

UNIVERSITY CLUB PICKS STUDENTS TO HELP ALUMNI

Committees Are Named to Aid Graduates in 18 Cities In Giving Smokers.

GROUPS TO MEET MONDAY

Frank Willingham, president of the University Club, yesterday announced the committees for a number of towns in North Carolina which will co-operate with the local alumni chapters in sponsoring smokers for high school students.

There will be a meeting of all the men on these committees Monday night at 7:15 in 209 Graham Memorial for about one-half hour. Any other students from the towns and cities listed are invited to attend the meeting.

Not First Time

The committees will work with the alumni chapters in putting on "get-togethers" between present Carolina students, alumni and high school seniors in their respective towns. These "get-togethers" will follow up last year's work, when about 12 were held throughout the state. All of the banquets last year "went over big" with the high school seniors.

The purpose of the meeting Monday night is to formulate plans for meetings in the towns listed below. It has been found that the gatherings not only interest high school students in the University, but keep alumni interest alive and form better contact between former and present Carolina students.

The committees and chairmen following have been selected to conduct the "get-togethers" in their respective towns:

DR. KNIGHT GIVES TALK ON TRAVELS

Education Professor Relates to Freshmen Anecdotes of His Trip to Mesopotamia.

Dr. E. W. Knight, of the department of education and director of the coming session of summer school, entertained the freshman class at their regular assembly period yesterday.

After giving a brief resume of the organization and advantages of the next summer school, Dr. Knight related several amusing incidents which occurred during his trip to Mesopotamia and the Holy Land.

"Insha'llah"

Knight's impression gained from his experiences with the Mohammedans centered around their expression, "Insha'llah," meaning "if the Lord, or Allah, is willing." According to him, these people of the East base most of their actions on that one phrase.

Speaking now in a more serious vein, Dr. Knight described the improvements which the introduction of the science of travel had wrought in that part of the world. "It is now possible to make an automobile trip across the desert in 28 hours; a trip which formerly took 35 days even when traveling with a fast camel."

Nomad Painter Offers Course In Watercolor Spring Quarter

Eliot O'Hara, the first American painter to take a comprehensive painting trip through Soviet Russia, will conduct a course in watercolor painting here next quarter under the auspices of the Southern Art Projects.

The visiting instructor first thought seriously of devoting his entire time to art in 1928 when he won a Guggenheim fellowship and immediately moved with his family to Europe for two and a half years of study. Before that he had been at the head of an enamel factory in Massachusetts.

Up until his period of study in Europe he had considered painting purely as a hobby, but various one-man shows of his works encouraged him to devote more and more time to the art.

Technique His Own

Although he sampled, briefly, the methods of several masters

in this country and in Paris, he found that he progressed more satisfactorily by solving his own problems. Gradually he discovered his own means of expression and is still making discoveries, just as he used to find ways in which to improve factory processes, 14 of which are now patented.

While O'Hara is usually known as a nomad painter, he has made his home for the last three years in Washington and next summer he will open for its fifth season his school of watercolor painting at Goose Rocks Beach, Maine. There in his watercolor gallery he invited exhibition of watercolors attracts thousands of visitors from all parts of the country.

This artist has traveled to many far corners of the globe to study his art and paint new subjects. His latest trip was to

PI PHI'S, CHI O'S LEADING CAMPUS SCHOLASTIC RACE

S. A. E.'s and Beta's Follow in Fall Quarter Average.

Today is co-ed day, for today is published the announcement of fall fraternity quarter averages; and Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega top the list. S. A. E., gallant toward the ladies but relentless to male scholastic foes, placed third to get off to a good start toward winning the men's fraternity cup for the second year in succession.

The smartest boys of fraternity court were followed in order by Beta Theta Pi, Theta Kappa Nu, Sigma Delta, Zeta Beta Tau, and D. K. E. It is expected that about eight of the twenty-seven fraternities will fall below the academic average, which has not yet been compiled.

Chi Omega led the fraternities for the year 1933-34, and came very close to the Pi Phi's this fall. The Chi O's were followed last year by Sigma Delta and S. A. E. Sigma Delta was not eligible for the cup because it is not a national fraternity.

The fraternity average this fall is 3.02, as compared with the 3.09 scored for the whole school year of 1933-34. Scoring is on an inverse basis, beginning with one point for a grade of "A" and going to six points for "F," so that the higher the grade, the lower the scoring.

The number of fraternity members counted in the scoring was 410, as compared with 397 for last year.

Keys Not Here

The keys ordered by the University Club have been delayed and will not arrive until the latter part of next week, it was announced yesterday by Frank Willingham, president.

ENGLE TO RELATE HOUSING FINDINGS

Director of National Survey Will Discuss National Housing Conditions Tuesday.

Dr. Nathanael H. Engle, assistant director to Claudius T. Murchison of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, will speak to the economics seminar next Tuesday evening on "Housing Conditions in the United States."

This will be the third of a series of lectures on current economics and business subjects.

As Dr. Engle was in charge of a nation-wide survey of urban housing made by the Department of Commerce in 1934, he is particularly well qualified to discuss the topic.

Studied State Cities

His was the first large scale investigation of housing conditions made in this country. During the course of the survey, housing conditions in 64 cities, among them Asheville and Greensboro, were studied in detail.

For his writings on business subjects Dr. Engle is widely known. He is a member of the National Distribution Council of Washington and is chairman of the editorial board of the National Marketing Review, the official quarterly publication of the National Association of Marketing Teachers.

Rebel Ranks Routed

Athens, Greece, March 8.—(UP)—Their ranks weakened by wholesale desertions, and their commander-in-chief, Eleutherios Venizelos reported wounded, forces of the Greek revolutionists fled on all fronts tonight.

The cause of the insurrectionists appeared desperate. The government declared that the rebel forces had been broken and demoralized.

Honor Council

The freshman honor council will have an organization meeting at 10:30 a. m. today in Memorial hall. It is expected that a chairman will be elected and further plans made.

Editor Of New Theatre Magazine Will Lecture At Dramatic Festival

"Vigorous, stimulating, an interesting talker," said Engineering Professor of English J. O. Bailey yesterday afternoon. He was speaking of his famous friend, Herbert Kline, editor of the New Theatre, who will lecture here at the twelfth annual festival and tournament of the North Carolina Dramatic Association when it is held at the Playmakers theatre March 27-30.

According to Bailey, Kline is one of the leaders in the movement toward the revolutionary theatre. His magazine is an organ of this "workers" theatre which has as its aim the reducing of the stage to a more practical, "meaty" basis.

Kline, a young man, has been very much interested in visiting the home of the Carolina Playmakers and Bailey indicated that the editor's desire to study the plant here was one of the main reasons he accepted the association's invitation to appear on its festival program.

Also, Bailey pointed out, Kline

Course Is Offered In Oral Literature

Subject Suggested by Hardin Craig for English Majors.

The department of English is offering a new course in the oral reading of literature during the spring quarter to be held at 12 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

This course is an outgrowth of the belief that it is important that all teachers of literature should be able to read well and to understand the fundamental principles of oral reading.

It is desirable that all English majors who are taking the teachers' certificate should take a course made up partly of speech fundamentals and partly of the principles of the oral interpretations of literature.

The course, English 42, was recommended by Professor Hardin S. Craig, though he recommended that such a course not be obligatory for those English majors who have taken a considerable amount of speech work.

While attention will be given to the various forms of literature, the emphasis of the work will be on oral expression.

Tendency Due to Wish For "Self-Sufficiency"

Speaker Says Five Methods Are Being Used to Create Barriers to Foreign Exchange.

U.S. OPPOSING RESTRICTION

Never in the history of the world, said Dr. Claudius T. Murchison to a large audience in Gerrard hall last night, has there been such a period as today "in which such a conscious and concerted effort has been made universally to bring about the destruction of the exchange of commodities."

The director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, on leave from the University, went on to show the efforts which nations throughout the world have made to curtail international trade.

Describes Work

Speaking on the general topic of "Restrictions on World Commerce," Dr. Murchison included a brief description of the work in Washington in which he is engaged, purported to break down these trade barriers and promote international co-operation.

The new school of thought which has pervaded most nations, advocating the theory of "economic self-sufficiency," has five definite plans which destroy international trade as such and create barriers of nationalistic hue.

The five means which nations are using are: the high tariff policy, a system of "foreign exchange control," specific commodity control by the governments, "bilateral agreements," and various administrative devices.

Dr. Murchison then explained

SENATE PASSES HUGE WAR BILL

Largest Peacetime Army Measure Goes to House for Concurrence Amendments.

Washington, March 8.—(UP)—The Senate today passed a $400,000,000 war department appropriations bill, the largest allotment ever called for in peacetime legislation on Capitol Hill. The bill now returns to the House for concurrence amendments.

The passage of this measure clears the way for the Senate to resume debate on the works relief bill Monday.

A desperate battle is expected in the House next week over the income tax publicity repeal and soldiers' bonus issues. House leaders fought to force a vote today on a bill increasing bond authorization of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, but parliamentary tangles and the departure of members from the floor forced adjournment.

President Roosevelt revealed in a press conference today that he plans to prepare another message to Congress on transportation over the week-end.
