

Mishap Causes Local Musicians To Be Late For W DNC Program

Allsbrook's Trailer Crashes into Auto Driven by Mrs. Sutton; Instruments Ruined.

DILL, ANDERSON SPEAK

Editor Says College Campuses Now Interested in Nationally Significant Problems.

A loosely fastened trailer almost prevented Bill Allsbrook and his orchestra from reaching the W DNC studios in time to broadcast over the University club program yesterday afternoon.

The trailer, drawn by Allsbrook's car in which he and a part of his band were en route to Durham, broke loose and crashed into a car driven by Mrs. J. L. Sutton of Chapel Hill.

Head-on Collision

The collision was head-on. Mrs. Sutton was driving from Durham to Chapel Hill, and the trailer, after it had become detached from Allsbrook's car, swerved along the road under its own momentum until it struck the Chapel Hill woman's car.

No one was injured, although the trailer was demolished and the car badly wrecked. Allsbrook's band sustained the loss of a $200 bass violin, a bass drum, and other instruments that were being carried in the trailer.

Members of the orchestra with substitute equipment reached Durham 15 minutes late for the broadcast. In the meantime, Lonnie Dill, editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL and Billy Anderson, sports editor, whose talks were scheduled to take place between the orchestra's selections, went on the air until Allsbrook was ready to begin.

Dill spoke briefly on current events on college campuses

NEW IS AWARDED PRIZE IN CONTEST

Carolina Engineering Student Wins Fourth Place in National Problem Contest.

Albert Edward New of Waynesville, senior student in chemical engineering, won fourth prize in the national student problem contest conducted annually by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, according to an announcement by Professor A. McLaren White of the University, chairman of the committee on student chapters, at the New York convention of the Institute Monday.

Awarded at Luncheon

New was formally awarded his prize, a presentation copy of a book on chemical engineering, by the president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers at a luncheon in New York Tuesday.

Professor White stated, "The winning of a prize in the Institute Problem contest is an achievement of a very high order. The problem selected is one of much greater difficulty than usually encountered in undergraduate college work, and is judged not only on accuracy of calculations and assumptions, but on neatness and clarity of presentation as well. Mr. New's solution was one of the few which yielded the correct numerical answer, and his results were presented in the form of a clear and forceful report."

ENGINEER SOCIETY SELECTS OFFICERS

Atkinson, Tracy, and Maynard Chosen in A.S.M.E. Elections.

At the last meeting of the local student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers the following men were elected to hold office during the next school year: Calder Atkinson, chairman; Lyndon S. Tracy, Jr., vice chairman; Julian D. Maynard, secretary-treasurer.

It was also decided to recommend Colin Carmichael as honorary chairman of the branch to the president of society. Carmichael would succeed Professor Neil P. Bailey who has held this position for many years. Bailey is leaving the University at the end of the school year to assume his duties as head of the mechanical engineering department at Iowa State College.

Student officers of the engineering society during the past year were: P. R. Hayes, chairman; Calder Atkinson, vice chairman; E. L. Kendrick secretary and treasurer.

Godawful Goon Groans Grimly

Grisly Ghost Grieves Gravely; Grail Gripes.

Necks craned eagerly along Franklin Street Wednesday evening to catch sight of a strange creature perched atop the building which houses Wooten-Moulton's photography studio. There, blithely groaning, "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," stood the frightful figure conceived by Segar, the cartoonist,—the Goon.

Spectators, realizing that the annual "Hell Week" had long since passed, could find no explanation for the queer sight that met their eyes. It was thought that the Goon had really made an appearance to complete the wreckage which she had started earlier in the year since all cries of "Goon home!" were to no avail.

One of the members of the crowd conceived the brilliant idea that this might be a portion of the annual Grail initiation. Acting upon this, he queried one of the members of the organization who was standing nearby: "What's this? Part of your initiation?"

To this, the Grail man answered: "Yeah, dammit, but he's a night early, the whack."

COUNCIL VOTE GRANTED TO GRADUATE CO-EDS

The Woman's association held a meeting yesterday afternoon in Graham Memorial at which it was voted to give the graduate students living in Spencer hall a special representative on the Woman's council.

The action was taken, according to the new president, Betty Durham, because many of the graduate students in the co-ed shack feel that they should not be subjected to regulations as strict as those for the undergraduates.

A.B. Seniors to See Dean

All seniors in the school of liberal arts must see their major heads and bring statements approving their major and minor to Dean A. W. Hobbs' office.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY GERMAN CLUB

Webb, Old, Litten, and Edwards Elected for Coming Year by Dance Organization.

Members of the German club elected officers for the coming year, at a meeting in Gerrard hall yesterday afternoon.

Those elected were: Joe Webb, president; Bruce Old, vice-president; Chapin Litten, secretary-treasurer; Charlie Edwards, assistant secretary-treasurer. The newly-elected officers received their positions by unanimous vote.

The members of the executive committee appointed yesterday are: John Hershey, L. C. Bruce, Ed Everett, Erwin Laxton, Mark Dunn, Claude Freeman, and Charlie Shaffer.

Retiring Officers

Officers for the current year who will be replaced by the new men are: Dave Morgan, president; Bob Reynolds, vice-president; Charlie Woollen, secretary-treasurer; and Chapin Litten, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The German club sponsors one set of dances each quarter. The last function of the organization for this year will be the finals series, which will bring here the famous "Idol of the Airways," Jan Garber, and his orchestra. Garber will play for the first two days of the series, and Emerson Gill and his orchestra will furnish the music for the last dance.

The new officers will be inaugurated during this set of dances.

PROSPECTIVE N. C. STUDENTS RECEIVE TAR HEEL TOPICS

April Issue Features Courses And Campus Leaders.

Presenting new courses open to students, and newly elected campus leaders at the University for the coming year, April issues of Tar Heel Topics were mailed from the alumni office to prospective students and their parents.

Telling of the various schools and curricula offered by each department to University students, the paper presents an article which explains in detail the type of work offered at the University.

Athletics at the University are described as a part of the educational program of the University. Stress is placed upon the well rounded athletic set-up here, and the opportunities for all individuals to take part in the program are brought out.

The fact that the University maintains a policy to have large squads in her athletic teams is expounded, and names of the coaches are given.

Questions and answers on problems for individuals contemplating coming to the University are featured in the issue, and expenses for the year are set forth.

"Opportunities for self-help and student aid at Carolina have been said to be better organized than at many institutions," states J. Maryon Saunders, editor of the publication, in an editorial.

Tar Heel Topics brings out the good work of the graduate school at the University. The issue shows results of a survey conducted by the American coun-

BOARD AWARDS PUBLICATION JOBS

Magazine Changed to Regular Monthly Publication; to Be Effective Next Fall.

The printing and engraving contracts for the four campus publications were definitely awarded at a meeting of the Publications Union board yesterday afternoon.

The board also voted in favor of changing the form of the Carolina Magazine from that of a bi-monthly supplement of the DAILY TAR HEEL to a regular magazine issued eight times a year, and decided that the change would become effective next fall.

Three of the four printing contracts were awarded to the local Orange Printshop, which has put out the DAILY TAR HEEL and the Magazine during the past year, and will also print the Buccaneer during the next.

The printing contract for the University annual was given to the Queen City Printing Co.

The engraving for the Buccaneer will be done by the Durham Engraving Co., which has performed the same service for the last three years. The Pictorial Engraving Co. of Charlotte will do the engraving for the Yackety Yack.

Other important matters which were agreed upon were the abolition of the 10 and 20 per cent reductions formerly given to organizations which paid their Yackety Yack fees before a certain date and the raising of the junior and senior yearbook fees to the old price.

UNIVERSITY GIVEN RARE COLLECTION OF INDIAN WARES

Display of Gifts and Local Collections in Library Hall.

The Smithsonian Institute in Washington, in recognition of the growing interest and activity in the field of Indian studies in this state, has presented the University a collection from among its duplicates.

The collection contains arrowheads, knives, and axes from Georgia, North Carolina, and Virginia. Three are, in addition, a number of axes from Arizona and some very fine pieces of fossil ivory used as implements in early times in Alaska.

Of major interest is a metate and its muller from the Pueblo Indians. A modern Mexican metate in the collection is the gift of Mrs. J. K. Hillers of Washington, a specimen collected by her husband who was a famous pioneer photographer for the U. S. Geological Survey in New Mexico about 1885.

A display of the gift collection has been arranged in the lobby of the library. In another case are pieces from the collection of Guy B. Johnson of the institute for research in social science, for the most part from the neighborhood of Chapel Hill. By way of comparison and contrast a selection of European axes, blades, points, and bone needles from the collection of Dr. J. B. Bullitt has been arranged in a third case.

The University is particularly fortunate in the recognition it has received from the Smithsonian Institute, which has placed a limited number of collections of the sort in centers of education in the United States.

Grail Taps Thirteen Men For Membership In Order

CASA LOMA BAND TO PLAY AT BALL

Glen Gray's Orchestra to Feature Annual Queen's Ball May 31.

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra will play for the annual "Queen's Ball" which the Central Carolina German club will sponsor in the Raleigh Memorial auditorium on the evening of May 31.

Honorary guests for the affair will be the May queens of eleven North Carolina college institutions.

The Casa Loma band, which plays every week on the Camel radio hour known as the "Camel Caravan," will be heard by all the out-of-town people who desire, according to the sponsors, who have set aside 300 tickets for the visitors who wish to attend. The net proceeds from the affair will benefit a scholarship fund.

The Grail annually selects 13 men from the sophomore and junior classes and has as its main purpose the betterment of relations between various campus groups. Membership in the Grail is considered the highest honor a sophomore can obtain.

GROVES TO LEAD SPECIAL COURSE

One Week Study to Be Given on Methodology of Teaching on Marriage Problems.

A one week's course in the methodology of teaching courses dealing with the problems of marriage will be offered July 16 to 21 under the direction of Professor Ernest R. Groves, of the department of sociology.

This course is being given at this time due to the fact that in this country during the last ten years there has been increasing evidence of the conviction of thoughtful people that every effort possible should be made to conserve the family and marriage. This is especially true of problems dealing with home economics and parenthood. Modern science has fortunately gained the information which makes possible the building of practical courses.

Professor Groves intends to conduct this course as a round-table discussion. It is open to college graduates who are offering in high school or college instruction in the family or marriage and to persons professionally engaged in medicine, law or theology.

In connection with the one-week course there will be a series of evening lectures by specialists in fields that have special significance for the student of marriage.

Chemistry Comprehensive

Comprehensive exams in chemistry will be held tomorrow.
