

FRESHMAN YMCA COUNCIL SELECTS HEADS FOR YEAR

Coan President; Simmons, Vice-President; Andrews, Secretary; Henderson, Treasurer.

NEW MEMBERS WELCOMED

Election of officers for the coming year and talks by upperclassmen featured the Freshman Friendship council organization banquet meeting last night in Graham Memorial.

Jim Coan was elected president of the group; Gene Simmons, vice president; Graham Andrews, secretary; and Cranmer Henderson, treasurer.

Bradshaw Speaks

Among the speakers on the program was Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students, who spoke on the challenge facing college students of today.

Jack Pool, president of the senior class and chairman of freshman Y. M. C. A. work, presided at the convocation and gave a brief welcome to the new men. Work of the council for the year was outlined.

Ministers of the town and members of the Y. M. C. A. board of directors were introduced at the session. Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the association, gave the closing benediction.

Over 100 freshmen were present at the session, a number far surpassing the organization meeting last year.

PHI PLANS FIRST MEETING TONIGHT

Smithwick to Name Committees; Bills Concern Strike Control And Late Buccaneer.

In the first session of the year, called by Speaker Robert Smithwick, the Philanthropic assembly will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in New East.

Smithwick urges that all old members of the society be present as a number of committees will be appointed to serve during the quarter. All new students and non-students who have received letters from the Phi or who are interested in debating are also asked to attend.

Two Bills

Two bills of interest to students will be discussed—Resolved: That the state of North Carolina should not have ordered national guardsmen to the strike areas; and Resolved: That the action of the student council in the case of the Buccaneer be commended.

The Phi assembly is one of the oldest college debating societies in the country. It was organized in 1795 and since its early organization has been influential in student life and the promotion of campus projects.

Seven Are Ill

The following students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday: C. M. Burke, Don Jackson, N. A. Jennings, C. W. Sutton, Vincent Sexton, William Wheat, and M. L. Shaffer.

Cheer Practice Postponed

The Cheerio meeting which was scheduled for today has been postponed according to Lester Ostrow, head cheerleader. The date for the meeting will be announced shortly.

New Finjan Staff Will Meet Tonight

The Finjan staff will have its first meeting at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the office of the publication on the second floor of Graham Memorial.

Former members of the Buccaneer staff, freshmen and upperclassmen not previously connected with the humor magazine, who wish to try out for the staff are asked to be present. The meeting will be short to avoid interference with rushing activities.

Plans for the publication of the Finjan throughout the year and the editorial policy will be discussed. Assignments for the first and second issues of the year will be made so that work may begin on both simultaneously.

FLYING SQUADRON CLASSES LIST 110

Four English 1 Sections Composed of Those Who Did Exceptional Work on Test.

About 110 freshmen whose English placement tests showed that they might be able to do superior work were tentatively placed in "flying squadrons," advanced English 1 sections, it was announced yesterday by Dr. A. P. Hudson, chairman of the first-year English department.

Of the 703 students enrolled in freshman English up to 1:00 o'clock yesterday, 87 were put in English "A", 558 in English 1, and 58 in English 3. These figures include all divisions except the engineering school.

26 Sections

English 1, the normal course for entering freshmen, is composed of four "flying squadron" sections enrolling 110 first-year men, and 22 sections of 448 students whose tests indicated average preparation and ability.

English "A," composed of three sections, is made up of freshmen whose tests showed unpreparedness to do work of a college level. "These students, unless they show by their work that they did not do themselves justice on their placement tests, will be kept for one quarter's work designed to help them remove their disability," stated Dr. Hudson. "For them some of the ablest and most experienced instructors have been chosen."

"English 'A' men have everything to gain by making better showings on class work that they did on their first tests. Middling men in English 1 have a chance for promotion to flying squadrons. Conversely, all English 1 students run the risk of demotion. Classification is not final until after the first ten days or two weeks of the quarter," Dr. Hudson continued.

English 3 Crowded

English 3 sections are made up of upperclassmen who got behind one quarter on their freshman English and of transfer students who have had the equivalent of English 1 and 2. Accepted registrants in this group will have to make good at the outset and maintain themselves or be dropped from the course, for the two sections are badly crowded.

Unionists Threaten Courthouse If Jobs Are Not Given Back

GORMAN URGES PATIENCE

Washington, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Union leaders moved swiftly tonight to silence the angry mutterings in textile areas where thousands of employees rose in vigorous protest because mill owners refused to re-employ them because of their participation in the nation-wide strike.

Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the textile strike committee, urged the protesting workers, who were scheduled to go to work this morning, to be patient. Gorman also stated emphatically that the union would not tolerate discrimination against strikers.

As a clinching argument, he pointed out that President Roosevelt himself had urged industrialists to re-employ strikers without discrimination.

Concord, N. C., Sept. 24.—(UP)—North Carolina unionists marched on the courthouse here today claiming that their jobs had been filled unfairly and threatened to occupy the building until they were re-employed.

R. R. Lawrence, president of the North Carolina Federation of Labor, charged that 10,000 workers had been discharged on the grounds of their union membership and participation in the textile walkout.

WOLFE RELEASES NOVEL TO PRESS

Second Work by Author of "Look Homeward, Angel" to Appear.

Thomas Wolfe, '20, author of "Look Homeward, Angel," has placed in the hands of his publishers, Charles Scribner's Sons, the manuscript of his second novel, which will be called "Of Time and the River," with the subtitle, "A Legend of Man's Hunger in His Youth."

As the manuscript runs to 450,000 words, the publishers are uncertain as to when the book will be ready for publication. Scribner's already have in hand a collection of long stories by Wolfe, but this will not be published until after the appearance of the new novel.

Mystic Oriental Symbols Bring Ghosts Of Pharaohs To Co-eds

By MARGARET E. GAINES

Mystic symbols of death and re-birth, perpetuated from the time of the pharaohs, contrast strangely with the usual furnishings of Spencer hall, but Miss Hester Barlow, who comes from Egypt, is very much at home in her surroundings.

Miss Barlow, who lived in Egypt with her father, is at the University for the purpose of doing research work for the Rockefeller Foundation. And quite in keeping with the bizarre background in which she lives, the co-ed is studying means of preventing a long, very-hard-to-spell, disease—billharziasis, which about 97 per cent of eastern populations contract from an impure water supply.

RALEIGH DANCES WILL FETE DEBS FOR 1934 SEASON

Black Cat Cotillion Club Will Give First Dance in Series of Three Thursday Evening.

DEBUTANTE BALL FRIDAY

The Black Cat Cotillion club of Raleigh will open a three-day program of festivity honoring North Carolina's 1934 debutantes with its annual dance Thursday night.

The fourteenth annual Debutante Ball, sponsored by the Terpsichorean club of Raleigh, will follow Friday night in the Memorial auditorium with music furnished by the orchestras of Red Nichols and Bert Lown.

Figures Featured

The ball itself will be featured by the Terpsichorean and debutante figures. The club figure, which serves as a lead-out as well as an introduction to the presentation of the debutantes, will be led by Miss Annette Tucker with Archie Allen, Jr., president of the club. They will be assisted by Arabel Cox with John Park, Jr., vice president; Mrs. S. Brown Shepherd, Jr., with Mr. Shepherd, treasurer; and Miss Adelaide Fortune of Greensboro with C. L. Smith, Jr., secretary.

The leader of the debutante figure will be Miss Katherine Harris, daughter of Judge and Mrs. W. C. Harris of Raleigh, with George Ball of Raleigh. Assistant leaders will be Miss Catherine Alexius of Wilmington with Thomas Duff of Chattanooga and Miss Cornelia Maslin of Winston Salem with George Norfleet of Winston Salem.

Morning Dance

On Saturday morning, following the Debutante Ball, the Carolina Country club will entertain at a morning dance at the club house honoring the debutantes and their marshals. Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, wife of the Governor and honorary chairman of the Debutante Ball, will receive at tea at the executive mansion.

A dance to be given Saturday night in the Memorial auditorium by the Thirteen club of Raleigh will bring to a close the festivities in honor of the debutantes. Music for the dance will be provided by Bert Lown and his orchestra.

Phil Hammer Resigns Position As University Club President

Coach Will Address Freshman Assembly

Coach Carl G. Snively, University football mentor, will address freshman assembly this morning at 10:30 o'clock in Memorial hall.

Snively, who was selected University football coach by the Carolina athletic council last winter, is a popular speaker and addressed the first-year men last year in one of the most humorous talks of the season.

A native of Arkansas, the new coach mixes Virginia anecdotes in his discourses on football in a humorous manner.

Snively has been coaching 18 years, teaches a modified Warner system, and came to Carolina from Bucknell University. Pop Warner rated him last year as one of the best coaches in the country.

SUSPECT AWAITS LINDY'S SCRUTINY

Lindbergh Will Appear Wednesday to Try to Identify Hauptmann as Ransom Receiver.

New York, Sept. 24.—(UP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will attempt to identify Bruno Hauptmann as the man whom he saw outside the Bronx cemetery when the ransom money was handed over the fence in the spring of 1932, it was learned here tonight.

Colonel Lindbergh, who was reported at Winslow, Ariz., yesterday, is expected to arrive in New York Wednesday in order to appear before the Bronx county grand jury.

Jersey To Ask Extradition

New Jersey authorities today announced that they will ask extradition of the German immigrant probably next week in order to bring trial against him on kidnaping and murder charges.

Hauptmann, refreshed after a day's rest, was today arraigned in the Bronx magistrate's court on a charge of extortion in the Lindbergh case.

Case Adjourned

Magistrate Mogilesky at the request of Assistant District Attorney Andrew C. McCarthy adjourned the case until Monday, October 1. The entire procedure lasted but three minutes.

James M. Fawcett, attorney for the prisoner, today said that he has startling information which is being carefully investigated and if true will split the case wide open.

Colonel Henry Breckenridge, the Lindbergh attorney, is expected to appear before the grand jury Tuesday or Wednesday. The jury is at present examining seven witnesses in the case.

Grail Meeting

The Order of the Grail will meet at 10:00 tonight on the second floor of Graham Memorial.

Tar Heel Try-Outs

All new men interested in trying out for the DAILY TAR HEEL staff are asked to call at the office of the publication on the second floor of Graham Memorial between 3:00 and 4:00 o'clock today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Willingham Assumes Duties As Successor

Plans for Quarter Include Weekly Broadcasts Begun by Organization Last Spring.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

Phil Hammer, elected president of the University club last spring, resigned his position at the first meeting of the organization which took place last evening. Frank Willingham was elected to succeed Hammer, who assumed the position of president ex-officio.

Hammer, who served as the president of the organization for two months during the last school year, was forced to give up his office because of lack of time due to working as a part-time self-help student and to other campus activities. He therefore felt an inability to do full justice to his office. He is serving at present as chairman of the editorial board of the DAILY TAR HEEL, and until last night acted as secretary of the Y. M. C. A., a position from which he resigned last night.

Outline Plans

The skeleton outline of the club's plans for the fall quarter which were presented to the organization includes weekly radio broadcasts, organization of the Cheerios, entertainment of visiting athletic teams, and the decoration of the campus for the homecoming day.

The weekly broadcasts which

LIBRARY EXHIBITS BOOK COLLECTION

Volumes Among First Illustrated after Invention of Printing; Part of Hanes Collection.

The University library has placed on exhibition in the lobby a number of fifteenth century illustrated books. The volumes shown are among the first books to be illustrated after the invention of printing.

Some of the books in the exhibit are illustrated editions of such classics as Livy, Virgil, and Dante. There are also illustrated Bibles and other religious works, and several books on astronomy.

Histories

The exhibit also includes five histories of the world, two of them editions of the famous Nuremberg Chronicle, considered one of the most profusely illustrated books of the middle ages.

These volumes are part of the Hanes collection on the history of writing and book making. The library is planning a number of interesting exhibitions this year, according to R. B. Downs, librarian of the University. The exhibitions will be changed about every five weeks.

Di Meets Tonight

The Dialectic senate will convene tonight at 7:15 o'clock on the third floor of New West building, it was announced yesterday by Mason Gibbes, president.

All members of the organization last year are urged by President Gibbes to attend. A talk by the president will be presented and one bill will be discussed.
