I SEE... By the PAPERS

By IRA SARASOHN

Our last venture in the art of procrastination—or is it prognostication—was rather unsuccessful and we are still haunted by it. Nevertheless, here is an attempt to pick winners in contests that the officials often miss. Who can forget the famous decisions rendered by Ally Wolfe last year? His job is one we'd rather not have because unless a fight ends in a knockout the decision of the official will always be rebuked. Mr. Wolfe probably called last year's fights the way he saw them, and no complaints have a right to be registered.

In the featherweight division, a field of eight men are entered. Eutsler will probably represent the Tar Heels as Murnick has still not recovered from the effects of his recent sickness. Eutsler is handicapped somewhat by the shortness of his arms. If the stocky Carolina captain should be fortunate enough to meet stocky men in his weight instead of lanky lads, he stands a good chance to go through to the finals.

Bill Shores will probably find his chief opposition from the undefeated Jack Kneipp of Duke and from Webb of Maryland. Although Webb beat Shores in the dual meet with Maryland it was by the closest of margins. "Tiger" Shores was probably the most surprised man in the Tin Can when Referee Miller awarded Webb the verdict. Shores had landed telling punches but had not garnered enough points to get the decision.

Probably no division has as much good material as the 145-lb. class. Among the stars in that weight are Joe Fisher, Ivan Nedomatsky of Maryland, and Golden Glover Danny Farrar of Duke. Although Farrar is conceded the best chance to walk off with the crown, either Nedomatsky or Fisher are apt to give him plenty of trouble in doing so. Farrar will not find it as easy to knock out these two boys as he has found his other opponents all season. The Duke man has knocked out every opponent he met this season and the question being raised is how he will fare when he is unable to win by his favorite route.

Least crowded of all the divisions is the 155-lb. class. Carolina's representative is what we regard as the "dark horse" of the tournament. Tall, blond-headed, Edmund Taylor towers above his opponents and possesses a wicked overhand punch. During the past week of practice, Taylor seems to have developed his chief offensive bid and should give such stars as Wilton Mann of Duke, Mike Lombardo of Maryland, and Marion Harlow of Virginia, plenty of trouble. If the Carolina entry fails to connect with his downward punch, it seems to us that Lombardo stands the best chance to win.

Max Novich is one of Carolina's best hopes for a Conference championship. He is scheduled to fight in either the 165 or 175-lb. class. In the lighter of these divisions he will probably have his toughest opposition.

Either Joe Murnick or Captain Ernie Eutsler will represent the Chapel Hill team in the 125-lb. class. Murnick is also entered in the 135-lb. class along with Bill Shores.

Joe Fisher and Jack May are entered in the 145-lb. class while Taylor and also Fisher are entered in the 155-lb. class. Edmund Taylor will be eligible to fight in the 165-lb. class along with Novich. Max Novich and Marvin Ray are Carolina's lone entries in the 175 and heavy-weight classes, respectively.

State Withdrawn

The bantamweight division is the only class in which the Tar Heels will not compete. An original field of 55 was reduced to 50 when the entries from State College were withdrawn because of illness.

State's entries were Martin Bazemore, featherweight; Glenn Penland, lightweight; Captain Seamon Hudson, welterweight; Ralph Powell, middleweight, and Al Edwards, heavyweight.

Pairings were made at Charlottesville yesterday afternoon and the first round of the tournament is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

DEKES, OLD WEST WIN COURT TITLES

Chi Psi and Mangum Lose as Intramural Basketball League Champions are Decided

Outscoring a game Chi Psi contingent in every period, D. K. E. concluded a sensational drive that fully earned for them the fraternity intramural basketball championship yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can as they turned aside Chi Psi by a 35-24 count.

Immediately after the Chi Psi-D. K. E. championship game, Old West took the court against the defending champions, Mangum, and proceeded to blast them off the court as they displaced the former title-holders by a 29-11 margin.

First Period Spurt

Holding Chi Psi to a lone tally in the first period, D. K. E. assumed an 8-1 lead in that quarter as Moore and Montgomery scored two baskets each. Willis started the second period with a two pointer for D. K. E., and Foreman scored Chi Psi's first field goal after 10 minutes of play.

Hagey and Atwood tallied for Chi Psi as the last half got underway to bring the score up to 21-11. The Dekes then went on a scoring splurge that saw Willis and Moore combining in a great bit of team play to give D. K. E. the edge 30-11 as the quarter ended. With D. K. E. inserting new players in the final period, Chi Psi proceeded to show a bit of scoring power as Hagey and Foreman tallied to bring the final score to 35-24.

Willis and Moore divided the

GRAPPLERS PRIME FOR TOURNAMENT

Tar Heels Impressive in Davidson Win; Conference Tourney to be Held at V. M. I.

Coach Quinlan gave his varsity wrestling team a well-earned rest yesterday as a reward for their fruitful efforts against the scrapping Wildcat team Wednesday night.

Although the score of 20-18 was uncomfortably close on the score books, the Tar Heels looked competent enough to back up the appellation of being the best in the State. Davidson presented a stronger lineup against the Tar Heels than they did against State and Duke earlier in the year but it was to no avail.

Good Bout

Carolina's Williams was thrown for the first time this year when he ran up against Wildcat Blackwelder in the 165-lb. class. The latter regularly holds down the 175-lb. post, but was moved down for this meet and proved himself to be one of the best wrestlers that the Carolina squad has competed against this year.

SENIOR GIRLS WIN CLASS CAGE GAME

Defeat Junior Co-eds 45-34 to Win Class Championship

The senior co-eds defeated the juniors 45-34 in the final game of the class tournament to crown the seniors champions with a record of no losses in the games played. In the fastest moving game of the season the senior team, composed of Mary Pride Cruikshank as center, Jo Oettinger and Anna Cowles, forwards, and Frances Caffey, Hester Campbell, and Anne Baker, guards assumed a lead of about 10 points which was not threatened seriously by the junior sextet after the third quarter. Jane Ross and Nancy Lawlor also helped carry the seniors to victory.

Phantoms Take Lead In Big Five As State Falls Before Attack

Nelson, Ruth, and Mullis Lead Carolina's Scoring Spree in Final Minutes of Play

TO MEET V. M. I. TONIGHT

By Fletcher W. Ferguson

Raleigh, Feb. 27—Carolina virtually captured its third consecutive Big Five basketball crown here tonight as it came back in the second half to defeat N. C. State 31 to 29 before a capacity crowd of 4,500 fans.

State led for practically the entire distance, holding a 20-15 advantage at half time. However, the Phantoms were not to be denied and with brilliant shooting by Nelson and Pete Mullis in the closing minutes of play, came through to victory.

Berry High Scorer

Connie Mack Berry, the Pack's great center, led the scoring with 13 points, while Nelson, definitely back in form, was runner-up with nine. Earl Ruth followed with eight.

State led the play the entire first half, Dalrymple and Womble continually setting up long shots for the massive front post men to follow. Carolina received a severe jolt after only 10 minutes of play, when Andy Bershak was forced from the game on four personals.

The final 10 minutes were as thrilling as any fan could hope for. State was out in front by a 24-16 margin. Two fouls by Kaveny and a one-hander action shot by Mullis brought Carolina to 20. Berry scored his final points of the game as he followed up Flythe's long shot.

Behind by six points, Carolina kept fighting—and fighting hard—as Nelson paved the way. Two successive fouls by Dalrymple on Nelson gave the Tars 22. The brilliant forward then added three more as he made good a field goal and being fouled while
