Nineteen of the 50 are running for seats in the state Senate, while 31 are seeking places in the House of Representatives.

This group of 50 University men will compose almost one third of the total membership of both houses, if they are all elected in the coming contest. ## NEW GREEN PLAY TO BE PRODUCED

Playmaker Tryouts for Un-Named Play to Be Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening.

After several conferences with their ace playwright, Paul Green, the Carolina Playmakers staff announced yesterday that the next public production for the current season would be a new un-named play by Green.

Try-outs for the production, scheduled for December 6, 7, and 8, will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock and Wednesday night at 7:00 o'clock. The cast is unusually large and offers varied roles. Try-outs are open to everybody.

Alter Decision

A recent statement by the Playmakers listed "The Enchanted Ground," a new play of university life by Green as the next public presentation. The staff altered its decision this week in favor of the new drama because of its interesting form, different from anything previously written by Paul Green and unlike anything before attempted by the Playmakers.

The play will be done stylistically with music and will introduce a new note into the Playmakers work.

Complications

Green's new play centers around the dreamy, child-like daughter of a landlord farmer. Oscar Graham, the proud father, embittered by his unhappy relations with Lady Jane, a beautiful and pathetic woman, desires the marriage of his daughter to Colin Spence, an honest unimaginative young hired man.

Complicated situations arise when Lora Graham, the daughter, fails to show any interest in the proposed marriage.

Numerous other characters serve only to complicate matters further.

DI WILL DISCUSS ORGANIZED LABOR

Income and Inheritance Taxes And Revision of Class Schedule Are Other Questions.

One of the three bills to be discussed tonight at the meeting of the Diabetic senate at 7:15 o'clock in New West is: Resolved, that a strong industrial union organized on a national basis can not be successful in the United States.

The subject was debated by the University and the Oxford debating teams last week.

Tax Bill

Other bills are: Resolved, that an increase in the graduated income tax is more just than the present inheritance tax; and Resolved, that the present class schedule should be changed to begin at 9:00 o'clock, thereby abolishing freshman assembly and allowing the call meetings at 8:30 o'clock.

Announcement of the queries of the Mary D. Wright and the freshman Di-Phi debates will be made at this meeting.

There will be a number of committee reports on the swimming pool bill, the inter-society debate, initiation, and finances.

Among the neophytes who will be initiated at this meeting are: George Rhoades, Don Wetherbee, Bill Wakeley, Paul Best, Henry Haywood, Frank McCarther, Hubert Haywood, and Bill Macdonald. Other men who have been accepted are requested to attend.

Mrs. Russell to Speak At Bookshop Today

Edna St. Vincent Millay's Poetry To Be Read at 4:30 O'clock.

A discussion of selections from Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Wine from these Grapes" will be the feature of the Bull's Head lecture program in the bookshop at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. H. K. Russell, wife of Dr. H. K. Russell of the English department, will conduct the discussion, reading the selected pieces herself.

"Wine from these Grapes," Miss Millay's latest book of verse, was published this month and was added to the Bull's Head bookshelves only last week.

ERICSON BLAMES SYSTEM FOR WAR

Capitalists Will Continue to Sponsor War for Profits, He Tells Cabinets.

Stating that the nations of the world must first solve their seemingly impossible internal and domestic maladjustments before international peace can be viewed as probable or imminent, Professor E. E. Ericson last night continued the Y. M. C. A. discussion program with a talk on "Is Socialism a Cure for War?"

Ericson held that under the present capitalistic, or, as he preferred to call it, "industrial" system, was was inevitable regardless of what the masses think. "The capitalists," he explained, "will decide that for you, and inevitably will condone war because it is profitable for them to do so."

Market Problem

Another reason that under capitalism was inevitable is that the system must look for new markets when the problem arises of "what to do with our output." The quarrel over who shall patronize the different nations in their sales campaign causes international animosity.

The problem under capitalism, then, is, Dr. Ericson said, that "workers are not able to buy back what they make." This internal inability he went on, leads directly to socialism.

The result of the situation is that the nations cannot get a decent co-operative international agreement because the internal forces tend to jeopardize any such co-operation.

"We need some sort of co-operative society," Dr. Ericson warned, "or we'll all go down together."

Then, too, he pointed out, the policies of Hitler and Mussolini to impress the theory of "racial superiority" upon their people is a force making international co-operation virtually impossible. Thus, he concluded, the problem is really rooted in the human character.

Walter Hampden's Tour Indicates Revival Of Old Stage Tradition

Walter Hampden, one of the foremost actors of the American stage, is expected to draw many students and residents of Chapel Hill who are lovers of the legitimate theatre to his performance of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" on the stage of the Carolina theatre in Durham Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock. Hampden, famed for his portrayal of Ros-tand's "Cyrano de Bergerac" as well as his many Shakespearean characterizations, will play "Hamlet" in Raleigh tomorrow night and "Richelieu" in Greensboro Friday. Many critics have acclaimed "Macbeth" as his finest tragic portrayal.

Walter Hampden and the members of his permanent acting company are practically alone in the clarity of speech, the beauty of diction, the finer grace of stage deportment, the breath of technique and the commanding presence which are essential in doing justice to the majestic verse of Shakespeare, and in recreating the complex characters that dominate his plays.

"Macbeth" is seldom played on the modern stage despite its power and fascination as a drama, because they are few

Debate Tryouts

Tryouts for the debate squad which will meet the University of Georgia on November 15 will be conducted in 209 Graham Memorial tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

The query of the debate is: Resolved, that peace is impossible under capitalism. The North Carolina team will support the negative.

CO-OP ELECTIONS TO BE TOMORROW

Pool, Williamson, Townsend, and Roberts Are Candidates for Board of Directors.

The election of two new members to the board of directors of the Student Co-operative association will be held in the Co-op clothing store tomorrow between the hours of 9:00 and 5:00 o'clock.

Four men have been nominated by the nominating committee: Jack Pool, Harry Williamson, Nat Townsend, and Jimmy Rogers. A membership card in either the cleaners or the clothiers will allow the owners to cast one vote. A membership in both gives one the right to vote twice.

Additional Nominees

In case any member wants to name another nominee for the board he will write the name of the nominee on his ballot.

Both the cleaners and the clothing store are operated under the supervision of the board of directors, composed of five members who determine the policies of the two concerns.

Contrary to a rumor that has been going the rounds, a member of the board does not draw a salary, although a salary has been suggested for the position.

Tapping Postponed

The annual tapping of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, originally scheduled for tonight, has been indefinitely postponed, it was announced yesterday by Dr. A. L. White of the chemical engineering department.

DEMOCRATS VOTE TODAY CONFIDENT OF HUGE VICTORY

Record Off-Year Vote Expected; Seven Campaign Speeches Made Yesterday in State.

STATE OFFICIALS SPEAK

Washington, Nov. 5.—(UP)—The Democrats will emerge from the swamp of balloting in tomorrow's election still in control of both houses of Congress, last minute reports indicated tonight.

Every sign pointed towards a vote which will be the heaviest in years for an "off-year" election.

Estimates placed the number of voters registered throughout the nation at a point between 40 and 45 million.

Expect "Off-Year" Count

Party leaders, however, will be satisfied if the usual "off-year" election count—approximately 33 million—is reached.

The Democratic party machine threw its support behind Senator Hiram Johnson, California Republican, in his fight for re-election.

Those who are accustomed to forecast the future by the past have admitted that tomorrow's election will probably violate the political axiom that a party newly come to power in the presidency and in Congress loses its majority in the House in the election two years later.

Raleigh, State Democratic Headquarters, Nov. 5.—(UP)—On the eve of the election, headquarters officials expressed their confidence that a great outpouring of Democrats will cast a vote proportionately as large as that two years ago—heavier than any "off-year" vote for a long time.

Statements by Chairman J. Wallace Winborne, Mrs. C. W. Tillett, Jr., vice-chairman, and Secretary Cutler Moore evinced satisfaction and confidence in a big victory.

Final Speeches

Governor Ehringhaus delivered an address in Statesville tonight, whereas the other six campaign speeches were made this afternoon.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds spoke at Yadkinville, Clyde R. Hoey at Winston-Salem, Walter Lambeth at Coolidge, Josiah W. Bailey at Charlotte, Thomas Johnson at Columbus, and Harold Cooley at Raleigh.

INSTITUTE HEADS WILL MEET AT "Y"

Human Relations Institute Committees to Meet Tomorrow.

Charles Aycock Poe, new head of the Human Relations Institute, announced yesterday that a joint meeting of all committees would occur tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building.

The committees, which will be subject to reorganization at tomorrow night's meeting, will probably include 20 representatives from the University faculty and the student body.

The meeting will offer the first opportunity to the new chairman to make plans for the Institute which will meet at the University April 7-12, 1935. Poe is taking over the duties of chairman succeeding Simmons Patterson, who resigned several weeks ago.
