PLAYMAKER STAFF SEEKS ACCORDIAN

Instrument Is Needed in "Shroud My Body Down."

Samuel Selden, technical director of the Carolina Playmakers' next bill, Paul Green's "Shroud My Body Down," is on the search for an accordian.

Selden stated that the rare instrument will be used by a colorful old man, one of the outstanding characters in "Shroud My Body Down." The production staff is anxious to communicate with any one who knows the whereabouts of an accordian.

Playmaker authorities admitted that the problem was a hard one for only one accordian has been known to visit Chapel Hill in the last several months. The instrument's rareness compares with the unusuality of the play in which it is to be used, "Shroud My Body Down."

Green's play is different from any of his former plays. One of the most important scenes will show several rooms of the same house with action taking place in each room simultaneously.

NEGROES TO HEAR SEDALIA SINGERS

Y. M. C. A. Has Special Section
In Memorial Hall Reserved
For Negroes for Concert.

Y. M. C. A. authorities announced yesterday that a special section of Memorial hall would be reserved for Negroes Sunday when the Sedalia Singers of Greensboro appear here.

The singers, a colored chorus from a Greensboro school, will present their program at 3:30 p. m., according to Harry Riggs of the University Y. M. C. A. who is arranging for the occasion.

Good Record

Having sung in numerous cities throughout the country, the Sedalia Singers have established an admirable record. Their performances in New York City and Boston received a great deal of praise from the northern metropolitan newspapers.

The chorus will be under the direction of Miss Amy P. Bailey. Miss Bailey is also an outstanding soloist with the troupe. Dr. C. Hawkins Brown is manager of the organization.

Especially famous is the work of the Sedalia Singers' quartet which was accredited with being one of the best ever to appear in New York. The chorus' versions of popular Negro spirituals account for much of their present wide favor.

Will Compare Freshmen Trained
In and Out of State.

Dr. A. P. Hudson, chairman of freshman English in the University, will address the English teachers of the southeastern district of the North Carolina Education Association today in Fayetteville.

He will discuss the preparation for, and the performance in, freshman English at the University of North Carolina and will compare the preparation of North Carolina trained freshmen and out-of-state trained freshmen.

He will also give suggestions on the co-operation of high school teachers with freshman English professors, and will present a program for an English curriculum.

Troops Expensive

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—(UP)—The use of state troops during the textile strike in September proved a huge drain on North Carolina's emergency and contingency fund.

The council of the state today approved an allotment of $400,000 from the fund to meet the costs incurred in maintaining guardsmen at the various strike areas.

The exact cost is still unknown. Adjutant General John Van Buren Metts said today that not quite all of the allotment has been spent yet, but that all the expenses have not been paid either.

COUNCIL DECIDES ON DORM AWARD

Point System Presented as
Means of Making Grail Award
To Best Dormitory.

The Interdormitory Council met Wednesday night to pass on resolutions determining how the Grail award for the best-regulated dormitory should be presented.

Bernard Solomon gave the report of the committee on the point system of making the award. In substance the report was:

Each dormitory shall be allotted 500 points. For each case upon which the Student Council has to act 25 points shall be deducted from that dormitory's number.

Interdorm Disturbance

In a case where one dormitory is found guilty of being responsible for poor conduct in another dormitory 100 points shall be deducted. Points shall be awarded to dorms on a sliding scale for teams entered in intramural athletic contests.

These rules may be found in the Handbook of Intramural Athletics. For the final awarding, a committee of five people, three from the Interdormitory Council and two from the Grail, shall, as it sees fit, award a bonus of up to 100 points to a dormitory with an exceptional record.

PARAGUAY TROOPS BATTER BOLIVIANS

Capture of Canadian Area Leaves
Bolivia Scant Holdings.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Nov. 22.—(UP)—Paraguayan forces drove their military wedge deeper into Bolivian territory to night with the capture of Canada, Bolivia's strongest area.

The capture resulted from the fall of Fort Beatriz which controlled the Canadian district. This, with two other smashing Paraguayan victories today, left the Bolivians only a precarious footing in the southern Gran Chaco.

At Geneva, Switzerland, yesterday the Paraguay delegation at the opening of the League Assembly rejected the committee's recommendation for an arms embargo unless Bolivia stopped the Gran-Chaco war.

W. P. Mangum Collection In Library Composed Of Many Queer Specimens

Collection Made by Willie Person Mangum While Consul to China
Presented to University by His Wife in 1895.

Grotesque statuettes of angry, leering gods, oddly shaped vases and incense burners, fans and shell belts, queer trinket boxes and sets of porcelain ware crowd the shelves of the Mangum Collection in the University Library.

Visitors to the library come across this oriental display, and wonder how Willie Person Mangum came to possess such a collection. The library force knows nothing of its history except that it was presented to the University in 1895 by Mrs. W. P. Mangum in memory of her husband and they are unable to estimate its value.

U. S. Consul

In 1861 Willie P. Mangum, scion of an illustrious Carolina family, was appointed United States Consul at Ningpo, China, and it was from Ningpo, China, many of the delicate wood carv-

After drawing partners, four players from each school will meet each other in tennis on the varsity courts. Only in tennis and archery contests will the winners be officially recognized by the group. The women from each school will compete for the archery championship.

U. N. C. GETS GIFT OF REFRIGERATOR

Chemistry Department Receives
Electrolux Refrigerator.

Dr. A. S. Wheeler, acting head of the chemistry department, announced yesterday that the chemistry department had received a very welcome addition in the form of an Electrolux refrigerator.

The refrigerator, a product of Servel, Incorporated, was given free of charge.

It has been placed on the second floor to be used by the research students of that floor. This floor has until now been without a refrigerator.

A large wall chart in colors illustrates the mechanism. Somewhat larger than ordinary household refrigerators, this one is operated by a small gas jet using kerosene for fuel.

The electrical refrigerator on the first floor was installed by the chemistry department and the cold chamber is large enough for a man to stand upright within.

Recently a student had to carry out an experiment in this chamber, Dr. Wheeler stated. The second floor research students will not be able to do this with theirs, however.
