Despite State Paper Opinion
Friday's Trustees' Session
Looks Like Graham Victory

Following the trustee meeting Friday, we had occasion to say that Dr. Graham won something of a personal as well as a University victory during the day's proceedings.

Our reason was this. Alumni petitions from all over the state were piled up waiting for him in Raleigh, with bearers, said petitions and bearers demanding a change in the Graham athletic proposals. The alumni were present to force the trustees into taking action against the proposals.

Well, the trustees did no such a thing. They referred the matter back to Graham and the faculties of State College and the University for "further consideration and action."

In other words, they said, in effect: "You go ahead, you and your faculties, and act as you see fit." The state papers threw headlines around that the trustees had asked Dr. Graham to reconsider his plans. Maybe they did, but they left it up to him for final action, and if they knew Dr. Graham as well as they should have by that time, they would have guessed that he would have no changes to make.

The state papers said, too, that the trustees would have defeated the Graham plan if they had voted on it. They even had the Governor quoted to that effect.

But to us that doesn't seem very significant. The fact remains that they didn't vote, but left final action up to Graham. And another fact remains that Dr. Graham got about everything he asked for at the meeting except immediate action on consolidation, which he probably didn't want as much as people seem to think.

Deferring consolidation and making it a special order for the June meeting can be interpreted two ways. It can mean that the anti-Graham gentlemen were gunning for him in June and wanted to get the forces, particularly the athletic forces, lined up. It can also mean that the trustees tacitly agreed to the present system of working out consolidation procedure, so no action was necessary.

In our opinion, there won't be any athletic question by June. The Southern Conference will be operating under the Graham plan by then. And once the tidal wave of athletics is removed, opposition to Graham himself will be pretty well dislocated. There are plenty of people who still don't agree with consolidation, of course. But it's not the kind of issue that athletics is, or "liberalism," upon which the anti-Graham forces can ride with gusto.

Graham's Athletic Plan Backed By Faculty Vote

President Secures Decision of 80-40 After Long Session

Controller Woolen Presents All of Previous Resolutions on Proposed Regulations

QUESTIONS ARE ANSWERED

The faculty yesterday afternoon in a special four-hour session backed Dr. Frank Graham's athletic proposals by a 2-1 vote, 80 members voting in favor of the resolutions which Dr. Graham and five other conference presidents drew up, and 40 voting against.

Dr. Graham presented the proposals in person and then answered all questions directed to him on the floor. He then retired.

Alumni Opinion

C. T. Woolen, controller of the University, read resolutions in full from all alumni bodies which had acted on the proposals. Following a lengthy discussion which carried the session up until 7 o'clock a vote was called and the proposals endorsed.

The faculty of State College will hear Dr. Graham present his proposals this afternoon and vote on them following the presentation.

Dr. Graham will journey to Richmond tomorrow for the interrupted session of the Southern Conference, where the proposed plan will be discussed and acted upon by representatives of member institutions.

TRABUE EXPLAINS EMPLOYEE PLANS TO RAILROAD MEN

Education Head Addresses Chicago Meeting of Railroad System

Mr. R. Trabue, director of the division of education of the University, addressed a luncheon meeting yesterday of the executives of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad system on the "Transfer and Training of Employees." The meeting was held in the building of the Union League club of Chicago.

His talk included discussion of other personnel problems with special attention to certain results of the nation-wide Occupational Research program which he is directing from the Department of Labor in Washington.

Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington railroad, became interested in these research findings through a report made by Professor Trabue at a recent meeting of the American Youth Commission. Mr. Budd is an influential member of a commission of which Newton D. Baker is chairman. Owen D. Young is chairman of the executive committee of the commission and Professor Trabue is a member of its technical staff.

Before returning to Chapel Hill next Saturday, Professor Trabue will confer with a number of organizations in Milwaukee and Cleveland, from which the commission has received applications for funds.

Student Council

Finishing all but two of the hearings on cases in the cheating ring activity, the student council yesterday suspended two more students.

Considering only seven cases, the council acquitted two others, while three students whose cases were to be tried were not in school.

The cases of only two more students are left to be heard. These students have been temporarily absent. Their cases will be heard on their return.

To date, there have been 48 suspensions, 22 acquittals, and 31 cases in which the defendants were not in school. In the latter instances, the defendants cannot return to school until they appear before the council to answer charges.

PHI-MEN ASK VOTE ON SPORTS POLICY

Assembly Would Like Student Poll on Matter; Di Senate Discusses Honor System

Expression of student opinion on President Frank Graham's athletic policies was asked by the Phi Assembly last night in a resolution recommending to the student council that it submit the matter to the students of the University for approval.

The assembly also passed unanimously a resolution commending former Student Body President Jack Pool for the service he contributed to the honor system by asking his own suspension for a violation in his freshman year.

Committee Appointed

A committee was appointed to investigate methods whereby the honor system can be improved. The committee is composed of Winthrop Durfee, chairman, Stuart Rabb, and Ted Britt.

A bill calling for open party conventions to be held by all political factions on the campus to select candidates for student offices was defeated by a vote of 14 to 7.

Swain Hall Matter

The chairman of the Swain hall committee reported that since the trustees has not acted for the re-opening of the eating place, at their recent meeting, the assembly would sponsor a delegation to present their petition to the governor of the state. This delegation will be composed of both assemblymen.

Juniors, Seniors

The Junior and Senior executive committees will meet jointly with their class dance committees at 7:30 tonight in 212 Graham Memorial.

It is important that all members be present. After the business of the meeting is finished, Yackety Yack pictures will be taken.

ORCHESTRA PLAYS SYMPHONIC MUSIC IN SERIES TONIGHT

Minneapolis Musicians Offered On Student Entertainment Program at 8:15

TO BE IN MEMORIAL HALL

Tonight at 8:15 the student entertainment series will present the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, in Memorial hall as the second attraction in the series for the winter quarter.

Because of the fact that practically all seats are taken by students, and season ticket holders, very few non-ticket-holders will be able to gain admission. No one will be seated during the course of a number. Late comers will have to wait till the end of the opening number.

Mixed Chorus

More than 30 years ago the Philharmonica club, a mixed chorus, was considered the leading representative of Minneapolis' musical pretensions and under the direction of Emil Oberhoffer it gave four concerts a year. However it needed the support of an orchestra.

It occurred to Mr. Oberhoffer that Minneapolis, young as it was, might go futher in the matter of providing music for the city. Elbert L. Carpenter was of the same mind, so he called a few friends together and they contributed 10,000 dollars a year for three years to form a permanent orchestra. And so the Minneapolis Symphony was born.

Auditorium

A few years ago the Northrop Memorial Auditorium was erected on the campus of the University of Minnesota to serve as a central rallying place for university activities. It is here that, owing to a series of unforeseen circumstances, the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra has found

Van Cise, Anne Bagby Give Weekly Program Over Durham Station

Freshman and Psychology Professor's Daughter Perform Over Radio

Stanley Van Cise, 19 year old University freshman, and Anne Bagby, daughter of Dr. English Bagby, are performing on a radio program over WDCN every Tuesday at 7:45 p. m.

At Christmas Van Cise, who has sung over WABC with Ted Black's orchestra, got a letter of introduction from George M. Durante, his teacher, to WDCN, the Durham radio station. An audition was arranged.

Miss Bagby, a friend of Van Cise and known locally as a pianist and composer, acted as accompanist.

The audition was a success, not only for Van Cise but also for Miss Bagby. The two were put on a weekly 15 minute program, which includes four songs by the young baritone crooner, accompanied by Miss Bagby, and one piano solo by her. Van Cise's

Tribunal Moves To End Hell Week Practices Here

Resolution

The complete text of the student council resolution prohibiting hazing is as follows:

"The student council hereby prohibits hazing in any form by any student or any student organization and will consider as a violation any physical violence or other unwarranted indignity to the person (such as has often been the customary practice during fraternity and honorary society initiations and activities.) This offense may be punishable by suspension in the case of an individual student and revocation of charter in the case of an organization."

Coming as a surprise to the campus, the council's resolution followed its cheating probe.

TRIO WILL SPEAK AT HOLIDAY FETE

Dr. Howard Rondthaler, President Graham, Francis Fairley Talk Student-Faculty Day

Student-Faculty Day begins Thursday morning, February 13, at 10:30 o'clock with a morning convocation at which Dr. Howard Rondthaler, president of Salem College, will be the principal speaker.

President Frank Graham and Francis Fairley, acting president of the student body, will also speak at this time, according to Jake Snyder, chairman of the student-faculty committee.

Exhibits by every University department and by some of the extra-curricular activity groups will be open all day. For the convenience of visitors special guides will be furnished.

Food for Thought

Lunch will be the main factor in bringing the students and faculty together, with teachers and scholars dining together.

Open house will be observed in the dormitories and Spencer hall from 2 to 4 o'clock and in the fraternities and sororities from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Stunt Program

After dinner, at which time the students will again entertain the faculty, the evening will be devoted to a program of stunts. Prepared by Jane Ross, president of the Woman's Association, this convocation will feature

Freshmen

Freshmen will meet with individual advisors today during chapel period. Meeting places and advisors as follows: S. A. Emery, Di hall (New West); M. A. Hill, Memorial hall; E. L. Mackie, 206 Phillips; H. K. Russell, Phi hall (New East); C. P. Spruill, 111 Murphey; H. R. Totten, Davie hall; W. L. Wiley, 103 Bingham.

Student Violators Will Be Suspended By New Regulation

Action Comes as Surprise to Campus; New Policy will See Trustee Ruling Enforced

CHARTERS IN JEOPARDY

The student council yesterday afternoon moved to abolish all hazing on the Carolina campus.

In a special resolution, the council made it known that from this time forth it will prohibit all "physical violence or other unwarranted indignity" by any student or groups of students in initiations, Hell Week procedure or other bug-bears of neophytes.

The council's action came as a surprise to the campus, a pleasant one to many students who have been agitating for some time to abolish Hell Week and all other forms of hazing. It was announced without any previous expression of intention by the council following its action after finishing the cheating cases.

Sources of Power

The council's power to abolish hazing in any form comes from two sources. There is a specific trustee ruling prohibiting hazing, which ruling has been turned over for enforcement in large measure to the council by the faculty, in whom its enforcement was originally invested by the trustees.

And in the maintenance of the

EXTENSION GROUP TO GIVE SUMMER COURSE IN MUSIC

All-State High School Session will be Offered in Summer School

Designed to give boys and girls of high school age the opportunity for an intensive study of music, an all-state high school music course will be offered here during the first term of the summer session, June 11 to July 22.

According to R. M. Grumman, director of the University extension division, which is sponsoring the course, high school band and orchestra players from all sections of the state are invited to enroll. Instruction will be given in music theory and appreciation and there will also be individual lessons and training in ensemble.

The staff of instructors will include Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the University music department; Earl A. Slocum, professor of music here; Christian D. Kutschinski, director of music at State College, and J. Harris Mitchell, supervisor of instrumental music in the Durham public schools. Elizabeth Wilson, head of the violin department at the Raleigh State School for Blind and Herbert R. Hazelman, instrumental teacher in the Durham schools will also serve on the teaching staff.

The minimum cost of the complete course will be a single fee of $50. This will cover the cost of board, room and tuition.
