Paul Green to Read "Roll Sweet Chariot"

Famous Author Will Present His Own Play Sunday Night.

Paul Green, outstanding American playwright and an alumnus of the University, will read his own Negro symphony play entitled "Roll Sweet Chariot" Sunday night at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre.

"Roll Sweet Chariot" was first produced in Boston last spring, later for a try-out production in Milwaukee, and for its world premiere in New York in September.

The drama, with its distinctive idea and music, brought the author a great deal of praise from several of the outstanding critics in this country. Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times wrote a lengthy article for his paper on the subject of Green's play.

The dramatic critic of the Theatre Arts Monthly also devoted a special article to "Roll Sweet Chariot" praising it as one of the few modern dramas to have the touch of real genius and greatness.

Paul Green has returned to Chapel Hill from New York, where the play opened, and is planning to spend a part of this winter here. Last year he spent much of his time in Hollywood preparing scenarios for movie producers.
