LONG WILL FLAY RELIEF MEASURE

Work Relief Bill and Long-Fairley Feud May Embroil Senate Already in Tatters.

Washington, March 9.—(UP)—The administration's work relief bill, already subjected to a week of rough treatment, tonight headed into another trouble zone with Huey Long getting ready for new assaults and alarms.

The resumption of Long's war on Postmaster General Farley promised a hectic week for an already badly disorganized Senate. The Long-Fairley feud and the work relief bill developed side by side. Now they are thrown together with explosive possibilities.

Washington, March 9.—(UP)—The final action of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation extension bill was delayed again tonight when a revolting House forced adjournment before a vote was reached.

The bill is expected to come up again Tuesday because the pink slip income tax publicity of the repeal bill has legislative right of way.

Registration Period Is Tomorrow-Saturday

Fresh and Sophs Failing in Fall Will Enroll March 25.

The spring quarter registration period begins tomorrow and lasts through Saturday. All students are expected to enroll during this time except those freshmen and sophomores who did not pass all their courses in the fall quarter.

All freshmen and sophomores who failed one or more courses in the fall must register March 25.

Talks to Be Course in Instruction and Administration For Summer School.

FIRST OF KIND IN SOUTH

Plans for the summer session's headliner, the course in higher education, the first of its kind in the south and one of three or four in the whole country, are very nearly complete. Most of the distinguished group of guest lecturers have been definitely engaged and their topics chosen.

This course, the successor to an institute on higher education held here successfully last summer, will deal with problems of instruction and administration in higher educational institutions. Members of the regular University staff will direct the course, in co-operation with the visiting teachers.

Minnesota Dean First

The first guest lecturer will be Dean M. E. Haggerty of the University of Minnesota, who will be here June 14 and 15. He will discuss the question "What Constitutes a Good College Faculty?" and will report on his study of colleges in the North Central Association. This report will be published soon.

He will be followed by President James W. Wood of Stephens College, who with Professor F. L. Hovde of the University of Minnesota, will speak during the week of June 17. President Wood will discuss the problem of improvement of college instruction. Professor Hovde's topic will be the work of the University of Minnesota's General College, where an attempt is made to provide for the individual needs of students.

Columbia Dean One Week

The entire week of June 24 will be at the disposal of Dean H. E. Hawkes of Teachers College, Columbia University. The topics of the discussion he will direct are:

1—Motivation. How may the college experience stir the individual to his best endeavor?

2—The survey course for freshmen and sophomores; what educational purpose does it serve?

3—Measurement of college accomplishment; various types of examinations and methods of evaluation of college work.

4—College discipline as one aspect of personnel service.

Dean Paul C. Pecker of Iowa State University, will discuss the work of that school in providing for the guidance of students, in lectures July 1 and 2. College curriculum revision, the purpose of survey and orientation.

REBELS PROSPER IN CUBA, GREECE

Cuban Revolutionists Join Hands With Greeks Across Seas as Insurrection Arises.

Revolutions are riding the crest of a militaristic wave in two parts of the world tonight as insurrectionists in the island republic of Cuba joined hands with Greek revolutionists in attempts to overthrow their respective governments.

Havana, Cuba, March 9.—(UP)—Acting swiftly under almost dictatorial powers, the government here established rigid military control throughout Cuba tonight in a determined effort to smash a serious revolutionary strike.

The Mendieta-Bastita regime, suspending all constitutional law, placed organized army reserves under military governors commanding the island's six provinces.

Athens, Greece, March 9.—(UP)—The Greek government opened a smashing drive today against rebels in Macedonia, expected to decide the outcome of the civil war now in progress.

General George Condylis, personally commanding the government forces in the field, threw a full force of artillery, planes, and troops across the mountainous country around the Struma river down upon the rebels in the valleys.

UNC Will Hear 'Deepest Bass In The World'

Hampton Quartet's Profound Vocalist Once Won Fund for School by Demonstration.

Carolina students will hear the deepest bass in the world, according to General Y. M. C. A. Secretary Harry F. Comer, when the Hampton quartet appears in Memorial hall Tuesday evening.

The low man on the Hampton outfit, which books out from Hampton Institute for Negroes in Virginia, has had much to do with the quartet's wide popularity over the country.

Appearing at Culver Military Academy several years ago, the quartet was heard by a very wealthy Hoosier who offered to endow a special scholarship at the Hampton school if, at the next evening's performance the quartet's bass would go one note lower than ever before.

In the audience was a group of noted musicians who were to judge the depth of the Negro's bass. The quartet started "Old Black Joe." At the end the tenors and baritone sounded their last note—the bass had the air and, with eyes shut, he started to carry the whole Culver audience down into the lower regions of human tone range.

Down, down, on the last cadenza to "Old Black Joe." When the performance was over and the crowd stopped cheering, the judges announced that the colored man had gone almost two and a half notes below his previous record. Hampton won her scholarship.

Senior Executives

An important meeting of the senior class executive committee will be held in the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7 o'clock to consider detailed plans for senior week.

Athletic Councilor

Bowman Gray, Jr., of Winston-Salem, who has been elected by the University Alumni Association to represent alumni on the University Athletic Council for a term of three years.

STATE ASSEMBLY CONCLUDES TERM

Committee Chairmen Struggle With Huge Difference Between Revenue and Bills.

Raleigh, March 9.—(UP)—The North Carolina General Assembly ended the last week of its constitutional term today with none of its major problems remotely near a solution.

The work from now on until official adjournment will be carried on by the legislators without pay.

While members rested, four chairmen of the Senate and House appropriations and revenue committees struggled with the $1,650,000 difference between the revenue and the supply bills with the view of reporting on both next week.

Prisons Investigated

Another joint committee, on penal institutions, bore down on the prison system today. A subcommittee was appointed to investigate conditions in the Mecklenburg county camp where two Negro prisoners whose feet have been amputated were confined.

Among the new bills in the House, two were by McDonald of Forsyth, to permit judges to substitute life imprisonment for death upon conviction for burglary and arson. They were referred to judiciary committee number one.

No new bills were introduced in the upper House.

Fount Of Wisdom, Second-Hand, Is Library's New Book Of Saws

Trying to think of a good quotation?

The library has just acquired a new book—"Stevenson's Home Book on Quotations"—in which you can find sayings "from the cradle to the grave," from Adam to Charles A. Lindbergh, from good to evil, from heaven to hell. And they are all listed alphabetically by subjects—love taking up a goodly share of the space.

If, in writing a letter to your heart of hearts, you drain of sugary discourse you can turn to the section on love. There you will find some of the famous love poems of the world, along with love's causes, effects, joys, sorrows, and all the other phases.

"Love is a fiend, a fire, a heaven, a hell, Where pleasure, pain and sad repentance dwell."

INSTITUTE PLANS CLASS SEMINARS, PUBLIC LECTURES

Lectures to Be Given at 10:10 A.M. and 8 P.M.; 9:30 Classes Will End at 10 O'clock.

TO COVER THREE FIELDS

More than 80 classroom seminars, 12 public lectures in Memorial hall and a complete exhibit in the lobby of Memorial hall are included in the gigantic outlay for the coming Human Relations Institute, according to Charles Poe, chairman of the institute committee.

An imposing group of speakers has been secured to represent the fields of business and industry, governmental and international relations, and interracial and class relations, the three fields which the institute will cover.

To Curtail Classes

Two lectures in Memorial hall are scheduled for each day during the week. All 9:30 classes will be dismissed at 10 o'clock to attend the morning address which will begin at 10:10 o'clock, according to Poe.

Everything connected with the institute will be open to the public. The evening address hour will be 8 o'clock.

Besides the platform speeches in Memorial hall, visiting institute speakers will conduct over 80 classroom seminars. The regular University classes will digress from their text assignments and hear an institute speaker present his subject during the first half of the hour, leaving the last part of the period for questions and discussion.

Technical Studies

According to Chairman Poe, the object of the seminars is to give the speakers a chance to thrash out more technical problems than they are allowed to in the public platform addresses.

The Memorial hall exhibit will be open all week and will include an attractive collection of books, posters, pamphlets, and literature of various sorts relating to the three fields covered in the institute's study.

Several important speakers who have been invited have not been heard from, indicated Poe, but the list of those who have already been heard from is as follows:
