

Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Students First In Fraternity Scholarship

Sigma Deltas Second In Greek Competition For Grades Last Year

Fraternity Average Leads General University Average Last Year by .17

PI BETA PHI LEADS FIELD

According to an announcement by G. K. G. Henry, assistant registrar of the University, S. A. E. led the fraternities in scholastic standing for the last school year. Sigma Delta, local lodge was a close second with D. K. E. taking third place.

Actually, Pi Beta Phi sorority led the group, and had the sororities been considered, Chi Omega would have displaced D. K. E. for fourth place. Others in the top list were Z. B. T., T. E. P., Phi Kappa Sigma, Delta Psi, and Chi Phi, listed in the order of their grade standing.

Fraternity Average

The fraternity average was above the academic average for the school at large by .16 points.

S. A. E. led its nearest competitor by .06 points, but itself trailed Pi Beta Phi by .17 points.

Only nine fraternities were below the academic average as compared with the 16 rated above.

The averages for the spring quarter, just released, show D. K. E. as the most studious fraternity for that quarter, with S. A. E. taking second place, and Delta Tau Delta, a dark-horse, taking third place. Just as in the years' average, Pi Beta Phi had a higher rating than any fraternity by .17 points, while D. K. E. led by .09 points in the all-fraternity race. The spring fraternity average was .15 above the academic average of the school.

Each year the scholastic averages for fraternities and the campus at large are compiled and recorded by the University. For some time the fraternity average has been higher than that of the student body as a whole.

Carter Gives Eye Witness View Of Russia's Communistic State

University Student Tells of Recent Visit to Soviet Nation; Can Now Speak Language

You may not be convinced that Soviet Russia is a utopia, that you had rather live in the land of socialism-in-the-making than in a country trying to repair capitalism, and you may not become a socialist or a communist on the spot after talking two hours with Payson Carter, Chapel Hill citizen and University graduate who has just returned on a visit from the land of the Soviets, but you will definitely have your cranium cracked enough to allow the light of a more sympathetic and clear understanding of that country, wrestling with a mighty metamorphosis, to filter in and alter the color of some of your dyed-in-the-wool ideas.

And you will of necessity have come away with an insufficient understanding. Carter will have talked steadily for two hours in his quiet, sincere way, stopping now and then to refill and light his pipe, and still you will have just scratched the surface of the

German Club Elects Four Dance Leaders

Myers, Montgomery, Skinner, and Sprout Chosen to Head

The German Club at last Wednesday's meeting elected dance leaders for the fall and mid-winter sets of dances.

Tom Myers will act as leader of the sophomore hop to be given on Friday night of the fall set. He will have as first assistant Bill Carr with Leroy Percy acting as second assistant.

The leader of the fall Germans on Saturday night will be Harry Montgomery. Joe Fletcher was elected first assistant and Albert Neal was chosen second assistant.

During mid-winters, Louis Skinner will be leader of the junior prom on Friday night. The first assistant will be Sam Neaves; the second assistant is Ben Carlisle.

On Saturday night, Jimmy Sprout will be the leader of the

FORMER TAR HEEL LAUDED BY 'STATE'

Praises Eleanor Bizzell Now Attending Pulitzer School

One former DAILY TAR HEEL worker at least is making good in the maza city of New York this year. Eleanor Bizzell, co-ed desk man in 1934, is headed for big things according to Aline Hughes, Gotham commentator for Carl Goerch's "The State."

Miss Bizzell is attending the Pulitzer School of Journalism for the second year, which is an accomplishment in itself, since only 10 were allowed to remain to receive their master's degree out of her entire class.

As the only North Carolina reporter at the Hauptmann trial, she covered the famous case for the Goldsboro News Argus, her home town paper, and even now finds time from her 31 hour schedule to do a weekly column for it. Besides these activities she free lances for various other papers.

TEACHERS ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING

Several Members of Faculty Attend Annual Meeting

Several members of the University staff are in Charlotte today attending the annual meeting of the South Piedmont District teacher's meeting. Outstanding educators of North Carolina and of the nation will appear on the two day program of the convention.

The University is being represented on the program by Howard K. Beale of the history department, who will speak on "Freedom of Teaching." Mr. Beale has written a book on this subject and is therefore especially qualified to speak to the group.

There will also be Mrs. Irene Fussler, secretary of the Carolina Dramatic Association, who is going to speak before the English teachers' section on "The Enrichment of Life Through Dramatic Arts."

Mrs. Corinne McNeir, field representative in art of the extension division, is going to meet a group of the Charlotte Women's Club representatives to plan an art institute to be held in Charlotte during the year.

Director of the Extension Bureau R. M. Grumman, and E. R. Rankin, head of the bureau of high school debating and athletics, will also be present at the meeting.

LOCAL PWA WORK CONTROL SHIFTED

PWA Divisions Complete Examinations of all Approved Applications

Dr. Herman G. Baity, State Director of the Public Works Administration announced yesterday that the engineering, legal, and finance divisions of the state PWA offices have completed examinations of all approved applications for federal funds, and that with few exceptions, the offer of the Government to furnish funds, either through loans or grants, has been placed in the hands of the applicants throughout the state.

"The success of the PWA program in North Carolina—that is, the speed with which men can be put to work, now depends largely upon the expedition of the applicants and the release of funds by the Controller General and the Treasury Department of the United States Government," he

Two Thieves Pilfer Graduate Club Phone

Coin Box Containing Paltry Sum Ripped from Wall

Tearing the telephone off the wall of Smith building early yesterday morning, two boys escaped with the coin box containing what was estimated at three or four dollars.

According to Phi LeBaron, manager of the Graduate Club, the residents of the first floor had all retired when, at about 1 o'clock, they heard the robbers. Before anyone could get to the scene, however, the thieves had escaped in what was described to police as a "model-A Ford."

Telephone robberies are not new in this locality, according to the Chief of Police, who recalled several similar occurrences last year. The robbers, however, were apprehended soon after.

PEP RALLY YELLS ASK FOR VICTORY

Woodhouse Assured That Team Is Guaranteed Success Today

The determination to "Beat State" was demonstrated in last night's spirited pep rally which began in front of the post office under the leadership of Cheerleader Ostrow and his assistants.

A lustily cheering group accumulated as the Chapel Hill fire truck led the parade to the front of South building by way of Cameron avenue, where the University band opened with "Hark the Sound."

After several cheers for the team had been given, Charlie Hubbard, president of the Monogram Club, gave an encouraging talk amid outbursts of cheering from the crowd. Then followed several more cheers for Coach Snively and the team.

The main speaker was Dr. E. J. Woodhouse. Boisterous cheers greeted his final statement that Carolina was assured of victory in this hardest game of the season with the support of the school spirit.

The group then sang "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf" and "Split It for the Team."

After cheers for Tennessee, Duke, and State, and exhortations by the cheerleader, the pep rally came to a close, with each student stirred by the determination to "Beat State."

SERIES WILL BRING DANCE TEAM HERE

Miriam Winslow will Appear November 14 on Student Entertainment Program

A youthful vitality and originality of appeal characterize the dancing of Miriam Winslow and her cohorts, who appear here November 14. Miss Winslow will be brought here by the Entertainment Committee as the second attraction sponsored by that organization this year.

Miriam Winslow is a young American artist who is dancing her way into the favor of the most critical audiences. "Her's is the poetry of motion, ever eloquent with inspired feeling," says one commentator.

Youthful Start

Born in Beverly, Mass., her family moved soon afterwards to Boston. Asked how she got started on her dancing career, Miss Winslow replied, "Well, I have been dancing ever since I

"Y" Now Distributing Student Directories

Students Not Receiving Copies May Get Them at "Y"

The 1935-36 Directory of the University and City Directory of Chapel Hill is now being distributed through the Y. M. C. A. It lists the students, faculty, administrative and clerical staffs of the University, along with a complete City Directory.

Each room on the campus proper is entitled to one Directory. Fraternity houses may have three. Business establishments and households of Chapel Hill and outskirts are entitled to one each. All rooming houses are supplied with one, but can have additional copies if needed.

Students who do not receive their copies may get them at the information desk in the "Y" lobby.

Association Moves To Save Two-Year Medical Schools

DR. MacNIDER

Dr. William deB. MacNider who has returned from the meeting of the American Association of Medical Colleges at Toronto where he delivered a paper on the teaching of Pharmacology from the standpoint of the examiner.

STATE NEWSMEN TO CONVENE HERE

Annual Newspaper Institute Meeting Set for January

The opening date of Chapel Hill's 11th annual Newspaper Institute has been set for January 22, 1936. This date was decided upon at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the North Carolina Press and of the University committee.

Representatives of the University at the executive meeting were O. J. Coffin, head of the journalism school; R. M. Grumman, head of the extension division; R. W. Madry, head of the University news release; T. S. Howard, assistant extension director; and Walter Spearman, latest addition to the journalism school.

The group has planned a unique program, which includes speeches by a number of well known editors, publishers, and advertising men who will be invited.

CAMPUS KEYBOARD

One of the main bases upon which the relative merits of dormitories and fraternities are judged is that of scholarship. The statistics on last year's academic showing of the student body testified that the fraternity average is considerably higher than the dormitory average.

As we have mentioned before, this is usually not the case in other schools. North Carolina is the only college in the southeast where the Greeks show a better scholastic standing than the all-campus average. Yet there are some very interesting views about the local situation which might help explain the phenomenon outside of a purely comparative and material approach.

The local fraternity system is so deeply imbedded in the history and tradition of the University that it has come to represent for many alumni the shibboleth of Carolina undergraduate life. Back in the old days the fraternities were an aristocratic bunch whose members wouldn't think of speaking to a dormitory man. But this has changed.

Medical Association Asks Reconsideration Of Council's Action

Action Follows Council of Medical Education Proposal to Close Two-Year Schools

GRAHAM ATTENDS SESSION

The first active step again recent condemnations of two-year medical schools has been taken by the Association of American Medical Colleges in Toronto according to a statement made yesterday by President Frank P. Graham, just returned from the meeting.

The step requested the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association to reconsider its action of October 2 which recommended that all two-year medical schools be closed by 1938.

Reduce Physicians

It was generally conceded at that time that the threatened abolishment of short term medical schools was intended to reduce the number of physicians entering the field by increasing the cost of medical education.

After taking a decided stand against the proposal of the Council, Dr. Graham planned to attend the recent Toronto conference and personally put in a plea for the two-year schools. He was accompanied by Dr. W. deB. MacNider, Kenan professor of pharmacy of the University and President Thurman D. Kitchin and Dr. C. C. Carpenter of Wake Forest, whose medical school was also threatened.

Graham Says

In a statement to the DAILY TAR HEEL last night, Dr. Graham said, "We are very much encouraged by the action of the Association and very hopeful about the coming action to be taken by the Council on Medical Education at its Chicago meeting on December 8.

The resolution aimed at the Council's stand against short term medical schools throughout the country read, "The secretary
