

STUDENTS BEGIN ENROLLING TODAY FOR WINTER TERM

Graduates, Seniors, Juniors, and Privileged Sophomores Will Register This Week.

TO REGISTER WITH DEANS

Registration for the winter quarter will begin today for graduate students, seniors, juniors, and sophomores who either passed all their courses last year or made "B" or better on all their courses in the spring quarter of last year.

Attention is drawn to the stipulations regarding sophomore eligibility for registering today. In yesterday's issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL, it was stated that sophomores must both have passed all courses last year and received a 'B' average last spring. However, Assistant Registrar Husbands announced yesterday that either condition would render the sophomore eligible for pre-Christmas registration.

Permits Necessary

The enrolling procedure will take place in the office of the deans of the various schools. Before a student may register, he must obtain a permit card from room 8 South building.

For all divisions of the University except the college of liberal arts and the school of commerce, registration will end at noon Saturday. Liberal arts and commerce students may register during a period extending through next Thursday noon.

Freshmen and sophomores not eligible to register before the holidays will register January 3 in Bynum gymnasium.

Dr. G. R. Coffman will register graduate students in English in his office today and tomorrow from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

UNIVERSITY CLUB WILL END DRIVE

Collections for Awarding Gold Charms to '34 Varsity Team Will End Tomorrow.

The movement sponsored by the University Club, to present the 1934 varsity football team, coaches, and managers with gold football charms, will end tomorrow.

The donation boxes, which are located in Graham Memorial, the Book Exchange, and the Co-op haberdashery, will be taken away tomorrow. The club hopes to collect $200 with which to buy the charms.

Alumni Donations

Donations from Chapel Hill alumni and townspeople may be left with P. S. Randolph at the Co-op clothing store.

Claude W. Rankin, president of the Fayetteville alumni, is also collecting donations from the widely scattered graduates of Carolina.

The movement gives the students a chance to show their appreciation for the excellent record made by the 1934 grid-ers.

Deering Visits Campus

Paul Deering, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at V. P. I. at Blacksburg, Va., spent the day yesterday at Carolina as a guest of the University "Y" officials.

Deering is making a tour of certain southern schools. From here he will go to Duke.

Local Merchants Association Provides Street Decorations

The Christmas festoons of lights and greenery which decorate the business section of the village main street are the result of the efforts of the recently-organized Chapel Hill Merchants Association, H. H. Taylor, Student Council representative, announced yesterday.

Members of the association contributed funds for the project and also solicited money from other business firms, campus organizations, and fraternities. James Fowler and J. C. Lane led in the amount of money collected.

The University Consolidated Service Plant did the actual work of putting up the decorations and wiring the lights.

L. V. Huggins, president of the association, wishes to thank all who donated funds for the decorating.

Organizations and individuals contributing to decorating the main street, according to Taylor, are: the Students Co-op Store, Student Co-op Cleaners, Paul Green, W. S. Roberson, Book Exchange, Friendly Market, Durham Road Dairy, University Club, Phi Gamma Delta, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Sigma, Bo Shepard.

FRESHMEN PLAN TO INSTILL HONOR IN STUDENT WORK

Class President Appoints Honor Council to Co-operate with Y. M. C. A. Program.

NICK READ HEADS BOARD

"Pete" Mullis began his duties as president of the freshman class last night by devoting the first meeting of the freshman executive committee to a consideration of the honor system.

Stressing the failure of freshmen to observe the conditions of the honor system, Mullis appointed a committee to collaborate with the "Y" Friendship Council, which is taking action upon the same matter, in formulating an honor council. The council, according to Mullis, will work to install in the minds of the freshmen a feeling of honor in their work.

Committee Named

In connection with the honor council, Mullis said that the future of the honor system depended upon the freshmen. The committee appointed to meet with officers of the Friendship Council is headed by Nick Read. He is assisted by Joe Pandi, Pryor McFadden, Cecil Ford, and Cranmer Henderson.

Mullis then forwarded several proposals for the members of the executive committee "to think about that we can begin an active organization immediately," suggesting the formation of a loan fund and other campus improvements.

DASHIELL SPEAKS

Dr. J. F. Dashiell, head of the psychology department, gave a talk on "A Synthesis of Learning Theories" at the meeting of the Alpha Psi Delta psychological fraternity last night in New West.

J. W. Nygard completed the program by delivering a talk on "Some Treatments of Stuttering and Their Bases."

PTA TO SPONSOR HIGH SCHOOL HOP TOMORROW NIGHT

Jimmy Fuller to Play; Affair Is For Benefit of High School Athletic Association.

ADMISSION: ONE DOLLAR

Jimmy Fuller and his orchestra will play in the University Tin Can tomorrow night at a Christmas dance for the benefit of the Chapel Hill high school athletic association.

The hop is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association, and members of the University faculty, including Mr. and Mrs. R. B. House, Mr. and Mrs. English Bagby, Mr. and Mrs. George Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. MacKinney, who will act as chaperones.

To Be Informal

The dance will be informal and the decorations, in the Christmas spirit, will be done in red and green. Part of the proceeds will be used to purchase suits and other equipment for the girls' basketball team.

Admission will be by tickets, which may be bought for one dollar from girls of the Athletic Association, or at the door, scrip. The dance will last from 9 to 1 o'clock.

Time of Course Changed

Commerce 61, a course on sales management, will be given in the winter quarter at 9:30 a. m., instead of in the spring quarter as listed in the catalog.

English 53 Interviews

Prospective students in English 53 may get the required interview with Phillips Russell between the hours of 3 and 4:30 p. m. today.

No League Meeting

There will be no meeting of the Foreign Policy League tonight, K. C. Frazer of the history department announced yesterday.

U. N. C. Chemist Gets Rockefeller Grant

Money Given Dr. A. S. Wheeler To Further His Studies.

Dr. A. S. Wheeler, acting head of the chemistry department, has received a grant of money from the Rockefeller Foundation to further his studies with paracymene, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Wheeler has been developing the chemistry of this product, which is found in spruce turpentine, since 1918.

Thirteen papers of the University professor have been published on this subject in the "Journal of the American Chemical Society." Several more papers are nearly ready for publication.

In one of the papers to be published, a new indicator for quantitative analysis will be described. This compound is a dye and is called Cymyl Orange.

Zimmermann Discusses Trade Theories

Winner of Mayflower Cup Addresses Economics Seminar.

Dr. Erich W. Zimmermann, recent winner of the Mayflower Cup for the best book of the year written by a North Carolina resident, addressed the meeting of the economics seminar last evening on the "Recent Theories of Foreign Trade."

Zimmermann said that in economic literature the orthodox theory of international trade has been both attacked and defended with considerable force and skill.

"The former geographical division between Anglo-Saxon economists on the defensive and other economists on the offensive has become blurred," the speaker stated.

Differences in theoretical views result in part from varying appraisal of the function of theory, Zimmermann said, pointing out that those who view theory as a foundation of economic policy are more apt to defend the orthodox theory with its implied recommendations for free trade, and that those who consider theory merely as a tool for the analysis and explanation of facts and conditions tend to favor progressive modernization.

ENGLISH SCHOLAR TO OFFER COURSE

Dr. Hardin Craig of Stanford University Will Teach Course On English Renaissance.

Dr. Hardin Craig of the University of Stanford, one of the most distinguished scholars of the English Renaissance in this country, will be visiting professor of English here next quarter, teaching his Renaissance course, which will be offered to juniors, seniors and graduates.

Although Dr. Craig has made his reputation chiefly through his research activities, he is reputed to be an interesting lecturer appealing alike to undergraduates and graduates.

Popular Lecturer

He was popular as a lecturer at the Universities of Minnesota and Iowa, and is expected to give public lectures next quarter in each of the three branches of the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

Dr. Craig is connected with the literature and language departments here through their quarterly journal "Studies in Philology," edited by Dr. G. R. Coffman, head of the English department. For a number of years he has compiled the bibliography of recent writings in the English Renaissance which appears in this publication.

In the Association of American University Professors Dr. Craig has been very active, having served on a number of important committees.

Dr. and Mrs. Craig are expected in Chapel Hill soon after January 1, and they will probably live at the Carolina Inn.

Duke Professor Talks

Dr. W. K. Boyd of Duke University addressed the history department of Carolina last night on the subject of possibilities of co-operation between the Duke faculty and the faculty of the University of North Carolina, with special reference to the problems in history.

ROOSEVELT ASKS LEADERS TO BAN WAR FOR PROFIT

President Tells Industrial Heads To Prepare Legislation to Insure Profitless War.

BARUCH TO PLAN PROGRAM

Washington, Dec. 12.—(UP)—President Roosevelt asked the group of powerful federal and industrial leaders assembled at the White House today to prepare suitable legislation for the coming session of Congress that will take the profit out of war and will assure orderly mobilization of American men and resources in event of a future conflict.

His action was immediately sharply criticized by members of the Senate Munitions Investigating Committee as an attempt to restrict that committee's inquiry. The Munitions Investigating Committee has been in session for over a week, and is now conducting an extensive probe of the E. I. Dupont de Nemours Co.

Baruch Named

Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier and head of the war industries board under President Wilson, was named chairman of President Roosevelt's legislative group and will take charge of drafting the necessary legislation.

Baruch said tonight that war profits could be limited most effectively through a high tax on excess gains. He said, "People should be allowed to make money during war, but they shouldn't be allowed to keep it."

PRESS RELEASES ECONOMICS BOOK

W. T. Couch Announces Publication of Professor Evans' "Basic Economics."

W. T. Couch announced yesterday the release by the University Press of a book by Professor J. G. Evans of the University commerce school faculty entitled "Basic Economics."

In his book Professor Evans has treated such questions as: In what way should resources be combined and controlled so as to produce as many needed goods as possible? In what ways is human nature an obstacle to a rational system of production and consumption? Can the gap between an economics of plenty and one of scarcity ever be bridged?

Norlin's Lectures

Another book released recently which should interest Carolina students is a collection and arrangement of a series of lectures delivered here last year by Weil Lecturer George Norlin, president of the University of Colorado. They have been compiled and issued under the title "Fascism and Citizenship."

Dr. Norlin's material was derived from personal experiences during a stay as "guest professor" at the University of Berlin, both before and after the rise of Hitler.

Other books released during the past month include "An American-Mexican Frontier" by Paul S. Taylor of the University of California and "Organized Labor in Mexico" by Marjorie Ruth Hunt. Miss Hunt is a research associate in the Social Service Research Council.
