

Jugoslavs Fear Dictatorship Controlled By Military Clique

National Disunion Is Greatest Danger

Popular Demonstrations Attest Belief That Italian Powers Engineered Assassination.

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Oct. 10.—(UP)—It is feared that the army clique may seize control in the name of King Peter II.

The Jugoslavs realize that the greatest danger is the possibility of national disunion, and fear that the death of the King might bring the warring elements to active hostilities.

To prevent this the Serbians who control the army are believed to be planning a dictatorship based on military strength.

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Oct. 10.—(UP)—Peasants of Jugoslavia faced the specter of possible military dictatorship tonight.

Outwardly calm, the nation seethed internally as indications increased that the military dictatorship is controlled by Serbian powers.

Anti-Italian demonstrations were reported throughout Slovenia tonight as the population charged Italians were the brains behind the assassination.

No Bloodshed

Police were able to disperse most of the demonstrations without bloodshed.

Zagreb, Jugoslavia, capital of the Croatian province and a hotbed of enmity towards the Serbians who hold the governing power, appeared tonight to be reconciled towards the new political regime growing out of the death of Alexander I.

Alexander's gesture naming two Croatians to the regency which will rule in the name of King Peter II is regarded as the most effective bond between the antagonistic elements since the creation of the kingdom.

President Roosevelt yesterday announced the appointment of Robert D. W. Connor, Kenan professor of history at the University, to the new government job of federal archivist.

COUNCIL ADOPTS DORMITORY RULES

Inter-Dormitory Body Reverses Decision on Decoration for Homecoming Day.

In a meeting late last night, the Inter-Dormitory council adopted a set of rules for dormitory conduct, reversed its former position on decorating dorms for Homecoming Day, appointed committees to work out a system for collecting dormitory fees and to draw up a point system for the awarding of the intramural trophy, and passed a resolution requesting the buildings department for glass-enclosed bulletin boards.

Haywood Weeks declared that more spirit is being shown by the dormitories this year than ever before.

Dormitory rules go into effect immediately and are to be enforced by the councilors on each floor. Unnecessary noise or disturbance is prohibited, and the dormitory council is to have full authority in case of infraction of regulations by a member of the house.

Student Council Enforcement

The dormitory council is authorized, in extreme cases, to refer the case to the student council. These rules are to be mutually co-operative among the dormitories. In addition, each dormitory council is instructed to hold weekly meetings.

In reversing its position in regard to decorating dormitories, the council last night declared itself opposed to decorations for homecoming week, maintaining that the dorms do not lend themselves to the idea. Seven dormitories were definitely opposed to decorations, and the rest evidenced tacit opposition.
