

MURCHISON TALKS TOMORROW NIGHT IN GERRARD HALL

University Commerce Professor to Discuss Present Restrictions to World Trade.

WILL SPEAK AT 8 O'CLOCK

A Gerrard hall audience will learn about "Restrictions on World Commerce" tomorrow night from one who knows, Claudius T. Murchison, University commerce professor on leave to carry out the duties of director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

The address is at 8 p. m.

Dr. Murchison will describe in detail the tariffs, duties, and trade agreements which at present limit world commerce. He will also tell the story of the United States' fight against these restrictions.

Lived Here

The federal commerce bureau head has many friends in Chapel Hill. He and his family moved from here to Washington at the end of last summer after his appointment in May to his government position.

Dr. Murchison had been a member of the University faculty since 1921. He was director of research in the school of commerce when he received his appointment.

VARIETY KEYNOTE OF NEW DRAMAS

Second Bill of Experimentals
Today Shows Wide Range of Subject Matter.

Variety is the keynote of the Carolina Playmakers' second bill of experimental dramas for the winter quarter. They will be presented this afternoon at 4 o'clock and again tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the theatre.

Included on the bill of seven original plays written this quarter in the University's playwriting courses are representatives of various "local color" fields.

Greet's Play

Billy Greet, a North Carolinian, will have his "Tsalagi" presented; and the Playmakers, in presenting it, will show for the first time at Carolina a drama of the Cherokee Indians of western North Carolina.

Also, Ellen Deppe's "And So They Grow" will be something relatively new in the Playmakers line. The drama of "little ladies," as Miss Deppe has called it, will be one of the few completely juvenile plays ever presented by the Playmakers.

Included in the cast for "And So They Grow" are little Misses Ruth Burch, Valeska Hayden, Elsie Pittman, and Dorothy Dashiell. Today's bill of plays will be the "little ladies'" debut with the Playmakers.

Wilbur Dorsett's "Goldie" adds further variety to the bill with the tale of a Negro Saturday night, a favorite Dorsett theme. The Carolina tobacco country is represented by "Crazy-Patch Quilt" by Anne Hyman Moore.

"I Sing Forever," by Mildred Moore, tells of a tragedy of the Carolina mountains and Sarah Seawell's "The Settin'-Up," has been called "a country wake."

The new bill of plays is completed with Kenneth Bartlett's "Wait a While."

Rooms Not Yet Found For All Trackmen

University Club President Frank Willingham is still campaigning to find rooms for accommodating the visiting Southern Conference trackmen who will be here tomorrow and Saturday nights for the annual indoor track meet.

Students wishing to play hosts are asked to get in touch with Willingham at the S. A. E. house or "Bo" Shepard at the athletic office. The buildings department will furnish extra beds for the visitors.

World News Bulletins

U. S. Mourns Holmes's Death
Washington, March 6.—(UP)—Close associates of Oliver Wendell Holmes joined those who knew him only through newspapers tonight in mourning his death.

Roosevelt, friend and admirer, said that he would attend the funeral Friday in Arlington cemetery. Friday would have been the former justice of the United States Supreme Court's 94th birthday. After resting in a coma since Monday, he died at 2:15 a. m.

Dollar Still Out of Line
Washington, March 6.—(UP)—The dollar hasn't yet reached a level sufficient to relieve the country's debt burden, Roosevelt said today, but he denied contemplation of further devaluation.

When asked at a press conference whether commodity prices had been stabilized, Roosevelt said that he felt the dollar was still out of line with the country's debt structure, although great progress had been made in readjustment.

Hill Storms in Senate
Raleigh, March 6.—(UP)—Senator Hill told the Senate today that "the best people of North Carolina are violating the Turlington act" as he urged enactment of his bill providing state controlled sale of whiskey. In an impassioned plea, the mild spoken Durham Senator stormed as he quoted statistics, reviewed his 30 years' fight against liquor, and called on the Senate to quit "shutting their eyes to the facts in the case."

Richberg to Be Questioned
Washington, March 6.—(UP)—The first detailed picture of what the new NRA will look like is expected tomorrow when the Senate finance committee begins its investigation of the NRA by questioning Donald Richberg.

He has been asked to explain the details of the administration's plans for the recovery agency, which is due to expire on June 16.

FERA CHECKS

All students on the FERA payroll may get their checks for the month of February by calling at the University business office sometime today.

Those students expecting checks are requested to call for them as soon as possible so that the business office may be cleared for the registration rush.

GASOLINE EXPERT TO TALK TONIGHT

J. B. Taylor to Show Anti-Knock
Tests in Venable Hall.

J. B. Taylor of the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation will give a lecture-demonstration on the properties of gasoline tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 206 Venable hall.

This lecture is under the auspices of the local student chapter of the A. I. Ch. E. Taylor is bringing with him a special test engine with which actual anti-knock tests will be performed. He will demonstrate that the addition of certain types of compounds to gasoline cause a great increase in engine knock, whereas other substances reduce or eliminate the phenomenon.

The test engine is equipped with instruments so the audience may observe directly the speed of the engine, its knock intensity, its power output, and the temperature of the cylinder head.

In addition to the experiments with the test engine, the lecture will be illustrated with slides which report the results obtained in studies on several makes of passenger cars and busses.

Window Display To Honor Games Here This Week

Co-op Store Plans Exhibit of Trophies in Connection with Conference Track Meet.

An elaborate window display in honor of the Southern Conference indoor games this week-end will be presented by the Student Co-operative Association, the managers announced yesterday. Most of the display will be given to the forthcoming games, with the 1935 winner's trophy as the main attraction. The background will be U. N. C. blankets upon which will be pinned the individual medals. Last year's trophy, won by the Tar Heel runners, will also be on view.

Two other large awards will be in the window. The first was won this past week by the Carolina basketball team as a symbol of the Southern Conference title. It is accompanied by the annual plaque which must be won three times for permanent possession.

The other trophy is the mile championship cup won by Harry Williamson at the recent Jay-Cee meet in Charlotte. Williamson's junior national A. A. U. 1500-meter medal is also in the window.

INSTITUTE COMMITTEE

Chairman of the Human Relations Institute Committee Charles Poe requests a full attendance at the meeting of the Institute committee tonight at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

According to Poe, tonight's meeting will be the last for the winter quarter.

Fussler to Make Address

Dr. Karl H. Fussler of the University physics department will speak tonight at the meeting of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary geology fraternity, at 7:30 o'clock in the geology fraternity's room in New East.

Dr. Fussler's topic for discussion will be the age of the earth.

Al Howard Is in Charge of Reclaiming 250 Acres of Land in Chatham County.

WILL DIRECT 400 WORKERS

By NICK READ

The United States government is going in for farming in a big way. Eleven miles from Chapel Hill, just over the Chatham county line, 250 acres of North Carolina soil owned by Uncle Sam is being reclaimed from the wilderness.

The work is being done by Negro transients. A camp now capable of handling 39 men is being enlarged to take care of the 400 workers expected to be on the job by next summer. In charge of the camp is Al Howard, ex-Tar Heel football coach and one-time movie actor.

Craps on the Sly

Director Howard was asked how the men behaved themselves and whether they craved a little crap game now and then. "It's against camp regulations to drink and gamble," Howard replied, "but," he went on, "you can't stop a little drinking and crap shooting done on the sly. It's just an urge that they have to satisfy."

Howard said that there had been few trouble-makers. "The disorderly men either leave after a short time of their own accord or we dismiss them," he explained.

The director commented favorably upon the willingness of the men to work when questioned on this point. "I am not a native southerner," he said, "and before I came here I always had the impression that the Negro was lazy, but these boys don't have to be made to work."

Wages Paid

Howard explained that the men are employed 30 hours a week for wages varying from 50 cents to $2.00 per week. "There has been so much to do," he said, "some of the men have voluntarily worked overtime for extra pay."

The transient bureaus in Durham and Raleigh, Howard stated, are co-operating with the Federal Rehabilitation Project, (Continued on last page)

DANSEUSE THRILLS STUDENT AUDIENCE

Nini Theilade Wins Hearts of Enthusiastic Gathering with Varied Dance Program.

Beautiful 19-year-old Nini Theilade danced her way into the hearts of an enthusiastic Memorial hall audience last night. Mlle. Theilade appeared here on the last program of this quarter on the Student Entertainment series.

Received with Acclaim

Received with equal acclaim was the Whitney chamber music ensemble, which played between Mlle. Theilade's appearances and rendered the music which she so gracefully interpreted.

The premiere danseuse presented a varied program, having held her audience spellbound as she danced to Debussy's Diana and Lotus, and sending them into delighted laughter when she rendered a caricature of an inexperienced ballet dancer in dancing Debussy's Menuet, or "Ballett."

MEDICAL MOVIE TONIGHT

A seven-reel moving picture entitled "Milestones in Medical Research," sponsored by Eli Lilly and company, will be shown at 7:30 tonight in the auditorium of the pharmacy building.

The first three reels tell the story of the production and standardization of insulin, and the last four give a picture of a large Indianapolis hospital's diabetic clinic.

The characters in the movie are all doctors, nurses, dieticians and actual patients. Sixty-five minutes are required for the showing.

Five Students Seek Managing Editorship Of University Daily

Five DAILY TAR HEEL staff members submitted applications to the Publications Union Board yesterday for the position of managing editor of the campus daily.

Applicants were Walter Hargett, Irving Suss, Don McKee, Reed Sarratt, and Bob Page.

With the exception of Page, who is the present managing editor of the daily, all those applying for the position are city editors on the publication.

The applicants were interviewed at yesterday's meeting, but the final decision will not be made until at a special session Monday.

The request of the editor of the Finjan that the next issue of the funny magazine, the parody on Time, be printed in a smaller and more expensive type was granted by the board.

U. N. C. TO DEBATE STANFORD TODAY

McMullan and Cross to Support
New Deal Against Bright-
Bold California Team.

Representatives of Stanford University will attack the New Deal in a debate with the University at high noon today in Gerrard hall.

The contest will commence at 12 o'clock and will last approximately a half-hour.

Carolina Team

Harry McMullan, Jr., and Oliver Cross, University debaters, will support the affirmative of the query which reads, Resolved, that this house favor the New Deal.

The Stanford team is composed of Fred Charles Bold, Jr., and Andrew W. Bright.

According to Professor William Olsen of the University English department and faculty advisor of the debating group, the Californians will defend Herbert Hoover. He says that it will take a Bright-Bold team to do it.

REGISTRATION

Permit cards for registration for the spring quarter will be available in room 8 South building beginning today. Spring quarter class schedules may be obtained in room 101.

Registration begins Monday for all students except freshmen and sophomores who failed to pass all their courses in the fall quarter.

NATHANAEL ENGLE TO LECTURE HERE TUESDAY EVENING

Housing Conditions in U. S. to Be Subject of Third Address of Series.

ASSISTANT TO MURCHISON

Dr. Nathanael H. Engle, assistant director to Claudius T. Murchison of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has been secured to speak here Tuesday evening by the lecture committee of the department of economics and commerce. Dr. Ferger is chairman of this group.

Dr. Engle will deliver the third of a series of lectures on current economic and business subjects. The meeting, which is open to the general public, will be held in 202 Bingham hall at 7:30 p. m.

Speaker's Subject

Dr. Engle's subject is "Housing Conditions in the United States." He is particularly well qualified to discuss this timely topic as he was in charge of a nation-wide survey of urban housing made by the department of commerce in 1934. This was the first large scale investigation into housing conditions ever conducted in this country. In the course of this survey housing conditions in 64 cities were studied in detail, among them being Asheville and Greensboro in this state.

The assistant director received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan. He has taught economics at the University of Washington, the University of Michigan, and at Brown University. He was economist at the Brookings Institution of Washington, D. C., at the time that he accepted his present government position.

Widely known for his writings on business subjects, Dr. Engle is a member of the National Distribution Council of Washington, D. C. He is chairman of the editorial board of the National Marketing Review, the official quarterly publication of the National Association of Marketing Teachers.

HAMPTON SINGERS TO APPEAR HERE

University Y.M.C.A. to Sponsor
Presentation of Negro Quartet
Tuesday Night.

Sponsored by the University Y. M. C. A., one of America's really old-time quartets, the Hampton Four from Hampton Institute in Virginia, will appear in Memorial hall Tuesday evening at 7:15 to present a short program of spirituals.

The quartet is on tour again after making a notable record several seasons ago with their pure versions of Negro songs.

To Show Paintings

Traveling with the quartet will be Dr. Cooper of Charlotte, the Negro preacher and artist, who will have on display here several of his paintings.

According to an announcement by Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., all students and townspeople are invited to attend the song program. Comer indicated that the singers would present only a short program in order that students may be allowed time to prepare for the Wednesday examinations.
