

CHINESE STUDENT MAKES ADDRESS TO POLICY GROUP

Describes China as Turning to Militarism for Adequate Solution to Her Problems.

"TO PREVENT AGGRESSION"

China was pictured as a nation turning to militarism for a solution to its problems in a talk last night presented to the Foreign Policy League by Tsu-Yuan Koo, University graduate student from Pai Shih Chiao, China.

The Chinese scholar stated that his fatherland had unlimited man power but that it lacked munitions and implements of warfare.

"We are training our young folks and building up our defenses as a preventative against aggression," Koo declared, stating that China's comparatively recent trend towards militarism had been caused by the foreign policies of nearby nations.

Trusted League

"We trusted the League of Nations too much," the speaker said.

Koo declared that China in the past had clung to the philosophy of not bothering anyone else. "That was just too bad," he said. "China is not going to trust her foolish and impossible past program of defense any more."

The Chinese pointed out that his homeland "expects something from America."

Look to America

"America should supply equipment to us, so that with our man power we may prevent invasion," he declared.

Koo said that although the Chinese at present were purchasing American goods instead of Japanese products, even though United States goods sold at higher prices, his people could not be expected to keep up the procedure.

Koo does not think that Ja-

NYE ADDRESS IS WELL ADVERTISED

Speech Sunday by Chairman of Senate Committee Announced By Golden Placards.

Soft gold is gleaming in the campus eye this morning as the Y. M. C. A.'s posters announcing the address by Senator Gerald P. Nye, set for 8 p. m. Sunday in Memorial hall, flame forth on all the bulletin boards in the neighborhood.

The new placards cover a multitude of half-sheets with the announcement that Senator Nye will address the student convocation Sunday night on the subject, "Munitions Profiteering, Etc."

To Speak in Raleigh

After appearing in Raleigh before a peace group Sunday afternoon, the North Dakota senator will appear in Chapel Hill under the sponsorship of the University Y. M. C. A.

Nye has distinguished himself in Congress as a leader of the minority and has become known as the "Progressive Republican." He stirred the country in September, 1934, when his committee on munitions investigations revealed startling facts concerning the abuses charged against certain American munitions makers.

Scholarship Awards

The University Scholarship Committee will make awards of all University scholarships between April 15 and May 1, Dean R. B. House announced yesterday.

It will be necessary for all holders of University scholarships to fill out applications for renewal of the scholarships which they hold. These blanks may be secured from Edwin S. Lanier, and must be filled out properly and returned to Lanier before April 15.

Burlington Prisoners Given Whole-Hearted Support by Group Here

Students, Faculty, Townspeople Will Aid in Gaining Hearing.

A mass meeting of approximately 90 students, faculty members and townspeople passed almost unanimously last night a resolution that "this body co-operate whole-heartedly in the effort of the Burlington prisoners to obtain a hearing before the North Carolina Supreme Court," to present an appeal for a re-trial.

Convicted Defendants Anderson and Hoggard calmly and self-possessedly proclaimed their innocence of the Burlington dynamiting crime in simple but detailed talks to the assembly in Gerrard hall.

Professing personal conviction that a fair trial had not been received by the seven defendants, who have been sentenced to serve terms totaling 57 years, J. H. Wisherd, who presided at the meeting, Paul Green, W. D. Couch, and E. E. Ericson stated the difficulties facing the prisoners in their effort to appeal their case.

Since these difficulties are chiefly financial, donations would be particularly helpful for the defendants, it was stated.

Wisherd, who is an instructor in freshman English, announced that such contributions should be sent to Couch or to Walter Pickard of Burlington, who also spoke at the meeting last night. Although Pickard has not been accused of complicity in the affair, he has been a leader in the defense's efforts for a re-trial.

Two court stenographers made records of the meeting, and further information on the case and the meeting last night may be obtained from Wisherd, Ericson, Green or Couch.

Courtly Language Of Captain Example For Modern Swains

Library Has Time Worn Letters of Civil War Captain to His Lady Fair; Chivalrous Soldier Was Afraid He Was Writing Maid of His Desire Too Often and Asked Her Pardon.

Time-worn and in places time-erased, the letters of Captain N. H. R. Dawson to his sweetheart, written during the Civil War, and now in the library, may perhaps disclose a new world of infinite possibilities wherein letters do not open with "H' ya Pal," and end with "Signing off."

When you, gentle reader, are so thoughtful (or foolish) as to send some damsel flowers, why not accompany them with this little note, in part obliterated: "I wish these fragrant flowers to be the silent, living . . . of my love, and I know you will water and cultivate them as the living memorials of my constant fidelity to your heart?"

And in thanking the afore-

GRAIL WILL HAVE WARDLAW'S BAND

Freshmen to Be Admitted to Third Winter Quarter Dance Scheduled for Tomorrow.

With Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Pines orchestra swinging into rhythm at 9 p. m. tomorrow, the third dance sponsored by the Order of the Grail for the winter quarter will get under way in Bynum gymnasium.

Freshmen will be admitted to the affair according to an announcement from Simmons Patterson, treasurer of the Grail.

Tickets at $1.00 each are now on sale at Pritchard-Lloyd's, and will be on sale at the door.

The music-makers, Wardlaw and his band, began their activities at the University in 1927 and since then have established an enviable record playing in Europe and along the Atlantic seaboard.

On Extensive Tour

On an extensive tour of southern colleges at present, Wardlaw will stop over at his alma mater to play for the engineers' ball tonight and for the Grail dance tomorrow night.

Featured vocalists with the band are Miss Lucille Gregory, Bob Bland and Roland McKellar. Miss Gregory is one of the outstanding southern songstresses and Bland has gained a wide reputation with his "Scat" choruses. McKellar, sparkling tenor, crashed through with a rating of 100 per cent from the Columbia audition when he recently sang over their coast-to-coast network with the Wardlaw band. Freddie Rich, guest Columbia conductor for one of the band's broadcasts was highly pleased with his performance.

Scouting Fraternity

Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting fraternity, will conduct a pledging ceremony tonight at 8 o'clock in room 209 Graham Memorial.

Phillips Russell, Carolina representative to the World Peace Conference, who is a life scout, will speak to the group about his experiences abroad.

The following men have been invited to present themselves for pledging: Jack Osborn, John Bowles, Marvin Chaikin, Tom O'Connell, Ira Howard, Jesse B. Caldwell, John J. Wells, Leighton Dudley, Sanford Paydlett, and J. M. Davison.

KELLAR, SEAWELL TO DEBATE WAKE

University Debaters to Uphold Affirmative of Arms Query.

Norman Kellar and Don Seawell, representing the University debate squad, will journey to Wake Forest tonight to uphold the affirmative of the query: Resolved, that the nations of the world should agree to prevent the shipment of arms and munitions.

Francis Fairley and Winthrop Durfee will accompany Kellar and Seawell.

All four men will be guests of Wake Forest at dinner tonight. Fairley and Durfee will debate the negative of the same query in Gerrard hall next Monday night against another Wake Forest team.

Next Sunday evening a group of Wake Forest debaters will be guests of the University. They will hear United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota speak on the munitions situation.

FROSH CONSIDER HONOR PROBLEM

Class Will Decide Fate of Court Today; Will Give Informal Dance in Spring.

The freshman executive committee voted last night to appropriate a maximum of $250 to be used for a dance during the spring quarter. Permission had previously been granted the freshmen to give a dance by the University Dance committee provided they excluded all other classmen for the affair. The executives voted that the dance be informal.

The executives voted to present the following plan of a freshman honor court for the consideration of the class at chapel this morning. The plan has the full support of Virgil Weathers and the other student council members.

Plan For Council

The plan proposes a council comprised of 11 freshmen representing five schools; four from the College of Liberal Arts, three from the Commerce School, two from the Engineering School, one from the Pharmacy School, and one from the School of Applied Science.

In addition there will be one member of the student council as an adviser.

The council will act in a dual capacity; first, as a spearhead in drives to make the campus honor-conscious, and secondly, it will try freshmen reported for cheating. It will not try freshmen for breaches of the campus code.

Procedure

The decisions of the proposed court will not be made public until they have been submitted to the Student Council for sanction. Two members of freshman honor council would appear before the Student Council to submit each decision. They will present the facts and findings of the case. The council may hold a rehearing. In such a case two members of the freshman court would attend to furnish any facts previously uncovered.

Freshmen are asked to consider the proposal and prepare for discussion on the open floor at chapel this morning.

Various Obviously Purloined Signs Also Decorate Room of Aycock Dormitory Men.

Freak collections—working on them seems to be the ambition of every freshman. One pair of these newcomers to college, living down in Aycock, seems to be well on the way to becoming modern Barnums, if one is to judge from the bizarre group of things they've assembled in their room.

The first thing that strikes the eye as the visitor enters the room is the row of whiskey bottles, 31 in all, which are hanging from the moulding around the top of the room. The collectors, whose names are Robertson and Gove, contend that they have the most complete collection of whiskey bottles in the University, and that no two are alike. They say that each of the bottles represents a game—the large quart-size bottle of choice Sauterne representing a great victory for Carolina, and the small two-ounce bottle of Paul Jones representing a bitter defeat. They also gave a gallon mug, which they say stands for the Duke game last fall.

Lounge Lizards?

Over one closet door is the sign "Ladies Lounge," which was collected in Durham. Above that one is a large metal plate with the words "This space reserved for Secretaries of Senators," which was obviously obtained in the nation's capital.

The usual "No Parking" signs, which one would expect to find in such a collection, are prominently displayed here. Also, over the door is the statement, "Exit Only," done in black and white on a pine plank.

Above the other closet door is an arrow, with the inscription, "This Way to Forest Theatre." On the opposite wall is a group of signs seen everywhere—"Wild Life Refuge," "No Trespassing," etc. Above these is a collection of pennants, from Atlantic City, U. S. Navy, New York University, as well as a dozen or so illustrations from Esquire.

Displayed in a prominent position on the wall is the printed warning, "Don't Let Someone

Jack Wardlaw to Play For Engineers Tonight

With Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Pines orchestra manufacturing the rhythm, the engineers' ball will begin tonight at 9 o'clock in the ballroom of the Carolina Inn.

Bids went on sale to the public yesterday at $1.50 each. They may be bought in the senior civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering rooms in Phillips hall.

Wardlaw organized his band at the University in 1927 and since then has toured Europe and the eastern United States. Last summer he was featured over the Columbia Broadcasting system from the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. At present he is filling an engagement at the Hotel Patrick Henry in Roanoke, Va.

HOOVER'S APPEAL THROWS SENATE INTO HOT DEBATE

"Kingfish" Reads Speech Day Before Farley Was to Have Delivered It.

FORCE PATMAN BILL VOTE

Washington, Feb. 21.—(UP)—The United States Senate had a busy session today as it heard Huey Long and approved several bills.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover's appeal yesterday for the return of the gold standard in the United States at the present dollar value stirred up a bitter controversy in both houses but found few defenders.

Old line Republicans declined to comment or else were mildly critical. Progressive Republicans assailed the proposal while New Deal spokesmen remained unexcited.

Huey Renews Feud

Kingfish Huey Long renewed his feud with Postmaster General Farley by starting to read in the Senate today a speech which Farley was to have delivered tomorrow night.

James D. Donovan of Kansas City, Kan., advocated federal aid to cities seeking to establish municipal utility plants in an address to the public ownership conference.

Representatives crowded around the desk of the Speaker of the House in order to sign a petition designed to force a vote on the $2,015,000,000 Patman bonus bill. The House also approved an increase of 11,000 men to the enlisted strength of the regular army. The National Industry Recovery Board extended the aluminum code an extra 45 days.

DRIVERS LICENSE BILL IS FAVORED

Greatly Altered, Bill Passes Second Reading Before State House by Large Vote.

Raleigh, Feb. 21.—(UP)—Creaking under a load of new amendments, the drivers license bill passed on the second reading in the North Carolina House today by a vote of 105 to 4.

Tomorrow it will be given a third reading and returned to the Senate, where it originated, for concurrence to House changes. This will call for a free conference in which the bill will likely undergo further amendment.

Morrison—Assembly

The House received the Senate joint resolution inviting former Senator Cameron Morrison of Mecklenburg county to address the Assembly, and referred the proposal to the judiciary committee No. 2.

Representative Howard of Orange county introduced a bill for the appropriation of $25,000 annually for the next biennium to support the North Carolina Symphony orchestra. The proposed appropriation was referred to the appropriations committee.

Senator Corey of Pitt introduced a measure prohibiting the dumping of rubbish within 1,500 yards of the state highway. The House passed a bill by Representative Thompson of Wake county allowing the University of North Carolina to borrow $25,000 for the athletic stadium and repay from athletic receipts.
