the Greater University in Greensboro will meet a team from the Di senate here next Tuesday night in a return engagement on the query, Resolved, that co-education is desirable in all the branches of the greater University of North Carolina.

A team from the senate composed of Ernest Hunt and Reed Sarratt debated the affirmative side of this query in Greensboro Monday night. The debate was a non-decision contest; however, a rising vote on the part of the audience declared the debate a tie.

This is the first time this year that the senate has engaged in a debate with a team off the University campus. The debate to be held here next Tuesday will be the first debate of the year on the campus in which women have participated.

At the meeting of the senate last night the bill, Resolved, that the present federal police system is inadequate and should be enlarged, was passed by a vote of 17-2. Speaking for the bill were Senators Crowell, Howard, and Russell; speaking on the opposition were Senators Coefficient and Williams.

The senate then organized itself under its new floor system to discuss the query on co-education which will be debated next Tuesday. This debate resulted in the favorable vote of 16-4. Speaking for the affirmative were Senators Weaver, Howard, and Williams; those upholding the negative were Senators Russell, Coefficient, and Johnson.

Folk Festival Proves Success

National Folk Festival at St. Louis, Long Dream of Folk Movement Leaders Throughout The Country, Proves an Artistic And Financial Success And Insures Repetition.

By Carl G. Thompson

A troupe of twelve of the Carolina Playmakers organization has just returned from a trip to the First National Folk Festival at St. Louis, Mo., where they presented three of the representative folk plays written of the people of North Carolina.

After long years of slow progress, hard work, and justifiable faith, the various folk movements of the United States culminated in this First National Folk Festival presented from April 28 to May 2 as part of the dedicatory exercises of the new Municipal Auditorium at St. Louis. The dreams of the leaders and believers in American Folk Art found reality chiefly as a result of the undying efforts and intuitive genius of Miss Sarah Gertrude Knott, national director of the festival.

Much credit for the success of this feat goes to that charming woman who gained her inspiration and much experience from her work in North Carolina with the University, Sarah Gertrude Knott. Executive secretary of the state-wide dramatic association sponsored by the University, Miss Knott had the opportunity to see the headway that folk art was making in this state. As a result of her experience in the North Carolina annual Dramatic Festivals held for the past eleven years in the Playmakers theatre here, Miss Knott conceived the idea of a nation-wide folk festival which she carried with her when she went to St. Louis.

St. Louis, the community-minded city of the middle west was an ideal place for the development of her plans and the final achievement of her ambitions. Backed by many of the successful business men and civic organizations there, Miss Knott also received the sponsorship of the greatest folk leaders in America including Paul Green, Lamar Stringfield, and Percy MacKaye.

Indebted to Koch

Herself confessing indebtedness to Frederick H. Koch and the Carolina Playmakers which he founded, Miss Knott was insistent in her demands that this organization be represented at the festival and that its director and founder be present. Because this organization was the first theatre in America to devote itself to the Folk drama and because its founder is one of the leaders in the development of the Folk art, the Playmakers were featured in the festival, presenting one of their plays at every performance except on the first day.

The troupe of twelve Playmakers, including 'Proff' Koch prepared three of the most representative of its original folk plays to produce at St.

PERLZWEIG WILL SPEAK AT SIGMA XI MEETING

William A. Perlzweig of Duke University will speak at the Sigma Xi smoker meeting tonight at 8:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

Perlzweig's address will be on "Undergraduate Preparation for Professional Training."

Initiation of new men will take place at the session, and elections of new officers will be held. Plans for the coming year will be discussed and other business matters will be taken up.

FOUR MEN TAKEN INTO FRATERNITY

Beta Gamma Sigma, Honorary
Commerce Fraternity, Elects
Juniors to Membership.

Four members of the junior class were inducted into Beta Gamma Sigma, national scholastic commerce fraternity, last night at a banquet of the group in Graham Memorial.

Students inducted are Herbert Henry Harris, Jr., of Wilson, Kenneth Wharton Young of Durham, John Wadsworth Gunter of Greensboro, and Alexander Mason Gibbs of Columbia, South Carolina.

Harris will be president of the group next year since he made the highest scholastic record of the four during his stay in the University.

John T. O'Neil, outgoing president of the organization, made a short speech at the session, and the rest of the program was of an informal nature.

Annual Induction

Each year the society inducts into membership juniors of high scholastic average. Members are chosen on a basis of their character and service to the campus.

To be eligible for membership a commerce school junior must have completed two-thirds of his required courses and maintained a specified average in his work. A maximum of six and two-thirds per cent of the junior class only may be taken into membership each year.

Out-going treasurer of the group is Louis G. Sullivan. D. D. Carroll, dean of the commerce school, is honorary president, and Dr. John B. Woosley is corresponding secretary.

The local chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma was organized here two years ago by University faculty members in an effort to form a society on the campus connected with the spirit of the school of commerce.

GERMAN DIVISION TO PRESENT FARCE

Presentation Scheduled For Tomorrow Night in Theatre.

Following up the French club's presentation of "Topaze" some time ago, the German department will give Alexander Wilhelm's one-act farce, "Einer Muss Heiraten," tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre.

The farce is the highly improbable story of the marriage adventures of two German philologists, Jacob and William Grimm.

According to the plot, the aunt of the two scholars, seeing her charges slowly ossifying in their roles of university professors, determined that the only thing that would save them would be marriage.

ELEVEN CLASSES WILL MEET HERE FOR ALUMNI DAY

Fifty-Year, Twenty-Five-Year,
And Baby Classes of Graduates to Reunite June 11.

PLAN REUNION SUPPERS

Renunions of eleven classes will take place during commencement week this year, J. Maryon Saunders, alumni director, announced yesterday.

Featured among the classes holding reunions this year are the fifty-year class of 1884, the twenty-five-year class of 1909, and the baby class of 1933. Alumni Day has been set as Monday, June 11.

In accordance with the Dix plan for class reunions, which schedules class reunions so that college generations rather than individual classes return, the group of 1898, 1899, 1900, 1901, and the group of 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920 will meet here this year.

Two-Day Program

A joint supper for the members of the first group is planned for Sunday evening, June 10, and for members of the latter group for Monday evening, June 11. Suppers are also planned for the other reuniting classes, to take place sometime during commencement week.

Class secretaries are sending out information concerning the reunions to members of the various classes, through the alumni office.

BAILEY ACCEPTS POSITION IN IOWA

University Professor Will Be Youngest Head Ever Appointed at Iowa State.

Professor Neil P. Bailey of the engineering school of the University, has accepted a position as head of the mechanical engineering department at the Iowa State College. Professor Bailey will be the youngest head ever appointed by the school.

Bailey has been at the University for five years. Prior to this, his career has been greatly varied. After serving with the United States Marine corps in the Asiatic service during the World War, he attended the University of Colorado, where he received the degree of bachelor of science in mechanical Engineering in 1924.

After taking an advanced course in engineering under the chief engineer of the General Electric company, he took graduate work at the University of Idaho which awarded him a master of science degree in 1927.

He has written many articles and has done much research work in the fields of temperature measurement, heat flow, and air flow.

He is a member of several honorary, social and educational societies, among which are: Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Xi, Sigma Tau, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and Acacia.

Senior Week Committee

Members of the senior week committee will meet tomorrow evening at 9:00 o'clock in room 211 Old East, Bernard Solomon, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.
