NO ANIMOSITY

To the editor,
 The DAILY TAR HEEL:

Isn't there any way to shut up this wrangling of Irving Suss about Nelson Lansdale? I have no particular affection for either of these gentlemen, but I am getting tired of them airing their private feelings in public. It's bad enough to have to listen to it on class and in every campus meeting where the two are present—or where Irving is present—without having to read it in the papers. We will admit that Nelson made a mistake in his wording of his ad in the Sunday paper, but does Irving Suss think that he is God Almighty to correct all faults and ridicule those who make them?

The columns of the DAILY TAR HEEL should be for things that interest the campus at large, and not for personal animosities. Please do something about him!

Perhaps the reason that Washington is the noisiest city is due to the fact that there is too much moving of feet around on the desks.

Large Audience Hears Nino Martini At Duke

Operatic Tenor Renders Light Concert Songs and Arias

Nino Martini, lyric tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company gave a recital last night in Page auditorium, at Duke, before a large audience.

The program consisted largely of light concert-songs and operatic arias. Among the composers represented on the program were Handel, Lalo, Meyerbeer and Strauss.

Miguel Sandoval, pianist, accompanied Martini on the piano, and played two of his own compositions.

The concert was given under the auspices of the Music Study club. Martini's services were secured through the treasurer of the Metropolitan as a special courtesy to his daughter, Miss Helen Lewis, who is a member of the Music Study club at Duke.

Greensboro Druggist Talks To Local Rho Chi

Roger Duffie Tells Drug-Students of Merchandising Biological Products

Roger A. McDuffie, president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical association and member of the State Board of Pharmacy, delivered a talk on "Biological Products" Wednesday in the Howell hall auditorium.

Mr. McDuffie, speaking to the pharmacy students, dealt with practical problems to be met with in a modern drug store and laid particular stress on the merchandising of biological products.

A graduate of the class of 1915, Mr. McDuffie is now a pharmacist of Greensboro.

Rho Chi, honorary pharmaceutical society, which sponsored the talk, held an informal smoker for the speaker after the lecture.

If either forgets its functions and gets into competition with some of the other groups on the campus, the inevitable result will be that which befell the original Carolina Political Union last year when it fell into the hands of a designing competing organization and was promptly submerged and eventually sunk into oblivion.

Regan is also a radio and screen singing star. Talbot is the leading man in the film.

Intramurals

(Continued from page three) scoring honors for the newly crowned fraternity champions as they garnered 13 markers each. Foreman and Hagey again carried the bulwark of the Chi Psi attack as they dropped in eight and 10 points respectively. D. K. E. showed entirely too much power for the Chi Psis as they swept up and down the court to take the title.

Mangum Dethroned

Coming out against a highly touted opponent, Old West pulled a mild upset as they trounced Mangum dormitory to take the championship in that division by a 29-11 count. Little and Davenport paced the Old West quintet as they rolled up 17 points between them, with Little racking up nine markers and Davenport eight. Craver chalked up seven markers to score all but four of Mangum's total.

A long shot by Little after one minute of play gave Old West the needed impetus to carry on to a win. Bell and Little tallied again for Old West before Craver scored Mangum's initial two-pointer after six minutes of play in the opening period. Parker, Little, and Davenport tallied in quick succession while holding Mangum scoreless to give Old West a 13-2 lead as the quarter ended. The play speeded up in the second period as Mangum seemed to find themselves and the score at at halftime found Old West in the van by a 22-6 count.

The second half was a low scoring affair with Old West concentrating on their defense as they felt victory close to them. Two baskets by Davenport and one each by Bell, Simpson, and Craver gave Old West the ball game 29-11.

Old West showed a strong offense with a fast breaking defense that should be difficult for D. K. E. to solve when the two teams meet Monday night for the campus championship.

Nine Deputation Men Will Appear In Dunn

House and Comer to Join Group Sunday to Assist with Program

The nine-man deputation team, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. cabinets, that left the campus yesterday afternoon, will continue their schedule of program giving throughout tomorrow and Sunday at Dunn.

Today the group will present seven programs at various public schools and at a Parent-Teacher association meeting and at a son and daughter banquet given by the Dunn Rotary club.

Tomorrow the cabinet members will give short talks and a musical program to groups of seventh grade boys. Tomorrow night the Y. M. C. A. deputation team will meet a Dunn team in a basketball game.

Dean R. B. House and Harry F. Comer plan to join the group Sunday in order to speak at the special young people's service at the Dunn Methodist church.

Community Club

The Chapel Hill Community Club will meet in the Episcopal parish house at 3:30 this afternoon. Dr. Carl Fussler will address the group on the subject, "Physics in the Modern American Home." The lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides.

Basketball

With only five minutes of play remaining, Berry made his fourth foul, pushing Kaveny as he went down the floor. Kaveny missed and State quickly worked the ball up the floor. Womble scored on a rebound after he missed a long one to keep State out in front 28-25.

Nelson Again

Nelson again rose to the occasion, taking a tap under the basket and coming through with a beautiful one-hander. Ruth then swished the nets from the side to send Carolina out in front for about 30 seconds, as Aycock tied it up with a foul.

Mullis ended the night's scoring as he took a pass on the side from Ruth and sent the ball clean through the nets to make it 31-29. Only 30 seconds of play remained, but there was plenty of thrilling action left.

McCahren made his third foul, but Womble missed the chance. The Tars then tried to stall, and in an effort to get the ball away from Webster, Dalrymple made his fourth foul with only 26 seconds to play.

Webster missed both shots and State took the ball, Aycock getting a foul shot with only five seconds to go. The Red Terror leader missed, and Nelson grabbed the ball off the backboard and slung it down the far end of the court as the game ended.

Absolute truth is something we seldom approach and never attain.

SAND AND SALVE

By STUART RABB

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

With the words of Eugene "Little Kingfish" Talmadge that "There ain't gonna be no extra session of the legislature," farmers in the flue-cured tobacco belt of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia gave up hope for controlled production and good prices for this season. In Washington, delegates from the three states have been meeting this week trying to dope out a plan to replace the triple-A.

The plan was to enact uniform legislative restrictions in each of the tobacco states. The federal government was to have supervised the agreement.

But when Georgia's representative spoke Talmadge's intention to hold no special session the whole business fell through.

This is just another instance of the ignorant stubbornness that characterizes leaders in some of our states. Refusal to co-operate is their identification tag. How these same leaders who set themselves up as dictators and who refuse to share in any coordinated plan of voluntary state action can declare themselves in favor of state's-rights beyond the tenets of reason.

You, Gene Talmadge, who plan to become president, before you go too far with your dictatorship, remember one of your late fellow governors. He was going to be president too, remember? He wrote a book about what he was going to do in the White House. It was the same book he had under his arm when a political enemy shot him down. And he had better bodyguards than you!

In the heavyweight division Fred Cramer of Virginia is defending champion and should have his most opposition from Marvin Ray or John Fletcher. However, we can't see where the Virginia man will have much trouble in retaining his crown but many a lucky punch has proven that "the bigger they are the harder they fall."
