Sports Staff Missing After Brilliant Guess On Big Baer Massacre

The Twentieth Century Boxing Club takes great pleasure in announcing the victory of Joseph Louis over the sports staff of THE DAILY TAR HEEL.

All the world has paused in its moments of great trial to cheer this dusky athlete who rose fantastically from the cotton fields of Alabama to a contender for the heavy-weight crown. But nary a cheer goes to our expert sports staff which surpassed poor Max Baer, who took the worst beating since Hector was a pup.

Baer stood up under a terrific beating for 11 minutes and 50 seconds; our sports staff is still taking a beating. Even Ira Sarason, who meekly ventured to say that if a knockout were given, Louis would give it, is still looking glum.

Lee Turk was last seen crouching in a corner, his fists raised belligerently, and crying out "One, Two, Three, Four . . ." And Lester Ostrow! He hasn't even been seen! Rumor has it, however, that his body was seen hung high on the Davy Popular.

After listening to our sports-ter's second-guess, we raise our voices in admiring exultation to Dr. English Bagby, who, by the black magic known only to psychoanalysts, received in the mail yesterday morning a crisp one dollar bill.

Attached to the bill was a bit of black crepe.

MRS. WILSON IS IMPROVING AFTER RECENT ACCIDENT

Mrs. W. L. Wilson, librarian in the botany department and wife of W. L. Wilson, a member of the English department, is reported to be improving as well as can be expected at the Moore county hospital following a serious automobile collision near Southern Pines last week.

Lane Barksdale, student assistant in the botany department and another party in the car, returned to his home in Greensboro yesterday after receiving treatment for minor injuries.

MUSIC PROGRAM TONIGHT

A program of request music will be played each Thursday evening, starting today, from 7 to 9 o'clock on the Capehart phonograph in the Choral Room of Hill Music Hall. Everyone is invited. Requests should be turned in at the Music Department each week by Wednesday noon.

The program this evening will consist of Beethoven's String 2, and a group of vocal solos from Romantic composers.

PHARMACISTS GET NEW LABORATORY

Howell hall will be the scene of pharmaceutical jubilee a fortnight from now when "B. C." Mr. Council's laboratory gift to the pharmacy school will be ready for occupation. Mr. Council (inset), a Durham alumnus of Carolina, provided the necessary $2,000.00 for the construction of the new dispensing laboratory which will give senior pharmacy students modern individual prescription counters on which to work. Installation of the dispensary system began this summer. Only the plumbing work remains to be completed. Professor Ira W. Rose will direct the laboratory.

LIBRARY WILL GET BULL'S HEAD SHOP IN EARLY OCTOBER

Executive Committee Believes Library Can Operate Shop Better Under Low Overhead

RENTAL FEATURE KEPT

Librarian R. B. Down's proposal to rescue the Bull's Head book shop from extinction or relegation to a corner in the Book Exchange last night met the approval of administrative officials and the unhappy lounge will find its new retreat on the ground floor of the University library.

Transplanting the stock from the old Y. M. C. A. home to the Library Extension department is scheduled for October 12th. Until then, therefore, book-salace-seekers will still find their haven in the "Y" building.

English department's Dr. G. R. Coffman and his Bull's Head committee with "Y" secretary Harry F. Comer reached a final decision after several days of uneasiness when it was first reported that the Bull's Head was either going out entirely, or into the bustling Book Exchange.

This decision was made on the belief that the Library could operate the of late financially slipping book shop in a more efficient manner due to the abolition of overheads that are recurrent in its present location in the Y. M. C. A. building. Proposed recently was a plan to incorporate the Bull's Head in the Book Exchange, but the committee decided on the Library since the shop would then retain its name and individualities.

Keep Rental Shelf

Librarian R. B. Downs stated that the Library would take over the present stock of the Bull's Head and would supplement it with a number of new titles. The rental feature of the book shop will be retained in the Library. A room in the Extension Division of the Library will be cut off. While not as large as the present room it will be adequate for all needs. One drawback lies in the fact that

Graham's Aids

New Freedom

Answering the challenge of the present generation's "new freedom," President Graham pointed out the "moral sovereignty of the body, which can not be disregarded."

In conclusion, the President told the freshmen: "You come to a place free, but you come with a responsibility, and you come to a place with traditions and honor."

no smoking will be allowed due to the possible fire hazard.

Assistant Controller L. B. Rogerson, who put his foot down on the present money losing financial condition of the book store, approved the shop's exodus to the Library. The financial beauty of the Library plan lies in the presence of competent attendants who are familiar with books but who will cost the shop nothing, since they are on the Library Extension Staff. It is expected that better service and satisfaction will result from the change because the purchasing will be under the wing of the University Library, with all of its prestige.

Much to the relief of many interested persons, Librarian Downs hopes to continue the Bull's Head's Tuesday afternoon readings which have been so successful in the past. The vacant room that will be left at the "Y" building will probably be used as a sophomore cabinet meeting place and lounge similar to its mate across the lobby.

The Bull's Head originated as a project of the English department under the direction of Howard Mumford Jones, then head of the department. When the shop was moved to its present site it was still in the red several thousand dollars and since that time has never fully recovered, though the Book Exchange which owned the stock from the beginning managed to keep Miss Elizabeth Johnson here as director last year.

CONCERT SOPRANO TO SING IN WINTER FOR PHI MU ALPHA

Gladys Swarthout to Appear Here, Has Brilliant Stage, Screen and Radio Career

METROPOLITAN ARTIST

Continuing its local musical program this year, as in preceding years, by presenting another one of America's most outstanding and popular concert artists, Alpha Rho chapter of Phi Mu Alpha will bring here sometime this winter Gladys Swarthout, mezzo-soprano of opera, concert, radio and screen. Miss Swarthout, who has been for the past few years one of the leading artists of the Metropolitan Opera company and one of the most popular artists of concert and radio, recently began her screen career.

Her first picture, "Rose of the Rancho," is scheduled for its New York premiere early in November. She is now working on her second picture.

In "Rose of the Rancho" Miss Swarthout is supported in the leading role by John Boles. Others included in the cast are H. B. Warner, Charles Bickford, Charlotte Granville, Willie Howard, Grace Bradley, Herb Williams, Minor Watson, Don Alvarado and Louise Carter.

New Picture

Oscar Hammerstein II is the author of her new picture entitled "Give Us This Night," the musical score of which was composed by Eric Korngold, Viennese composer imported from Europe by Paramount. Jan Kiepura, making his debut in American pictures, will play opposite Miss Swarthout.

In December the operatic star will begin her sixth season at the Metropolitan Opera House. A concert tour, supplementing her operatic appearances, will include Syracuse, Mount Vernon, Dartmouth College, Hartford, Orlando, Kansas City, Pawtucket, Columbus, Lansing, Dallas, Providence, Chapel Hill, and Milwaukee.

Smith Award

E. Carrington Smith has donated a plaque that will be awarded to the unit which has the highest number of points. The name of each girl who is a member of the winning unit will be engraved on the plaque. The individual athlete who has the most points will receive a bracelet.

Another feature of the new system is mixed doubles in tennis. A manager will be selected for each sport and each unit will elect an assistant manager for the various sports.

Football

(Continued from page three) will have their hands full with Franklin & Marshall. "The Diplomats" lost but a single encounter last fall and boasts a big and powerful aggregation.

Holy Cross, always a thorn-in-the-side to the old dictates of eastern gridiron play, meets Providence. Carnegie Tech, after a very disastrous 1934 season, starts anew against a strong Case combine. Navy swings into action against William & Mary and should have little trouble in beating the Williamsburg team, which, last week, played a 0-0 tie with Virginia.

We Eat Dirt

We also did not intend to appoint the new Y. M. C. A. executive committee. But to give the devil his due, we did get one man correct. The committee, headed by Billy Yandell as chairman, is composed of Bob Magill, T. P. Yeatman, George MacFarland and Jack Spruill instead of Jack Pool, Phil Hamner and Frank Willingham. Forgive us, gentle readers.

Student-Faculty

(Continued from first page) Student-Faculty Day was held last winter for the first time, and was generally conceded to be a tremendous success. Plans for this year's celebration, the date for which will be decided soon, will begin immediately.

Freshman Exams

All freshmen who have passed advanced algebra and elementary trigonometry in accredited preparatory or high schools will be given a special examination in these subjects Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in room 206 of Phillips hall, according to Dr. Archibald Henderson, head of the mathematics department.

Grisette's Job

(Continued from page one) The North Carolina program will not be operated on a profit basis, all of its benefits going to members of the organization. The Duke Endowment has made a grant to cover operating expenses.

Since the inception of the idea Dr. Isaac H. Manning, for 30 years Dean of the University Medical school, and Graham L. Davis, an executive of the Duke Endowment, have been the leaders in the movement, both touring Europe studying similar movements. Admission of members to the association will probably be permitted this fall.

Dormitories

The lower quadrangle was originally equipped with the moulding, and officials realized that to protect the beautiful surface of the recently painted walls in many dormitories, it would be imperative to provide some means for hanging pictures other than the primitive method of laying hold of the nearest hard object and beating a nail in by brute force.

Tennis

Archie Henderson, who pulled a major upset when he trimmed Barney Welch, Public Parks Champ, at Pinehurst last spring, is at present a greatly improved stylist and appears to be headed for the top of the tennis ladder in the competition this fall.
