

Waldrop Chosen Captain Of 1935 Harrier Outfit

Outstanding Two-Miler On Title - Holding Track Squad.

Ranson Runners Finish Highly Successful Season.

Joseph Edmund Waldrop, brilliant cross country and track star for the past two years, was elected yesterday by his team mates to captain the harrier outfit in 1935.

The Greenville boy is a senior this year, but, having been kept on the bench during his sophomore season because of a bad leg, he will be eligible to finish his career as a runner next fall.

Waldrop skyrocketed to fame as a runner about as fast as any person ever attending the University. Coming from a small town, he had had no experience at all when first he came to Carolina.

Early Development

However, during his first year, Waldrop ran second only to Harry Williamson on the freshman harrier club. He also showed form as a miler on the yearling track team during the spring.

In his sophomore year Waldrop stayed out of cross country because of his leg but was a fairly good miler on the Southern Conference championship track team of 1933.

Last season in cross country, Waldrop first began showing real form as a distance runner. Although handicapped most of the time with a strained muscle in his side, he managed to run fairly high on the harrier club and finished among the leaders in the Southern Conference meet.

Fame Starts

However, it was on the 1934 track team that Waldrop gained most fame as a runner. Again trying the mile he was just a fair man. About the middle of the season the Greenville boy was shifted to the two mile distance and at once began improving, getting his initial first place in the dual meet with Navy.

Then in the Southern Conference track meet at Duke, Waldrop turned in one of the really surprising performances of the day. Not even thought of as a possible first place finisher in the two mile run, he breezed along in fine style and nosed out Bird of Duke and Dunaj of Washington and Lee in a great sprinting finish for the title.

During the past season on the cross country team the new captain.

Coach Quinlan Calls For More Grapplers

The varsity and freshman grapplers are undergoing intensive workouts daily at the Tin Can under the guidance of Coach Quinlan. The squad now numbers close to 60 and is increasing in size every day. However, excellent opportunity of making the team is afforded to entrants in the 118 lb, 125 lb, and the unlimited classes on both the varsity and frosh teams as the present number of competitors in these classes is comparatively small.

The Tar Heel mentor is quite optimistic for the success of the team as compared to last year's showing. The squad has most of its varsity wrestlers from last year and is backed up by the crack freshman team which went through an undefeated season.

The first varsity match will be held sometime in the middle of January and will be followed by about seven more matches. A definite schedule of the dates of the meets will be announced in a day or two.

NETTERS PUT UP RACQUETS UNTIL SPRING QUARTER

Ladder Play Ceases with Willis And De Gray Holding Top Positions.

PLAY INDOORS AT TIN CAN

With the general acceptance of Old Man Winter in Chapel Hill, the varsity and frosh tennis stars have packed away their well-worn racquets and are preparing for the yearly layoff.

At the end of this week, outdoor play will come to a close, and the sole field of play will be situated in the Tin Can. A few of the players have already taken advantage of the court in the huge arena and have started nightly workouts.

The Pinehurst Country Club has just announced its opening fall tournament starting Saturday. If there are yet varsity stars desirous of good competition, they will probably enter this annual event, but there is doubt as to whether any Tar Heel will make the trek to the Carolina resort.

Willis Tops Varsity

Ricky Willis heads the varsity as the fall play takes its closing bow, and will retain that position until the start of ladder play again in the spring. When the opening ladder standing was issued, Willis was in third spot but due to his victories over Levitan, he replaced the varsity captain at the top.

The only unranked player to break into the first ten was Gene Goodes, who replaced Jimmy Johnston on the ladder. Otherwise, the ranking is identically the same, outside of Henderson's rise of three places. Both Abels and Dowd dropped one in advance of Archie's surge into seventh place.

The first three on the frosh list have retained their positions with De Gray at the top, followed by Robinson and Foreman. The greatest advance was made by Seymore Fast, who moved four notches in taking fourth place from Ray Bartelman. Van Hecke and Parker are the only two to drop from the ranking and were replaced respectively by Jimmy Bloom and Bob Hagey.

Bloom came from nowhere to take seventh place through three successive victories, whereas Hagey moved into the big ten by virtue of a default from Parker.

Taken generally, the ladder system was unsuccessful, with many players not seeing action and others getting an overdose. The method of advancing three positions by one victory has been criticized widely and is probably due for a radical change in the near future.

The present ranking, which holds until the spring quarter, follows:

Varsity	Freshmen
1 Willis	De Gray
2 Levitan	Robinson
3 Harris	Foreman
4 Jones	Fast
5 Minor	Bartelman
6 Whitaker	Elwell
7 Henderson	Bloom
8 Dowd	Berg
9 Abels	Yeomans
10 Goodes	Hagey

Frosh Cage Manager

All men interested in trying out for freshman basketball manager will meet with J. C. Steele in the Tin Can Monday night at 8 o'clock.

VARSITY QUINTET HOLDS PRACTICE LONG AND HARD

Coach Shepard Finds Great Difficulty in Filling One of Guard Posts.

FIRST STRING SCRIMMAGES

Coach Bo Shepard sent his whole squad through a scrimmage yesterday in the Tin Can, preparing for the opening of the basketball season shortly after the Christmas holidays.

The cagers started the afternoon with the usual shooting and conditioning drills. The scrubs then went through a practice contest while the outstanding candidates for the team got their eyes on the basket from the foul line.

Finally Coach Shepard sent his first lineup on the floor against some reserves. Captain Snooks Aitken had his usual place at forward and was paired with Mel Nelson, letter reserve last year. Ivan Glace, another regular veteran, ran at the center post, while Jim McCachren, All-Southern, rounded out the letter players at one of the guards.

Coach Shepard will probably have the most difficulty getting a capable starter for the other guard left vacant by ex-Captain Dave McCachren. Ben Blood, letterman, is supposed to have the

BOXING TOURNEY POSTPONED UNTIL TUESDAY, DEC. 11

Mural Pugs May File Entries This Week; Eight Divisions Sponsored.

TO WEIGH IN AT EMERSON

Boxing intramurals which previously had been called for Monday, have been shifted a day and will start instead on Tuesday, December 11.

Students desiring to enter can now file their applications with the boxing manager at the Tin Can any day this week between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m.

All entrants will be required to be present at Emerson field on Monday from 4 to 6 in order that they may weigh in for the opening bouts on Tuesday. Director Herman Schnell will be on hand to see that everyone is taken care of.

Eight weight divisions are included, as follows: 115 lb., 125, 135, 145, 155, 165, 175, and heavyweight. The boxers will be allowed, as usual, a leeway of four pounds so that one can weigh 119 pounds and still enter the 115 class and so on.

The eligibility rules that apply to the other intramurals are to be in effect here. Boys who have at any time participated in varsity or freshman boxing are ineligible; all other students are free to enter.

Tar Heel Sports Writers Select 1934 All-America Gridiron Eleven

Minnesota, Stanford, Navy, and Alabama Place Two Each on First String; Barclay, Larsen, and Borries Unanimous Choices; Close Voting for Pivot Post with Robinson Winning.

Larsen (Minnesota)	l.e.	Moscrip (Stanford)
Cutter (Navy)	lt.	Lee (Alabama)
Barclay (N. Carolina)	lg.	Bevan (Minnesota)
Robinson (Notre Dame)	c.	Lester (Texas Chr.)
Hartwig (Pitt)	r.g.	Monohan (Ohio State)
Reynolds (Stanford)	r.t.	Ferrara (Columbia)
Hufson (Alabama)	r.e.	Kelley (Yale)
Howell (Alabama)	q.b.	Munjas (Pitt)
Borries (Navy)	l.h.	Wallace (Rice)
Lund (Minnesota)	r.h.	Weinstock (Pitt)
Grayson (Stanford)	f.b.	Kostka (Minnesota)

Honorable mention: ends—Borden (Fordham), Erdelatz (St. Mary's), Dornin (Navy); tackles—Theodoratus (Washington State), Maddox (Kansas State), Plfum (Nebraska); guards—Ormiston (Pitt), Bale (Rice), Preston (Army); centers—Shotwell (Pitt), Robertshaw (Navy), Robinson (Tulane); quarters—Tomb (Columbia), Armstrong (Kansas State); halves—Berwanger (Chicago), Buckler (Army), Johnson (Kentucky), Simons (Tulane), Purvis (Purdue), Shakespeare (Notre Dame), Williams (California); fulls—Smukler (Temple), Melinkovitch (Notre Dame).

With the shades pulled down on the 1934 football season, everyone turns to indoor sports—and foremost among these at the present time is picking All-Star teams. Each and every person from 99 years old down has selected an All-Something gridiron team, which without a doubt in his own mind is the best possible choice.

After such a thrilling and exciting session by the Snavely Tar Heel eleven, the DAILY TAR HEEL sports staff is taking time out to make its choice for All-America honors before having a mental relapse caused by the excitement of the past season. The DAILY TAR HEEL final selection, though not entirely officially recognized, should carry much weight. The team was compiled by the staff which includes Jimmy Morris, Smith Barrier, Lee Turk, Fletcher Ferguson, Len Rubin, Stuart Sechrist, Ira Sarasohn, and Lester Ostrow.

Although none of the staff has seen all the men in action during the season, news reports and quite authoritative opinions were studied the whole fall, and the actual performances were watched from week to week.

Four teams stand out among the first string selection, placing a pair of grid stars each. These clubs are Stanford, Minnesota, Alabama, and Navy, representing the far west, mid-west, south and east. Each team was the outstanding eleven in its section, with the exception of the Middies who rank probably second to Pittsburgh. The remaining places are divided among North Carolina, Notre Dame, and Pittsburgh.

Only a trio of men received unanimous selection by the board. They were George Barclay, brilliant guard; Frank Larsen, leading flankman of the nation; and Fred Borries, ranking Midshipman backfield star. Don Hutson, Francis Lund, and Bobbie Grayson failed by one to garner all the votes. Bob Reynolds, Charlie Hartwig, and Milard Howell lacked two votes.

The closest race was for the pivot position with Lester of Texas Christian and Robinson of Notre Dame battling for top honors, and the Rambler getting first choice by a lone vote.

Thirty-Two Monograms Given For Fall Sports

Basketeers Book Twenty-One Tilts; Big Eastern Trip

Nine Home Games Scheduled; Season Opens January 3 With Elon Here.

A representative and ambitious schedule of 21 games, featured by two long trips, one into Virginia and another into the east, and climaxed by the Southern Conference tourney, was announced for the University of North Carolina basketball team yesterday by Coach G. E. Shepard.

Two intersectional foes, Navy and Army, have been scheduled along with Maryland and the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn on the eastern trip. Every team in the Southern Conference will be met except Clemson, and two games will be played with each of the Big Five teams, the card listing 13 conference and eight Big Five contests.

The complete schedule follows:

- Jan. 3—Elon here.
- Jan. 5—Davidson at Charlotte.
- Jan. 8—Wake Forest, here.
- Jan. 10—W. & L. at Lynchburg.
- Jan. 11—V. M. I., there.
- Jan. 12—V. P. I., there.
- Jan. 15—Virginia, here.
- Jan. 18—Maryland, there.
- Jan. 19—Navy, there.
- Jan. 21—Crescent Athletic Club in Brooklyn.
- Jan. 23—Army, there.
- Jan. 28—V. P. I., here.
- Jan. 30—N. C. State, here.
- Feb. 2—Wake Forest, there.
- Feb. 5—Duke, there.
- Feb. 9—So. Carolina, there.
- Feb. 12—Davidson, here.

- Feb. 19—N. C. State, there.
- Feb. 21—V. M. I., here.
- Feb. 22—So. Carolina, here.
- Feb. 28-March 2—Southern Conference Tournament.

All-Campus Correction

With the names-and-residences-listing in the student directory giving us a little "bum steer," the name of "Bucky" Harris, All-Campus selection from S. A. E., was erroneously given as Richard M. Harris, who is a member of the same fraternity.

However, we take this opportunity of saying that "Bucky's" full insignia is William Clinton Harris, Jr., and to apologize for this misleading error.

JUNIOR CLASS FEES

The following juniors have not yet paid their class fees, a check-up at the Yackety Yack office revealed yesterday:

F. L. Bowen, E. I. Campbell, Nancy Dicks, Dorothy Douglas, Harold Gordon, R. H. Hardison, W. R. Hollingsworth, W. F. Illman, M. DuB. MacDowell, Mildred Moore, C. W. Peele, T. B. Yarborough.

Arrangements must be made today if these pictures are to appear in the Yackety Yack.

Wrestling Notice

All varsity and freshman wrestlers are either to turn out regularly for practice or forfeit their equipment immediately. Workouts will be given daily until the latter part of next week, and the presence of all candidates is requested.

Frosh Get 48 Numerals On Football, Cross Country Teams.

Barclay and McRae Receive Special Awards.

The University Athletic Council yesterday announced the awarding of 32 varsity monograms and 48 freshman numerals to the members of Carolina's victorious fall sports teams.

The Blue and White eleven won the Big Five title and was undefeated in the Southern Conference but barely missed the championship due to a tie by N. C. State. The Tar Heel cross country team swept top honors in both the state and conference.

The splendid performance of the Tar Heel teams this fall gives Carolina one of the finest athletic records for the year 1934 ever amassed by a Southern Conference institution.

Special Awards

A special award, white sweaters with service stripes, was made to George Barclay and Edwin McRae in recognition of their outstanding individual work. Barclay captained the Tar Heel eleven to the most successful season since 1929 and made All-America guard. McRae won the Southern Conference cross country championship.

Special blue senior sweaters with service stripes were also voted, as a reward for the team's fine record, to the other five graduating members of the football squad. These were: Charlie Shaffer, Jim Tatum, Eddie Kahn, Ralph Gardner, and Eddie Martin.

Three men received their third football letters: Captain George Barclay of Natrona, Pa.; Eddie Kahn of Roxbury, Mass.; and Jim Tatum of McColl, S. C.

Second awards went to Babe Daniel, Charlotte; Tom Eyns, Oxford; Ralph Gardner, Shelby; Don Jackson, Sanford, Fla.; Emmett Joyce, Chicago, Ill.; Jim McCachren, Charlotte; Eddie Martin, Tarboro; Bill Moore, Wheeling, W. Va.; Harry Montgomery, Tarentum, Pa.; Charlie Shaffer, Greensboro; and Herman Snyder, Monroe.

Receiving monograms for the first time were Dick Buck, Brackenridge, Pa.; Odell Childers, Rockingham; Dick Dashiell, Chapel Hill; Jim Hutchins, Winston-Salem; Lester McCarn, Kannapolis; and John Trimpey, Somerset, Pa.
