

UNION OFFICIALS HEED PRESIDENT; TO END WALKOUT

Order Comes Through Executive Council; Influenced by Work of Mediation Board.

STRETCH-OUT ABOLISHED

Washington, Sept. 22.—(UP)—America's greatest labor uprising was ended today when union leaders called off the textile strike after three weeks of bloodshed and sabotage which resulted in 16 deaths and almost unparalleled peace-time troop movements.

Answer Plea

A call to 500,000 textile workers to return to their looms and spindles Monday morning was issued by the United Textile Workers in response to President Roosevelt's plea yesterday to end the walkout.

The order came through the textile worker's executive council, which was strongly influenced by the settlement plan of the President's mediation board headed by Governor Winant of New Hampshire.

Industrialists finally acceded to the plan, which abolished, among its three points, the stretch-out system, so hated by the striking workers.

The cost of the walkout is estimated to be between 50 and 75 million dollars, including lost wages, property damage, and national guard mobilizations.

RUSHING STARTS THIS AFTERNOON

Freshmen Must Visit All Fraternity Houses to Which They Receive Invitations Today.

Visiting hours for today, the initial day of the twelve day fraternity rushing season, have been set from 2:00 to 12:00 o'clock.

Most of the invitations have already been delivered but in some few cases due to changes of address it has been impossible to reach the new men. Invitations will be distributed to them by this afternoon. Any freshmen not receiving their cards may call by Dean Bradshaw's office on Monday.

Due to a shortage of printed cards it was necessary that some invitations be written in longhand. These are just as valid as the printed form.

Freshmen are again urged to acquaint themselves with the rushing regulations, remembering that it is compulsory that each invitation be acknowledged by a personal visit and also that they are not to make more than two dates in succession with any one fraternity.

CHEERLEADERS CALLED

All men interested in trying out for positions on the cheerleading squad are asked to report to Kenan stadium at 4:15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

POLICE DISCOVER HAUPTMANN AIDE

Friend Used Same Type Certificates as Lindbergh Ransom to Return to Germany.

New York, Sept. 22.—(UP)—The baffling kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby in the spring of 1932 took rapid strides toward solution today when it was learned that Isador Fisch, friend of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, chief suspect in the case, used gold certificates of the same type as was used for the Lindbergh ransom to pay part passage to Germany from the United States.

Fisch, who left this country in 1933, died in Germany soon after. Part of his passage was paid in 10 and 20 dollar notes.

Hauptmann Weakening

Investigators tonight continued to pile more and more evidence against Hauptmann, who was said to be weakening under the constant pressure of questioning. An important break in the case was believed near as Hauptmann was questioned at the office of District Attorney Samuel Foley and ordered returned to jail for the night.

The investigators tonight turned their attention to trailing others whom they believe concerned in the case. Further information from official sources is being kept secret.

Lindberghs Returning

It was learned, however, that Colonel Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh would return here next week from the west coast where they have been taking a business and good will tour, ostensibly to take part in the investigation.

The case which has been under constant investigation by federal authorities, and which was in a large measure responsible for the passing of the federal kidnaping act broke into the headlines Thursday when police announced that the man who had received the $50,000 ransom payment made by the Lindberghs was under apprehension.

Part of the money was found in a garage near Hauptmann's home in the Bronx. The prisoner, who entered the country illegally in 1923 as a stowaway, was fleeing from jail in Germany where he had been incarcerated on a theft charge.

Enter The Finjan

By PAT GASKINS

The new name selected for the University humor publication is the Finjan. The etymology is Arabic and the word itself is taken literally from the Arabic. The definition, as given in Webster's International dictionary, is "a small coffee cup without a handle."

Not only does this new name possess distinction but it also has an authentic historical background. The story goes that in the year 1820 A. D., there lived in Arabia a wealthy coffee merchant called Sa'id, whose son Hafiz ibn Sa'id, resided in his household.

The father decided that the United States at that time represented a great potential field for the sale of coffee. This country had endeared itself to him by taking the name for that commodity from the Arabic name, kahveh.

BATTERY OF TEN ASPHALT COURTS NEARLY FINISHED

To Have Courts Completed Within Two Weeks Unless Bad Weather Prevents.

LONG DELAY EXPLAINED

By MARION ALEXANDER
Students who are interested in tennis will welcome the news that prospects are bright for the immediate completion of a battery of 10 additional asphalt courts.

Work on the foundation and drainage was completed and the final grade reached last Friday. The workmen have been held in readiness each day since to proceed with the pouring of the several coats of tar and asphalt necessary to finish the surface, but weather conditions have forced a lay-off on the work.

Officials estimated yesterday that the work could be finished in two weeks of good weather, and said that everything was set to rush it to completion as soon as there came a break in the rainy season.

Foundation Done

The foundation and drainage have been completed for another battery of 14 asphalt courts and about half of the work on the final grade. It is estimated that it will take about three days of good weather to finish this grade in addition to the time necessary to apply the tar and asphalt.

This would give the University a total of 26 all-weather courts for the use of all students in addition to the four clay courts which are reserved for the varsity.

The work of rebuilding the courts was undertaken on the strength of a grant from the Civil Works Administration. It was abruptly halted last spring by the discontinuance of the CWA.

Since that time officials have been doing everything in their power to make possible the completion of the work, but handicaps and difficulties standing in the way of their efforts have caused unavoidable delays.

A proposal to carry on the work with the University labor and funds was blocked by a government ruling. The materials which had been purchased with CWA funds, it seems, could not be used if private labor were

BOARD APPROVES BUCCANEER MOVE

Student Advisory Board Supports Decision of Council in Forming New Comic.

The Student Advisory board yesterday approved the action recently taken by the student council in abolishing the Buccaneer and creating a new comic magazine devoted to clean humor.

The board took this action in a motion which recommended to the administration that it continue to sponsor a student humor magazine, inasmuch as it has already collected the fees which would have gone to the old Buccaneer.

No Appeal

At the same meeting, the board recommended to the administration that the decision of the student council in cases involving honor be considered final and subject to no higher appeal.

The question which caused this action to be taken was the case of the student who was found guilty of cheating at a meeting of the council last spring and again this fall when his case was re-opened. It came up for the board's consideration as a result of the student's appeal to President Graham.

The Advisory board also disapproved of any plan to put three students in a dormitory room.
