

Tar Heel Football Club Ends Week With Tough Scrimmage

First Team Shows Power in Scoring Four Touchdowns; Shaffer Stars.

RANDY COONER RETURNS

Initial Lineup Fairly Well Settled Except for Two Positions, Tackle and Halfback.

Coach Carl Snavelly sent his entire grid squad through a long hard scrimmage yesterday afternoon at Kenan stadium before releasing it for a rest over the week-end. The first string continued to show plenty of power and counted four touchdowns over a second and third outfit.

The varsity also was strong on the defense, holding the reserves' running attack almost at a standstill. Charlie Shaffer was again the big gun on offense. The right halfback tore off gain after gain and crossed the line for two of the touchdowns.

Dick Dashiell, who has been working at left halfback on the first team since Don Jackson injured his knee, also looked good in the running attack, besides getting off several fine passes.

Coaches View Deacons

The coaching staff will go to Wake Forest this afternoon in a body. The Deacons, who will be Carolina's first foe, open today with Guilford, and the Tar Heel mentors are expecting to get an eye-full.

The close of the third week of practice this morning found Carolina's starting lineup fairly well settled except for two positions.

One of the two positions which remained undetermined today was right tackle. Coach Snavelly is still unable to choose between Tom Evins, speedy 190-pound veteran, and John Trimpey, mammoth 220-pound sophomore.

The other is left halfback. Don Jackson was tentatively slated for the post, but has been laid up this week with a knee injury. In the meantime, two veterans, Charlie Woollen and Eddie Martin, and two sophs, Randy Cooner and Dick Dashiell, are waging a merry battle for his place.

Jackson is expected to be ready to go again the first of next week. However, he has missed some valuable practice, and while he has been idle, his rivals have made definite gains. Whether he can overcome their lead and regain the post promises some interesting competition.

Randy Cooner Returns

Cooner's return to camp Thursday helps considerably in the backfield. The Asheville boy is thought to have worlds of na-

INTRAMURAL RUN TO TAKE PLACE IN THIRTY DAYS

Director Herman Schnell Announces Annual Cake Race.

Director Herman Schnell announced yesterday that the annual cake race would be held in about thirty days.

All students are eligible except members of the varsity cross-country squad and track monogram men.

Out of the one hundred and fifty entries last year fifty received prizes. The winning teams were rewarded with cakes.

The race affords Coach Dale Ranson an opportunity to look over prospects for the freshman cross-country team. Gardiner, Gammon, and Allen who tied for first place last year were the mainstays of the freshman hill and dalers.

EIGHTY-OUT FOR FROSH FOOTBALL

Hefty Bunch of First Year Men Take Easy Drill in Second Day of Practice.

About four score yearling football men reported to Coaches James and Fysal yesterday on Emerson field in the second practice of the season.

The afternoon's work-out consisted only of light drills in tackling and blocking, including various exercises to get the men in shape.

Hefty Bunch

The eighty gridironers are probably the heftiest bunch of first year men the University has seen in many years. If this beef and brawn is mixed with speed and brains, the yearlings shall have a highly successful year.

The coaches will take it slowly for several days in order to give the fellows the proper warming up, but early hard work-outs are expected.

The schedule will contain probably the same games as were played last year, in which the Tar Babies lost only one game. The list will include matches with Duke, Virginia, N. C. State, and Oak Ridge.

Tuberculin Tests

X-ray tests for all students whose vaccination gave evidence of a presence of tubercular germs will be given from Monday through Friday of next week.

DUKE GRID LINEUP STILL UNCERTAIN

Only Five Posts Are Filled by Returning Regulars While Other Places Indefinite.

Durham, N. C., Sept. 21.—Excepting the five positions which will be occupied by last year's returning regulars, Duke University's No. 1 team is still indefinite after almost three weeks of practice.

Coach Wallace Wade is giving every man a chance at the six open posts in his effort to get the best player possible and is making shifts in the No. 1 lineup.

While Earle Wentz, veteran from last year is considered a certainty at one flank, the other remains a toss-up between Ed West and Ab Jones, 1933 subs, Dick Taliaferro and Frank Liana, sophomores. Liana is at present taking light work due to a slight cut over his eye.

Guard Post Open

Jim Johnston, 1933 sub, has been running at the guard post pairing with Captain Jack Dunlap since practice started but this week Roy Phipps, a 1932 letterman at tackle, broke into the lineup at that position. It is still considered wide-open.

Tom Power, sophomore hopeful, broke into the "first" team lineup after the first week of

TAR HEEL PIVOTMEN

Above are two reasons why the middle of Carolina's line will be well taken care of. Babe Daniel, right, and Ralph Gardner are both letter centers with weight and experience. The two will likely alternate during the season at the pivot position.

PAUL DEAN HURLS NO-HITTER AS RED BIRDS GAIN AGAIN

Cardinal Rookie Gets Masterpiece over Brooklyn as St. Louis Wins Double Header.

DIZZY PITCHES SHUTOUT

New York, Sept. 21.—(UP)—Paul Dean, younger member of the famous St. Louis pitching brothers, took his place with the baseball immortals here today, as he blanked the Brooklyn Dodgers without a hit in the second game of a double-header. The Cardinals won the contest, 3-0. The feat was even more remarkable because Paul is serving his first year in the major leagues.

Paul's bigger brother, Jerome "Dizzy," twirled the first tilt for the Red Birds and got a shut-out, limiting the Dodgers to only three hits. The double victory enabled St. Louis to gain another half-game on the Giants bringing it within three games of the Champions in the race for the National league pennant.

New York kept step with the Cardinals as far as possible, downing Boston, 8-1. Fred Fitzsimmons was on the mound for the Braves and held the Braves to nine scattered hits while his teammates played errorless ball on defense.

Orchestra to Meet

University orchestra practice will be held Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in the Hill Music hall.
