"The open air of public discussion and communication is an indispensable condition of the birth of ideas and knowledge and of other growth into health and vigor."—John Dewey.

KEEP IT INTACT

When bad weather conditions necessitated the postponement of Student-Faculty Day a couple of weeks ago, arrangements were made to carry out the original plans at some time during the spring quarter. The exact date was later set at April 8.

The postponed Student-Faculty Day will resemble the one planned for the winter quarter in every respect except the date. The entire program has been shifted bodily, and exhibits are being carefully preserved so that as little of the preliminary work as possible will have to be done again.

It is important that those participating in the exhibits for Student-Faculty Day preserve as much of the original work as they can. But it is even more important that the pervading spirit which typified the feeling regarding the holiday before its postponement be carried over to the later date. It is the preliminary groundwork and the constant laboring that make a Student-Faculty Day possible in the first place, but it is a spirit of co-operation and enthusiasm which eventually determines whether it is highly successful or merely mediocre.

LEAP

This twelvemonth is the year 1936 anno domini. Now when the last two digits of a year are divisible by four, it is leap year. Four into 36 goes nine times. So this is leap year.

Every fourth year old father time gets out of step with the metronome of the universe. To keep the sun on the right track and from falling out of the universe, man has to find an extra day from some garbage heap and tack it on to the regular 365 days. The rhyme has it that February has only 28 days, but on leap year mankind saddles it with the extra addition of sunlight.

This Saturday is the extra day—that odd 366th that has no place on our regular calendar. But on leap year day womankind reigns supreme.

What we want to know is: What are the Carolina co-eds going to do about it?

There are no dances scheduled this Saturday to entertain the men. No one has the monopoly around here on playing post office. If something does not happen, Saturday will be the most dull and fun-less day this quarter.

Women have always boasted of their power to take the initiative. This is woman's year. Saturday is her day. What are the Carolina co-eds going to do about it?

PRACTICAL TRAINING

Early this month economics students, desirous of forming some contact with the business world, formed a commerce club.

Last week students interested in politics revived the Carolina Political Union, dead since shortly after its inception here last year. For a similar purpose the American Student Union was formed here.

This fall individuals interested in the ministry organized an informal discussion group to discuss questions in regard to religious work as a life career.

The co-eds, mindful of their place in the society of tomorrow, joined in bringing a branch of the Y. W. C. A. here.

Publications, dramatic and musical organizations have existed for some time on the campus to give students practical training in these fields.

The University offers no training in vocational guidance. The trend of student organizations during the past year indicates the desire for some such practical training in the selection of careers.

Literally

English Bagby was on the point of putting up his Psychology 22 hour quiz Friday. The first question he read out loud.

The class stirred with disapproval and Mr. Bagby "gave up." He'd tried to be fair and straight to that class. He'd tried to give them good quizzes. He didn't know what the trouble was. Would anybody who was dissatisfied after seeing the whole quiz kindly turn in their paper with only the name and address.

Everybody enjoyed the remarks and had just about settled down to work 10 minutes afterwards when out of the back of the room: "Did you want local or home address?"

Oblivion

Freshman Dweller in Old East Sam Hobbs confesses that he's the most "extinguished" person on the campus.

He also says he can't follow Emerson's advice about hitching your wagon to a star. He hasn't got any wagon!

Heaven's My Dest.

All this chatter about campus politics has sadly neglected one field which should certainly be investigated. We happened down to the Episcopal church one Sunday last month and there were four A. T. O.'s taking up collection!

Supporting Gesture

Delta Psi Nick Read was holding sway at the organization meeting of the American Student Union Thursday night. A lull in the discussion and Chairman Irving Suss pointed out that no one had seconded a motion that had been under fire for several minutes.

"I second it," sang out Nick. "I'm sorry, Mr. Read," snapped Irving; "I believe that it is your own motion on the floor!"

Manifest Destiny

Kindly looked upon by fate was one football player Van Webb. On the same day last week he became 21 years old, received a long distance telephone call from Miami, a wire from Raleigh, his monogram in varsity football, and the vice-presidency of the senior class. . .

Scoop

Diminutive smart man, Joseph Sugarman, blew into town over the weekend while he was off duty from his Patterson Press. The New Jersey paper, according to Joe, is "up and comin'" and the boy's got a pretty good position.

Not long ago the Press got wind of a dripping political scandal in a neighboring town. Pencil in hand, Sugarman was sent out to get the "inside."

Joe says he was at a loss as to whom to approach on such an issue, until he finally hit upon the high school superintendent. A visit to the superintendent convinced Joe that the scandal was being sealed up, the man was non-committal. Almost ready to leave the high school, Joe happened to mention the south. . .

The superintendent perked up! "Yes," said Joe, "I just came up from the south. I graduated from North Carolina last spring."

Immediately the teacher pounced upon him. He'd finished here about 1914. . .Did Joe know so and so? . . .How was Francis Bradshaw. . .

Joe got the inside on the scandal; he scooped all the other papers in the vicinity. . .

Graham Plan

to represent the institution on an intercollegiate athletic team who holds any scholarships, loan or job not within the control of the institution unless such award to him has been approved by the respective faculty committee on scholarships, loans, or jobs, such awards to be included in their regular reports with names, amounts, and rates of pay as provided in section b (3).

e. Any athlete who lends his name to commercial advertising or uses his game tickets for profits or holds a sinecure job or receives more than the regular rate of pay, or does less than regular work or accepts the advantage of any counterfeit bet or other material subterfuge or receives any of the aforementioned awards of scholarships, loans, jobs, or other material aid on other than the above specified terms is ineligible to represent the institution in an intercollegiate contest.

II

To help the candidate and this committee to interpret his and their obligations of honor on the basis of responsible information the faculty committee on eligibility shall, in advance of competition, require of each candidate for competition in any sport, a detailed statement in writing of the amounts and sources of his financial earnings and income received, or to be received during the college year including the previous summer, from others than those upon whom he is naturally dependent for support. In case any question arises with regard to the implication of this statement, the matter shall be referred to the executive committee of the conference for decision.

III

a. No student shall be eligible to membership on any varsity team representing the institution until he has completed a full year's work at the institution to the satisfaction of the faculty, is making regular advancement to the satisfaction of the faculty and is in good academic standing at his institution as determined by the faculty.

b. No student who is on scholastic or conduct probation or its equivalent is eligible to represent the institution in an intercollegiate contest.

c. Any student may regain his eligibility by removing his delinquencies but a student who has twice withdrawn from college on account of delinquencies cannot regain his eligibility.

d. All these scholarship requirements shall in advance of competition be certified to by the appropriate officer as fulfilled by all members of the team representing the institution.

a. No member of the athletic staff or physical education department shall have anything to do with the award or promise, directly or through an agent, of any scholarship, loan, job, or other financial or material aid to an athlete or prospective athlete.

b. In accepting a position as a member of the athletic staff, physical education department, or any official connection with the management or supervision of athletics, the directors, coaches, managers, member of the physical education department, and athletic committeemen and councilmen accept an obligation of honor actively to exert their influence to discourage any unfair or questionable recruiting by alumni, students or other persons.

c. No member of the athletic staff or physical education department shall receive for his services or for any athletic purpose any money or other valuable consideration except through the college authorities.

d. Hereafter the athletic director and coaches shall be chosen and their salaries fixed by the president or on the recommendation of the president by the board of control (e. g. Trustees, Regents, Visitors) according to the custom of the institution.

In accordance with the procedure of any institution, the president may if he so desires, have the benefit of the advice and the recommendations of responsible administrative officers, the faculty committee and the athletic council.

a. Every candidate for an intercollegiate team shall after careful explanation of all the eligibility regulations and their implications of honor by a member of the faculty committee on athletics, declare orally to this member of the committee and in writing for the record upon his honor his eligibility or ineligibility under each separate regulation.

b. Each member of the athletic staff, faculty committee on athletics, and respective managers, shall in writing upon his honor certify his own adherence to all the regulations and to the best of his knowledge the eligibility or ineligibility of every member of the athletic team that represents the institution.

c. It shall be the obligation of administrative and athletic officers and of other interested members of the college or university staff to interpret continuously to students and alumni through meetings and publications their personal and institutional obligation of loyalty and honor not only to observe the athletic regulations but also to do all in their power to win from others their sincere observance.

d. If there should be any bona fide information involving the ineligibility of any member or of any candidate for any athletic team in the conference, such information should, as a matter of duty, be given to the chairman of the faculty athletic committee for the consideration of the committee.

VI

a. All athletic accounts shall be audited regularly by a certified public accountant.

b. These accounts shall be available as certified in their entirety for the public press and shall be published in the student newspaper.

VII

Any member institution which through its responsible officers, committees or representatives violates or connives at the violation of any of the athletic regulations of the Southern Conference shall, by a majority vote be dropped from the Conference, and shall not be restored to membership in less than two years, and then only on a favorable vote of two-thirds of the membership.

Extracts from "Rules of Eligibility of the Southern Conference Supplanted by the Graham Plan."

Rule 9. Compensation.

(a) No person who receives any compensation from his institution for services rendered by way of regular instruction shall be allowed to participate in any intercollegiate contest.

(b) No person shall be permitted to participate in any intercollegiate contest who has ever used his knowledge of athletics or his athletic or gymnastic skill for pecuniary gain; a specific exception is made in the case of any student who has worked in connection with a playground or a summer camp where the requirements do not call for a man with technical preparation in physical training.

(c) No athlete who is the beneficiary of any loan fund, scholarship, or fellowship, that may not be held by the other students in the institution shall be eligible for intercollegiate athletics.

(d) All scholarship and loan funds for which athletes are eligible must be administered by the officer or committee of the member institution administering such funds.

Extracts from "Special Rules of the University of North Carolina."

It is the duty of the Faculty Committee on athletics to inquire into the athletic record of the applicant and it shall be the duty of the applicant to appear before the committee and answer on his honor such questions as the committee may see fit to ask.

It is the duty of the Faculty Committee on Athletics to require a pledge in writing of the applicant, certifying on his honor that he has never accepted, directly or indirectly, remuneration, compensatory gift, valuable consideration, or promise thereof for his athletic services. The applicant must satisfy the committee that he is in the proper and strict sense of the word an amateur before the committee indorses his application.

It is the duty of the director of athletics, the members of the coaching staff, the president and the treasurer of the Athletic Association, the members of the Athletic Council, the director of the gymnasium, and the captain of the team concerned to furnish the Faculty Committee on Athletics, on request, a statement to the effect that each member of an athletic team is above their suspicion as to his eligibility to represent the University as an amateur before such player shall be allowed to take part in any contest.
