

HILLSIDE SESSION WILL CLOSE YMCA YEAR TOMORROW

President Graham to Be Among Speakers; Acee Will Report On Work During Year.

WINSLOW TO TAKE OFFICE

Talks and reports by student and faculty members will feature the annual hillside meeting of the entire membership of the Y. M. C. A. cabinets tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the Forest theatre.

The session will be a meeting for all the cabinets and will be the final convocation of the "Y" cabinets this year. All active members of the rising sophomore and junior-senior cabinets are urged to attend, and others who are interested are invited.

Graham to Speak

Dr. Frank Porter Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, is scheduled to make a brief inspirational address at the gathering. His subject has not as yet been announced.

Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students and chairman of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors, will be present at the convocation and will say a few words on some phase of "Y" work.

Bradshaw recently addressed the Freshman Friendship council, setting forth how the cabinets of the "Y" could do more on the campus. Bradshaw spoke at the hillside meeting last year on "Spiritual Relations of Today with Those of the Past," discussing the movements of religion in this country and especially among the youth of America.

John Acee, retiring president of the association, will preside at the first part of the meeting and will charge J. D. Winslow, newly-elected president, with the du-

BOOK IS EDITED BY SOCIOLOGISTS

Ernest R. Groves and Lee M. Brooks Edit Book of Readings on the Family.

It was learned yesterday that a book of readings on the family by Drs. Lee M. Brooks and Ernest R. Groves, both of the department of sociology, will be released in the near future by J. B. Lippincott Co.

The book contains almost 300 selections from foreign and domestic sources including both periodical articles and book material and ranging in time from ancient Rome to modern present day civilization. These articles contain information on the evolution of the family and its present problems and trends.

In addition to use in college classes, its material will prove of special benefit for correspondence courses, extension classes, various study clubs, and church groups.

In its arrangement it follows that of Dr. Groves' recently revised text, "The American Family." The first part deals with patriarchal family forms as found among the Greeks, Hebrews, and Romans. This is followed by selections on widely dispersed primitive peoples. Considerable attention is given to the European background of the American family.

Two Recitals Will End Series Next Week

Final Programs to Be Presented Wednesday and Thursday.

The last series of student musical recitals will be given in the Hill Music hall next week.

Jane Forgrave, pianist, and Lee Sistare, organist, will play a joint recital at 8:00 o'clock next Thursday evening in Hill Music hall.

An orchestra will present the works of students in the class in orchestration and instrumentation at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Both these recitals will be open to the public and will be the final programs of the students in the various University music classes.

During the past week presentations have been given by students in voice, piano, violin, and other instruments.

EVENTS TO HONOR SENIOR PARENTS

Reception by President Graham Is Among Commencement Events for Guests.

Many important events on the University's 139th Commencement program have been arranged particularly for the entertainment of the parents and guests of the graduating seniors.

The tickets for the various attractions will be distributed to the seniors through their commencement committee, headed by Tom Nisbet, in order that their guests will have seats in the reserved sections.

For the oratorio Sunday evening, June 10, in Hill Music hall, there will be a special section for the seniors and their families, tickets for which will be distributed by Nisbet's committee at a time and place to be announced later.

Playmaker Performance

The Carolina Playmakers will give a special performance Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock for seniors and their guests.

It has also been announced that President and Mrs. Graham will hold their annual reception for the graduating class and its friends at their home from 5:30 to 6:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon. This is a regular feature of the commencement program.

Tuesday, June 12, will be Class Day, with the whole focus of attention on the 1934 graduates. Beginning with senior prayers in Gerrard hall at 9:30 o'clock, the program will continue with the Class Day exercises at the Davie Poplar, the Mangum and Bingham medal contests in Gerrard at 11:30 and 3:30 o'clock, respectively. The graduation exercises in Kenan stadium at 7:00 o'clock will conclude the events.

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The University Glee club at a recent meeting elected the following men as officers for next year: John Ervin Barney, president; Ezra E. Griffin, vice-president; and Harold Gavin, secretary.

At a meeting of the old officers with the new heads, the new staff was selected last night. Richard J. Somers will be business manager; John S. Chapman, assistant business manager; John C. Wiggins, publicity manager; and John A. Walker, librarian.

BARR'S DANCERS TO APPEAR HERE

Dances Composed by Foster Fitz-Simons and Marion Tatum Are Included in Program.

Phoebe Barr and her group of men dancers, assisted by members of her women's classes, will present a public performance in Memorial hall Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock under Carolina Playmaker auspices.

Phoebe Barr, a former member of Ted Shawn's company of dancers, who has arranged numbers for the performance in the Shawn manner, believes her entertainment will be the first in the United States in which any group of University men, non-professionals, appear at their alma mater in dance concert.

The program will feature the terpsichorean art of men students who have been studying with her the past two years. Of the seven men appearing in concert, Foster Fitz-Simons deserves special mention as the composer of "Trope," one of the numbers to be presented by a quartet of men. The music and the dance, based on the elaboration of the Medieval church service in which four monks play the Easter story of the three Marys and the Angel at the tomb of Christ, were created by Fitz-Simons.

To Work with Shawn

Ted Shawn, on seeing the work of Fitz-Simons during a recent visit to the Hill, chose him as a member of his well-known group of men dancers for next year.

Ten women will take part in the program. Of these, Marion Tatum deserves mention as author of "Stabat Mater," which she has adapted from traditional theme.

Phoebe Barr will do two solo numbers. The program will be divided into three parts. Compositions by Chopin, Beethoven, Edwards, Wolfe, Steffe, Scott, Ippolitow-Ivanov, Tatum and Fitz-Simons are included.

Two spirituals, for which the Silver Tongue quartet of Chapel Hill will sing, are scheduled. Two selections will be danced by the entire group of seventeen.

Thomas Teer of Durham will furnish piano accompaniment.

Chase Emphasizes Folk Dancing As Integral Part Of Rural Life

Richard Chase, Student of English Folk Dance, Urges the Establishment of the One Side of "Folk" Activity That Has Not Yet Been Touched at the University.

"Richard Chase is to folk dancing what F. H. Koch is to folk drama and what Lamar Stringfield is to folk music." This is a statement that has been made about the young man who came here to the University several months ago and set about in his own way to begin to teach what many people have considered a very vital part of any race's culture, its folk dances. It was Moliere who once said, "The destiny of a nation depends on the dances of its people." And G. Stanley Hall said, as far back as 1904, that to give young folk more wholesome and more enjoyable forms of dancing, "a work of rescue and revival" of our folk dances was greatly needed.

CLASS TO OFFER SERIES OF PLAYS

Professor Koch's Playwriting Class to Present Experimental Productions Wednesday.

Next Wednesday at 3:30 and 8:00 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre, the Carolina Playmakers will present the twentieth and twenty-first series of experimental play productions, written, cast, and directed by students in Professor Koch's playwriting class.

The first play of the matinee series will be Sara Seawell's "The Suicide," with Walter Terry as Frank King and Harry Coble as Charles Martin. This play is a modern interpretation of hell. It will be directed by Kathleen Krahenbuhl.

The next play will be "A Beating of Wings" a poetical tragedy by Foster Fitz-Simons. The cast: Ruth, played by Marion Tatum; the Old Lamp Man, played by the author; Michael, played by Bill Fletcher; and Jonathan, played by Douglas Hume.

The third play, "Belle" an ordinary tragedy by Patsy McMullan, will be acted by the author as Mrs. Robert Smith, "Belle"; Vermont Royster as John Warren, a state legislator; and Milton Kalb as Robert Smith.

The last play of the afternoon will be "Beginners," a belligerent satire, by Bradford White. The cast: Fence, the president, played by Rene Prud'hommeaux; Lansing, secretary of state, played by Walter Terry; Jones, minister of art and plumbing, played by Robert Leeper; Mass, minister of morals, played by Douglas Hume; and Brighton, comptroller of heredity, played by Foster Fitz-Simons.

Night Program

The first play that will be produced Wednesday night is "Crash" a story of the "the street" by Milton K. Kalb. It will be acted by the author as Lee Dinan, member of the firm; Mary Dirnberger as Mary Rellman, employee of the firm; Ralph Burgin as John Fisher, Jr., a customer of the firm; Don Pope as John Fisher, sr., his father; Frederica Frederick as Johanna Sawyer, a widow, also a customer; and Vermont Royster as Richard Courtney, a

Murchison's Appointment Receives Senate Approval

Today Is Poppy Day

Today will be observed as Poppy Day, according to an announcement by Mrs. W. B. Neal, chairman of the poppy committee for the Chapel Hill unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, who urges the students and townspeople to participate.

The poppy was adopted as the memorial flower of the American Legion at the Legion's national convention in Cleveland in 1920.

The flowers which the members of the Auxiliary will distribute here today have been made by disabled veterans and their wives, and the contributions received will go to the aid of the disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

HANES IS NAMED ALUMNI MARSHAL

Member of "Silver Anniversary" Class of 1909 to Lead Alumni at Commencement.

James G. Hanes of Winston-Salem has been named chief alumni marshal for the 139th commencement of the University, which will be held here June 10-12.

Hanes' appointment by Dr. Hubert B. Haywood, president of the University Alumni association, was announced yesterday.

Hanes is a member of the class of 1909, which will celebrate its "Silver Anniversary" reunion at the approaching commencement. He is a former mayor of Winston-Salem, and has taken an active part in civic life of that community. He is the president of the Hanes Hosiery Mills Co. Recently he was named a southern member of the code authority of the hosiery industry. As a student at the University he took a leading part in campus affairs, and as manager of the football team set an enviable record for managerial efficiency.

Alumni Day

Alumni Day is being observed Monday, June 11. Eleven classes will hold reunions.

The "Baby Class of 1933" is making preparations for a big comeback. Francis Anderson of Leaksville, chairman, has announced the following committee on arrangements.

LOCAL A. S. C. E. CHAPTER CHOOSES NEW OFFICERS

The William Cain student chapter of the A.S.C.E. elected officers for next year at its last regular meeting of the quarter yesterday morning during chapel period.

W. H. McNairy of Greensboro was elected president; W. W. King, Jr., of Greensboro, vice-president; W. C. Morrison of Brooklyn, N. Y., secretary; and J. A. Westbrook of Rock Mount, treasurer.

No Announcement Made Regarding His Plans To Assume Duties

Senate Forced to Delay Confirmation of Appointment Thursday Because of Procedure Rule.

The appointment of Dr. C. T. Murchison as director of the bureau of foreign and domestic science of the department of commerce was confirmed by the Senate early yesterday, after a rule of procedure prevented immediate confirmation when the appointment was received from President Roosevelt Thursday.

The Senate received the appointment from the President Thursday morning, but it was not officially brought up for consideration by the Senate until Thursday afternoon in an executive session.

It was then formally referred to the committee, but Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina, a member of the committee, had in the meantime secured the consent of the committee to make an immediate report. He requested that immediate confirmation be given the appointment.

Rule Causes Delay

However, Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Senate minority leader, invoked the rule requiring appointments to go over one day after being reported from a committee.

The Senate confirmed the appointment early yesterday. Dr. Murchison was called to Washington Thursday night, but he was expected to return to Chapel Hill by plane last night.

It was impossible to find out last night whether Dr. Murchison would be able to stay here until the end of the quarter and finish the courses he is now con-

COLLEGES OFFER AID FOR DEGREES

Competitive Scholarships in Universities Available to Students for Next Year.

A number of universities scattered throughout the country are offering scholarships available to University students and graduates next year. Notifications of competition for these scholarships are posted on the bulletin board of the second floor of South building.

The graduate school of Ohio State University, to encourage outstanding graduates of that University and other similar and approved universities to continue their studies leading to higher degrees, has established a number of fellowships and scholarships. These scholarships are open to students having a baccalaureate degree from an approved institution, and have a value of $250 each with exemptions from all fixed fees except a $10 matriculation fee.

The fellowships are open only to those who have already completed their master of arts work, and have a value of $400 with like exemptions. Students are accepted on the basis of merit irrespective of the department in which they intend to work, and must devote all their time to graduate work. Application blanks may be obtained by applying to the dean of the grad-
