PAGING A NEW DEAL

Our ex-class extension plan, under the new title of "Class Lecture Calendar," encountered remarkably little opposition on the faculty Thursday afternoon and is at last a reality.

There is no doubt in our minds that this plan will work out very successfully. Like all co-operative ventures, its success will depend on how both parties affected enter into the spirit of the thing. There won't be any chautauquism if the faculty assume their rightful responsibility; there won't be any student abuses of privileges if this part enter into it with the same assumption of responsibility.

It seems very appropriate that the Class Lecture Calendar will go into effect with the new curriculum. It looks like a new era in undergraduate educational experiences, and we are thankful that the students had something to do with the transition to better things.

The University Club rightfully deserved the student union's donation of $100.00 for use in next fall's freshman smoker. We remember our efforts last fall in trying to stir up a few bucks in the absence of any budget whatever and it was a similar gift that pulled us out of the dumps at the last minute.

We have advocated a split in the student union's fee to embrace the University Club functions and programs and it is possible that such an action will be taken sometime in the future. Until then, however, in such projects which are so directly concerned with student life as this smoker, it is the duty of the Graham Memorial directors to see that the club does not fail for lack of funds.

Graham Memorial undoubtedly should maintain some sort of surplus. But it should not neglect important present values.

Announcement that we will have three of the well-publicized "G" men here this summer to work in the Institute of Government's crime course is an appropriate one, inasmuch as North Carolina has been consistently "on the spot" in recent years concerning her law-enforcement brigades.

The New Deal in criminals has caused our federal authorities to do some broad revisions in their systems of apprehension. The New Deal criminal knows no state lines, is ignorant of few tricks, is a tough customer in a nation-wide backyard. Still, crime is essentially a local problem in that it must have a central point of attack. So the federal agencies, after stretching laws as much as they could to broaden their own field, have found it necessary to aid in improving the local units in their efforts to combat crime.

North Carolina has already taken steps forward in bettering its crime-apprehension service. Now if a few loopholes are closed up in the law, we ought to get some of these gangsters.

Student Advisers Complete Study Of Campus Student Audit System, Propose Nine Aids To Efficiency

Financial Board Adopts Eight Recommendations

Audit Board Responsibility Insured; Will Receive Full-Time Bookkeeper.

CHANGE TERMS OF OFFICE

The newly-appointed Student Advisory Committee ended yesterday a three weeks study of the University student audit system with the Audit Board's adoption of eight of the nine committee recommendations for improving the student audit set-up here.

The proposals of the Advisory Committee were submitted at a special meeting of the Student Audit Board, called by Student Body President Jack Pool. The recommendations were accepted by the board almost immediately and arrangements were made to put the proposals into effect.

The report was signed by Frank Willingham, Fred Weaver and Don McKee. Francis Fairley, student assistant to Comptroller L. B. Rogerson, also aided the committee in its work.

Proposals

The proposals of the Advisory Committee which the Audit Board favored putting into effect are:

"(1) The Student Audit Board should meet frequently at regular intervals, at least once a month.

"(2) The incoming president of the Student Body should appoint one student member of the board for a term of two years. This appointee should be a member."

Playmakers Cut Capers Tonight, Give 60 Masks

Eleventh Annual Jamboree Will Take Place Tonight at 8 with Dancing, Ale, and Cakes.

Defying profs (which doesn't mean Proff Koch) to do their worst in the way of examinations next week, the Playmakers will cut their 11th annual caper tonight from 8 o'clock on... and on.

The scene will be the Club Tareel, Ltd., and Proprietor Scotty and Master of Ceremonies Jonsey will present a program which includes the most famous Playmakers in the world.

Bing Vallee, Nini Theilade, Morton Crosbee, Rudy Downee, Johnny Walkeree, Ginger Rogers, George Raft, and Judge William Wang will be present to do impersonations of their more well-known brethren and sisters of the theatrical world, Bob du Four, Christine Maynard, F. P. Phil Parker, F. P. Hester Barlow, etc., and so on.

German Finals

The by now classic dancing on the stage, and the equally by now classic ale and cake will be the main attraction, however. An additional little touch will be the giving away free by Proff Koch of 60 Playmakers Masks to the outstanding Playmakers theatre hanger-arounds of the year.

The chief getterupper of the caper is Jonsey, known in court and Playmakers circles as Joe Brown, F. P.

Playmakers and former Playmakers are invited.

FERA Checks

FERA checks for the month of May will be distributed from the University business office today and Monday, according to an announcement from Edwin S. Lanier yesterday. Lanier said that the checks will be given out today and Monday only. All who wish to get their checks must do so on one of these days.

Soph Executives

The sophomore executive committee to serve for next year was appointed yesterday by Ramsay Potts, president of the class. Frank Gooding will act as chairman of the group.

The other members include Paul Wolfe, Joe Rachide, Joe Powell, Pete Mullis, Billy Seawell, Gene Bricklemeyer, Bill MacDonald, Earl Ruth, Lytt Gardner, Bill Holland, Charles Benton, Stuart Rabb.

Frank B. Rogers, Jr., Fred Parrish, Andy Bershak, Bob Ellison, Joe Patterson, Jimmy Coan, Tom Myers, Warren Haddaway, Stuart Leake, Cranmer Henderson, Claude Hobbs, and Kemp Nye.

Williams Reports $10,000 Drop In Student Loan Fund Requests

Reduction Caused By Federal Loans

Students Applying for Assistance Must Show Record of Financial Need.

MUCH MONEY RETURNED

After four nights of travail, hollow-eyed Jimmie Williams, manager of Student Loan Funds, in his yearly report presented yesterday to the Loan Funds Committee, reported an estimated $10,000 decrease in demand on loan funds this year due to FERA competition.

The report, which ran into noble dimensions, showed that of the 1,034 loans made to 541 students, approximately 95 percent of the money had been diverted straight back into the University and its auxiliary enterprises. Loans from the endowed funds exceeded collections by about $1,900, a much better record over last year, when loans exceeded collections by nearly $20,000. This differential was caused by the money poured into University channels by the FERA.

And 49 Cents

The total amount of money lent through the student loan funds this year, used only for payment of direct University expenses, was $58,244.49, including that lent on the Tuition Loan Fund. Collections amounted to $37,029.48.

Students applying for assistance from the University loan funds must show that they are in financial need, that assistance is not available elsewhere, that they are of good personal character, and that they are maintaining a scholastic average of C or better. Exceptions are made to the scholarship requirements only when it can be shown that there were circumstances which prevented the student from doing his best work. The applicant must secure two per-

LOCAL BUS TRIAL IS DELAYED UNTIL QUESTION ARGUED

Mayor Foushee Believes Possibility for Line Is "Toss-up."

Future developments in the bus controversy between the Greyhound Bus Lines and the Carolina Bus Company will have to wait until June 11, the entire question having been postponed to that date, according to Mayor Foushee of Chapel Hill.

No more testimony will be received by the hearing committee, since all evidence has been turned in by both companies. From now on it is simply a question of arguing the case by the attorneys of the respective firms.

Mayor Foushee seems to feel that it is simply a "toss up" as to whether or not the through route will go to the Carolina Bus Company or to the Greyhound Lines.

Unlucky Stoney

Absent George C. Stoney's name was pulled from the box last night at the Carolina theatre weekly prize drawing.

The prize this week was $30 and two cartons of Lucky Strike cigarettes. Since Stoney wasn't in the audience at the time of the drawing, the prize next week will be $45.00 and three cartons of cigarettes.

Liberty Leaguers To Get Together At Social Tonight

Plan to Preserve Old Institutions At Elite "Down with Everything Party."

All members of the local chapter of the American Liberty League are cordially invited to a "Down With Everything Social" to be held at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house probably at 8 o'clock tonight.

According to Local High Priest Winthrop Durfee, it is hoped that the affair will be a revival and not a passing out of the League. Cookies, and, for the more radical members, tea will be served as refreshments.

Although the committee in charge of the program has not yet been appointed, it is rumored that a very small part of the evening will be devoted to a detailed resume of the notable work and progress of the organization.

Contributions or donations to mollify the expenses will be gratefully received, it was announced yesterday along with the announcement of the party (Republican).

Durfee expressed an earnest hope that more than one member would be present as he "can't drink all the tea and eat all the cookies alone."

S. P. E. PLEDGE

W. M. Albright of Greensboro was recently pledged Sigma Phi Epsilon, it was announced yesterday from the office of the dean of students.

History Of Our 'Blue And White' Began Under Di And Phi Leadership

Blue and White—our Carolina colors. We associate them almost entirely with gridiron contests in the fall, and athletic events throughout the year. Yet do we realize that the combination originated first at commencement?

The story goes that the Di and the Phi were the first to claim the separate colors in the days of their complete campus domination. Di members sported light blue and those of the Phi wore white on festive occasions.

But the chief marshal at commencement, chosen alternately from the Phi and then the Di each year, conceived the idea of wearing the two colors in combination, to designate his representation of the school as a whole. It later happened that the practice spread to athletic contests.

These same colors will be sported next week by W. M. Dey, chief faculty commence-

S. A. E. GETS DEKE TROPHY

The Patterson Memorial award, considered one of the highest honors that can come to a University athlete, was presented to Harry Williamson last night at the annual Awards Night program held in Memorial hall.

The award, which was presented by Dr. Charles S. Mangum, was won last year by Virgil Weathers.

Dr. Archibald Henderson in making the awards address urged the audience to keep on breaking records and striving for the high attainments in life activities. "Coach Bob" Fetzer congratulated the winners of awards and urged the audience to remember the unsung heroes who never make the headlines.

Digressing for a while from the business at hand, the program committee injected a bit of levity into the occasion when Jimmy Fuller and his orchestra, featuring the melodic voice of Boxer Jules Medynski, entertained with an interlude of syncopating rhythm.

The feature of the evening from the standpoint of fun came with the presentation of Roy Armstrong's "Sack, Sack, Sack," a dramatic hill-billy presentation starring Professor "Bill" Olsen and his wife, Pete Ivey. These stellar performers were assisted by Villain Spike Saunders, Hero Lewis, and the beautiful daughter, Professor Richmond P. Bond. Sacks House, Bradshaw, and Snavelly, lurking behind the curtain, were integral parts of the play.

S. A. E. monopolized the fraternity awards winning the Deke Scholarship Award, the Interfraternity Council Award, and the Interfraternity baseball plaque.

The Grail awards were presented as follows: Intramural cup, Charles A. Poe; freshman
