

Hobbs Explains New Curriculum As Applied To Upperclassmen

Require Four Courses In Only One Language

Two Courses in Latin or Greek May Be Taken for Freshman Math Requirements.

FRESHMAN SCIENCE ADDED

Curriculum changes as they apply to freshmen and sophomores were explained yesterday in a statement from Dr. A. W. Hobbs, dean of the liberal arts school.

This year freshmen and sophomores may elect to take the new curriculum, but juniors and seniors cannot gain any advantage from the new set-up as passed by the University faculty last spring. Next fall all freshmen will be required to pursue their studies under the new plan.

May Omit Math
In the college of liberal arts under the new curriculum, four college courses in one foreign language will satisfy the first and second-year requirements, provided the other requisites of the set-up are met. Two college courses in Latin or Greek may also be taken instead of freshman mathematics.

Next year freshmen will take five courses a quarter, each meeting three hours a week. A freshman science in the first year will be the chief addition on the program.

When the new set-up goes fully into effect, the curriculum program for the first-year in the University will be: English 1, 2, 3, three hours a week; social science 1, 2, 3, three hours a week as now in freshman history; foreign language, three courses, three hours a week; math or Latin or Greek, three courses, three hours a week; freshman science 1, 2, 3, three hours a week.

EVERETT ELECTS LEADERS TONIGHT

Bradshaw to Speak at Meeting of Experimental Self-Rule Dorm In Graham Memorial.

Everett dormitory, scene of the University's experimentation in dormitory self-rule, will have a smoker tonight at 9:15 o'clock in Graham Memorial in order to finish the election of officers.

At this time the nominations committee which was selected at the first organization meeting last Saturday will present a list of nominees for the offices of president, vice-president, council men, and athletic manager.

At the organization meeting Saturday it was voted that the period of quiet should begin at 8:00 o'clock every evening except Saturday. On that evening it will not begin until midnight.

Mayne Albright, former director of Graham Memorial and present director of the Everett experiment, announced yesterday that a wicker suite and subscriptions to two newspapers and one magazine have already been obtained for the dormitory social room.

The list of advisors for the dormitory includes Ed McRae, Ed Waldrop, Henry Connor, Tom Hawthorne, Tom Leath, and Emmet Willis.

MEDICAL SCHOOL OPENS 44TH YEAR

Students Unusually Well Prepared, According to Dr. Mangum; Building Renovated.

The University medical school has opened for the forty-fourth session with a full class of unusually well prepared students, according to Dr. C. S. Mangum, dean of the school.

During the summer, the medical building was renovated, rewired, completely repainted inside, and equipped with new and modern electrical fixtures throughout. The third floor of the building is being re-arranged and developed as a well-equipped department for the housing of dogs, with store rooms and operating rooms for animals.

"This removal of the dogs to the third floor and into quarters, the walls of which are padded, ought to materially decrease if not entirely remove the nuisance which the dogs have created in past years to those living near the medical building," said Dr. Mangum. It will probably be a few weeks before the new quarters will be ready, but the authorities plan to effect this change as soon as practical.

Two Added
Two additional men have been added to the University medical faculty recently, Dr. Mangum announced. They are Dr. A. S. Rose, who will become associate professor of anatomy, and Dr. W. R. Berryhill, who will be associate professor of pathological physiology and physical diagnosis.

Dr. Rose is an alumnus of Davidson college and the University medical school, and received his M.D. at Harvard University. He won a teaching fellowship in anatomy at Harvard, and was also an instructor in anatomy there. During the past year at Harvard, he taught clinical neurology.

Dr. Berryhill is an alumnus of the University, received his M.D. from Harvard University, and for three years was an instructor in the Department of Internal Medicine at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. For the past year he has been in charge of the infirmary.

FERA GIVES JOBS TO 2,446 NEEDY IN N. C. COLLEGES

Twelve Per Cent of Students in Accredited State Institutions Last Year Get Aid.

289 ARE HELPED HERE

Over 2,446 students, 12 per cent of the 20,300 individuals enrolled in accredited North Carolina colleges last year, are receiving help from FERA in accredited state institutions this year, according to figures released by federal relief authorities this week.

$15 Per Month

Averaging $15 a month for each student, these 49 accredited colleges in North Carolina are receiving $36,675 each month from the federal funds. For the nine months school term the sum will exceed $330,075. This figure approximates the entire cost of operating the Chapel Hill unit of the University of North Carolina for the same length of time.

Last year 241 Carolina men were aided by federal funds in a similar manner. This was 10 per cent of the enrollment for October 1933. At present 289, or 12 per cent of last October's enrollment, are to be given this help. At $15 per month, the Chapel Hill unit total alone amounts to $4,335 each month. For the 1934-35 school year the figure will near $40,000.

12 Per Cent

Early instructions concerning FERA funds held the colleges to allotments on the basis of the student body, actually 12 per cent, and provided that "there shall be an equitable division between sexes—in proportion to the enrollment of each in the particular school." Difficulties arose, however, when it was discovered that in co-educational schools the pro rata share of the girls was not used up and (Continued on page two)

SMITHWICK NAMES FOUR COMMITTEES FOR PHI ASSEMBLY

POLICE DISCOVER SCRIBBLED NOTE IN KIDNAP HOME

Note Tacked in Closet Clinches Guilt of Lindbergh Kidnap Suspect, Say Authorities.

LINDBERGH ARRIVE EAST

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 25.—(UP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh arrived here tonight and departed immediately for New York by automobile.

New York, Sept. 25.—(UP)—A scribbled notation of the address and telephone number of Dr. John F. Condon, the go-between of the Lindbergh case who signed himself as "Jafsie," was found on a board ripped from a closet wall at the home of Bruno Richard Hauptmann tonight, and convinced Bronx county authorities that the kidnaping case has finally been completely solved after mystifying police for two and one half years.

Ladder Nails Found

Nails which have been found in Hauptmann's house are identical with those used in construction of the ladder which was employed by the kidnaper in reaching the second floor of the Lindbergh home, where the nursery was located, and where Charles Lindbergh, Jr., was snatched from his crib.

Hauptmann admitted that he had written the notation on the board because he was "interested in the case."

The case was brought to public attention again last Thursday, when Hauptmann was incarcerated as a suspect in the world famous kidnaping. Certificates recognized as those paid in ransom by the Lindberghs were found in a garage near Hauptmann's home in the Bronx.

Later developments included the tracing of a friend of Hauptmann who used some of the certificates to pay part passage to Germany where he died shortly after.

Hauptmann entered the country illegally in an attempt to escape from the German authorities.

LAW CONVOCATION

The law school will hold its first convocation in freshman room, Manning hall, at 10:30 o'clock today. Miss Elliot, the law school librarian, will give a short talk on the library of the law school.

Reorganization Of NRA Begins With Resignation Of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson

President Expects to Continue Prohibition of Child Labor, Establishment of Maximum Hours and Minimum Wage, Fair Trade Provisions, and Limited Industrial Self-Government.

Washington, Sept. 25.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today began a program of reorganization of the National Industrial Recovery Administration by accepting the resignation of General Hugh S. Johnson.

General Johnson took office June 16, 1933, when the National Industrial Recovery Act became effective. Since that time his actions have occupied the front pages of newspapers throughout the country.

ENGINEERS HAVE NEW PROFESSORS

Leaves of Absence and Resignations Make Additions Necessary This Year.

There have been three major changes in the faculty of the engineering school.

John C. Geyer, who comes here directly from Harvard, will fill the vacancy made by Dr. G. P. Edwards as instructor of sanitation engineering. Edwards has accepted a position as laboratory director for the Massachusetts State Board of Health.

B.S. from Michigan

Geyer received his training at Drury college, Springfield, Mo. and at the University of Michigan, where he secured his degree of bachelor of science in civil engineering in 1931. Since then he has been at Harvard University teaching and studying graduate courses in sanitation engineering. Last year he was awarded a masters degree in civil engineering at that institution.

John D. Watson has been granted a leave of absence for one year in order that he may teach and do research work at Lehigh University in Pennsylvania. He was replaced by James R. Marvin, a graduate student of last year and member of the class of '33 in electrical engineering.

Changes in the mechanical engineering department were brought about by the appointment last spring of Neil P. Bailey to head the mechanical department at the Iowa State University. Bailey assumed his duties at that institution this fall.

Colin C. Carmichael has taken over Bailey's duties and J. A. McLean, who graduated here with a B. S. in mechanical engineering in 1933, will substitute for Carmichael.

PSYCH 21 CLASS IS OVERCROWDED

Dr. J. F. Dashiell, head of psychology department, announced that through an error in the registration procedure the department was swamped with an excessive enrollment in psychology 21.

An emergency arrangement was made whereby Dr. Bagby is giving an extra set of lectures to a new class meeting at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. A. G. Bayroff, who took his degree here in '31, is employed to handle the extra laboratory sections.

According to Dr. Dashiell an increased interest in the more advanced courses in this department is shown by the fact that psychology has eleven graduate students majoring in the department.

Internal dissension and dispute among NRA officials within the past eight months have slowed the pace of the once speedy organization immensely until today its center found itself operating in uncertainty and confusion.

Many believe the initials "NRA" themselves will disappear in the plan of reorganization begun by the step taken by President Roosevelt today in accepting General Johnson's resignation.

Regardless of the nature of the changes to be brought about, President Roosevelt intends to perpetuate the recovery administration's achievements under General Johnson's leadership, including (1) prohibition of child labor, (2) establishment of maximum hours and minimum wages for industrial workers, (3) some of the fair trade provisions, and (4) a limited degree of industrial self government.

President Roosevelt was at Hyde Park when he accepted the General's resignation. The resignation will become effective October 15.

In his letter to the President, Johnson said, "We are in agreement upon the general form of reorganization, and I hope you'll now also see eye to eye with me on the subject of my resigning my job, which now seems altogether superfluous."

SUGARMAN CALLS FROSH GATHERING

Nelson Lansdale to Direct Meeting Scheduled for 3:45 O'clock In Office of Magazine.

Joe Sugarman, editor of the Carolina Magazine, has called a meeting of all freshmen interested in writing for the publication today at 3:45 o'clock in the magazine office in Graham Memorial.

The meeting will be under the direction of Nelson Lansdale. The general plans for the magazine for the coming year will be outlined to the first-year students, and tentative proposals will be made whereby the freshmen will be taught to write for the magazine.

The fact that the freshman meeting is being held separately from the upperclassmen's meeting this year does not mean that there will be any discrimination of first-year men, according to the editor.

Upperclassmen may confer with the editor every afternoon, with the exception of today, between 4:00 and 5:00 o'clock, and Saturday mornings from 11:30 until 1:00 o'clock.

Copy for the publication may be left at the magazine office, mailed to box 710, or brought to the T. E. P. house, 216 E. Rosemary street.
