

Freshman Group To Reconsider Plans For Class Honor Court

Entire Class Must Vote on Proposal

Dean Bradshaw Discusses Purposes and Activity of Court With Mullis and Read.

DEAN PLEASED BY EFFORT

The proposed freshman honor court as outlined at a recent meeting of the freshman executive committee will be resubmitted to that group for reconsideration, it was decided at a conference yesterday between Dean Bradshaw, President Mullis, and Nick Read, chairman of the honor committee.

A general feeling that "several rough spots needed ironing out" prompted the move after Mullis and Read had exchanged ideas with Dean Bradshaw as to the purpose and activity of the court.

Class Sanction

According to Mullis, the committee will either re-organize the program or drop the matter entirely.

Any action planned by the committee, however, must be sanctioned by a vote of the class. "Any establishment of an honor court will be determined by vote through the freshman class," Mullis said. "Nothing will be imposed upon them" as they can decide by ballot whether or not they want a court.

Dean Bradshaw was pleased with the decision of resubmission to the executive committee. "I do not presume to know what the class will want to do about the court," he said, "but I am glad to hear that the class is working on this business of improving the honor system."

"It impresses me that there is more support of the honor principle in this freshman class than

LEAGUE WILL ACT ON WORLD COURT

Foreign Policy Group to Consider United States' Entrance Into World Court.

The University Foreign Policy League will convene tomorrow night to consider the question of United States' entrance into the World Court.

Following a discussion of the topic, action will probably be taken by the organization in the form of petitioning senators to favor the measure now before the upper house for the entrance of this country into the tribunal.

Nation-wide Program

Fear that the proposed bill will be weakened by crippling amendments has caused a nation-wide program to be sponsored by the League of Nations Association to build up public opinion in favor of the World Court.

Meeting yesterday, the program committee of the Foreign Policy League drew up plans for methods of presenting the question to the club tomorrow.

A brief discussion will be presented on both sides of the problem and then a discussion will ensue on the topic with the floor being open to all the members.

Agnew Bahnson, president of the league, and Joe Barnett, chairman of the program committee, urge that all members of the club inform themselves on the question before the session, and urge that all members be present.

Journalist

James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville, Tenn., Banner, and a former president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, will be one of the principal speakers at the press convention here.

FAMOUS CHEMIST GIVES TALK HERE

Dr. Roger Adams, President of American Chemical Society, Addresses Chapter Here.

Dr. Roger Adams, president of the American Chemical Society and winner of the Nichols Medal in 1927, addressed the North Carolina section of the society in Phillips hall last night. The famous chemist lectured on "Recent Trends in Applied Organic Chemistry."

Dr. Adams discussed the recent outstanding developments in the field of organic chemistry which concerns itself with vitamins and animal hormones, their structure and uses.

Petroleum Industry

After considering the plant hormones, he devoted the last part of his lecture to outstanding developments in the petroleum industry and in the producing of synthetic insecticides and synthetic resins.

Dr. Adams arrived here yesterday from Richmond, Va. where he had delivered a lecture. He visited points of interest around the University yesterday afternoon as a guest of members of the University chemistry department.

Dr. Adams was presented the Nichols Award for his outstanding work on Chaulmoogric acid and its derivatives. The use of this acid, or a preparation containing it, is generally regarded as the best method in the treatment of leprosy.

At present he is head of the chemistry department at the University of Illinois. The American Chemical Society which he heads includes 18,000 members and is the largest association of chemists in the world.

Internationally known for his researches in organic chemistry, Dr. Adams is the author of "Organic Syntheses" and other texts. He has been associate editor of the Journal of the American Chemical Society since 1922.

Turkish Beauties Are Top University Student Contends

Nehat Ferit, Turkish Graduate Student Here, Awards Turkish Women First Place and American Women Second in Beauty Evaluation; Hollywood Stars Are "Nice Girls."

"American women are second in beauty only to Turkish," says Nehat Ferit, Turkish graduate student at the University, who is directing his studies toward diplomatic service in the new Republic of Turkey.

Ferit takes great pleasure in telling of the beauty contests on the continent that are sponsored every year by the Turks. He has several Turkish movie magazines in which American stars are featured prominently. "Nice girls," says Nehat. "I think I'll go up and see 'em sometime."

Harems

"The boys ask me about harems and how many wives my father has. As to harems, I know nothing about them, and my father has but one wife, although polygamy was practiced to some extent before the era of the new republic."

What kind of clothes do we wear in Turkey? Ferit opened the closet door and showed us several American made suits which he bought before he came over. "The fez went out with the Ottoman Empire," he said,

WOLF TO SPEAK BEFORE SEMINAR

Economics Professor to Discuss National Social Security Program at Meeting Tonight.

The Economics seminar will resume its weekly meetings this evening at 7:30 p. m. in 202 Bingham.

Dr. H. D. Wolf will discuss the social security program of the federal government with particular reference to its implications for North Carolina.

Complete Study

Dr. Wolf, who was on a leave of absence during the fall quarter, has just completed a study of unemployment insurance for North Carolina which was embodied in the reports of the Unemployment Commission appointed last year by Governor Ehringhaus.

At the second meeting of the seminar January 30th, Mr. T. B. King of Cape Town, South Africa, will discuss "The Influence of Gold on South African Economy."

Other speakers and topics during the current quarter will include: H. M. Douthy on "Labor and Industry in North Carolina, 1880-1900" February 6th; R. S. Winslow on "The Significance of Uncertainty in Social Theory," February 13; M. D. Taylor on "Competitive Methods Employed by Chain Stores" on February 27; and Robin Hood on "Wage and Hour Differentials in White and Negro Labor in the South" March 6th.

Grail Dance

The second Grail dance for the winter quarter, announced in yesterday's paper as scheduled for this coming Saturday night, will be held Saturday night, February 2, instead. This announcement was made late yesterday by Simmons Patterson, treasurer of the Grail.

Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians will furnish the music.

Kyser Orchestra To Play For Mid-Winter Germans

Musician

Dalies Frantz, noted young pianist, who appears in a concert recital in the Hill Music hall here this evening under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha, musical fraternity.

RECITAL TONIGHT MARKS FRANTZ'S CAROLINA DEBUT

Youthful American Pianist to Play in Music Hall; Sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha.

PLAN VARIED PROGRAM

Dalies Frantz, the young American pianist, will make his North Carolina debut here tonight in recital at the Hill Music hall. The program will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Frantz comes to Chapel Hill under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha. Winning last year the American Federation of Music Clubs' prize, he has gone on to even greater triumphs as soloist with the larger symphony orchestras and in recital in the more important cities of the country. Notable among his successes have been his frequent appearances with the Philadelphia Symphony, Leopold Stokowski conducting.

Press Opinions

Such press notices as "Mr. Frantz startled an enthusiastic audience with his lightning technique," "he has not only dazzling technique, he has masterful strength at the keyboard," and "the poetic feeling, deep insight of the literature presented, and skillful manipulation of difficult passages stamps Dalies Frantz as a pianistic marvel" have served as an advance notice of what to expect when he makes his appearance here this evening.

It is not alone great musical gifts and technical equipment however that go to make an art-

Snow Covers Nation

Jan. 22.—(UP)—Snow piled down on large areas of the nation Tuesday night, crippling traffic and causing suffering to thousands of people and some fatalities.

Ships were delayed, motor roads buried, and wire communications interrupted. Snow fell all day in New York City, with colder weather predicted for Wednesday. Snow was reported as far south as New Orleans where the visitation caused youngsters to think the end of the world had come. Many had never seen snow before.

BLACKHAWK BAND RATED TOP-NOTCH

Alumnus Pleased at Returning to Campus; Broadcasts Regards "to Fellows on Hill."

FOUR DANCES PLANNED

Kay Kyser and his orchestra have definitely been contracted to play for the German Club mid-winter set of dances here February 15-16, it was announced yesterday by Chapin Litten, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Kyser and his band are at present playing in the Blackhawk Restaurant in Chicago and broadcasting several times nightly from there.

Tour South

The boys broadcast their final Midnight Flyers program over WGN Monday night before starting on a three-week southern tour, during which they will play for dances at Georgia Tech, Alabama, Auburn, Tennessee, Sewanee, and at the University. During the broadcast Kay played "Tar Heels On Hand," expressed his pleasure over returning to Chapel Hill, and gave his regards to Chapin Litten and all the fellows on the "Hill."

The band will leave the Blackhawk Saturday and after the completion of the tour will return to Chicago.

Kay is an alumnus of the University and organized his orchestra while attending school here. Since leaving school Kay's band has risen rapidly in the musical world and has progressed more perhaps in the last year than any other orchestra. His orchestra is now rated with the top-notchers.

Kyser replaced Hal Kemp at the Blackhawk several months

CO-EDS PROPOSE TO JOIN A. A. U. W.

Quarterly Dance Scheduled for February 1; To Aid In Student-Faculty Day.

At a meeting of the Woman's Association yesterday afternoon, the co-ed student body voted to petition for membership in the American Association of University Women.

Membership in the organization was previously refused to the group on account of a deficiency in the athletic requirements for women at the University.

Quarterly Dance

The group also voted to hold the quarterly co-ed dance February 1 in the Tin Can. The orchestra will be announced soon.

It was suggested that a change be made in the constitution of the Woman's Association in order that the co-eds in the sophomore class might have a larger representation in the Woman's Student Council.

Lois Byrd, house president of Spencer hall, was appointed to select the committee which should plan the co-ed contribution for the Student Faculty Day program.

The association also voted to give the Woman's Athletic Association $100 to be used for new equipment.

Betty Durham concluded the meeting with a report from the National Student Federation of America meeting to which she was a delegate last month.
