QUIT CROWDING One thing that is very noticeable in our campus schedule is that every once in a while we have five or six events listed for a single evening and then, like a business cycle, there is a period of little or no activity.

Take tonight, for instance. We'll have Rabbie Israel, Preacher Clark and a Student Entertainment presentation all within a few minutes of each other, or simultaneously. Besides that there are a few other meetings and random cracks at textbooks.

Our system of making engagements on the campus calendar is not very effective and results in much disorder and irritation. Some sort of public scheduling should be effected to avoid depressions and prosperities in our activities cycle.

BECAUSE OF "NOT" We had a wonderful time yesterday afternoon chasing files and wiring Mr. Clark over in Charlotte.

First, we found from the New York Times that our recent crack at Mr. Clark about inserting a "not" in the Winant report was false. So we wired him and apologized.

Not satisfied with the way the report read with the particular "not inserted, we did some more searching and found from the Daily News Record and the New York Herald Tribune that the "not" was not meant to be in the report and that the Times and Mr. Clark's editorial were wrong. Mr. Clark had one issue previous written the report correctly, but had inserted the "not" when he started editorializing the following week.

So we wired Mr. Clark again and told him his error. In the meantime we had written a public correction of our error and this had to be pulled from the linotype. It's a great life.

LATE AGAIN It's too bad that the Yackety Yack will not be out on time again. Last year the Queen City folks swore it would not happen again but now that they're tied up with a strike, it looks like the wrong people swore. It should have been us, and in a different tone.

Usually the printer says that it's the editor's fault when the annual doesn't hit the deadline. This time, at least, no such note can be introduced, as Editor Drane has hit the dates on the head each time.

The strike, so we understand it, came about because the Queen City printers wouldn't accede to the union's demand for a closed shop. Unaccustomed as we are to public spanking and believing that the printers ought to know their trade better than we, who only write bad stuff for them to print, we have naught to say.

Except that when a printer promises to hit a deadline and also promises to look out for his labor, he'd better do both when it takes only one stone to kill both birds, with good-will sauce to boot.

EMINENT SINGERS WILL PLAY ROLES IN OPERA TONIGHT

One Act Comedy, "The Secret of Suzanna," Closes Student Entertainment Season.

PROGRAM BEGINS AT 8:30

The Boston Chamber Opera Company's light opera, "The Secret of Suzanna," will close the current Student Entertainment Series tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial hall.

The opera, written by Wolf-Ferrari, the composer of "The Jewels of the Madonna," is one of the most popular of the one-act operas played in America. It has been such a favorite with opera audiences that it has long been included in the repertoire of the Chicago, Boston, and Metropolitan Opera Companies.

Eminent Cast

The cast of the opera is composed of several eminent artists. Miss Gertrude Ehrhart, the leading soprano, has acquired quite a reputation in the east, having been prima-donna with the Boston Chamber Opera Company since its organization.

Hudson Carmody, who plays the leading part of the Count, is a bass-baritone of some distinction. He recently returned from two years concentrated study in Europe to be the outstanding soloist in an all-Wagner program presented by Handel and Hayden of Boston.

The part of a mute servant gives Raymond Simonds no opportunity to display his fine tenor voice. However, he will be heard in the concert which is supplementing the opera.

The pianist of the group is a well-known Boston conductor, Willem Frank, who will also appear as a soloist on the concert program.

Capitalism Takes Stand; Whites And Reds Take Stump Tomorrow

Jewett Shouse Says "Bravo" to Defenders

Socialism to Come, Radicals Say; Only Violence Will Be Reacting Counter-Revolution.

"SOCIAL- OR BARBARISM"

Flexing their blades to attack and defend America's social-political order, Capitalism Assailers Arnold Williams and Capitalism Assailers E. J. Woodhouse and Winthrop Durfee in conference yesterday morning specified issues, thrashed out details, named the time and place:

Resolved, that socialism is the only hope for the American society (embodying the issues of private property and private profit), 17 minutes per speaker followed by questions from the floor, 8:30 tomorrow night in Gerrard hall.

"Bully for Right"

Evidencing extra-campus interest in the debate is the letter of Jewett Shouse, president of the American Liberty League, to Professor Woodhouse, congratulating him upon "taking up the cudgel for capitalism."

Representing widespread sentiments of revolt against America's traditional institutions will be Williams, revolutionary Socialist, and Wishart, extreme left-winger unaffiliated with any radical movement.

ENGINEERS FACE 3 MAJOR ISSUES

Three major actions are to be taken by the students of the engineering school in their meeting scheduled for tomorrow at 10:30 in 206 Phillips hall.

The first duty confronting the engineers is the election of next year's editor and business manager of the Carolina Engineer. The second function to be carried out is the awarding of keys to the "Engineer's" present staff and editor, Walter King. The third thing to be settled may give rise to some controversy, that is, the consideration of joining in the student entertainment series.

Historical Commissioner Newsome Is New History Department Head

Historian

Dr. Albert Ray Newsome, secretary of the N. C. Historical Commission and editor of the N. C. Historical Review, who has been appointed successor to Dr. R. D. W. Connor as head of the history department, subject to the approval of the trustees.

Dr. Newsome, formerly an assistant professor of history here, left the University in 1926.

Handbook Manager

Applications for the position of business manager of the Carolina Freshman Handbook may be made until 10 o'clock tomorrow, it was announced yesterday.

Applications may be turned in at the Y. M. C. A. office, to the president of the "Y," and to the new Handbook editor, Don McKee. All who intend to apply for the business managership are urged to make application at the earliest time possible.

The applicants will be interviewed by the committee at chapel period tomorrow in the office of the Y. M. C. A.

Life Saving Course

The newly formed University Examiners' Club is sponsoring a senior life saving course which will begin at Sparrow's Pool Friday at 4 p. m., it was announced yesterday by Lee Greer.

The club will meet every day at the same hour and will continue for a week.

The course is open to both men and women above 17 years of age; and special rates for the use of the pool have been secured.

The instruction in life saving will be under the direction of John Brabson, Bob Williams, and Vernon Ward, who will be assisted by other members of the local organization.

Freshman Smoker

The date for the freshman smoker has been tentatively set for Thursday night of this week. The smoker will be held in Swain hall where freshmen and their dates will consume salad, ice tea, and ice cream, and inhale free cigarettes to the strains of Billy Kanoff's Swain hall band.

It was learned from the committee on the smoker that Dr. C. C. Crittenden is to be asked to speak and that various deans and doctors will be invited.

Will Assume Duties Left by Dr. Connor

Secretary of North Carolina Commission Returns to Faculty After Nine Years.

TAKES OFFICE IN JULY

Dr. Albert Ray Newsome, secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission and editor of the North Carolina Historical Review, has just been appointed by the University of North Carolina to succeed Dr. R. D. W. Connor as head of the history department, subject to the approval of the trustees, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Connor resigned to become United States archivist. Dr. Newsome will come to the University in July to begin his duties here.

Since leaving the University in 1926 as an assistant professor in history, Dr. Newsome has won high distinction in state and national historical work.

Becoming administrative head of what is regarded as one of the best state historical and archival agencies in the United States, he has done an admirable and distinctive work in collecting and publishing state history. In this position he succeeded Dean Robert B. House.

All A's

Dr. Newsome received his education at the public school in Marshville, and later his A. B. degree from the University in 1915. While here he was president of Phi Beta Kappa with the remarkable record of all A's and a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. He held many other campus honors as an undergraduate.

After attending Columbia University in 1920 and 1921 he received his M. A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1922 and his Ph.D. degree in American history there in 1929.

As editor of the North Carolina Historical Review since 1926, and as secretary of the State Literary and Historical Association since 1926, he has been instrumental in a large measure for the establishment of the Mayflower Society Cup, an award for the best book of the year by a North Carolinian.

He was president of the national conference of Historical Societies from 1928-29, chairman of the public archives commission of the American Historical Association from 1932-34.

Infirmary

Those confined in the infirmary yesterday were: Henry Bluestone, J. B. Crawford, and J. B. Powell.

Textile Bulletin Editor Dave Clark Arrives Tonight For Two Speeches

German Club To Finish Quarter Tomorrow

Dr. Meno Spann will use pictures from Carl Schurz Memorial Foundations to illustrate his talk on "Lessing and His Type" tomorrow at the last meeting of the German Club this quarter.

The talk will be concerning the importance of Lessing in German literature, his contemporaries, and the poet's biographical and cultural background. Dr. Spann announced that election of new officers would be conducted. Charlie Lloyd is now president and Dr. Meno Spann is faculty-adviser.

This is the last meeting of the German Club this quarter, but the club will be continued during the summer at which time Dr. Spann will attempt to introduce the German ball game. "It is a hard and fast game," said Dr. Spann, "not like any of the English games."

ISRAEL TO SPEAK HERE AT 7:30 P.M.

Noted Jewish Theologian and Author Will Speak in Gerrard Under Auspices of "Y."

Rabbi Edward L. Israel, noted Baltimore theologian and author, speaks tonight in Gerrard hall at 7:30 under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Rabbi Israel has chosen as his subject for tonight "The Social Ideals of Hebrew Prophets."

As a profound scholar in economics, sociology, and religion, Rabbi Israel has written several books on social problems, among them "The Western Maryland Railroad Strike" and "The Centralia Tragedy." This eminent Jew is a former summer school lecturer here at the University.

Rabbi Israel is editor of "Bulletin of the Commission on Social Justice of the Central Conference of American Rabbis." He is contributing editor of "The World Tomorrow" and a member of the Har Sinai congregation of Baltimore.

Senior Invitations Will Have Novelties

Will Be in Nature of Scrapbook; Go on Sale Today.

Departing from the usual list of the class and program of commencement exercises, the graduation invitations this year will feature a history of the senior class.

The invitations, which will go on sale today from 2 until 5 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., are on the order of a scrapbook, telling the story of the class of '35 from the time it pensioned Negro Janitor Andrew Johnson to the recent Human Relations Institute.

The booklet contains pictures of the charter members of the University Club, the committee on freshman orientation, Memorial hall, the bell tower, and Graham Memorial, all structures completed during the period in which the class attended the University.

This is the first time that so novel a plan has been carried out in a class commencement program. All the projects which the class initiated, and the changes with which they were intimately concerned, are presented in the program in addition to the usual information.

Comes to Carolina For Liberty League

Charlottesville Asserts That His Attacks Not Levelled Against Whole University.

SPEAKS IN GERRARD HALL

David Clark, called "the enemy of the University" by those professors whom he terms "reds," will arrive in Chapel Hill at 6 o'clock tonight for two talks.

The Textile Bulletin editor will give the principal speech of the evening at 8:30 o'clock in Gerrard under the auspices of the local division of the American Liberty League. He will be introduced by Winthrop Durfee, president of the League here.

Clark will defend himself against the many attacks made upon him recently for his criticism of rampant radicalism at the University.

In a statement Friday, Clark asserted that his attacks upon radicalism had never been levelled at the University as a whole, but only at "that small group of professors and students who give the University a 'red' reputation."

"Not Radical"

Clark's defense will be in line with the first objective of the League here: "To prove to North Carolina and the nation that this University is not a hotbed of radicalism."

The Charlottean is expected to comment on the administration's stand against the textile industry and on the New Deal in general. A great many persons expect him to touch upon the much discussed Burlington dynamiting case, upon which he has spent much time in study.

There will be a 20-minute open forum after the speech in Gerrard, during which questions may be asked. Chairman Durfee requested yesterday, however, that those who ask questions "come to the point" and abstain from filibustering harangues.

Clark will also be present at a member meeting of the League at 7:30 p. m. in 215 Graham Memorial.

League members interested in securing reservations for the dinner with Clark in the Carolina Inn should see W. C. Durfee.

Grail Will Sponsor Last Dance of Year Saturday

Continuing the spring quarter dance series, the Order of the Grail will sponsor its last dance of the year Saturday night in Bynum gymnasium from 9 until 12 o'clock.

Freshmen will be admitted to the Freddy Johnson musicale at the regular $1.00 Grail door price, according to Treasurer of the Grail Simmons Patterson.

The dance will honor the new members of the Grail Order whose names will be announced tomorrow.

Pharmacy Heads

Dean J. G. Beard, Miss Alice Noble, and Professors I. W. Rose, M. L. Jacobs, and H. M. Burlage are attending the Winston-Salem convention of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association which started yesterday, continuing through tomorrow.

All except Miss Noble are to present papers before the scientific or dispensing section; she will serve as official reporter.
