

Race For Presidential Offices May Be Most Heated In Years

Students Will Vote At Polls Wednesday

Nominations to Be Made in Memorial Hall Tomorrow Morning at 10:30 O'clock.

EDITORSHIPS PREDICTABLE

Political talk is running rampant over the campus in anticipation of Election Day next Thursday when the students will vote to decide what looks to be one of the hottest presidential contests in many years.

All nominations are to be held tomorrow. Nominations for campus offices will be made in Memorial hall at 10:30. Nominations for the various class offices will be Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Class Nominations

Rising seniors will meet in Gerrard hall. Rising juniors will meet in the Phi hall on the fourth floor of New East. Rising sophomores will convene in the Di hall on the third floor of New West.

The election will take place Thursday. The polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

It is generally known that the two contenders for the chief position of president of the student body are Jack Pool and "Snooks" Aitken. Political prognosticators are weighing carefully the strength of the two. Pool is at present given an edge, being best known for his activities as senior class president in estab-

(Continued on page two)

SYMPHONY GIVES OPENING CONCERT OF SERIES TODAY

Michigan Orchestra to Appear in First of Three Performances at 4 O'clock.

THOR JOHNSON CONDUCTS

Thor Johnson, conductor of the University of Michigan Little Symphony, will present the first of three concerts this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the lobby of Graham Memorial. This concert will be free and open to the public.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Johnson will present a concert, sponsored by the music department of the Community Club, for the Children of the Chapel Hill, Carrboro, and White Cross schools.

On Entertainment Series

The Monday night performance, being given under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee, will begin at 8:30 in Memorial hall.

Special attractions on the program will be Miss Ruth Pfohl, head of the harp department at the University of Michigan, Raymond Kondratowicz, pianist, and Miss Vlasta Podoba, bassoonist, who will be featured as soloists.

The program for Monday night's concert is as follows: Mozart's overture to the opera, "The Marriage of Figaro," Saint-Saens' concert in A minor for violoncello and orchestra, Smetana's "Dance of the Comedians" from "The Bartered Bride," Debussy's "The Girl with the Flaxen Hair," Moussorgsky's "Ballet of the Unhatched Chickens," from "Pictures at an Exhibition," Ravel's "Introduction and Allegro for harp and orchestra," and Strauss's overture to the operetta, "Die Fledermaus."

Tar Heel Nomination

The editorial staff of the Daily Tar Heel will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Graham Memorial office to make its official staff nomination for the editor of next year's paper. Attendance of all present staff members will be required.

Magazine Meeting

All persons who have contributed one article, two poems or two book reviews, and those who are members of the regular staff of the Carolina Magazine will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the magazine's office to choose the staff nominee for the next term of editorship.

Yackety Yack Staff

There will be a meeting of the entire editorial staff of the Yackety Yack at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the publication office to select the official staff nominee for the next editor of the Yackety Yack.

Leads Symphony

Thor Johnson, former University of North Carolina student, who will conduct the University of Michigan Little Symphony appearing here in concerts today and tomorrow.

ENGINEER READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

Dr. Zimmermann Writes Lead Article for Publication Appearing Tomorrow.

Kenan Professor of Economics Erich W. Zimmermann's article on "The Value of Economics to the Engineer," leads off the new issue of Editor Walter King's Carolina Engineer which will appear on the campus tomorrow.

The current issue of the quarterly magazine includes articles on "Bromine from the Ocean," by Jack Crutchfield; "Engineering Laboratories on Student-Faculty Day," by Luther Britt.

Student Articles

"Emergency Relief Projects on the University Campus," by Wendell Dunbar, and "Life Infinitesimal," by Wilbur Kochtitzky, and other articles. Acting-Dean William J. Miller's "The Dean's Page," and the other regular departments complete the new issue.

According to Circulation Manager James A. Westbrook, the new Engineer will be distributed from the door at Phillips hall tomorrow.

(Continued on page two)

THEY DID A GOOD JOB

Harry F. Comer, left, executive secretary of the Human Relations Institute, and Charles A. Poe, Jr., chairman of the student-faculty committee on arrangements. They say that they have received many requests that the Institute be made an annual event.

READING TONIGHT BY MRS. HOLMES

Lillian Hellman's "The Children's Hour" to Be Read in Playmakers Theatre at 8:30.

"The Children's Hour," Lillian Hellman's drama of the doom that overtakes two young headmistresses after one of their pupils tells a slanderous story about them will be read tonight by Mrs. Urban T. Holmes in the Playmakers theatre at 8:30 o'clock.

"The Children's Hour" has been one of the outstanding current Broadway successes.

The reader for the occasion, according to Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, is "one of the most talented artists we have here."

Experienced Reader

An experienced reader, Mrs. Holmes has appeared several times on Playmakers reading series and at the Bull's Head Bookshop in the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Hellman's play opened November 20 and is still playing to full houses. It deals with a balked schoolgirl, a half-imagined suspicion, a whispered word of spite. Eugenia Rawls, a former Playmaker, who played Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," takes the role of one of the schoolgirls in the New York production.

Six other readings have been presented on the Sunday evening series of the Playmakers: Professor Koch's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Christmas Carol," Playwright Paul Green's "Roll Sweet Chariot," Professor Samuel Selden's "Within the Gates," Professor Harry Davis' "Moon in the Yellow River."

Monogram Club Photo

There will be a picture taken of the Monogram Club at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, on the steps of the law building for the Yackety-Yack, it was announced yesterday. All members must be present, wearing monogram sweaters.

In the case of those members who were awarded monograms for the past winter's sports, but who have not received sweaters, they can be borrowed from the older members of the club. This can be arranged by President Gardner.

Assembly to Continue

The freshman assembly, which has been postponed during the past week because of the Human Relations Institute, will convene as usual tomorrow.

CASTS FOR NEXT ORIGINALS NAMED

Selden Will Supervise Next Public Production of Student Dramas, April 25-27.

Tentative casts for the coming public production of original plays, set for April 25, 26, 27, have been announced by Professor Samuel Selden of the Playmakers who will have general supervision over the new bill.

The plays will be directed by students of the drama taking the University's course in play directing. The dramas were selected from those written in Professor Frederick H. Koch's playwriting courses.

Free Show Too

Of the 11 plays being prepared only a limited number will be presented on the public bill. The remainder will be produced free of charge the following Monday evening.

Casts and directors are as follows: for "Clam Digger," directed by Jean Ashe: Joe Brown, Eloise Sheppard, Mildred Moore; for "Ca'line," directed by Kenneth Bartlett: Juanita Greene, Julia Peebles, Bob Barrett, Burr Leach, Katherine Threlkeld, R. P. Garland, and Charles Woodbury.

For "Pretty Plump Angel," directed by Sammie Ruth Bell: Sara Seawell, Fowler Spencer, Mildred Howard, Lawrence Cheek; for "New Anarchy," directed by Jane Cover: Ralph Burgin, W. M. Fletcher, Don Pope, Paul McKee, Prior McFadden, Dave Richardson, and Blalock.

Further Casts:

For "Goldie," directed by Ralph Lyerly: Louise McGuire, Burr Leach, Dave Lewis, Wilbur Dorsett and Robert du Four; for "Metropolitan Feodor," directed by Frances McGraw: Philip Parker, Bob Nachtmann, Alan Waters, Hester Barlow, Paul McKee, and Bob du Four.

For "Hunger," directed by Patsy McMullan: Ralph Burgin, Carl Thompson, Phillips Russell, Eloise Sheppard, Dan Hamilton; for "New Nigger," directed by Eloise Sheppard: John Walker, D. H. Andrews, James Verner, Bob Nachtmann, Lawrence Cheek, Dave Richardson, Nancy Lawlor, and Louise McGuire.

For "Spare-Ribs," directed by Carl Thompson: Jack Lee, Joe L. Brown, Alan Waters, Dave Lewis, Burleson, McFadden, Walker, du Four, Robertson and McKee.

"Devil's Trampin' Ground," directed by Jean Walker: Jo

(Continued on page two)

Outline For Socialistic State Offered In Final Weil Lecture

DR. SZE PRAISES CONSTANT AMITY OF U. S. A.-CHINA

Chinese Minister Urges Sympathetic Understanding to Promote Good Will.

CONTRASTS NATIVE TRAITS

Strongly commending the friendly relations that have existed between his own China and the United States, Chinese Minister to the United States Sao-Ke Alfred Sze urged "sympathetic understanding of the true significance of facts" as the essential factor of international good will.

That China's civilization differs in many respects from that of other nations was the conclusion Dr. Sze drew after he had pointed out the fact that the mind of the Oriental is essentially different to that of the Occidental that it employs a different logic or reasoning process.

Chinese Characteristic

After he had cited many of the peculiar differences between his people and those of the western world, Dr. Sze indicated a major political characteristic of the Chinese people to disregard the government as the most important part of their lives.

"Thus it is that a westerner is apt to gain a distorted idea as to what is the situation in China when he reads in the newspapers of civil strife, and the lack of complete coercive control by the central government over certain portions of China's vast area."

Some Objectionable Relations

Referring to the relations between our country and China, Dr. Sze stated, "I do not desire

(Continued on page two)

Soule Says Present Structure Is Doomed

Offers as Alternatives Return to Laissez Faire or Forward Move to Socialism.

ADVOCATES FREE TRADE

George Soule, editor of the New Republic and Weil lecturer for 1935, brought to a close the third Institute on Human Relations in Memorial hall last night by outlining to the small audience that braved inclement weather to hear him, his plan for a socialistic state based on the principle of production for abundance.

The noted lecturer and author pointed out that our most conservative economists see that the present system has brought about inequality, and very few would or could preserve the present structure.

Offers Alternatives

The two alternatives, Soule stated, are a return to the principles of laissez-faire, or, a forward motion to socialism. He dwelt at length upon the alleged fact that the success of the laissez-faire principle depends upon the competition between small units, with each unit at the mercy of the existing market, and no one unit large enough to control or influence it.

The almost unsurmountable difficulty in bringing about a system of this type lies in the problem of adjusting and maintaining units of a size so that they would not restrain the market to their own advantage. If such a system were adopted, he claimed, we must retrace our steps during the last 75 years of progress, go back to the stage-coach and the village carriage

(Continued on page four)

Loyalty To New Order Is Only Hope For Future, Says Thomas

Y.M.C.A. CABINETS TO MEET JOINTLY

Junior-Senior and Sophomore Groups Will Plan for Future.

Meeting tomorrow night to make preparations for the next quarter's work and to lay plans for the election and induction of new officers, the junior-senior and sophomore "Y" cabinets will convene jointly in the Y. M. C. A. at 7:15 o'clock.

According to President of the Y. M. C. A., J. D. Winslow, the meeting will be purely business and discussion will largely concern plans for the future. Regular series programs will not begin until next week.

The Freshman Friendship Council will appoint a nominating committee at its meeting tomorrow night and plans will also be outlined for the spring quarter's work.

Included on the freshman project program for the near future is the plan for co-operation with E. R. Rankin of the extension division, in conducting High School Week in North Carolina.

SENIOR REGALIA

Thursday is the deadline for having measurements made for the Senior Week regalia, which is now on display at the Student Co-operative store.

All seniors are urged to have their measure taken immediately.

Administration of NRA Is Called Fascist Trend

Advocates Planned Socialization Of Property with Boards To Control Industry.

PROPHECIES "DARK AGE"

A near-capacity audience in Memorial hall yesterday heard Norman Thomas, in a farewell public address, declare that the future held no hope for the students of today unless they learn to think together in terms of loyalty to a new order.

Thomas began his speech by condemning the fulfillment of the plans originally made for the New Deal. After claiming that he was an admirer of President Roosevelt's campaign plans and promises, the Socialist chieftain deplored the manifestation of the program in the NRA. "The tendency in the NRA is regimentation and a trend toward Fascism," he charged.

More Millionaires

Pointing to an alleged 50 per cent increase in millionaires since the inauguration of the New Deal, Thomas assailed the blue eagle as "a bird of prey, even if painted blue." He likened the blue color of our renovated national emblem to the tint produced by rigor mortis.

Thomas attacked the administration for stepping in to attempt to aid a "doomed price and profit system." The only solu-

(Continued on page two)