"Overworked" Staff Pays Tribute to Departing Editor at Banquet; Gives Him Lily

MAKES FAREWELL SPEECH

Last night at the Carolina Inn the Buccaneer editorial staff paid banquet tribute to Nelson Lansdale, the departing editor, who returned the honor with a few bequeathing remarks.

Following a four course dinner, Graham Gammon delivered a farewell speech to Editor Lansdale, who is leaving this month for England: "Mr. Lansdale is going away (applause), and as a farewell token, we of the overworked Buccaneer staff, wish to present him with this gift. The gift we have chosen represents the virtue of our editor—and also represents his dead magazine."

The Lily

At this point the gift, which was, of course, a lily, wrapped in covers from the Buccaneer, the Carolina Magazine and the DAILY TAR HEEL, was presented to H. N. L. Lansdale graciously accepted the gift as he made his farewell speech to the staff.

"There are some odds and ends which I want to bequeath to Mr. Bobbitt, your incoming editor: (1) Keep your magazine clean if you want the respect of your readers, (2) Be fifty per cent over-set every issue if you want your magazine to have quality, (3) the infinite wonder of deadline days, which bring

Dollar Bills Given To Gum Chewing Students In "Y"

Co-ed Lola Reid Gets Financial Backing, Wins Reward From "Mr. Spear"

A man blew into Chapel Hill yesterday and began giving dollar bills to University students. Apparently he was a graduate of Dix Hill.

But, as usual, there was more method than madness in his philanthropic activity and, also as usual, there was a catch connected to the student recipients.

Mr. Spear

Introducing himself as "Mr. Spear," the gentleman with a fistful of dollars asked Co-ed Lola Reid, "Miss, do you happen to have an open package of Wrigley's gum?" Almost too quickly, Co-ed Reid answered, "Why yes, I have."

In response to her statement that "Wrigley's is very beneficial for examinations," Mr. Spear peeled off one of those green curios and handed it to her with an expressed hope that she enjoys the reward.

Hurrying off Lola changed the bill and presented her unnamed

The current issue contains an article on rural relief and the back-to-the-farm movement by T. J. Woofter, of the Institute for Research in Social Science, who is now on leave. Dr. Woofter, a co-ordinator of rural research in the WPA, has for some time been carrying on researches in this field.

Sign Graham Petition

Petitions in support of Dr. Frank Porter Graham as president of the Greater University of North Carolina are now in dormitory stores and fraternities. The petitions are being circulated by the local unit of the American Student Union.

Students are urged to read the petitions promptly and sign them at once if they wish to express support of the President against the anti-liberal attacks of certain groups in the state.

Beatrice Cobb, State Newspaper Editor, Says Movement Not Commendable

"The movement to displace Dr. Frank P. Graham as president of the University has nothing to commend itself or its proponents to the serious thought of the state," says Miss Beatrice Cobb, national Democratic committeewoman.

In a recent editorial on the movement brought to light by the Charlotte "Observer," Miss Cobb, editor and owner of the Morganton "News-Herald," and secretary-treasurer of the N. C. Press Association, states, "It is encouraging to note that his friends have no fear of the outcome of the organized movement which is expected to be presented at the June meeting of the board of trustees."

"Dr. Graham has carved for himself a place with the outstanding presidents of the institution, and nation-wide recognition has come to him and to the University. North Carolina needs him and will keep him until there is shown much more cause than this current movement has to offer."

Referring to the complaints lodged against Dr. Graham by

Local Students Proclaim Spring

Indisputable Signs of Spring Noted on Campus as March 21 Nears

Spring, it seems, has come.

Although its official time for appearance is March 21, that season which stands for balmy weather appears to have already settled down on the Carolina campus.

No longer are Yankee students crying "so this is the sunny south!" The white shoes that they have been wearing all winter are at last in vogue.

Serious law students are again emerging from Manning hall to shoot marbles in front of their retreat each day at freshman chapel period.

Pledges may be seen most afternoons raking leaves, or otherwise displaying their "interest" in their fraternity.

All of the campus's 66 car owners who are able are putting their tops down to get more ultra-violet rays while driving. More co-eds are appearing in the cars' vacant seats.

The buildings department is displaying its faith in spring's arrival by increased painting and repairing on campus buildings.

The thermometer again knows what 55 and 65 degrees looks like. Yes, it seems that spring has come.
