SENIOR SPIRIT "That's the d—dest shine I've ever seen," said many an undergraduate yesterday as seniors, in their jolly blue polo shirts, termed "senior regalia," wended their ways about the campus.

Well, maybe they are shines. But why not? Most Carolina students are so ruttled in traditional smugness that when blue polo shirts are worn, to designate seniors from their less-graduated student mates, they start beefing about "prep school stuff" and "fun for the kiddies."

Far be it from us to laud the polo shirts as sartorial wonders. Some of our seniors looked like wounded bluebirds in the regalia. But the spirit behind class consciousness, whether manifested in polo shirts or beer jackets, is undeniably sincere and creates a feeling of "senior brotherhood," in its own simple way, which is more often completely lost than otherwise.

GRAVE ERROR We erred in our reference to Davey Clark's misrepresentation concerning the NRA 7-a clause yesterday.

Mr. Clark did not insert a "NOT" in the 7-a clause when he ran it in his Textile Bulletin. He was much less in the wrong; he merely inserted a convenient "NOT" in the Winant report on the 7-a machinery which was given to the President.

Here's the way it ran: "The board does (NOT) feel that swift and efficient protection of the rights of labor in collective bargaining should be secured through new machinery."

The insertion made a lot of difference to the readers, we imagine. Maybe Davey's fingers slipped. He ought to sit on them.

HONOR ATHLETES When the work of the executive committee of the Monogram Club was reported last night, it was obvious that a new note in student self-government has been reached.

The Monogrammers have set up a system whereby they can maintain a high standard of sportsmanship in Carolina athletics. Instead of leaving the duty of selecting men who will wear monograms to the coaches, the athletes have taken it upon themselves to set certain principles which must be regarded before any monograms grace the breast of the athlete.

This is student government of the highest type. Initiative comes from within, from a personal responsibility to see to it that athletes, like all others, work and play with more in mind than vanity on the field.

This action should serve as a model for all undergraduate activities. It is not so much the purpose of the committee which we admire, because it is merely the honor system interpreted to fit athletics, but it is the spirit of responsibility in which the duty of maintaining the standards have been assumed.

Men deserve monograms as much for their sportsmanship as for their brilliance.

FLEECE WILL TAP TOMORROW NIGHT IN ANNUAL RITUAL

Outstanding Campus Leaders Selected According to Character and Achievement.

CLYDE HOEY IS SPEAKER

One of the most important events of Senior Week, the annual Golden Fleece tapping, will be held Thursday night in Memorial hall, with Clyde Hoey, likely Democratic candidate for governor, making the address of the evening.

At the tapping, which will take place at 8:30 p. m., some 10 or 12 students will be selected who are considered leaders in the major campus activities. Character and achievement are regarded as prime requisites for membership in the order.

Clyde Hoey

Clyde Hoey, the speaker, one of the most successful lawyers in the state, was editor and owner of the Cleveland Star at Shelby for 14 years, and has served as a member of the state legislature and as a representative to congress. It is regarded as significant that Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham, who made the Golden Fleece address last year, is also regarded as a certain candidate for governor.

The ritual of tapping is always very impressive, as with lowered lights, the members of the order move slowly up and down the isles, from time to time pouncing upon new men for selection. The honor society was established here in 1902 as the second oldest organization of its kind in the United States. Dr. Henry Horace Williams is regarded as the founder of the Fleece, which was fashioned after the Skull and Bones Society at Yale.

Fleece Members

Members of the Fleece now on the campus who were tapped last year are: Frank Abernethy, Jason of the order; Agnew Bahnon of University Club and Foreign Policy fame; Bob Drane, editor of the Yackety Yack; Lonnie Dill, ex-editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL; Joe Sugarman, ex-editor of the Carolina Magazine; Stuart Aitken, Alex Andrews, Ralph Gardner, and Simmons Patterson. Thor Johnson, director of the University of Michigan Little Symphony Orchestra which was received with such acclaim here last month, was also tapped last year.

The insertion made a lot of difference to the readers, we imagine. Maybe Davey's fingers slipped. He ought to sit on them.

UNRULY ATHLETES TO LOSE LETTERS

Monogram Club Will Punish Those Who Break Training.

Heated discussions on athletes breaking training were featured in a meeting of the Monogram Club last night in Graham Memorial.

Pros and cons that were both heated and heavy followed a motion that athletes who break training be stripped of their monogram awards. The motion finally was carried, and judicial power was granted the executive committee.

Charley Hubbard read the executive committee report in the absence of Charley Shaffer, chairman.

Among the committee recommendations, was one that bestowed service awards to athletes not quite deserving of the monogram honor. This award would be in the form of a chain or key with the individual's name and sport inscribed on the back. Those awarded this service medal would then be entitled to Monogram Club membership.

New members which were admitted at last night's meeting are: J. R. Edwards, J. R. Lottian, Jule Medynski, Max Novich, Joe Fisher, B. J. Webster, Bucky Harris, Billy Harrison, Marion Diehl, Lammie Alderman, Allan Bonner, M. C. Ward, F. L. Bowen, H. W. Gwyn, Wilbur Gholson, Frank Umstead.

PHI SMASHES BILL EXCLUDING CLARK

Assembly Advocates Bill Favoring Extension of Present Sterilization Laws.

After unanimously defeating a bill providing that David Clark be prohibited from speaking at the University, the Phi Assembly last night overwhelmingly passed a resolution inviting the Textile Bulletin editor to make a talk here.

Francis Fairley and Drew Martin, opponents of the prohibitory measure, based their arguments on the alleged fact that to suppress such a speech would be contrary to the liberal tradition of the University.

May Temper Clark

While discussing the resolution to invite Clark to speak here it was pointed out that a visit to the University might acquaint Clark with actual conditions and perhaps temper his caustic criticism.

Stuart Rabb told the Assembly that the American Liberty League, under whose auspices Clark has been invited, did not necessarily indorse all of the Charlottean's views. Rabb stated that Clark's visit might do much toward proving to the state that the University is far from being "a hot-bed of radicalism."

The Assembly advocated by a vote of 15-2 a bill favoring extension of the present sterilization laws to include all persons socially unfit.

ADVISORY ASSISTANTS

The following students were appointed yesterday by Jack Pool to act as special assistants to the Student Advisory Committee, to aid in a study of campus organizations and systems: Sam Leager, Irving Suss, Milton Kalb, Carl Thompson, Don Wetherbee, Jim Daniel, Morty Slavin, Jake Snyder, and Bob Page.

DI SENATORS BOIL FOR EX-MEMBERS IN HEATED SESSION

Attacks Center on Ericson as Senators Declaim Political Propaganda in Classes.

GRAHAM FAVORS TAR HEEL

The Di Senate put on a violent and heated show last night before a group of former members which included Attorney-General A. A. F. Seawell and President Graham.

Words flowed in a stream of unprecedented speed and eloquence, and feelings reached a new high as the Senate barely defeated the two most controversial bills that have been discussed on the floor this year.

Col. W. J. Andrews, president 44 years ago, who presided over part of last night's session, had the roll called on the resolution condemning the DAILY TAR HEEL for a policy of curtailing news about certain campus organizations and suggesting an investigation into the matter.

Attack Ericson

Centering their attacks on Dr. E. E. Ericson, Senators Mullen and Gibbes strongly declared themselves in favor of Senator Weaver's bill, "Resolved, that professors of this University hold to the subject they are paid to teach and refrain from spreading their political views in the classroom." No roll call of the close defeating vote was made, because Senator Eagles, who voted with the supporters, hastily moved an adjournment.

Senators Weaver, Gibbes, Williams, and their constituents did win one point last night in their defeat of Senator McKee's proposal that the Senate discuss and vote on his bill, "Resolved, that the Di Senate go on record as favoring the DAILY TAR HEEL and the policy of Editor Hammer."

The meeting opened with the presentation by Col. Andrews of the original constitution of the Di Society to President Rawls.

Vanished Glories

Mr. Seawell and Mr. Kenneth Gant, another former member, also spoke, recalling the vanished glories of the Di and uttering the hope that it might again reach its former position of prominence.

Asked by Senator McKee to state his opinion on the new policies of the DAILY TAR HEEL, President Graham said that the administration "is deeply interested in and grateful to the DAILY TAR HEEL for its investigation of many important problems," and that he considered its editorial suggestions very good.

"We need to improve dormitory life," he continued, "but the students themselves can do much toward remedying some of the bad features." He is in favor of social rooms in each dormitory.

COKER TO DIRECT SCHOOL

The Alleghany School of Natural History in Alleghany National Park, N. Y., opens for its seven-week term on July 5, according to Dr. R. E. Coker, director.

This school offers courses in botany, zoology, geology, and nature study, combined with a vacation in the state park. Dr. Coker says that the school attracts teachers, scout and camp leaders, and naturalists for the annual courses.

High Learning Stands Or Falls As Campus Brains Clash Tonight

McKee Appointed to Advisory Committee

Don McKee, University sophomore, was appointed yesterday afternoon to take the place of Phil Hammer on the Student Advisory Committee. Jack Pool, student body head, made the appointment following Hammer's resignation Monday afternoon.

Hammer will continue as ex-officio member of the committee, Pool acquiescing in the committee's recommendation that editors of the DAILY TAR HEEL be given such positions.

McKee is well known for his work as manager of the DAILY TAR HEEL news release to high and preparatory schools and has been prominent in other activities for two years. He will begin his work on the committee this afternoon.

Dance Bids To Be Distributed Today

Dance bids for the Junior-Senior dances to be held here this week-end will be given out to juniors and seniors at the Y. M. C. A. today from 9:30 to 11 o'clock and from 2 to 4 o'clock.

These bids will also be given out during the same hours tomorrow and from 10:30 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 3:30 o'clock Friday. No persons will be admitted to the dances by any other system of passes and all students who are due bids are asked to secure them as early as possible during the days mentioned.

A limited number of bids will be sold to members of the professional schools for $4.00 the set. Individual bids will be sold for $1.50 per afternoon dance and $2.00 per night dance.

Co-eds Discuss Radio Situation in Spencer

The recent radio situation in Spencer hall became the subject of a round-table discussion at a meeting of the co-eds Monday night. The co-eds were informed that the radio petition was removed by Mrs. Lee in order that it might be sent to Mrs. Stacy for consideration.

The group voted to send a representative from the dormitory to the meeting that has been called by Dr. Graham and Mrs. Stacy to discuss the affair.

Miss Bobbie Moore took over her duties as house president of the dormitory at the meeting, at which plans for a tea dance were also considered.

'Franklin Street' Wins $25 Prize for Alumnus

Bradford White, University alumnus and graduate student at the University of Wisconsin at present, has just been awarded first prize of $25 for the best poem of the year published in College Verse, a monthly magazine of college poetry.

White won the honor with his poem, "Franklin Street," which first appeared in the old Carolina Magazine last spring under the editorship of Don Shoemaker. Besides the cash prize, the poem also won a monthly award from the same magazine.

The judges in the contest were Professors Robert E. Spiller of Swarthmore; Sanford Salzer of the University of Oklahoma, and Garland Gruver of the University of Southern California.

Wave of Investigating Embraces Universities

Ivey and Lansdale Will Contend That Universities Debauch; Gaskins, Durfee, "No!"

CO-EDS WILL BE REFEREES

At last standing toe to toe with the most momentous question of American education, four campus intellectual leaders will debate the value of higher learning at 8:30 tonight in Gerrard hall.

Dedicated to the proposition that a University education leads to physical, mental and moral delinquency are Puckish Pete Ivey and Nelson Lansdale, scion of one of the better families of Maryland.

Opposition

Convinced by ponderous research in historical jurisprudence and sundry other pursuits that college education should not be investigated, Right-Winger Winthrop Durfee and Retreating-Editor Pat Gaskins of the Finjan are expected to attempt to divert the discussion into other channels.

"We shall attempt to prove that a University education is a colossal failure, a physical calamity, a mental frivolity, and a moral holocaust," declaimed Alfred Guy "Pete" Ivey to the press yesterday. "Sans mens in sans corpore, phoeey. Non compos mentis, et cetera usufruct, in toto, vice versa, nux vomica, E pluribus."

Cohort Lansdale, rumored to have drafted a roomful of campus intelligentsia to write his speech, amen-ed the above sentiments: "When I take the stump tonight, the University will be out on a limb and the opposition will be hacked. This will be a debate to end debates."

American Durfee

Ruffled by the back-handed gibes of the DAILY TAR HEEL's anonymous columnist Spartacus, Durfee asserted his position in the approaching fray: "I am for 100 per cent Americanism, the American Liberty League, the debate society and anything else that is safe and unrevolutionary."

Gaskins seized upon the vital issues of the controversy with: "When I get through telling those fellows a thing or three, they won't know their debates from a hole in the ground. Tell (Continued on page three)"

SENIORS TO ENJOY FREE FUN TODAY

Use of Game Rooms, Refreshments, Show Given Seniors.

Senior Week continues in full force today with free use of the game rooms at Graham Memorial throughout the day and a free show tonight at the Carolina theatre.

Opening at noon for senior use, the game rooms and the bowling alley will remain at their disposal until 10 o'clock tonight. Not only free use of the rooms will be accorded the seniors but refreshments in the form of punch will be served. Undergraduates are to be excluded from use of the rooms after noon.

Ending the day's program will be a free show at 11 o'clock tonight at the Carolina theatre for the seniors. The picture to be shown has not yet been announced.
