

STRIKERS TO HEAR
ANTI-WAR SPEECH
BY DICK WHITTEN

Director of Commonwealth College, Mena, Ark., Will Make Principal Address April 22.

CLASSES ARE SHORTENED

Dick Whitten, director of Commonwealth College at Mena, Ark., has been secured by the anti-war strike committee to make the principal address April 22, according to officials.

Other speakers to appear on the program, which will take place on the south steps of South building at 10:15 are Harry F. Comer, Charles Poe, and Carolyn Winston.

Whitten is the youngest college president in the country, being only 26 years old. He is a native southerner and was graduated from Tulane three years ago, having been active in debating while there.

Posters

Further plans were made for the strike and it was decided not to have a formal parade but have students carry posters at the mass meeting. At the gathering, there will be several tableaux suggestive of the pacifist movement.

Letters to the faculty were mailed last night asking their co-operation in the strike against war. The Administration has granted all students 20 minutes from both 9:30 and 11 o'clock classes in order to attend the meeting and register their protest against war.

BUS STATION MOVES OFFICES TUESDAY

Ruling by City Aldermen Makes Change of Location Necessary

Because of a recent measure passed by the Chapel Hill board of aldermen, the bus station of the Carolina Coach company will be moved from Franklin street to a new location Tuesday.

The new station, which will be located on the corner of Columbia street and Rosemary lane, was built as a result of traffic difficulties along Franklin street, according to a statement

Director Couch Tells of Volumes to Be Released on Industry and Agriculture

By Bob Perkins

"The University of North Carolina Press now has in preparation a series of elementary books on the basic industrial and agricultural processes," reports W. T. Couch, director of the Press.

In a recent booklet, "Plans and Purposes of the Carolina Press," Mr. Couch states that the main purpose of this series is to describe the historical development and present operation of the more important processes of economic life in the South. The volumes, designed for both adults and school children, will average 160 to 200 pages in length and will sell from 50 to 60 cents per copy.

Example of Work

This series, Mr. Couch says, is a typical example of the work the Press has been doing for the past 10 years. Careful stu-

Reser To Bring Songstress, Tenor
To Junior-Senior Dance Series

Leader Will Render Original Composition

Clicquot Club Orchestra to Feature Lynne Gordon and Ernie Weber at Annual Affair

Harry Reser, leader of the Clicquot Club orchestra, will bring with him Lynne Gordon, lovely song stylist, and Ernie Weber, radio tenor, when he brings his band here to play for the annual set of Junior-Senior dances in the Tin Can May 8-9.

In addition to these stars Reser will also bring an unusual attraction in John Zellner, who adds distinction to the music of the Eskimos with a $15,000 Hammond electric organ.

Original Compositions

Reser's band has been playing the original compositions and arrangements by Charles Stymes, Conrad Anderson and George Savino over the air for the past eight years and can be heard every Sunday afternoon from 3 to 3:30 over the National Broadcasting System.

KINSTON HIGH WINS IN DEBATE CONTEST

Forensic Experts Given Aycock Memorial Cup by Dean House After Scoring Win

Kinston high school, arguing the affirmative side of the annual Aycock Memorial Cup debate contest, last night was awarded the Cup by Dean R. B. House after winning out over 64 high school teams, here for the finals since Thursday afternoon. The debate topic was, Resolved: That the several states should provide for the socialization of medicine.

Following the presentation of the Cup, cups and medals were presented by Dean Francis Bradshaw to winners of the annual interscholastic track meet, which has been held here in connection with the Aycock Cup debate contest and High School Week.

A concert by the University band, under Earl A. Slocum, preceded the debate in Memorial

Selection Of Majors Stressed By Hobbs

Sophomores Urged to Consider Choice of Future Work

Dean A. W. Hobbs, of the college of arts and sciences, warns again that all sophomores in his school should begin planning their junior and senior year electives.

The dean cautions that leisurely consideration this spring of a student's future work will be much more satisfactory than a hasty, and perhaps unwise, decision on a major next fall.

Dean Hobbs, or any departmental advisor, will aid students in planning their major at any time.

CO-ED OFFICERS

The following statement was issued by Women's Association officials yesterday afternoon:

"The girls who were selected in the recent campus elections were those named by the nominating committee of the association. They were chosen by this committee on the basis of individual merit and represent all co-ed groups: non-sorority, town students, stray Greeks, and the two sororities."

DORMITORY HEADS TO BE NOMINATED

Inter-Dorm Council Sets Date for Nomination and Election of New Officers

An almost perfect attendance record was set on Thursday night by members of the Inter-dormitory council, who set next Tuesday as the date for the nomination of dormitory officers for next year.

Candidates for the office of president and vice-president of each of the 12 dormitories will be nominated Tuesday. The polls will be open from 10:30 through 5:00 next Thursday, April 23, and all student residents are urged to co-operate in choosing capable leaders.

Although the new officers will not assume their duties until next year, it will be necessary for them to discuss their responsibilities during the September freshman orientation week with the council head, Albert Ellis.

The dorm council also revised the election regulations so that only rising juniors or seniors will be eligible for office, except in the freshman dormitories.

Among the other business completed at the meeting was the matter of setting dates for the coming dormitory socials being given by the council, the Carolina Theatre and the Student Union.

Before the meeting adjourned the council was urged to secure the co-operation of dormitory residents in not walking on the grass.

House Speaks Away

R. B. House, dean of administration, spoke to the University's College for Women in Greensboro yesterday at chapel period. The dean's subject was "Books."

On Wednesday he participated in a panel discussion of "New Trends in College Education."

SONG BIRD

Lynne Gordon, scintillating songstress, will do the vocals for Harry Reser and his Clicquot Club Eskimos when they play here for the annual set of Junior-Seniors in the Tin Can May 8-9.

TRAINING COURSE TO START MONDAY

Student Officers Will Study Parliamentary Law and Procedure at Chapel Period

Monday morning will see the first officers' training course materialize on this campus.

All new officers on the campus will attend four classes this week at chapel period in New East to make a study of parliamentary law and procedure, under the leadership of Professor W. A. Olsen.

R. H. Sherrill will hold two special classes for treasurers, the dates to be announced later. A group discussion will be held Monday and Tuesday. Thursday's class will be devoted to the answering of questions relating to particular problems. A box will be placed in the Y. M. C. A. for questions, which are to be answered.

The new officers will conduct a model meeting Friday, after which the incoming and outgoing officers of each organization will meet to work out their individual problems.

The training course is receiving the support of the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., the Student Council, the rising sophomore class, and the two debating societies.

BRITISH STUDENT TO SPEAK MONDAY

Mr. F. G. Morris, English International Affairs Student, to Address Sophomore Cabinet

Mr. F. G. Morris, British Rockefeller foundation student will speak at the meeting of the sophomore Y. M. C. A. cabinet Monday night.

Mr. Morris, who has been in this country for several months, will present the British point of view in the current European crisis. He has been close to the source of the recent news coming from London.

Mr. Morris will be among the speakers at the International Relations Conference to be held here soon under the auspices of the University department of government. Speaking also will be Dr. K. C. Frazer of the University faculty.

This is a first of a series of programs in the "Y" cabinets designed to broaden the background for the conference.

As Recently Selected Officials
Take Over Respective Positions

Work Begins Soon On New Apartments

Professor and Mrs. McClamroch to Build on Franklin Street

Work will begin Monday on a new apartment house on Franklin street opposite Graham Memorial.

Professor and Mrs. Roland P. McClamroch will be the owners of the building, which they expect to have completed by September. The style of architecture will be similar to that of Graham Memorial, although the apartment house will be a three-story-and-basement structure. B. S. Thomson has been employed as architect.

Building will start very soon, since the board of aldermen has approved the proposed modification of the town zoning ordinance which had prohibited the location of the building too near the street. The passing of the adjustment modification, however, was for a specific case only, inasmuch as the apartment house is considered a "semi-business" establishment.

The 30-apartment building will be constructed at a cost of nearly $65,000. The plans call for three five-room, 12 three-room, six two-room, and nine one-room apartments.

BANKERS TO HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

Group Four of Banker's Ass'n to Have Banquet, Meeting in Carolina Inn

Group four of the North Carolina Bankers' Association will hold their annual district meeting at the Carolina Inn tonight at 7 o'clock.

Professor J. B. Woosley of the University school of commerce will speak at the banquet which is to be held at that time. Among the topics which will be discussed during the business of the meeting will be potential inflation.

Henderson Addresses Mathematics Meet

District Conference in Session at Columbia, S. C.

Dr. Archibald Henderson yesterday afternoon addressed the annual meeting of the southeastern section of the Mathematical Association of America. The meeting is being held at the University of South Carolina in Columbia.

"New Slants on Relativity" was the subject of Dr. Henderson's talk. Last night a dinner was given in honor of Guest Speaker Professor Bartky of Chicago.

This morning additional papers will be presented, among which are "Differential Equations of Projective Transformations" and "Some Remarks on Osculants to Plane Curves," to be given by Dr. V. A. Hoyle and E. A. Cameron, respectively, two of Carolina's representatives to the meeting.

McKee Edits Tar Heel
With Tuesday's Issue

"Judge" Parker and Other Student Council Officers to Be Installed Within 10 Days

OTHER JOBS BEGIN SLOWLY

With Don McKee taking over the DAILY TAR HEEL editorship after tomorrow morning's issue and the "Y's" installing their newly-elected officers tomorrow night, the annual "big turnover" in student body administration will have begun.

Student Body President-elect John "Judge" Parker and Retiring Head Francis Fairley are both out of town, but, if custom prevails, Parker and all of the new campus officers will be installed within 10 days in Memorial hall.

Council

Members of the Student-Council-to-be will meet with the old council Monday night in a session of apprenticeship before they take the reins of government into their own hands.

Hold-over members for next year's council will probably be picked Monday night, subject to the approval of Parker's new governing board.

Editors

Other publication editors, Bobbitt, Daniels, and Lewis are scheduled to begin work at their own pleasure within the next two or three weeks. Bobbitt and Daniels must get out May issues of the Buccaneer and Magazine, respectively.

Lewis will probably appoint his section heads for next year's

Debate Postponed

The joint Di-Phi debate that had been planned for April 28 has been postponed indefinitely, according to an announcement by the president of the Dialectic society yesterday.

This annual event has been of much interest to the members of these two campus organizations and an attempt to further more tentative plans will be taken up at the Tuesday meetings next week.

Regional Anthology Edited by English Professor Will Be Released May 12

Professor A. P. Hudson of the English department has just received an advance copy of his latest book, "Humor of the Old Deep South," which is to be released May 12, by Macmillan Company.

In their spring announcement of new books, the publishers characterize the book as an anthology of regional humor, treating the country and the people of Mississippi and Louisiana between 1540 and 1860. The region and its life, the publishers say, are represented anecdotes, character sketches, comic scenes, and tall stories written by contemporary men and women, which Dr. Hudson has gathered together and edited.

Authors

The editor has grouped the selections into chapters with introductions explaining and com-
