BRIDGE TOURNAMENT PRIZE WON BY WILSON

Contrary to the opinions of campus cynics concerning the bridge tournament last Thursday night, the affair was such a success that the sponsors are contemplating a second in the near future.

The tournaments are being sponsored by Graham Memorial and directed by Harold Steadman for the benefit of the Pearson hall fund.

At Thursday's game the players were about equally divided between students and townspeople in several tables of progressive contract. Hugh Wilson, a student, was high scorer in the face of rather keen competition, carrying off the prize.

"Y-ers" Hear Zimmermann, Russell, Dalton

JUNIOR-SENIOR

"In a sense I am an internationalist, in another I am a nationalist," Dr. E. W. Zimmermann, eminent economist and member of the University faculty, said last night in his opening remarks before the Junior-Senior "Y" Cabinet.

Making a distinct impression on the assembled cabinet members, Dr. Zimmermann, who won the distinguished Mayflower cup in 1933, spoke on the subject, "World Resources and International Affairs." He declared that he had lost faith, that world brotherhood will be much slower to take form now since the World War.

Intimating that the Versailles treaty and the creation of Czechoslovakia was the first world agreement touching on nationalism, Dr. Zimmermann asserted, "The Versailles Treaty was the apex of the war. It took centuries for nations to assume their present form and I am afraid it will take them centuries to change their forms and attitudes toward nationalism," he said.

SOPHOMORE

Opening his preliminary remarks before the sophomore cabinet last night, R. Phillips Russell, campus pacifist leader and University representative to Geneva last year said, "the situation between Italy and Ethiopia today is analogous to that of Japan in Manchukio a few years ago."

Unless some relief for the world unemployment and other serious economic conditions is found, the speaker intimated that all of the powers might become involved. With respect to this country's participation, Russell declared that "if the President does not declare an embargo on our arms and resources, there is a great possibility that the United States will be drawn in."

President Bob Magill discussed organization of a large delegation to go to the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. conference to be held at Duke next Sunday the purpose of which is to discuss the method for carrying out the great southwide student peace program which is to be inaugurated this year. Warren Haddaway, chairman of the Boy's Work committee announced the appointment of Bob Perkins to head in an advisory capacity the Hi-Y clubs in Chapel Hill.

Mac Smith, DAILY TAR HEEL news editor and sophomore "Y" leader was appointed chairman of the cabinet program committee in last night's session by President Magill.

FRIENDSHIP COUNCIL

Black-haired Bob Dalton led a very animated discussion on "Personality versus Alibity" at the Freshman Friendship Council last night. The attendance was the largest this quarter.

During the business session Ellis Bullins was appointed head of the Deputation Team committee; Ben Dixon, chairman of the Social Committee; and Jim Joyner, head of the group to collect rent for the colored women under their care.

Ten boys were chosen to attend the Peace Conference to be held at Durham next week. Advisers for the local high school Hi-Y club were named. The members discussed plans for the Older Boys Conference which will be held at Durham.

Leavitt Attending Washington Session

U. N. C. Spanish Professor Represents Learned Societies

Sturgis E. Leavitt, professor of Spanish, is in Washington attending the second general meeting of the Pan-American Institute of History and Geography as the delegate representing the American Council of Learned Societies. The Institute will continue through Friday.

The various committees, which are made up of prominent men from all parts of the United States, will cooperate with similar national committees in the 20 republics of Hispanic America in the forwarding of geographical and historical studies in the New World.

Talking Turkey

pick was plenty close. If I recall correctly you said Carolina to win 28-0, and that's about as close as any of us dared to guess.

COMMON GOSSIP

Grantland Rice, world-famed sports commentator, in a recent article proclaimed the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina as the only logical eastern choice for the Rose Bowl game. . . After State's overwhelming defeat of Wake Forest last Saturday night, Raleigh papers praised the Wolfpack saying that they were the best team in the South, bar none. . . Duke and Rose Bowl come in one breath when students of the Durham school start talking. . . It seems that at present our State is housing three of the foremost southern grid outfits.

CORPENING WINS IN VOGUE AWARD

Student Picks Maryland Score And Takes Plain Necktie

Sixteen hundred guesses were recorded in the Vogue Men's Shop necktie contest, but only one person was sufficiently expert in prognostication to win a prize. Bill Corpening, the sole guesser to predict a score of 33-0, selected for his pains a plain and sober necktie.

One of the unusual features of the contest is that several aspirants for a tie were in ignorance as to what team the Tar Heels were playing. Among those teams thought to be opposing the Snavelymen were Washington, Virginia and Baltimore.

The second closest guess was a forecast of 34-0 while the third closest was 33-7. Predictions ranged from scores of 6-6 to 40-0. Only three prognosticators picked Maryland to win.

In addition to awarding prizes for correctly forecast scores, the Vogue offers a necktie for each touchdown a player might make. The prizes for the Homecoming Game, with Georgia Tech, have not yet been selected but will be of greater value than ever before.

...but, after all is said and done, it's the cigarette itself that counts

...the question is, does it suit you?

Now, when it comes to a cigarette that will suit you... you want to think whether it's mild, you want to think about the taste

That Chesterfields are milder and taste better is no accident...

The farmer who grows the tobacco, the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder, every man who knows about leaf tobacco will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobaccos to make a good cigarette.

In making Chesterfields we use mild ripe home-grown and Turkish tobaccos.

Outstanding
.. for mildness
.. for better taste
