

SUMMER SESSIONS WILL HEAR NOTED EDUCATORS SPEAK

Groups Will Also Address State And Woman's College on Education Institute Program.

SERIES STARTS JUNE 13TH

The program for two special features of the Consolidated University of North Carolina Summer Session for 1934, which opens June 13, was announced yesterday.

One feature will be an Institute of Education to be held during the week of June 25, with problems of the curriculum as its general theme, and the other will be a six-week lecture course, beginning June 14, on "Education in the National Program of Reconstruction."

The program of the Institute of Education has been planned in cooperation with the State Department of Education, which is this year engaged in a study of the curricula of the elementary schools and of the high schools. A number of the most distinguished educators in the United States will participate in the Institute, sessions of which will be held at State College in Raleigh, at the Chapel Hill unit of the University of North Carolina, and at the Woman's College in Greensboro.

The Institute will open at State College at 8:00 o'clock on the evening of Monday, June 25, with addresses by President Frank P. Graham, University of North Carolina, and Prof. Edward H. Reiser, Columbia University. On Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, round-tables will be conducted on Industrial and Vocational Education and at 2:30 o'clock there will be round-tables on Adult Education. (Continued on last page)

SENATE TO DEBATE GREENSBORO UNIT

Literary Society To Meet Woman's College Team On Co-education Question.

Co-education will be the topic for the Di senate-Woman's College debate which will be held in the senate hall Tuesday night.

This debate, the first to be sponsored on the campus this year with women participating, will be in the nature of a return engagement on the query, Resolved, that co-education is desirable in all branches of the greater University.

A team from the senate debated the affirmative side of this query in Greensboro last Monday night. In the debate which will be heard Tuesday the University team will uphold the negative. Phillips Russell and Irving Coffield will be the senate representatives. No information as to whom the Woman's College debaters will be has as yet been received. Misses Faison and Barrington participated in the Greensboro contest, however, it is improbable that they will take part again.

A special invitation has been extended to the Phi assembly to attend the debate. A cordial invitation is also extended to anyone who is interested in attending, whether because of interest in the topic under discussion or because of a desire to observe how the men debaters stack up against those from the Woman's College.

Meeting Postponed By University Club

The regular weekly meeting of the University Club, scheduled for tomorrow night, will be postponed until Thursday night in Graham Memorial, at 7:15 o'clock, it was announced yesterday.

By the time of meeting, definite plans will be made for the club's part in freshmen orientation next fall. It is possible that the meeting will be held in a room which will become the permanent club room, the granting of which will be done at tomorrow's meeting of the Graham Memorial board of directors.

STATISTICS ON JOB SURVEY RELEASED

TVA Co-operated With Bureau Of Vocational Information in Valuable Research.

The Bureau of Vocational Information has recently completed a depression survey in conjunction with the Tennessee Valley Authority. The survey has attempted to find out the effect the depression has had on the occupational and educational status of students recently leaving the University.

From questionnaires sent to 2,793 students of the classes of 1930, '31, '32, and '33, it was found that 101 are at present unemployed. Of these, 36 were working for the CWA and three in CCC camps. The survey also showed that the tendency for unemployment predominated among those students who had left the University most recently.

Sixty-two percent of the graduates were reported as working in fields of their special interest, but the survey also showed that the most recent graduates were having the most trouble getting into their special fields of interest.

The survey also showed that the highest incomes were earned by those graduates managing filling stations, but the authorities say this figure is not quite as reliable as the others because the former students had shown hesitancy in stating their incomes.

U.N.C. JUNIOR DELIVERS ADDRESS IN WAYNE

E. Ezra Griffin, Jr., of Goldsboro, a member of the junior class at the University, recently delivered the commencement address at the Brogdon high school in Wayne county. His subject was "Strike While the Iron is Hot."

This is believed to be the first time in years a college student has been called to deliver a commencement address.

Griffin is an outstanding student at the University, being a leading debater and an honor man in scholarship. In his freshman year he won the state oratorical contest, sponsored by the American Legion.

Staff Keys

Retiring and retired editors and business managers of campus publications are asked to see Bill Eddleman as soon as possible in order to get the charms for members of the respective staffs. The shipment was received yesterday from the Bal-four company.

SYMPHONY MAPS WORK FOR YEAR

One Hundred Concerts Planned For Remainder of Year; Concert Artists To Appear.

The members of the North Carolina State Symphony orchestra held a meeting Saturday to make tentative plans for a schedule of work leading to a series of a hundred concerts.

A Federal grant of $45,000 has made it possible for this organization to be able to make its preparations.

The orchestra will have its headquarters in Chapel Hill for the first part of the summer, and in Asheville during July and August. In September the orchestra will return to Chapel Hill.

Lamar Stringfield, conductor of the orchestra, has just returned from New York where he purchased music and made arrangements for a number of concert artists to appear with the symphony.

Among these artists is Henri Deering, who will conduct a master class in piano during the summer session. Others who expressed an interest in appearing with the orchestra are Georges Barriere, noted flutist; John Erskine, pianist and critic; and Robert Russell Bennett, composer.

SYMPHONY GROUP TO FURNISH MUSIC FOR COWARD PLAY

Acoustics in Memorial Hall Being Altered to Better Hearing.

Lamar Stringfield and a 40-piece symphony, a part of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, will provide incidental music for the Playmaker productions of "Hay Fever" May 25 and 26 in Memorial hall.

The play, a rollicking comedy in three acts by Noel Coward, will allow for at least an overture and two other numbers. Mr. Stringfield has not yet announced his musical program.

The acoustics in Memorial hall are being altered so as to eliminate echo and to make possible clearer audition from every part of the auditorium. Some experimentation with acoustics was made for the production of the opera "Princess Ida" earlier in the season and Mr. Davis, who directed that performance and is directing "Hay Fever," promises even more comfort in hearing.

Scenery and costumes are being designed by Ora Mae Davis.

The time of the play is the present. The action takes place in the country home of a family of artistic accomplishments in Cookham, England.

At Meeting of Extensionists

President Graham, R. M. Grumman, and E. R. Rankin are attending the meeting of the National University Extension Association in Chicago this week. Mr. Grumman and Mr. Rankin will attend the American Association for Adult Education in Washington, D. C., before returning to Chapel Hill.

Dr. Miller to Speak

Professor William J. Miller will go to Charlotte tomorrow to deliver an address before the engineering club of that city. His topic will be "Engineering Curriculum."

CONCERT SERIES WILL END TODAY

McGraw And Defenbacher to Have Joint Recital in Student Union at 5:00 O'clock.

The final concert in the spring series given Sunday afternoons in the lounge of the Graham memorial will be head today at 5:00 o'clock when Helen McGraw, nationally known pianist, and Katherine Defenbacher, violinist and concert master of the North Carolina symphony, present a joint recital.

These artists have appeared separately on other Sunday programs here before large audiences, and their joint recital is expected to be one of the finest in the spring concert series.

Miss McGraw is at the present living in Baltimore, where she studied under the well-known concert pianist and teacher, Alexander Sklarewski, receiving most of her training from him. She has also studied under Ernest Hutcheson and Alfred Cortot of Paris.

The complete program of their recital will be: "Sonata in F Major," in four movements by Beethoven; "Waltze in A Flat," Chopin; "Liebestod," from Tristan and Isolde, Wagner-Liszt; "Danza Lento," Granadas; "Sonata in E Flat Major," first movement, Richard Strauss.

CASA LOMA BAND PLAYS IN RALEIGH TOMORROW NIGHT

Queens' Ball Opens in Memorial Auditorium at 9:00 O'clock.

The Raleigh Memorial auditorium will be the scene tomorrow night of the "Queen's Ball," an affair sponsored annually by the Central Carolina German club. Glen Gray and his Casa Loma band will play.

According to an announcement yesterday, the box office and doors will open promptly at 9:00 o'clock and the dance will begin a half-hour later.

The sponsors, anticipating a general last-minute demand, have set aside 300 tickets for out-of-town visitors, and have announced that they may be procured upon presentation of some identification to the effect.

Glen Gray and his band, which is heard weekly over the Camel program, will furnish the music for the affair. Honor guests will be the May queens of eleven North Carolina colleges. A special surprise feature has been promised for those who are on time.

Room Reservation

Any student wishing to reserve for next year the dormitory room he is now occupying can do so by making a deposit on the room at the business office sometime before next Friday.

The office has requested that students make their deposits as early as possible in order to avoid standing in line. After Friday all rooms on which no deposit has been made will be open to other applicants.

Magazine Charms

All those who were awarded Magazine charms for work during the past year are requested to obtain them from Don Shoemaker at 401 East Franklin street.

Ambassador Daniels To Speak Here Tuesday Morning At 10:30

Seniors Asked To Get Regalia At Post Office

The Senior Week regalia, terycloth slippers, have begun to arrive at the post office, and should be called for as soon as possible. Bernard Solomon, chairman of the Senior Week committee, has announced.

This is the first time that the uniforms have arrived in individual lots, and there should therefore be no difficulty in getting them. The uniforms will be worn all next week by the graduating class.

'Y' WILL DISCUSS PLANS FOR FALL

Bahnsen to Lead Discussion in Junior-Senior Cabinet; Hamner to Talk to Freshmen.

Agnew H. Bahnsen, member of the junior-senior "Y" cabinet, will lead a discussion on "The Y. M. C. A. Program Next Year" at the meeting of the third and fourth-year "Y" men tomorrow night.

Bahnsen, former president of the University club, has been an active member of the Y. M. C. A. since his freshman year and will set forth his ideas as to what the "Y" should do on the campus.

To Study Policy

The policy of the Y. M. C. A. for the rest of the quarter will be to study just what can be done on the campus, and plans will be made during the summer to put the results of these studies in effect at the first of the fall quarter, according to J. D. Winslow, president.

At the same time tomorrow night, Phil Hammer, DAILY TAR HEEL editorial board chairman and president of the University club, will speak to the Freshman Friendship council on "The Place of the Sophomore Cabinet on the Campus."

Devotional services at the freshman cabinet session will be led by George G. Allen, and plans will be made to pay for the banquet of the group which was held last Monday.

These meetings will be the last sessions of the Y. M. C. A. this year, with the exception of the hill side session which is scheduled for the last of this month.

STUDENTS WILL HAVE RECITALS NEXT WEEK

The music department has announced that there will be three student recitals next week.

Two are general recitals and will occur at 4:30 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday. The third will be a senior recital to be given by William Barnett, a candidate for the degree in music, who has had voice as his applied major.

Barnett has studied this year with H. Grady Miller, of the music department, and will sing his program on Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Hill Music hall. Miss Virginia Buckles will be the accompanist.

Infirmiry List

The following students were confined to the University infirmiry yesterday: Stanley Combs, Ruth Dickson, J. E. Grant, Kathleen Krahenbuhl, G. T. McLamb, B. C. Proctor, and John Physioc.

Envoy to Mexico to Visit University Under Auspices of The Foreign Policy League.

SPECIAL CONVOCATION

Following Class to Be Shortened 15 Minutes; Freshman Attendance Required.

Josephus Daniels will speak here Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at a special convocation in Memorial hall, it was definitely announced yesterday.

The assembly period will be extended 15 minutes to give Mr. Daniels more time to make his address. The first bell for the regular 11:00 o'clock classes will be rung at 11:08, and the second bell will be rung at 11:15 o'clock.

Open to All

The convocation in Memorial hall is open to all townspeople and students. The session will be special meeting for the freshman class, and attendance of first-year men will be checked as usual. Upperclassmen are asked to take seats in the rear of the hall.

The convocation Tuesday will be the last opportunity for students to hear Mr. Daniels, who is going straight to Mexico to take up his duties as ambassador from the United States.

An amplifying system will be installed in Memorial hall, which has been provided through the courtesy of Archie Davis and his orchestra.

Sponsoring Mr. Daniels' talk here is the newly organized Foreign Policy league, headed by Ralph Gardner, president.

Dinner Tuesday

The league will give a dinner for Mr. Daniels Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Mr. Daniels is scheduled to (Continued on last page)

GROUP DISCUSSES BLUE RIDGE AT 'Y'

Local Organization Plans to Send Large Delegation to Annual Summer Conference.

The Blue Ridge program and plans for sending a delegation from the University Y. M. C. A. to the summer conference were discussed by students yesterday in the "Y" building.

Short talks were made at the session by Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students, W. T. Minor, Jesse Parker, and Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the "Y." J. D. Winslow, president of the organization, presided.

Dean Bradshaw, who has been to Blue Ridge six times, stressed the opportunities students have at the conference for meeting and knowing students and faculty from other institutions.

"Blue Ridge provides an opportunity to study problems vital life for a consecutive period of time," said Bradshaw.

"The conference is a training ground for the program the 'Y' will carry on here next year," stated the dean of students, pointing out that the best way to guarantee a good Y. M. C. A. year is to send a large delegation to Blue Ridge.

Bradshaw also emphasized the individual benefits which the conference provides and stated that the joint Y. M.-Y. W. C. A. feature of the conference ought to be an attraction.
