

PHOTOMEN HAVE VARIED PROGRAM IN LAST SESSIONS

Group Will Elect and Install
New Officers at Final Meeting This Afternoon.

PLAYMAKERS ENTERTAIN

Demonstrations, discussions, entertainment, mixed in happy proportions, featured yesterday's sessions of the North Carolina Photographers Association which is holding its tenth annual convention at the University.

Attending are approximately 100 photographers from this and neighboring states. The convention opened Sunday evening and will close this afternoon with the election and installation of officers for another year.

Coloring

A feature of the program was a demonstration in coloring by Mrs. R. R. Jennings of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Jennings prefaced her demonstration with a short discourse on the relation of color to the photographer's art.

A study of the human anatomy is essential to being a good photographic "color" or "brush" artist, Mrs. Jennings pointed out. "Through a knowledge of the bones, deep muscles, and particularly the superficial muscles of the face, one is able to create, by the proper use of color, an advanced improvement upon the photograph," she said.

George Kossuth, vice-president of the Photographers Association of America, this afternoon conducted a demonstration on photographing men. E. P. Nichols, of the Eastman Kodak Company, delivered a technical lecture on "Processing of Professional Photographic Papers."

Later in the afternoon, the Wooten-Moulton studio in Chapel Hill held open house at a tea given in honor of the visiting photographers.

The Di Senate did no legislating last night except the tabling of two bills and a motion.

The bill, Resolved, That the United States should establish soil erosion service in connection with the C. C. C., was killed by being tabled indefinitely.

The senators also tabled, for lack of a quorum, the bill, Resolved, That the United States should have entered the World Court.

Senator Russell's motion, finally tabled until the next meeting, that the Senate should present to the law school its picture of Judge Ruffin, met with lively and detailed discussion.

A substitute bill, Resolved, That the state legislature pass the child labor law, was moved by Senator Fletcher and accepted in the place of the soil erosion bill.

STATE AID ASKED FOR ENCOURAGING SAVING IN SCHOOLS

Grisette and Bradshaw Request
$25,000 Appropriation for State Thrift Society.

PLAN TWO YEAR PROGRAM

Felix A. Grisette and Francis Bradshaw appeared before the joint appropriations committee in Raleigh yesterday afternoon to request $25,000 aid during the next two years to make the North Carolina State Thrift Society, a movement in which they have taken leading parts, a permanent, self-supporting organization operating in schools all over the state.

The society is an organization chartered by the legislature in 1933 for the purpose of stimulating the teaching and practice of the principles of thrift among the children in the public schools.

School children will be urged to open savings accounts in the society by making deposits of five cents or more with their teachers, Tuesday of each week being especially set aside as deposit day. When a student has accumulated $10, his deposit is transferred to the bank of his choice and begins, of course, to draw interest. Upon the transference of the sum to the bank, the society's responsibility is ended.

The money requested yesterday would be used largely for postage, printing, field travel, and the salaries and wages of a full-time executive, an expert bookkeeper and a stenographer. At the end of the first year of operation the society would be partly self-supporting; and after two years it would be entirely self-supporting, drawing the funds for its expenses from the interest on the money deposited continuance of NRA Opposed;

Tobacco Evil Is Deplored.

Huey I, regent of the rice-fields, was given a pat on the back by the Phi Assembly last night when that august body defeated the bill: Resolved, That Huey Long is a menace to this country.

The assembly also defeated the bill calling for discontinuance of the NRA, but advocated the abolition of child labor in a third bill.

Trip to Raleigh

The visit that was made to the state legislature in Raleigh Monday night was discussed. The members seemed impressed by the wrangling over trivial matters in both houses. "I don't think any North Carolinian will appreciate his state until after he has visited the legislature," said one of the visitors, "and I don't think he will appreciate it after he visits it."

Jesse Ott, of Goldsboro was introduced for membership. Robert Smithwick was appointed to attempt to procure a portrait of the late Steven H. Bradshaw, prominent North Carolina lawyer and former member of the assembly.

A resolution to permit smoking on the floor of the assembly was defeated, after Drew Martin and Winthrop Durfee pointed out the evils of the use of the weed.

SENATORS INVITE EMPEROR HUEY I TO NORTH STATE

State Assembly to Horn in on Louisiana Provided Cantor
And Rubinoff Also Speak.

HOUSE HAS PARTY FIGHT

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—(UP)—Not to be outdone by the backwoods Kingdom of Louisiana in monopolizing headlines, an otherwise sedate North Carolina Senate today decided to invite Emperor Huey I, Delta Dictator of the House of Long, to speak here.

The legislation was passed on the condition that Eddie Cantor, God's gift to coffee, and Dave Rubinoff, the Smokey City's donation to violindom can also be persuaded to appear on the same performance.

Senator Johnson of Duplin county smilingly suggested a program featuring His Majesty, and Bagley of Currituck county added the provision that Cantor and Rubinoff play second fiddle to the headliner.

Debate in House

Raleigh, Feb. 5.—(UP)—After the most acrimonious debate since the present session opened, the North Carolina House of Representatives adjourned today in respect to Rev. Theodore Patrick, who died last night.

The Senate received two local bills, but immediately referred them to respective committees, and adjourned until 11 a. m.

The House debate centered about an apparently innocent local bill presented by Representative Cloud of Polk county to increase his home county's commissioners. The fight was entirely partisan with Cloud defending himself as a staunch Democrat who gained office on the Republican ticket at the request of "50 per cent" of Polk county Democrats. The bill finally was sent committee-wards.

The House, after receiving 14 local bills and one state-wide, adjourned to reconvene at noon.
