GRAHAM NAMES EXECUTIVE GROUP OF JUNIOR CLASS

Rising Junior President Selects Small Executive Committee For Coming Year

HELLER IS NEW CHAIRMAN

Reuben Graham, president of the rising junior class, yesterday announced the appointment of his executive committee.

Richard Heller, chairman, Oscar Petrea, Warren Haddaway, Fred R. Cochrane, Pete Mullis, Ed Juliber, Bill Miller, Fred Ullman, are the non-fraternity members, while Jack Atwood, Joseph Patterson, Nick Read, Ramsay Potts, Stuart Rabb, Carl Peiffer, and Aaron May represent the fraternities.

Reason

Graham explained the reason for the selection of such a small number. He thinks that the executive committee can function better with fewer members and that he'll be able to add to the number if necessary. He said that in choosing the committee he attempted to divide evenly the number of fraternity

RECITAL TONIGHT PRESENTS MASON

Music Student Is Candidate for A. B. Degree; Has Written Original Compositions

The music department of the University will present Wilton Mason in his graduating piano recital tonight at 8:30 in Hill Music hall.

Mason is completing his third year at the University and is a candidate for an A. B. degree in music, which he will receive at the end of next fall quarter. He intends to enter the Juilliard School of Music in New York in February.

Compositions

Mason's compositions have been played at various recitals on the campus recently and he has appeared as soloist in several concerts here. Four of his original pieces were played last night at the recital of student composers in Hill Music hall.

Tonight's program will consist of the "Fuge in D major" by Bach-d'albert; the Sonata, op. 81 of Beethoven; four selections of Chopin; and a suite by Debussy.

Proff Koch Believes "Lysistrata" One Of Greatest Comedies

"Proff" Believes only Practical Solution of War Lies With Women, as in Play

"'Lysistrata' is a great comedy, perhaps one of the greatest of all time," says Professor Koch, director of the Playmakers and in charge of the entire production of the play.

"It is a play in which Aristophanes displays his comedic talents with remarkable insight and brilliant performance," continued Koch. "The play has given us the only practical solution of war. Perhaps the 'Father of Comedy' has pointed out the only way of ending war. So far all the methods proposed have failed. Women hold the means of establishing peace—if they would use it—which I doubt."

NEW CO-OP TRUST AGREEMENT VOTE TO BE POSTPONED

Five Men Nominated as Trustees; Ballot Boxes to Be Placed in Co-op Store

VOTING TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Haywood Weeks announced yesterday that the vote on the new trust agreement for the Student Co-operative Association has been postponed until Friday to give the members time to consider the nominations for the five trustees.

Haywood Weeks, Francis Anderson, Harper Barnes, and Law Professors M. F. Breckenridge and Frank Hanft have been nominated as trustees. Professor J. M. Lear and Professor H. D. Wolfe have been nominated as permanent members of the Board of Referees.

Report

This Board of Referees will check on the trustees to see if they are managing the activities of the Co-op honestly and efficiently, and make a report of their findings to the members.

The boxes will be placed in the Co-op Clothiers.

The ballot will have on it the following statement: "Do you favor the new plan of making the Student Co-operative Association a trust?"

Then the names of the five trustees are listed, with five blank spaces for the members to fill in with their own selections, if those of the nominating committee do not appeal to them.

MEXICAN NUMBER OF DRAMA BOOK HAS NIGGLI PLAY

Playmaker Publication Contains All of "Soldadera"

The Mexican issue of the Carolina Play-Book has been released and contains the complete play "Soldadera," by Josephine Niggli, and a brief sketch of her life.

"The story that I tell in 'Soldadera' is the most famous of the Revolution. What the girl was named who threw the bomb to protect her leader's ammunition no one knows, no one cares. She has become a symbol of the soldaderas—the soldier-women. For this reason I have given her the name of Adelita, the name of the song that was one of the four that have been called the 'battle hymns of the Revolution'; the 'Cucaracha,' the 'Adelita,' the 'Valentina,' and the 'Marcha Zacatecas,'" says Miss Niggli in the introduction.

The Carolina Play-Book is published four times a year by the Playmakers and the Carolina Dramatic Association. Copies may be secured through the office of Professor Koch, editor of the Play-Book.

ART TEACHER WINS AWARD FOR PAINTING

Lena Alice Tuttle, director of the Chapel Hill Art School, won first prize at the Third Annual Art Exhibit, sponsored by the Raleigh Art Studio club, which opened last Sunday.

Miss Tuttle received a gold medal for her portrait, "A Young Lady in Blue."

Class Council Proposal Meets Vote Tomorrow

Gluttons!

Over 20 pounds of weiners were consumed Monday night at a Battle park weiner roast held by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets.

Walter Spearman of the department of journalism spoke to the group around the camp fire concerning the Blue Ridge conference in "the good old days."

Harry F. Comer stated that over 20 students have already paid their registration fee for the conference and about 53 others are anticipating going.

DOWN RELEASES LIBRARY REPORT

Publication of Report of Committee on Resources of Southern Libraries Announced

R. B. Downs, University librarian, yesterday announced the publication of the report of the committee on resources of southern libraries, of which he is chairman.

The committee included librarians from the University of Virginia, Emory University, Tulane University, the Virginia State library and the Carnegie library of Nashville, Tenn.

Purpose

The purpose of the committee was (1) to investigate union catalogues; (2) to prepare lists of bibliographies and other descriptive records of special collections; (3) to study co-operative agreements already entered into by two or more libraries; (4) to report on the efforts of learned societies and other groups to promote co-operation and division of responsibility; (5) to study the primary fields of interest of the universities and largest colleges; and (6) to make plans for the co-ordinated development of library resources in the South.

The report is illustrated with various maps indicating the amount of books in the different states as well as the location of government document depositories and other similar information.

The Winnah!

Fury, flash, and fomentation; fun, fear, and anticipation characterized yesterday's immortal gridiron battle between the baseball brotherhoods of Kappa Alpha and Phi Gamma Delta.

The post-season fray was a grudge affair, tilted for the mighty sloppy stake of one keg of beer. The game was won for one side, then in a burst of glory the other side tied, then the underdogs tired, then the best team forged ahead, and the Good Fairy stepped in and kicked Father Time in the pants (he was tired too) so that the side that played dirty won 9 to 6.

Both Greek teams had stars who felt well, but the gastronomic disturbance went to Kappa Alpha.

The WINNA: K. A. 9; Phi Gam 6. It will go down in the animals of history...

The annual "Out-of-Doors" social of the Methodist Student Forum will be held Friday afternoon at Sparrow's pool.

Set-Up Recommended By Recent Honor Committee

NOMINATIONS MADE

Voting on the proposal for a sub-structure organization of class councils to administer the honor system will take place all day tomorrow in Graham Memorial.

The proposed set-up was recommended by the honor committee headed by Phil Hammer and approved by the Student Council.

John Parker, president of the student body, urges all members of the student body to take part in the referendum.

Personnel

In addition to voting on the proposal for extension of honor system administration, the student body will select the personnel for the various class councils.

The Student Council, as the plan stipulates, has nominated 15 students for each class council. From the list of nominees,

High School Actors Will Play Tomorrow

Playmaker Brown to Direct Owen Davis' "The Ninth Guest"

By BILL HUDSON

Members of what might be called a Playmakers dramatic "farm" will be seen in action tomorrow night on the high school stage when the senior class presents, under the direction of Playmaker Joe Brown, now doing substitute teaching in the school, "The Ninth Guest," a mystery "drammer" in three acts, written by Owen Davis, author of the one-time Pulitzer Prize Winner, "Icebound."

Johnny Walker, Sara Seawell, Lawrence Cheek, and others who have recently trod Playmakers boards are products of local high school dramatic training; and Proff Koch or some of his scouts are always on hand at the annual senior plays to size up future Playmakers. Incidentally, Mr. Koch's son Bobby is a member of the cast.

Coach

These senior plays, which up until this year have been coached by P. C. Farrar, of the education department, who is now ill, have built up a reputation for excellence which usually draws pretty good crowds to see them. What Mr. Brown can do in the way of filling Mr. Farrar's directorial shoes remains to be seen.

The show will begin at 8:30, in the high school auditorium; and admission charges will be 25 and 35 cents.

Dinner Will Honor Coaches Wolf, Vaught

Will Be Guests of Honor at Informal Chi Phi Dinner

Tomorrow evening Football Coaches Raymond Wolf and John Vaught will be guests of honor at an informal dinner at the Chi Phi fraternity house. This will be the first official welcome of that given by the football squad.
