CABINETS TO HEAR BRADSHAW SPEAK ABOUT VOCATIONS

Dean of Students Will Address
Y. M. C. A. Groups Tomorrow
On Vocational Planning

AUTHORITY ON SUBJECT

Dean F. F. Bradshaw will address the third session of the Y. M. C. A. cabinets vocational program tomorrow night at 7:15 on vocational guidance as it exists in colleges today.

In his talk Dean Bradshaw will trace the history of vocational guidance in the colleges and will discuss the methods and agencies used by modern institutions.

Bureau Here

Bradshaw is now carrying on the work of the University vocational information bureau which serves to aid students in deciding upon an occupation and to assist them in securing positions after graduation.

Before the budget cuts of 1930 and 1932, the bureau had a full time director, but since that time it has been under the office of the dean of students. It was recently expanded, and I. C. Griffin, University graduate, is assisting Dean Bradshaw in the work.

Technique

Last week, Dr. M. R. Trabue, of the department of education, addressed the cabinets on techniques and aids in vocational guidance. Dr. Trabue is one of the foremost authorities in the country on aptitude tests and examinations.

At the first meeting of the cabinets in this series, Economics Professor E. M. Bernstein discussed business trends and cycles. Tomorrow night's session will be the last in the present program series.

UNION TO PRESENT MUSICIANS TODAY

Sonatas for Piano, Violin Will Comprise Program of Helen
McGraw, Kay Rickert

Two sonatas for piano and violin will comprise the program of Helen McGraw, noted pianist and Kay Rickert, violinist, sponsored today by the management of Graham Memorial as one of its regular Sunday afternoon musical presentations.

The first part of the program, which begins at 4 o'clock, will be Sonata in G Major by Beethoven. The selection is composed of Allegro Assai, Tempo di Menuetto, and Allegro Vivace.

The second half, Sonata in A Major, by Cesar Franck, includes Allegretto Ben Moderato, Allegro, Recitativo—Fantasia, and Allegro Poco Moderato.

Miss McGraw studied at the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore under the Russian pianist, Alexander Sklarevski. After receiving the artists diploma of the conservatory in 1930, she won the national musical contest, sponsored by the Walter W. Naumburg Musical Foundation. She has studied at the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris and has given several concerts in Europe and in England.

Miss Rickert received her musical education in Pittsburgh under Theodore Rentz at the Art School of the Carnegie Insti-

TENOR TO RENDER POPULAR BALLADS

James Melton, Gunda Mordan to Present Seven Song Groups

Seven groups of songs, one of them entirely of the popular variety, will be given by Gunda Mordan and James Melton at their student entertainment concert Wednesday night.

"Clouds," "Hills," and "Come, Love, with Me," will be among the numbers given in duet.

Miss Mordan, soprano, will give three groups of songs, including "My Native Land," "The Snowdrop," and "Cardellina."

Melton, whose tenor voice is known to vast radio and movie audiences, will give an equal number of songs. He has recently broken box-office records in Chicago and Detroit while making personal appearances in connection with screen productions.

Dr. J. P. Harland, entertainment committee chairman, announces that Miss Mordan will arrive in Chapel Hill Tuesday. The program will begin at 8:30 Wednesday night in Memorial hall.

Campus Prepared To Give Salute To Easter Bunny

Fowl Arbiter Eligantiarum Indicates
Blue and Pale Vermillion
Eggs This Year

Today will not be a "Gloomy Sunday"—if all our Easter rabbits and young ladies come through in their precedented styles.

Blue and pale vermillion will be the keynote in the new Easter egg styles, according to a late bulletin last night from "Quagmire," the magazine for hens.

Flowers

Flowers for madame should by all means have been ordered before now, so no suggestions here could be of any use.

Wires flashed, potted plants bloomed, mothers smiled last night as the country prepared to welcome the visits this morning from Br'er Rabbit and the prodigal sons and daughters off at school.

In the mad rush of sunrise services, auto rides, fried chickens, and best wishes, everyone will forget, after all, the real reason for the observance of the day,—so showed a straw vote sponsored by the DAILY TAR HEEL in Person hall yesterday.

FAIRLEY WILL GO TO NSFA MEETING

Student Body President and John Parker, President-Elect,
To Attend Memphis Meet

The University will be represented at the annual Southern and Southeastern Conference of the National Student Federation of America Thursday, Friday and Saturday by Francis Fairley, president of the student body, John J. Parker, president elect, and probably Jack Smith, Francis Anderson, and Marvin Allen, representatives on the Student Council.

The conference will be held this year in Memphis, Tenn., where Southwestern University and the University of Mississippi will act as co-hosts to the delegates.

Purpose

The organization has as its purpose to discuss the problems of student government and to arrive at the majority's opinion on particular policies and powers of the branches of the student government system.

The delegates will meet in a variety of groups depending on their interest. Some of these will discuss the problems of men's student government, women's student government, or the editorial or business policies of publications.

Due to fame of student government here, many predict campus delegates will stand out.

Couch Will Address Scientific Society

Elisha Mitchell Society Will Hear Botanist, Tuesday

Professor J. N. Couch of the botany department will present a paper on "Some Recent Advances in Botany" at the 368th meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society Tuesday night at 7:30 in Phillips hall.

Professor Couch will review some of the recent important discoveries in the field of plant science. These have to do with plant hormones, including those formed by the plants themselves, natural; and those formed in chemical laboratories, synthetic. These hormones regulate the growth activities of plants and exceedingly small amounts have very striking effects.

The speaker will also take up the recent work on sex in the lower plants, the transmission of plant diseases by insects and the crystallization of tobacco mosaic virus.

GROUP CONVENES TONIGHT TO PLAN ANTI-WAR STRIKE

Committee Will Meet in Graham
Memorial at 9 O'clock

At 9 o'clock tonight in Graham Memorial the anti-war committee will meet to further plans for the strike of April 22. Students interested are invited to attend the committee meeting.

In using the term strike, the committee explains, it does not mean to antagonize the University administration. The demonstration is intended to be against war and war-makers.

The University administration has agreed to shorten the 9:30 and 11 o'clock classes on April 22, so that, together with chapel period, a total of 70 minutes will be available for the demonstration.

Committee plans have not yet been completed, but tentatively a short parade on the campus is called for, to be followed by a congregation of students at South building to hear talks.

The demonstration is being sponsored by the local chapter of the American Student Union.

High Schoolers Here This Week In Annual Event

North Carolina High School Debaters and Athletes Will Convene Here Wednesday

More than 66 representatives of North Carolina high schools, representing all sections of the state, will be guests of the University this week.

The athletes and debaters will begin arriving on Wednesday, and most of them will remain through Friday.

Secretary E. R. Rankin, who has been in charge of these contests since their inception in 1913, is expecting one of the most successful High School weeks on record.

Aycock Cup

Two hundred and fifty-six debaters, representing 64 schools, will participate on Thursday and Friday in the 24th annual final contest of the North Carolina High School Debating Union for the Aycock Memorial Cup. They won the right to enter the Chapel Hill finals by virtue of victories in the triangular contests held throughout the state on March 27, in which 225 high schools participated.

The query this year is, Resolv-

Sandy Graham, Gubernatorial Aspirant, Talks Here Tuesday

Candidate

Lieutenant Governor A. H. "Sandy" Graham, candidate in the Democratic primary for North Carolina's gubernatorial seat.

Alumnus To Be Second Talker On CPU Series

Carolina Political Union To Bring
Present Lieutenant Governor
To Chapel Hill

IN FAVOR OF SALES TAX

Lieutenant Governor Alexander Hawkins Graham is scheduled to speak to the student body of the University on Tuesday night.

Better known as "Sandy," the candidate in the Democratic primary for North Carolina's gubernatorial seat will appear here in the second of a series of talks being sponsored by the Carolina Political Union during the spring quarter.

Time, Place

The University alumnus will return to Chapel Hill to speak in Memorial hall at 8:30 after addressing large crowds throughout the state.

In direct opposition to McDonald who spoke here last week, Graham proposes that the sales tax must be maintained for the source of additional revenue or it will be necessary to re-place the former tax on homes and farms.

Biography

Graham was born in Hillsboro and is the third of his family to achieve prominence in public life. He received his A. B. degree here at the University in 1912, returning the next year to attend the Law School. After receiving his law license, "Sandy" attended the Harvard Law School.

In addition to local offices, A. H. Graham has been a member of the State Legislature. In 1932 he was elected to his present office of Lieutenant Governor by a large majority.

SMITH SELECTED HANDBOOK EDITOR

Tri-Publication Man Chosen by
Y. M. C. A. Committee to Put Out Freshman Guide Book

Mac Smith was appointed editor of the Carolina Freshman Handbook yesterday by a committee from the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A.

Smith, who is a rising junior, was chosen over two other applicants after interviews had been made throughout yesterday afternoon by the committee composed of J. M. Saunders, alumni secretary, and Drs. E. L. Mackie and C. P. Spruill.

Activities

The new handbook editor is a member of the staffs of the DAILY TAR HEEL, Carolina Magazine, and Carolina Buccaneer, and is the new treasurer of the "Y."

The freshman handbook is published annually by the Y. M. C. A. and is sent to prospective students for the purpose of acquainting them with the University.

The business manager of the publication will be appointed within the next few days along with the complete handbook made by a committee composed of the editor, the president of staff. These appointments are the "Y," the treasurer of the board, student treasurer, and general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

REPORT ON BOOK EXCHANGE

The following report on the Book Exchange was written by the Student Advisory Committee this week. Members of the committee, Frank Willingham, chairman, Don McKee and Bob Magill, with the aid of Fred Weaver, student assistant to the assistant controller, made a complete study and have added several other recommendations at the end of their report.—Ed. note.

The Student Advisory Committee has made quite a detailed study of the University Book Exchange. It has studied it as one of the divisions of Utilities and Auxiliary Enterprises with the purpose of determining whether from the standpoint of the student body this agency is giving adequate service at the most reasonable price, and whether there is any possibility of effecting economies.

The committee has had access to the financial records of the Book Exchange, and has received the assistance of the entire business organization in so far as it is concerned with the Book Exchange. Prices charged at the Book Exchange were compared with those charged at other book stores. The history of the organization, its place in the University business organization, methods of management, departmental division and scope of service were studied. The committee is amply satisfied as to the questions of efficient management, and fair price.

The problem of the administration in the Book Exchange is servicing the student body and faculty efficiently. It has the responsibility of providing text books and supplies for all students, as well as the University business and administrative departments.

In this business the Book Exchange is at considerable advantage in that it is an agency of a state institution. It operates tax-free. All the operating procedure including purchasing, credit and collection, auditing, and to a certain extent management are carried on by these centralized University departments.

Di Senate

The Di Senate will convene at 7:15 Tuesday night in New West. Two bills that have been proposed are: Resolved: That the control of athletics should be in the hands of the faculty rather than the alumni, and Resolved: That the present immigration restriction bill now before Congress be passed immediately.

FARRAR ILL

Professor P. C. Farrar, of the University department of education, yesterday underwent a bone-setting operation at Watts hospital. His condition is reported to be very satisfactory.
