

HOLLANDER GIVES SPEECH ON MUSIC IN TWO SECTIONS

Lecture-Recital Given Color by Accompaniment of Native Instruments; Mrs. Bake Aids

RECOUNTS EXPERIENCES

Dr. Arnold Bake of Holland and Santiniketan, Bengal, gave a talk on the music of the East and the West followed by a recital of songs of India and their Western parallels last night in Hill Music hall.

On many of the songs Dr. Bake accompanied himself with native instruments to give an added effect to his interpretations. Mrs. Bake accompanied her husband at the piano for the European songs.

Ballad Parallel

Dr. Bake presented not only the folk songs of Bengal, Nepal and other eastern countries but gave ballads parallel in structure to the eastern songs from Russia, Germany, France, England, Scotland, and his native Holland. All of his interpretations are founded on careful research and study.

Dr. and Mrs. Bake have traveled through the many provinces of the mystic land of India and have visited the closed country of Nepal, an independent country north of India entirely shut off from the outside world by mountains impossible to cross except on foot.

Array Of Talent For Stunt Night Is Awe-Inspiring

Hangover Performers From Student-Faculty Day to Appear; Co-ed Trios in Again

By PETE IVEY

Something in the nature of "command" performances will be presented in Memorial hall Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Several of the most applauded participants in Student-Faculty Day stunt night will appear in similar roles. The senior class "mellow-drama" is also at that time.

Wally Dunham, who did such a good job of imitating a lady taking a bath, will this time do a fan dance and may do a bubble dance as an encore.

Dances

Miss Betty Tandy, Durham terpsichorean artist who was vociferously received last year, will favor the Carolina student body with another exhibition of her talent.

Student-Faculty Game Will Open Senior Week Program

Fleece Tapping, Heart-rending Burlesque, Dance Set Highlights of Senior Week

Annual senior week activities will begin in earnest Tuesday afternoon when the highly-touted senior class baseball team clashes in mortal combat with the experienced faculty nine on Emerson field.

Built around the fast-stepping Dr. Frank Porter Graham on first base, the faculty baseball outfit will take the field to avenge the defeat administered it last year when the graduating nine battered its way to glorious victory.

Fleece

Tuesday night, after the weary warriors have dragged themselves from the scene of this historic contest, the student body will turn out in full force for Golden Fleece's 33rd annual tapping rites, new and mysterious this year, in Memorial hall at 8:30.

Wednesday night the gala senior burlesque show will be staged in Memorial hall, promising new and novel entertainment as the seniors go dramatic and reach the inner depths of the hearts of the audience in the soul-stirring presentation, "Bunk."

Address

J. Maryon Saunders, genial alumni secretary, is scheduled to address the near-graduates in Memorial hall Thursday morning at 10:30 on "Seniors as Alumni."

The week's activity ends Friday and Saturday with the annual Junior-Senior dance set, with Harry Reser playing.

GROVES GIVEN THANKS OF FLORIDA STUDENTS

For his series of lectures on "Marriage and the Family" delivered recently at the University of Florida, Dr. Ernest R. Groves of the sociology department has been extended the sincere appreciation of the Florida student body.

Efforts are being made to secure his services again next year.

Caps And Gowns

Next Saturday will be the last day that seniors will be able to get measured for caps and gowns. All seniors who have not yet done so should report to the Book Exchange to be fitted. No down payment is required on the cap and gown, and if after ordering one, the senior decides not to use it, no charge will be made.

Ancient Tradition Will Be Continued In May Day Fete

Roman Festival Will Be Re-enacted Here When Hester Barlow Is Crowned Queen

By RUTH CROWELL

When Hester Barlow is crowned Queen of the May here May 15 the co-eds of the University will be continuing a tradition which started 238 B. C. in Rome.

The first May festivities were known as the Roman Floralia, which was celebrated from April 28 to May 3. The crops had not been good in 238 B. C., so the folk held a pantheistic ceremony in honor of Flora, the goddess of fertility hoping to win her favor. There were days of feasting, dancing, and offerings to the goddess.

"A-Maying"

The Germanic and Latin peoples who received their culture from the Romans carried on the festival in the spring with pantheistic ceremonies. And so the idea of May Day came to our English ancestors.

The medieval celebrators arose early on the first of May and went "a-maying," going into the forests and gathering spring flowers and trees. The procession returned to the village with the evidences of spring and selecting the tallest and most flawless tree, set it up on the village green as the May Pole. A day of dancing, theatrical productions, and revelry

"Fetzer Day" To Be Observed Saturday

PROGRAM AT NAVY TRACK MEET WILL HONOR COACH BOB

Head Track Coach and Athletic Director Now in Fifteenth Year Here

By GRAHAM GAMMON

Robert Allison Fetzer—"Coach Bob" to the many athletes and students who have come in contact with him in the past 15 years at the University—will be signally honored next Saturday when the track team from the United States Naval Academy meets the University of North Carolina in the new stadium that will in all probability bear the name of Fetzer field, when the board of trustees take action on the matter.

"Fetzer Day" is being celebrated to honor the director of athletics and track coach at the University since 1921. All monogram athletes are being invited back for the occasion and the Monogram Club is handling the program.

Coach Bob is known throughout the nation as one of the outstanding men in the field of administration athletics and track coaching. His record speaks for itself.

Born in Concord, North Carolina in 1887, Coach Bob attended Davidson College where he was an outstanding football player, and received his B. S. degree in 1907. In 1908 he received his M. A. and coached the re-

MANGUM SECURES RECREATION ROOM

Petition for New Game, Lounging Room Approved by University Officials

Mangum dormitory has been granted a new recreation room by the University.

A first floor corner room will be appropriated for the purpose, opening next September. It will be furnished with money from the dormitory fee charged each Mangum resident.

Mangum is the first of the upper quadrangle dormitories to secure a recreation hall. The lower quadrangle group has such rooms, equipped with game tables and lounging chairs.

Petition

Allan Knott, president of Mangum, submitted to the University a petition for the room. Frank Willingham, Fred Weaver, and Bob Magill of the Student Activities Committee were also instrumental in securing it.

Members of the petitioning group feel that their victory in getting Mangum's recreation hall is a step toward securing similar rooms for other dormitories.

After Davidson he attended Clemson where he completed his engineering course and coached the freshman football team. In 1909 he received his B. S. degree in chemical and electrical engineering.

Taught Chemistry

The fall of 1909 found Coach Bob at Woodberry Forest School as Master of Science and coach of football and track. He stayed at Woodberry for four years until in 1913 he became connected with the chemistry department of N. C. State before going back to Davidson as head football coach in 1914.

After leaving Davidson Coach Bob was connected with the Southern Cotton Oil Co. and with the State Department of Agriculture in Raleigh. In 1919 he returned to Woodberry Forest where he remained until he came to the University in 1921 as assistant football coach and head track coach. In 1922 he was named director of athletics.

Pharmacists Have Banquet, Dance Set In Weekend Program

Dean Beard Principal Speaker at Banquet; Dance Set Closes With Formal Tonight

A banquet given by the members of Rho Chi, honorary pharmacy society, at the Carolina Inn last night was the high light in a weekend of festivities participated in by students of the pharmacy school.

Dean J. G. Beard was the principal speaker of the occasion, which was the seventh annual affair of the society, and Dr. Glenn L. Jenkins of the University of Maryland school of pharmacy was the guest of honor. Dr. Jenkins also spoke to students of the pharmacy school yesterday morning in the auditorium of Howell hall.

Among the other social affairs of the weekend was the Pharmacy dance given last night in Bynum gym with music by Freddy Johnson and his orchestra.

A tea dance will be given this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock and another formal ball tonight from 9 to 12 o'clock will complete the set.

Survey of Membership Rolls Show Consistency in Qualifications Demanded

Widespread astonishment has often greeted the selections of the Order of the Golden Fleece each spring, astonishment based on conflicting ideas regarding the qualifications for this highest of campus honors.

The Fleece, however, has been consistent in its selections, as a glance at previous membership rolls will show. The society has represented a cross-section of student life which has been as astonishing in its consistency in maintaining standards of leadership in various fields as it has been startling.

Calibre

Class officers, social leaders, athletes, editors, debaters, scholars, and other outstanding activities men have been represented. Fraternities and dormitories have had representation in proportion to the calibre of the current generations in those groups.

Last year's initiates included two prominent publications men, two student government leaders, four athletes, and one who was recognized as a leader, an outstanding leader, without office.

True Picture

But such a classification does not give the true picture, for Fleece does not "tap the office." Both publications men were members of Phi Beta Kappa and
