

COMMITTEE WILL APPROVE GRAHAM BUDGET REQUEST

More Than $200,000 of Proposed Increase Would Be Used to Supplement Salaries.

REPORT IS ENCOURAGING

The joint appropriations committee will recommend to the general assembly that the Consolidated University of North Carolina receive the full amount of the appropriations request made two weeks ago by President Frank P. Graham, it was learned from authoritative sources yesterday.

The appropriations committee would raise the allocation for the University at Chapel Hill to $705,202 from the $539,500 recommended by the budget for 1935-36.

Faculties to Benefit

Faculty members of the three institutions would benefit most from the proposed increased appropriations, because more than $200,000 of the increased appropriations would be used each year of the biennium to supplement salaries. A 25 per cent increase, or 17 per cent restoration, in salaries would be effected.

The appropriations for the biennium would total $2,763,426, or $626,376 more than those provided by the budget recommendation.

Legislator

Julian Allsbrook, state senator and University alumnus, who will address the student body this morning at 10:30 o'clock in Memorial hall.

Bulletin

Raleigh, Feb. 14.—(UP)—As the joint appropriations committee of the North Carolina General Assembly sat in executive session today and mulled over the money supply for public schools, the opinion among observers here that not less than the $22,000,000 asked would be provided grew hourly stronger.

The committee has shown consistent disposition towards generosity in allocations for the next biennium.

PARENTS TO JOIN IN GET-TOGETHER

University Club Will Sponsor Broadcast of Invitation over Raleigh Station Tonight.

The University Club will extend invitations at 10 o'clock tonight over radio station WPTF in Raleigh to all parents of Carolina students, inviting them to attend the coming parents-day-student-faculty day celebration set for February 20.

Included on the radio speakers list are Dean of Administration Robert B. House; President of the Carolina Student Body Virgil Weathers; Y. M. C. A. President J. D. Winslow, and Editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL A. T. Dill.

Quartet

James Dees and his quartet, composed of Harold Gavin, Claude Ballard and Johnny Walker, will furnish the Carolina song spirit for the state-wide broadcast.

Weathers and House will extend the invitation to attend the celebration Wednesday from the students and the faculty, respectively.

Parents' day, an annual occasion for parents to visit the University and meet each other, has been incorporated in the student-faculty day program. Harper Barnes, director of Graham Memorial, will have charge of arranging the particular parents' celebration for the day.

DUKE-U.N.C. FROSH TO MEET JOINTLY

Two Groups to Discuss Common Problems Here Tomorrow.

The freshman executive committee made plans at an informal, unofficial meeting last night for the entertainment tomorrow of 15 student leaders from the freshman class at Duke. Lack of a quorum made the session unofficial.

The students from Duke will arrive in Chapel Hill at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow afternoon. The group will discuss with the freshman executives problems in student government and other conditions common to both campuses.

The dance committee reported last night that the University dance authority had agreed to allow the first-year men to hold a dance with the provision that they refrain from making it a joint affair with another class.

Humor was injected into the otherwise sedate session when Dr. Meno Spann of the German department inadvertently joined the executives by mistake and sat with them some 10 minutes before Albert Ellis entered and informed the Doctor of his error. He retreated amid profuse apologies.

DEPUTATION TEAM TO VISIT DURHAM

Program for Father and Son Banquet Under Direction of Miss Helen Hodges.

Under the direction of Y. M. C. A. Secretary Miss Helen Hodges, the "Y" will again sponsor a deputation trip to Durham. The new program will be presented at a father and son banquet in Erwin auditorium tomorrow.

Miss Hodges last appeared in Erwin auditorium with a group of Carolina freshmen presenting a program for a mother and daughter banquet, February 2.

Program

The four-part program, as announced by Miss Hodges yesterday, includes "two imitations" by Roy Armstrong of the student survey office; a skit by Muriel Wolfe and Loretta Carroll Bailey; a number of song selections by the University quartet, and a dramatic sketch, "A Pair of Lunatics," by Malcolm Wall and Helen L. Hodges.

Included in the University quartet are James Dees, bass; Harold Gavin, baritone; Claude Ballard, second tenor; Johnny Walker, first tenor.

The program will be presented during the father-son affair.

PEACE MOVE

Rome, Italy, Feb. 14.—(UP)—A peaceful settlement of the border incident between Italy and Abyssinia in North Africa seemed certain tonight, following renewed negotiations in which both sides expressed a determination to avert war.

The Italian government kept busy, meanwhile, issuing official denials of exaggerated dispatches published abroad of activities against Abyssinia.

CALM

Flemington, N. J., Feb. 14.—(UP)—Newspaper reporters talked to condemned Bruno Richard Hauptmann through prison bars today and asked him if he would go to the chair "like a man." He said, "Certainly."

Mid-Winter German Set Begins With Tea Dance This Afternoon

Maestro

University alumnus Kay Kyser who will furnish the music for the German mid-winters which begin here this afternoon with a tea dance in Bynum gym.

Business Records Will Be On Exhibit

Individual Histories Kept from Catalog Request to Obituary.

When you look at the forms and charts that are to be exhibited in Graham Memorial Wednesday, you probably won't realize their meaning or value if you are not well acquainted with business procedure. But to the business office each chart or graph has a definite and important significance.

Your record is kept in South Building from the time of your first request for a catalog until the time that a clerk in the alumni office draws a red line under your name and puts your obituary in the file. The registrar can check your entrance at a glance. To him a pink label means that you have written for a catalog. A yellow label means that you are definitely a prospective student. And a blue label means that you have been refused admittance at some time.

Name, Address, Religion

In less time than it takes to tell it, he can give you the name, address and professed religion of anyone in school here. He has all of the students classified according to counties. In fact, he can tell you almost anything you want to know about anybody here.

After registration, the general office takes care of your troubles. They don't let you forget that your room rent is due. They distribute tickets to games and entertainments. And they pay all labor.

When you leave, the alumni office takes care of you. They keep your school record. And every time they find a newspaper account concerning you they clip it and put it in the paper file.

All of this information is collected and summarized in the ac-

HARRY DAVIS WILL GIVE PLAYMAKER READING

Harry Davis, Carolina Playmakers staff member, will give the February reading in the theatre Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock, it was announced yesterday.

Davis will read "Moon of the Yellow River," a modern Irish comedy by Dennis Johnston.

The drama was recently produced in New York with much success by the Theatre Guild.

To Have Four Dances; Kay Kyser Will Play

Orchestra Leader Will Arrive Early Today; Played for Charlotte Dance Last Night.

HAS FEMINE VOCALIST

The mid-winter set of German Club dances will open this afternoon with a tea dance from 4:30 to 6 o'clock in Bynum gymnasium. Kay Kyser and his orchestra will play for the entire set.

The tea dance this afternoon will be followed tonight by the formal German Club prom from 9 until 1 o'clock. The dances tomorrow consist of another tea dance from 4:30 to 6 o'clock and will end with another formal dance from 9:30 to 12 o'clock. All the dances will be given in Bynum gym.

Figure

Leading the figure tomorrow night will be Miss Elizabeth Park, Raleigh, with Mark Lynch, Sigma Nu, leader; Miss Cortlandt Preston, Washington, with Bill Coan, Beta Theta Pi, first assistant leader; and Miss Jo Meadows, Atlanta, with Billy Harrison, Zeta Psi, second assistant leader.

Kyser and his orchestra will arrive here early today. The organization is now completing a southern tour of six colleges where it played for dance sets, and comes here directly from Charlotte where it furnished the music for a dinner dance at the Hotel Charlotte last night.

Kay's visit here is expectedly awaited by those who have been

ALLSBROOK TALKS AT CHAPEL TODAY

State Senator, University Alumnus of Class of '24, Will Address Student Body.

State Senator Julian Allsbrook, class of '24, of the 4th North Carolina district, will return to Chapel Hill today to deliver his first address to the student body since his own undergraduate days here.

Senator Allsbrook was an outstanding student leader here. He was president of the student body, and vice-president of his senior class. In addition, he was a member of the Grail and the Golden Fleece. He was a member of the track and gym squads. Later he was manager of the Commerce ball.

Edits Law Review

After he entered the law school he became the student editor of the Law Review.

Senator Allsbrook began his practice in Halifax county and soon built up a reputation for his sincerity and ability. His brief membership in the state senate has given him an imposing record of legislation.

Senator Allsbrook will speak in Memorial hall at the regular freshman assembly period. The entire student body, as well as the freshmen and townspeople are invited to hear him.

BOOK EXCHANGE REPORT GIVEN

Student Committee Makes Nine Recommendations to Administration Regarding Store; Prices For Books Are Found to Be Lower Than in Most College Book Stores.

The second article of the student advisory board's report on the Consolidated Service system concerns the Book Exchange.

The report of the committee is presented for each division of the service system. Subsequent articles will deal with the buildings department, Swain hall, the electric and water division, and Spencer hall and the dormitories.

Each report contains an historical treatment, a factual presentation, and recommendations.

THE BOOK EXCHANGE

The Book Exchange was established in response to a need for a University-controlled, central distributing agency for textbooks, student supplies, and other articles in common demand. It is not operated for profit but is required to pay its way and to yield enough revenue over operating costs to cover overhead expenses incurred by the general office for its account. In addition to serving the student body as individuals, the Book Exchange sells, at less than regular retail price, to various student and University organizations, societies, and departments. Also, sales are made at less than retail price to various Chapel Hill enterprises and organizations on a reciprocal basis.

The Book Exchange was first started in a little room in the Y. M. C. A. All students would bring old books in and swap them with one another. Thus the name "Book Exchange" was originated. At that time new books were sold downtown by A. A. Klutz, but the arrangement was not satisfactory. There-

Recommendations

The student advisory board makes the following recommendations to the University administration regarding the Book Exchange, following a study of all the service plants:

1. A more accurate and available price system on all retail goods.
2. A more efficient and exact system of personal credit, as will be explained in a general recommendation following.
3. Periodic sales of old and obsolescent merchandise.
4. Regular and more frequent inventories of all merchandise with emphasis on adequate supplies of necessary books and school supplies.
5. A rehabilitation and rearrangement of store rooms with the view of increased availability and orderliness.
6. A fairer and more efficient distribution of work hours and of duties for student employees.
7. An adjusted wage scale with a minimum wage of 30 cents per hour. (This applies to all University student employees.)
8. That the University devise a safer and more considerate system of cashing student checks.
9. A closer co-operation by the faculty with the Book Exchange in ordering texts promptly and efficiently.

fore the University opened a small store in the lounge room of the Y. M. C. A. building, handling only textbooks. The store had a student manager and one or two helpers, all of whom worked only part-time. School supplies were handled beginning in about 1918. In 1920 the store moved into its present headquarters, with John Foster as its first manager, and with three clerks assisting him, all students. Drinks and sporting goods were included in 1922.

In 1925, T. E. Hinson was made manager on a full-time basis, having five students clerks until 1928, when he employed six and in 1929 when there were seven. At present, there are eight student clerks, two full-time employees on the office force, a janitor, and a full-time manager, Mr. Hinson, who has been in one capacity or another with the Book Exchange since 1917. At present, the inventory includes textbooks, school supplies, stationery, office supplies, athletic goods, jewelry, soft drinks and refreshments, and other miscellaneous items.

Storerooms

In studying the physical aspects of the Book Exchange, we included the storerooms below the shop proper and in the basement of Steele dormitory, the retail department, and the business office above. In the retailing department there is evidence of too little space, not only for display but also for proper efficiency on the part of the employees. In the business department, the arrangement is quite satisfactory and neat. The storeroom below the shop is not as carefully arranged and kept as it should be, as there appears much disorder and untidiness. The Steele storeroom is fairly well arranged and beyond reproach.

The administrative arrangement, handling of records, bills,
