

INSTITUTE BOOKS SIX OF NATION'S LEADING FIGURES

Madame Secretary Perkins, Dr. Lederer, and Dr. Mathews Are Most Recent Accepters.

HULL, SEABURY MAY TALK

Six outstanding national figures have already accepted invitations to speak on the program of the quadrennial Human Relations Institute. Seven other national personages are tentatively scheduled to appear.

The most recent speakers to accept are Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, Dr. Emil Lederer, dean of the graduate faculty of the New School of Social Research in New York, and Dr. Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago.

Headliners May Speak

Tentatively scheduled personalities whose acceptance of the invitations is probable are Samuel Seabury, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Donald Comer, Norman Thomas, J. Edgar Hoover, Senator William E. Borah, and Hugh S. Johnson.

Financial support in the form of grants for speakers has been tendered by the Phelps-Stokes fund and the John F. Slater foundation, by the Weil lecture fund which incorporates its annual lecturers in the institute program, by the Order of the Grail, the Y. M. C. A., and the University administration.

Private Funds Available

According to Harry F. Comer, several private philanthropies are in the offing for institute support. All in all, prospects for adequate financial backing are extremely good.

In addition to the speakers on the regular institute open forum and seminar program, officials have announced that the Rev. McNeil Poteat of Raleigh will open the week's study on Sunday, March 31, at a convention in Memorial hall.

Other notable figures who have not as yet been heard from but are tentatively scheduled for appearance are Dr. Thor Jesse Jones, director of the Phelps-Stokes fund, Dr. Will Alexander, executive secretary of the Southern Commission on Interracial Co-operation, Newton D. Baker, and Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to the United States.

Other Speakers

Institute speakers who were obtained earlier in the year are Dean R. R. Wicks of Princeton University, George Soule, edi-

STATE SENATORS PETITIONED BY 'Y'

Y. M. C. A. Joins Other Groups In Urging Court Entrance.

Falling in line with other campus organizations, the University Y. M. C. A. yesterday wired state senators, Robert R. Reynolds and Josiah W. Bailey to support the World Court.

The telegram sent by Secretary Phil Hammer reads as follows: "Along with all leading student organizations on this campus our Y. M. C. A. has spent much program time studying and discussing various measures for international goodwill, world peace and abolition of war. Deeply interested in World Court Protocols and earnestly urge fullest support of World Court on the part of our Congress."

Graham Supports U.S. Entering Court

Signing the Foreign Policy League's telegram to North Carolina's Senators at Washington, President Frank Graham joined the movement for the United States to enter the World Court.

Members of the League drafted and signed the wire-petition, yesterday asked President Graham to add his support.

Saying that he is always glad to take a stand on a movement of such importance, the University's president signed wholeheartedly.

Following the League's lead, other leading campus bodies have asked the Senators to support entrance into the Court.

The Y. M. C. A., latest to join the drive, the Di and Phi have also sent petitions.

FRESHMEN VOTE TO AID NEGRESS

Funds to Pension Mymie Tuck, Oldest Citizen, Will Be Collected Each Friday.

The freshman class voted yesterday to accept the program for pensioning Chapel Hill's oldest citizen, Mymie Tuck, colored, which was presented at the assembly hour by the University Y. M. C. A.

Explaining that the present senior class three years ago had undertaken a similar project, Harry F. Comer, "Y" secretary, presented the present program to the freshmen.

To Canvass with Pails

To raise funds to pay the old Negress' house rent and supply her occasionally with money for food and medicine, a collection will be taken each Friday at assembly hour in various dinner pails placed in Memorial hall.

Vice-president Wooten called on Leader Jimmy Coan of the Freshman Friendship Council to give his opinion of the project, Wooten supplemented Coan's comment with his own endorsement of the program.

The class voted unanimously to accept the responsibility.

As Planned:

Under the present arrangement the Friendship Council will collect the money from the pails each week and see that the aged colored woman gets her rent receipt and necessary food. Coan will appoint a committee from the council to carry out the work.

The subject of all the discussion, Mymie Tuck, is probably Chapel Hill's oldest citizen. Those who know her say that she is fast nearing the age of 90 and at present she is unable to work because of ill health and feebleness.

Before the war she was a slave belonging to Miss Hattie Cole and since that time she has spent most of her life in Chapel Hill. She is a typical member of the "old timer" group and is one of the few residents of the community who has not taken on any of the "new ways."

Parties Is Oke

Since the age of 12 she has been a member of the Methodist church but she believes in parties and dances. She is violently opposed to women voting or taking any part in public affairs.

KOO REPRESENTS YOUTH OF CHINA IN LECTURE TOURS

One of Ablest Orientals to Visit America, His Greatest Work Has Been with Students.

THREE TALKS TOMORROW

The famous Chinese, Dr. T. Z. Koo, will address the student body in Memorial hall tomorrow night under the sponsorship of the University Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Koo's appearance, opening the winter quarter program for the "Y," will mark the first time that a campus organization has sponsored a church service in Memorial hall.

Churches Are Sponsors

Chapel Hill pastors and their congregations are co-operating with the Y. M. C. A. in presenting the visitor to the University. Tomorrow he will appear at Duke University in the morning and at Raleigh in the afternoon.

Dr. Koo is recognized as one of the ablest and most interesting Orientals to visit America. In the last decade he has traveled in Europe and America, appearing at schools and at conferences representing his country and the Y. M. C. A. organization there, of which he is a leader.

Outstanding Achievements

He is a graduate of St. John's University, Shanghai, China, and as one of the most outstanding Chinese, he has held offices in the government and various other civic organizations.

His greatest work has been done in connection with students in colleges and universities. Appearing on a Y. M. C. A. program here tomorrow night, he should appeal to Carolina students as a representative leader of China's young men.

In his various lecture tours which included an appearance in Westminster Abbey at London, he has been received by enthusiastic audiences everywhere.

MOB WITH GUNS LOOKS FOR HUEY

Fifty Shotgun-Bearing Citizens Throng Courthouse Demanding, "What About It?"

Baton Rouge, Jan. 25.—(UP)—A crowd of 50 men with shotguns invaded the east Baton Rouge courthouse at 7 o'clock this evening for a showdown with Huey Long's political administration.

Theodore O'Rourke, spokesman for the group, said, "We understand warrants have been sworn out charging about 35 of us with conspiring to kill Senator Long."

Claims 1,000 Followers

"We're here to see what they're going to do about it. A thousand more men will join us soon."

The shotgun squad milled about the courthouse lobby, while excitement overspread the city.

Huey was reported to have left at 3 p. m. for New Orleans.

Correction

The name of the freshman who pledged Phi Kappa Sigma Thursday is James Thomas Love, not Stone, as it was written in yesterday's DAILY TAR HEEL.

Alumni Lawyers Organize To Promote Campaign For Grants To University; Graham Asks Fair Hearing Of Requests

President Describes Financial Requests: 'Simple, Moderate'

25% INCREASE WANTED

Increased Appropriation Would Equal Lowest Average of Other States, It Is Said.

President Frank Porter Graham pleaded earnestly and eloquently for fair consideration of the "simple, honest, moderate" financial requests of the University for the coming biennium, in an address last night before the annual general assembly of the Alumni Association.

These requests, he said, amount to a 25 per cent increase over the present appropriation, actually but a restoration of 17 per cent of the 33 per cent cut now in effect.

Requests Depression Low

"If we were restored that," he said, "we should reach up to an average level to which the American states, as a whole, reached down at the bottom of the depression."

Declaring that the meeting last night was not one called to initiate a drive on or against the state legislature, he said that its object was to interpret to alumni the present spirit of the University—the spirit that we stand, not just for the University, but for "all the agencies of decent common life."

PLAYERS POLISH NEXT PRODUCTION

Davis Hopes for Sensation with "The Young Idea," Year's Third Attraction.

Five days remain before the Carolina Playmakers present their third attraction for the school year, "The Young Idea" by Noel Coward.

Director Harry Davis will present his show next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the theatre. Boasting a cast of many veteran Playmakers, Davis is planning to score with the new production as he did with Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" last year.

Star Cast

The cast of fourteen is headed by Philip Parker, the Dr. Gall of "R.U.R." which the Playmakers produced last fall; Ellen Deppe, also of the "R.U.R." cast; Alan Waters, David McCachren, and Francis McGraw.

Included in the remainder of the Coward play's heavy cast are such experienced Playmakers as Charles Lloyd, Juanita Greene, Joyce Killinsworth, Douglas Hume, Patricia McMullan, Wilfred Evans, Louise McGuire, and Robert Nachtmann.

The character "Maria" has not been announced yet.

"The Young Idea" is a scintillating comedy of domestic entanglements and the young ideas which solve them. It is written in the caustic vein characteristic of Noel Coward.

With Coward himself in the cast, "The Young Idea" made its initial appearance at the Savoy Theatre in London.

The recent acquisition of new equipment and material has allowed the Playmakers' scene shop to go into high gear for

ALUMNI DIRECTORS NAME ASSOCIATES

Board of Directors Meets With Legislative Committee.

Among the business accomplished at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the officers and directors of the alumni association were the re-election of the board of directors of E. Earle Rives of Greensboro, J. S. Massemburg of Tryon, and R. A. Spauld of Winston-Salem, and the election of two new directors, Peter Browne Ruffin of Wilmington and W. D. Carmichael, Jr., of New York City.

These men will serve for terms of three years.

The alumni legislative committee held a discussion with the board of directors at this meeting.

CLERGYMEN SEEK BROADER KINSHIP

Three Religious Leaders Will Attempt to Bring Together Sects in Seminar Here.

Appearing here Monday at the assembly hour and again in Gerrard hall at 7:15 p. m., a religious seminar composed of representatives from the Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant denominations will attempt to develop a broader spirit of brotherhood among the three different religious sects.

Three clergymen: a Roman Catholic priest, a rabbi of the synagogue, and a Protestant minister, will conduct the two meetings.

At the assembly hour the rabbi and priest will address the students and at the meeting in Gerrard hall the three will lead the discussion.

Clergymen:

Father T. Lawrason Riggs, chaplain of the Catholic Club at Yale, will represent his church at the seminar.

Rabbi Morris S. Lazaron, active in the civic affairs of Maryland and the author of several books, has been chosen by the national conference to represent the Jews.

A Presbyterian minister, Everett Ross Clinchy, director of the national conference, will complete the trio.

The three clergymen are touring various cities and schools throughout the nation on a program sponsored by the National Conference of Jews and Christians the co-chairmen of which are the Honorable Newton D. Baker, Professor C. J. H. Hayes, and Roger W. Straus.

Monday night's meeting will be informal and the discussion will deal with problems of mutual concern.

INFIRMARY

Committee to Push Program for Grants By Wills and Trusts

GRISETTE IS A LEADER

Occasion of Launching Movement Is Described as Momentous to Higher Education.

In a meeting described as a memorable date in the history of state higher education in North Carolina, 50 alumni lawyers and trust bankers enthusiastically endorsed and formally created yesterday afternoon a committee to promote a planned and systematic program of gifts for the University by wills and trust agreements of various kinds.

This move, brought about through the efforts of the Alumni Loyalty Fund Council and Felix A. Grisette, director of the Fund, follows the example of the score or more large universities in this country which already have a carefully worked-out program of giving.

Basis: Grisette's Report

The basis on which the group worked was a report made by Grisette showing that about 60 per cent of all gifts to higher education come in some form of bequest.

Taking an active part in the meeting were such influential trust bankers and lawyers as R. G. Stockton, vice-president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Winston-Salem; M. B. Fowler, secretary of the Fidelity Bank and Trust Company of Durham; Kenneth Royal, former president of the state bar association, and C. R. Wharton, Greensboro lawyer.

Business During Day

Important business transacted at the assembly included the nomination of candidates for the offices of president, first vice-president, second vice-president, and alumni representative on the athletic council.

Dr. Howard Rondthaler of Winston-Salem and William C. Woodward of Rocky Mount were named to be voted on in the coming elections for president.

J. Harper Erwin of Durham and Leo Harvey of Kinston were nominated for the office of first vice-president.

Nominees for second vice-president were Dr. George Carrington of Burlington and Robert C. deRosset of Raleigh. For the three-year term on the athletic council James Ficklen of Greensboro and Bowman Gray of Winston-Salem were nominated.

R. H. Sykes of Durham and Dr. Fred Patterson of Greensboro were selected directors-at-large for a term of three years.

William R. Kenan, donor of Kenan stadium, was elected an honorary director.

The general assembly and supper was attended by about 115 representative alumni and members of the University faculty.

Bond to Teach at Duke

Professor Richmond P. Bond will teach in the first half of the summer school at Duke University.

He will teach two graduate courses, a survey of, and seminar in, 18th century English literature.
