WE LIKE FRANKNESS Rev. Donald Stewart, the Presbyterian youthfulness and well-liked Chapel Hill pastor, has done more to stimulate student thought than any one single influence on the campus this year.

Sunday morning he will deliver a sermon on "Whom Shall I Marry?" The topic intrigued me and I asked him how he meant to present it from the pulpit.

"I want to help them to realize," he said, "that religion is not a preparation for some life beyond, but for an enrichment for life's heres and nows." One phase of this enrichment is the whole problem of mate-dom.

Donald Stewart believes that marriage is not one of those things we have to "muddle through." We can be guided wisely and permanently. To him for his frankness and sincerity, to Dr. Ernest Groves for his presentation of the same marriage problem, we, as students, tender our appreciation and respect.

Some hard-shells may disagree with our "liberal" attitude. We'll not disturb them in their snug parochialism, we promise.

HOTNESS AND LIGHT Spring, as Bill Wang would put it, is definitely here. The buildings department's much-maligned power mowers are on the ball and the turf is once more green and closely-cropped.

We took a few moments off yesterday and went to see the Boy Scouts disembark into the vernal wood back of Kenan stadium. After a pleasant stroll in that vicinity we ambled around to where the new athletic field is taking shape. Activity everywhere.

Maybe we have been wrong when we have attributed much of this campus' lethargy to the southern clime. From the looks of things, Chapel Hillians, like big, brown bears, don't get underway with anything suggesting momentum until it gets hot enough to slow down the northerners a bit.

DURHAM vs. THE WORLD Jack Pool tells me that the Tar Heel bogey-man, Old Man Provincialism, pervaded the sanctum of the State Utilities Commission at the bus hearing Wednesday afternoon.

The Durham lawyers, Pool says, were there in oratorical glory, much to the dismay of Chapel Hill forces. The consensus is that the Greyhounders' cause (and ours) came out somewhat the worse for wear. Stanley Winborne, commission chairman, said things looked hopeful, however.

The 3000 signatures which the Greyhound folks presented in favor of their side tells only half of the picture. It might have been a good idea to show 3000 additional signatures from other persons who wouldn't ride in the Carolina Coach Company's hacks if they were paid 50 cents for the Durham round-trip.

SPRING FESTIVAL GETS UNDER WAY; LARGE AUDIENCES

Beautiful Exhibits Attract Record Crowd to Meets; Folk Music at Hill Hall Today.

DULCIMISTS WILL PERFORM

The third annual Dogwood Festival is underway, with the largest crowd ever to attend a meet of this sort. Featured among the attractions this year are exhibits of handicraft and art, vocal and instrumental folk music, games, dances, and floral displays.

The principal exhibits are in Graham Memorial in which are displays of Indian craft, baskets, block prints, brooms, copper, coverlets, hooked rugs, mica, books, pewter, needlework, photographs, pottery, quilts, silver, weaving, woodcarving, wrought iron, and jewelry.

In Peabody hall there is an exhibit of the Arts of Youth, including the work of amateur artists under Miss Lena Tuttle and stage arts and posters.

Art Exhibit
An art exhibit of more than 40 oil paintings by contemporary American artists, lent by the Macbeth Gallery of New York and circulated under the auspices of the Southern Art Projects, is on display in the Hill Music hall.

The folk music program under the direction of Richard Chase will include the singing of ancient ballads and hymns, with instrumental accompaniment, and selections on that antiquated instrument, the dulcimer. Among those who will appear on this program are Fiddling "Doc" Hoppas of Estatoe, who was a World's Fair attraction; Mrs. Rosalia Schell of Banner Elk; Mrs. Norma Grindstaff of Spruce Pine; I. G. Greer of Thomasville, and Franklin Scott, Turner Brown, and Mrs. Artemus Ward, all of Jugtown, who will strut their stuff on the resurrected dulcimer.

Straw Vote

Warm up your arguments and get set for the DAILY TAR HEEL straw-vote beginning Tuesday morning.

Two questions, the proposed class-hour change and the semester vs. quarter system proposition, will be put before the students for their opinions.

Ballot-boxes will be placed at convenient places throughout the campus in which the ballots, clipped from the fourth page of this newspaper, will be placed. Several arguments for both sides of each question have already been presented in these columns. Take your choice and let us know what you think.

WEEKLY NEWS RELEASE

The first release of the DAILY TAR HEEL Weekly News Service will be mailed Monday to 40-odd high schools in the state and 35 preparatory schools in and around North Carolina.

Featured in the bulletins will be news of the University with special emphasis on the alumni from the institutions receiving the news service. Each school will be sent two mimeographed pages of general University news and another typewritten sheet of personals written specifically for each institution.

There will be no costs for the news service on the part of the schools receiving the bulletins. Financing the project is the University Alumni office which is headed by J. Maryon Saunders.

Don McKee, assistant editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL, is manager of the weekly news release and is assisted by Newton Craig, freshman reporter.

Scouter

Professor H. D. Meyer, educational director of Scouting in the southern region who, with the co-operation of national and state executives, arranged the Boy Scout Jubilee.

Red Cross Sponsors Examiner's Course

Many University students will be interested in the Red Cross Life Saving Examiner's course which Ramone S. Eaton, national field representative of the Red Cross, will conduct in the Duke University pool, May 1-4.

Members of the local University Examiner's Corps, recently chartered by the American Red Cross, are asking all senior life savers over 20 years of age and all examiners who want to take a review to meet at special practice periods in the Bynum gymnasium Monday and Tuesday at 7:15 p. m.

Free transportation to Durham will be provided during the days of the course by the local chapter of the Red Cross. Coeds are also eligible and invited to participate.

Last year a similar examiner's course was conducted and 25 Carolina students participated, 15 of them completing the course.

For further information regarding the event, interested and eligible students are asked to see Lee Greer at the Y. M. C. A. or Vernon Ward at the Phi Kappa Sigma house.

Charter members of the local corps are: Ellis Fysal and Lee Greer, advisors; Bob Williams and John Brabson, co-captains; Tom Humphries, secretary; Vernon Ward, Marshall Bell, Jesse Parker, George Rowe, Charles Rose, Bob Bolton, Ben Blood, and Billy Greet.

Three New Greeks

Phi Kappa Sigma announces the pledging of the following new men: Everett L. Peterson, Clinton, and George S. Barbee, Jr., Zebulon.

Zeta Psi announces the pledging of John R. Harris, Wilson.

SCOUT JAMBOREE IS IN FULL SWING

Individual Demonstrations Feature on Morning's Program; Patrol, This Afternoon's.

With approximately 1,580 Boy Scouts registered, the annual jamboree will get into full swing this morning at 9 o'clock with campercraft demonstrations by individual Scouts. Demonstrations will be given of fire building, first aid, compass work, and other Scouting requisites.

At 3 o'clock demonstrations will be given by patrols and at 4 o'clock University organizations will conduct a tour of the University for the visiting Scouts.

Campfire Service

All Scouts and former Scouts now connected with the University will be guests at tonight's campfire, which will start at 7:30. The fire lighting ceremony will be furnished by Alpha Phi Omega, student Scout fraternity.

Tomorrow, at 1 o'clock, President and Mrs. Graham will give a luncheon in honor of Chief Scout Executive James E. West.

The jubilee will reach its climax tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in Kenan stadium, at which time Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Dean R. B. House, and Scout Executive James E. West will speak to the assembled Scouts.

Stadium Woods Sprouts Scout City; Trees, Boys Doing Well

Swarming four-foot-nines-in-khaki, half drooping pup tents, piles of striped blankets, and the hum of busy little men filled the Kenan stadium woods yesterday afternoon as truckloads upon truckloads of fire-filled Boy Scouts poured into the camping grounds for the 25th anniversary of Scouting Jubilee . . . energetic business men, dressed in brown, vying with each other for "leading" their troops.

The gang from Leaksville was really "there." Having just arrived in a shiny new bus they were gathered on the sidewalk by the Tin Can . . . gathered about one of their group who had just produced a sun dial . . . a real, live sun dial, according to the owner.

"And just let me see you tell me what time it is right now?" asked an unbeliever.

Down on their knees went the "whole bunch" and the leader aimed his machine "North." Someone let go the answer, "20 minutes 'till three" . . .

"Yes, 20 minutes 'till three," declared the sun worshipper from his suppliant posture.

"I'll be jumped-up," flared one of the others, "My watch says 21 minutes 'till three."

Along came a strange aggregation from some other Scouting village . . . The strangers had on shorts.

DEPUTATION TRIP

Yesterday afternoon Donald Comer of the "Y" led a deputation trip to Rocky Mount accompanied by L. F. Fountain, Nick Read, and Bob Magill.

While in Rocky Mount the deputation will visit seven schools, a hospital, a local civic club, and the Hi-Y club. A banquet will be held for the visitors on Saturday night before their return to Chapel Hill Sunday.

Julien Warren Elected To Head University Club

Cubber

William C. Wessel, camp chief of the Boy Scouts of America, who will direct many features of the four-day celebration of the 25th anniversary of Scouting which is being held at the University this week. Mr. Wessel will direct the Scout pageant to be given at 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

Desk Staff

There will be a meeting of the entire desk staff of the Daily Tar Heel this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the publication office. All members of the desk staff are asked to be present and to be on time.

MacFARLAND GETS SECRETARY'S JOB

Position of Club Treasurer Is Bestowed Upon Joe Williamson Grier of Charlotte.

OLD OFFICERS THANKED

Julien Knox Warren, Jr., of Trenton was selected to head the University Club for the coming year at an election of the organization last night in Gerrard hall.

Other officials elected are: George MacFarland of Charlotte, secretary, and Joe Williamson Grier, also of Charlotte, treasurer.

Runner-up to Warren for the presidency was Francis Campbell of the old club.

Campbell, Louis Shaffner, Henry Lewis, and George MacFarland were nominated for the presidency at the meeting of the club last week by the University Club nominating committee. Warren's name was proposed when the floor was opened to further nominations.

MacFarland Secretary

MacFarland, self-help student, withdrew his name last night from the list of candidates for the presidency; but in the vote for the secretaryship he won by a large majority over the two other students nominated against him, Phil Kind and Laurence Frank.

Runners-up for the office of treasurer were George Allen and Walter F. Illman.

Warren, a rising junior, has distinguished himself during his two years at the University in class government. He has served for two years on his class executive committee and during this past year was chairman of the sophomore dance committee.

Invokes Blessing

Said the new president as he took office: "No speech is in order."

POOL PASSES ON IN BUS LINE FIGHT

Student Body Head Cites Isolation of Chapel Hill; Defends "Carolina Gentlemen."

Jack Pool continued the fight for an Atlantic Greyhound line through Chapel Hill in Raleigh yesterday. Pool cited the fact that, although approximately $10,000,000 have been spent in Chapel Hill and nearly $40,000 spent on roads leading to and from here, Chapel Hill is still isolated. He stated that the present bus facilities are "inconvenient, unsatisfactory and inadequate," and called the present service below the average.

"Carolina Gentlemen"

Major C. P. McClellan, attorney for the Carolina Coach Company, while cross-examining Pool, asked if it were not true that Chapel Hill students riding on the present Carolina Coach Company's busses from here to Durham were sometimes rowdy, and took signs and mats from the busses for their rooms. Pool retorted, "Sir, the students at Carolina are gentlemen."

Pool said last night in response to a question concerning the progress being made toward the securing of a Greyhound line through Chapel Hill, "I think that a bus will be routed through here."
