

FIRST PRODUCTION OF COWARD PLAY TO BE TOMORROW

North Carolina Symphony Orchestra Will Play at Performance of "Hay Fever."

HARRY DAVIS IS DIRECTOR

Two organizations, the Carolina Playmakers, and the North Carolina Symphony orchestra, are combining to make this week-end one of particular pleasure for the dramatic and musical minded.

Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial hall the Carolina Playmakers will present Noel Coward's successful comedy, "Hay Fever," which is being directed by Harry Davis, who staged "Princess Ida" recently.

Forty members of the North Carolina Symphony, the nucleus of the giant State Symphony, will furnish incidental music. Their program includes numbers by Ludwig Beethoven, Brahms, Tchaikowsky, and Ippolitow-Ivanow. Lamar Stringfield, director, will conduct the symphony Saturday evening. Thor Johnson, recently appointed assistant conductor, who is founder and conductor of the Carolina Salon ensemble, will direct Friday.

Eight Sections Represented

Members of the cast of "Hay Fever," which is the last of the Playmakers season productions, are from six states, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia.

The play, which has continued successful since its initial performance in 1926, is considered by the playwright his best comedy. Noel Coward claims that he can compose almost anywhere and that he composes with tremendous speed. "Hay Fever," if his word is to be taken without a grain of salt, was composed in three days.

Two of the numbers to be offered by the North Carolina Symphony were originally written as incidental music for other dramatic pieces. Beethoven's "Egmont Overture" was composed for Goethe's play, "Egmont." Tchaikowsky's "Thorn Rose Waltz" was written for a Russian dramatization of "The Sleeping Beauty." They may serve as an antidote, according to the directors, in case of an epidemic of "Hay Fever."

RECITAL WILL END MUSIC PROGRAMS

Students Will Give Instrument And Voice Concert

The last of the series of student recitals will be given this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

The program to be presented this afternoon by students of instruments, piano, and voice is: piano, Hubert Liverman, "Rhapsody in G Minor" by Brahms; Mary Frances Odum, "Bourree" by Bach; William Bracy, "Impromptu" by Schubert; A. Wood H. Jones, "Novelette" by Schumann; cello, Raymond Fink; violin, Wilton Mason, "Meditation from Thais" by Massenet; John Daniel, "Londonberry Air," transposed by Kreisler; voice, Dorothy Bradley, "With Verdure Clad" from Haydn's "Creation;" Mildred McMullan, "The Lass with the Delicate Air" by Arne; flute, David Bennett, "Poem" by Griffes.

The public is cordially invited to attend this recital.

J. Wellington Wimpy Starts Riot Among Swain Hall Intellectuals

J. Wellington Wimpy and his philhamburgic activities seem to have been the cause of a decidedly heated scientific discussion in Swain hall last week. The possibility of his manufacturing his beloved dish, the hamburger, from the tail of a ship's cow was the topic which provoked the verbal combat.

It was J. C. Grier, whose table at Swain hall is notorious for its group of disputatious Charlotte boys, who by his truth-seeking instigations incited a scholarly inquiry from what had been merely a friendly argument. In the thoroughly respectable dining-hall fashion the boys had been discussing Wimpy's abilities to produce hamburger from the tail of a cow, as was represented in Segar's weekly comic strip "Popeye." At last it was settled that whether or not the contents of a cow's rear appendage is hamburger material is merely a matter of personal opinion.

Grier, however, was not satisfied that the debate should end so easily and peacefully.

Vicious Disease Rampant

"But," he gloated, "you forget that a cow on a ship would be subject to the vicious disease of 'hollow-tail,' in which a worm works his way into the tail and down to the very tip, thus leaving a mere vacuum where the hamburger should be." He smiled with satisfaction at having expounded such a very scholastic theory.

"No," vociferously objected Wade Cavin, a non-Charlotte diner. "Never in all our experience have we, in Troutman (N. C.), with our great dairy, heard of such a thing! Who but a Charlottonian would lend credence to such a fantastic tale?"

Whereupon the argument waxed hotter and hotter, with the Charlotte boys lining up as much in defense of their fellow-citizen as of their personal scientific opinion.

HEALTH SERVICE WILL GIVE TESTS

Tests for Tuberculosis Are Planned for Students and Faculty for Next Year.

A tubercular test for the entire student body and the faculty as well is one of the plans which the health service has tentatively made for the next scholastic year, according to an announcement yesterday by Dr. W. R. Berryhill, present head of the University infirmary.

The test, which was given for the first time last fall to the incoming freshmen, will be conducted for the increased number during registration week of the next quarter.

Physical Examinations

Berryhill also stated that the health service hopes to inaugurate in the near future a system whereby annual physical examinations will be given to the sophomores and upperclassmen as well as to the incoming first-year class. The freshmen will receive their examinations immediately upon entering the University, and as many as possible of the other students will be taken care of between office hours throughout the remainder of the year.

In order to facilitate the giving of the tests, Dr. McCain of the state sanatorium will send his staff of physicians and technicians to aid the local group in the laboratory and X-ray work. McCain performed the same service last fall.

Expressing his satisfaction with what the tubercular work has already accomplished, Berryhill stated that all those who showed unfavorable results in the test last fall have been carefully supervised since and properly attended to except in cases where they have dropped out of school.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday: George Barclay, W. T. Chichester, Ruth Dickson, J. T. Cordon, W. M. Daniel, Michael Erlanger, J. H. Goldstein, C. C. Gleen, J. E. Grant, Murray Kanner, John Physioc, W. W. Smiley, and E. Weinstein.

DEPUTATION TRIPS REACH NEW HIGH

Y. M. C. A. Teams Present 91 Programs to 27,690 Individuals During Past Year.

Presenting 91 programs to 27,690 individuals in the state since Christmas, University Y. M. C. A. deputation teams this year have sponsored the largest program of trips in their history, according to a report issued yesterday by Jack Pool, chairman of the deputation committee.

Programs have been presented to 18,090 young people, 6,800 adults, and 2,800 colored people. The results of radio programs are not included in these figures.

Making a total of 151 talks, members of deputation teams have entertained 29 schools. Nine programs have been given in high schools and 16 in grammar schools. Exercises have been sponsored by teams in three colored schools in the state and one Negro college.

Communities Pay Expenses

Although deputation teams have traveled a total of 1,095 miles, all expenses for the "Y" delegations have been paid by the communities visited, and no money from the University Y. M. C. A. has been used to finance trips.

One radio presentation has been sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. over station WPTF in Raleigh, and delegations have been sent to the annual state older boys' conference.

All the trips this year have been led by Jack Pool, newly-elected president of the senior class. Pool will also be chairman of deputation work next year under J. D. Winslow, "Y" president.

Six students from the University as an average are taken on delegations to visit communities in the state. Three individuals give brief speeches, and a group presents musical selections. Usually a vocal trio makes the musical side of the program, but instrumental musicians often perform.

Every town and community visited by University delegations this year has asked to have the "Y" send squads next year to continue the program of having college students mix with individuals of high school age.

POOL APPOINTED RETREAT LEADER

Will Head Pre-College Retreat For Specially Selected Group Of Incoming Freshmen.

Jack Pool has been appointed to the position of chairman of the Pre-College Retreat committee which will serve here next fall under the sponsorship of the Y. M. C. A.

A Pre-College Retreat has been conducted each fall for the last two years and has the purpose of bringing to the campus, in advance of the others of the class a specially selected group of 50 to 75 freshmen and give them a three-day program that will acquaint them with the customs and traditions of the University. This group of boys will serve as the nucleus around which the inner circle of leaders for the freshman class will be formed.

Leaders Chosen

Delegates for this retreat will be selected in small numbers from the leading high schools and prep schools upon the bases of their interest and participation in the religious, social, and activity life of their communities.

Leaders for this occasion will be the officers and secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. and other prominent members of the University both of the faculty and of the student body.

Work Report Of Audit Board

Auditor Explains History and Function of the Audit Board to Student Body in Open Letter

By Robert H. Sherrill, Auditor

The Student Audit board has been in operation two years, the unified bookkeeping and auditing system eighteen months. Beginning with twenty-one organizations, there are now thirty, ten of which are voluntary members, twenty compulsory under action of the student body.

These first two years have necessarily been a period of experimentation. It would seem that one year would be sufficient to bring about the smooth operation of the system. However, the second year has been almost as difficult, due to the change in bookkeeping from the University business office and the resulting change in the bookkeeping system and procedure; and also due to the admission of eight more organizations at the beginning of the year.

Some Criticism

There has been considerable criticism about delay in securing reports and checks, difficulty in finding the auditor, etc. I feel that a great deal of this has been justified, while some has been due to misunderstanding of the procedure or to the lack of knowledge as to the time required to complete an audit after the close of a period. Either the auditor or an assistant is now in the office from 2:00 until 4:00 o'clock each afternoon except Saturday, when the hours are from 10:00 until 12:00 noon. Checks turned in by 4:30 o'clock one afternoon are ready at 2:15 o'clock the next. I believe that from this time on the system will operate smoothly and efficiently.

The force now consists of an auditor, three student assistants to the auditor, and two part-time bookkeepers. About 2500 checks and 3000 receipts are be-

INSTITUTE MEETS HERE IN SUMMER

Education Institute and Special Course to Be Among Important Summer Features.

Two special features of the University summer session for 1934 are the Institute of education and education 107, which is a course dealing with education in the national program of reconstruction.

The Institute of education will be held during the week of June 25, with curriculum problems as its general theme. This program has been planned in co-operation with the state department of education at Raleigh.

Distinguished Visitors

A number of the most distinguished educators in the United States will participate in the institute, sessions of which will be held at State College in Raleigh, at the Chapel Hill unit of the University, and at the Woman's College in Greensboro.

The special course in education in the national program of reconstruction may be taken as a full credit course and will be conducted by Professor R. W. Tyler of Ohio State University, who was a former member of the faculty here.

There will also be a number of visiting lecturers from various educational institutions of this country.

UNIVERSITY CLUB MEETING TONIGHT FEATURES TALKS

J. Maryon Saunders and Jack Pool to Address Organization On Plans for Freshmen.

FINAL SESSION OF GROUP

The University club will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

Talks by J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary, and Jack Pool, president of the rising senior class, will be given at the meeting.

Saunders will speak on the club's part in interesting prospective students for the University next year and Pool will address the group on the pre-college freshman retreat of next fall.

Full plans of the University club's part of the freshman orientation program for next year will be presented by the president and discussion will follow. Tentatively the club will sponsor two programs during the freshman week.

Will Decorate Room

A committee will be appointed to decorate the new University club room on the second floor of Graham Memorial. Pictures and historical pieces will be obtained from the library, to be loaned for the purpose by R. B. Downs of the library.

Other important business will include the selection of a new member from Kappa Alpha, the preparation of a summer roster of the members, and a discussion of further plans for the fall quarter of next year.

LIBRARY OBTAINS STATE VOLUMES

R. B. Downs Receives 6,000 Books on State Documents Through Transfer.

Through a transfer arrangement with the library of State College the University library has just received over 6,000 volumes of state documents.

These volumes include documents of every state in the Union, some going back as far as 100 years. They cover proceedings of the state legislatures, and reports of government bureaus and departments.

Add to Resources

"This collection adds greatly to the resources of the library," R. B. Downs, librarian of the University stated, "as this library had contained before this only a limited number of documents outside those issued by the federal government and those issued by the state."

Last fall the University library established a special documents division, and through the carrying on of exchanges with libraries all over the country, this department has grown rapidly. From 12,000 to 15,000 volumes have been added to this division during the year.

Business Staff to Meet

There will be a meeting of the business staff of the Yackety Yack today at 2:00 o'clock in the Yackety Yack office in Graham Memorial. All persons interested in serving on the staff next year are requested to report at the session or must get in touch with Agnew Bahnson at the S. A. E. fraternity if forced to be absent.
