

Candidate Graham Discusses
Problems Now Facing State*Lieutenant-Governor
Approves Sales Tax*Candidate For Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination Favors
County Control of Liquor*FAVORS IMPROVED ROADS

Discussing five problems which now face North Carolina and offering his solutions to them, Lieutenant-Governor A. H. "Sandy" Graham, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke last night in Memorial hall under the sponsorship of the Carolina Political Union.

Stating an opposing view to that of Candidate McDonald in regard to the sales tax, Graham said, "Finances in the state will permit removal of the sales tax only from meals in hotels and restaurants and from necessities of life." He declared that he did not believe more of the tax could be removed if appropriations for the necessary functions of government were continued.

Prohibition

Giving his opinion on prohibition, Graham affirmed that he is in favor of a change of laws to permit county-controlled stores selling liquor if the majority of the people in the county were in favor of the plan.

Graham declared that he is in favor of adequate maintenance of all roads and better up-keep of secondary roads. In regard to the educational system of North Carolina, the lieutenant-governor blamed the deficient number of children who finish high school on the inadequate pay of the teachers who are so worried over their financial straits as to be unable to inspire interest for education in youth.

Labor

Referring to the labor problem, Graham said, "We have to submerge some individual liberty for the good of the whole." He estimated that the profits from a controlled liquor business would help to bear North Carolina's part in the social security program.

During the open forum after the speech, Graham was asked if appropriations for Swain hall and a gymnasium at the University were included in his educational program. He answered, "I favor a gymnasium but I doubt if the legislature can appropriate enough funds for a new building without the help of alumni."

Leo Reisman Signed To Play
For Annual May Frolics Set*Master of Violin Will Bring Broadcasting Orchestra Here
For Colorful Dance Set

Leo Reisman and his orchestra will furnish the music for the annual set of May Frolics in the Tin Can April 24-25, it was announced yesterday.

For the last three years Reisman and his orchestra have been broadcasting every Tuesday night on the Philip Morris cigarette program over WEA. Reisman and his band started out in the musical world 15 years ago at the Brunswick hotel in Boston.

In 1929 the organization got its big chance at the Central Park Casino in New York City. Since then it has played engage-

SENATORS DEBATE
FACULTY CONTROL
OF SPORTS SET-UP*Di Passes Bill Approving Faculty
Rather Than Alumni Control
Of Athletics

A lively session of the Di Senate last night found "flaying" words being driven from one senator to another as they debated the bill: "Resolved, That the control of athletics should be in the hands of the faculty rather than the alumni."

"It seems that alumni control would bring about a college with in a college with education in second place," said President Yeatman as he lighted the flame for the discussion which followed.

"We now have faculty control and no coach," said Senator Coefield, who was in favor of faculty control although he believed that such things as conference rules, choosing the coach and athletes, and determining the source of money should be of no interest of the instructors.

The athletic bill was carried by a large majority and the senate continued to further plans for the joint Di-Phi debate to be held on April 28.

Before adjourning, the Di approved the training course to be conducted here next week for the newly elected officers and the senators also decided to take part in the conduction of the courses.

Sophomores Asked
To Select Majors*Hobbs Says Second Year Men Should Decide Now on Future Work

Sophomores in the college of arts and sciences should decide this spring upon the work they wish to take in the junior and senior years, according to an announcement by A. W. Hobbs, dean of the college.

The departments are now grouped under three divisions. The humanities are under Dr. W. M. Dey. The natural sciences are under Dr. R. E. Coker and the social sciences have Dr. D. D. Carroll as chairman.

Dean Hobbs said that he would be glad to help any students who have not yet decided what they want to take as their major. The heads of the divisions will also give assistance in choosing a field for specialization.

ments at the Congress hotel and the World's Fair in Chicago, the Paramount theatre in New York, and during the past year, returned to the Central Park Casino.

Reisman has gone far and has convinced music critics that he is one of the foremost orchestra leaders. He is also considered a master of the violin.

Dance Set

The May Frolics will consist of five dances, which will include a tea dance Friday afternoon, a formal affair that night, a luncheon dance at the Washington Duke in Durham Saturday, another tea dance here Saturday and the second formal dance

(Continued on page two)

BON VOYAGE

Don Seawell

Harry McMullan

Seawell, McMullan Depart
For English Debates Today*TENOR

James Melton who will sing tonight at 8:30 in Memorial hall on the Student Entertainment series.

SINGERS TO OFFER
CONCERT TONIGHT*Student Entertainment Series
Will Bring James Melton and Gunda Mordan Here

James Melton, tenor, and Gunda Mordan, soprano, will sing tonight at 8:30 in Memorial hall on the Student Entertainment series.

Melton, whose first starring motion picture, "Stars Over Broadway," recently appeared here, broke box-office records in Chicago and Detroit while making personal appearances.

The tenor voice of Melton is known to radio audiences throughout the United States. He appears regularly on the Palmolive and Kellogg programs.

Accompanist

Gunda Mordan will act as accompanist to Melton in addition to singing. She is well known for her operatic ability, having worked with nationally known artists such as Maria Jeritzka.

The program will consist of seven groups of songs, one entirely of the popular variety. Miss Mordan and Melton will each give three groups of solos.

"Clouds," "Hills," and "Come, Love, with Me," will be among the numbers sung in duets.

Student Passbooks

Students who have not yet secured Student Entertainment passbooks will be able to get them in South building today between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Pair Feted at Informal Supper
By Debate Squad Last Night;
Tour England, Wales

Don Seawell and Harry McMullan, representing the University debate squad, will leave this morning for a six weeks debating tour of England and Wales.

Last night members of the debate squad and a group of the faculty, who have been connected with the debate group, met in the banquet room of the Carolina Inn at an informal supper party to wish the two debaters luck and success for their trip.

Sponsor

The tour is being sponsored by the National Student Federation of America, and the Student Union of England, which will select the colleges and universities in England and Wales at which the two Carolina men will debate.

The trip will mark the final climax in the amateur debating activities of Seawell, who has taken an active part in debating at the University for the last seven years. After this summer he hopes to enter the professional field of debating before a judge and 12 men in a jury box.

McMullan

McMullan, a junior and president of the Debate Council, has been affiliated with various discussion groups and debating societies during the three years he has attended the University.

FRESHMAN GROUP
HEARS DISCUSSION
OF STUDENT HELP*E. S. Lanier Explains Scholarships, Jobs and Loans, Offered
To Students by University

Beginning his talk on student aid to the Freshman Friendship Council Monday night, E. S. Lanier pointed out three distinct types of work

"These three types," he said, "are scholarships, jobs, and loans." The University, he explained, has 70 endowed scholarships and about 24 private scholarships which are given to the most deserving students each year. These scholarships, he continued, are worth 75 dollars each and are selected entirely according to the scholastic record and financial standing of the student.

"Once you get a scholarship," Mr. Lanier explained, "you are permitted to keep it unless your financial status has improved or you fail to make as much as a 'C' average in all your school

(Continued on page two)

Campus Will Vote On Six
Class Officers Tomorrow*STUDENT COUNCIL
SENDS DELEGATES
TO NSFA MEETING*Five Student Councilors Left
Yesterday to Represent Campus at Memphis Conference

Five members of the Student Council left yesterday for Memphis, Tenn., where they will represent the University at the annual Southern and South-eastern Conference of the National Student Federation of America tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

Those attending the meeting are Francis Fairley, president of the student body; John Parker, president-elect; Francis Anderson, Jack Smith, and Marvin Allen.

Southwestern University and the University of Mississippi will act as co-hosts to the convention delegates this year. At the conference the representatives of colleges from all over the south will discuss the problems of student government and will seek to arrive at the majority opinion on the particular policies and powers of the various branches of student government system.

The delegates will meet in several groups according to their interests. Several of these will consider the problems of men's student government while others will take up women's student government.

AYCOCK CUP GOAL
OF HIGH SCHOOLS*Teams From State Schools Will Begin Debating Contest Here
Tomorrow Night

Teams representing 64 state high schools will meet here tomorrow night to compete in the 24th annual debating contest of the North Carolina High School Debating Union, sponsored by the University extension division as a part of the University's annual high school week celebration.

Besides the debaters, athletes from schools throughout the state will come to Chapel Hill tomorrow and Friday to participate in the tennis and track tournaments which are included in the program for the celebration.

Final contestants in the competition were selected by tri-

(Continued on page two)

Students To Voice
Opinion On Revised
Board Constitution*Ballot Boxes Will Be Placed in
"Y" to Increase Number of Votes Cast

The strength of 12 campaign platforms will be tested in the Y. M. C. A. building tomorrow when the campus votes on six class officers and the adoption of the revised Publications Union Board constitution.

Student Council Member Jimmy Craighill, who is in charge of the elections, has arranged with Harry F. Comer, Y. M. C. A. general secretary, to place the ballot boxes in the "Y" building with the expectation that more students will vote.

Women

The Woman's Association will hold the election of its officers for the 1936-37 term in conjunction with the campus voting at the same place tomorrow.

A new constitution for the Publications Union Board has been proposed by that body, approved by the Student Council, and its adoption will depend upon student opinion as voted in the election which will be held all day tomorrow.

Juniors

Only the presidency of the rising junior class will be opposed when members of that class vote. Candidates for that office are Clyde "Pete" Mullis and Reuben Graham.

The rising sophomore class officers will be chosen from Sam Davis and Henry Hudson for president; Charles Robinson and Johnston King for vice-president; Chuck Kline and Billy Campbell for secretary; M. A. Stroup and Joe Cheatham for treasurer; Bill Stronach and Keith Eutsler for Student Council representative.

Bull's Head

"Libraries in Madrid" was the topic of Dr. William Warner Bishop's lecture in the Bull's Head bookshop given yesterday afternoon. Dr. Bishop's talk was especially interesting since he has just returned from the Second International Congress of Libraries in Madrid, Spain.

One-time advisor to the Pope when the Vatican library was reorganized, he is now head of the library at the University of Michigan.

Thrall And Hibbard Finish
Unique Literature Textbook*Dean Addison Hibbard, Former Faculty Member, and Dr. W.
F. Thrall Collaborate

Dr. William F. Thrall of the University English department, and Dean Addison Hibbard of Northwestern University have recently completed a pioneer book on literature which will be released by Doubleday, Doran and Company by the end of April.

The publishers state that the volume is an "entirely unique and invaluable text for all students of literature." It consists of two parts.

Arrangement

The first part is an alphabetically arranged list of literary and rhetorical terms, with explanations ranging from a brief paragraph of definition to several pages of critical and historical comment.

These discussions include the types, forms, and traditions of literature. Dr. Thrall says that it was Dean Hibbard's and his purpose to present these definitions and discussions more fully than they are given in a dictionary, but more succinctly than in specialized books.

Nearly a thousand terms are described in this first part.

Outline

The second part is a chronological outline of English and American literature. "This has been made doubly valuable to

(Continued on page two)