POLISH TEACHER GIVES TALK HERE

Dr. Kuratowski, Warsaw Mathematics Professor, Discusses Problems of "Topology"

In accented English, which had been largely acquired by a six weeks stay in this country, Dr. Kuratowski, mathematics professor of the University of Warsaw, Poland, addressed a group of North Carolina and Duke mathematicians yesterday afternoon on "Problems of Topology."

Flexible Figures

Topology is a type of geometry in which units of space may be expanded or contracted, as rubber, so long as they are not pulled apart. Kuratowski discussed axiomatic characterizations of the plane and showed that a number of the fundamental theories may be proved by a simpler method, which he himself originated.

During his stay in this country, Dr. Kuratowski is making a lecture tour to some of the outstanding American Universities. On his Eastern tour he visited Harvard, Brown, Columbia, and Princeton.

After his lecture this afternoon at Duke University, where he will address a combined seminar of North Carolina and Duke mathematicians on "The Theory of Mathematical Sets and the General Problem of Measure" at 4 o'clock, he will leave for the University of Michigan.

Professor Kuratowski was the guest of honor at a dinner last night at the Hope Valley Country Club.

Heroine

Lysistrata, played by Elizabeth Farrar, bars the doors of Acropolis against the men of Athens in her attempt to end war.

CO-OP MEN VOTE ON TRUST TODAY

Students Will Elect Five New Trustees and Two Permanent Members in Enterprise

Whether or not the Student Co-operative Association will become a trust will be decided by the vote of the members today. The five new trustees will be elected at the same balloting. Ballot boxes will be placed in the Co-op Cloisters and open from 9 to 5 o'clock.

The new trust agreement does not mean a great change in the present system. It merely entails giving the legal form of a trust to the organization, in the opinion of Haywood Weeks, present co-director with Harper Barnes.

New Trustees

The new trustees who have been nominated by the committee are: Harper Barnes, Haywood Weeks, Frank Hanft, M. F. Breckenridge, and Francis Anderson. If the members do not like these choices they have the privilege of writing in five names that they wish.

Two permanent members of the Board of Referees, nominees for which are professors J. M. Lear and H. D. Wolfe, will also be elected, to check on the trustees and see if they are operating wisely the administration of the Co-op's affairs.

By the new agreement, the trustees have title and exclusive management of the trust property, but have no power to call upon the beneficiaries for any sum or assessment.

Investment Banker To Give Talk Today

"The work and function of the investment banker" will be the topic of R. S. Dickson's talk today at 9:30 in 102 Bingham.

As president of R. S. Dickson and Company, investment bankers of Charlotte who handle both underwriting and distribution, Mr. Dickson is well qualified by training and experience to explain investment banking operations.

ASU SPEAKER BELIEVES LEAGUE IN SECURE PLACE

Evans Iterates Conviction That Coalition of Nations Will Preserve Peace

MENTIONS YOUTH GROUPS

Giving a background of the League of Nations during the past 15 years, Archibald Evans, member of the staff of the International Labor Organization at Geneva, told the A. S. U. last night that he believed an enormous coalition of nations would gather against any aggressor in the future.

Expressing doubt that there will be a breakdown of the League, Evans based his opinion on the fact that Great Britain has changed from her do-nothing policy into an active policy of supporting the League. France's attitude of co-operation with Italy in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute has changed also, according to Evans, and with these two great powers working with the League he said he had hopes of collective security.

Rising Societies

Evans explained the change in Great Britain's attitude by the rising of Youth League of Nations Societies which number about 200 in the country. Made up of all types of youth, the societies carry out extensive programs and discussion groups.

"This September a World Youth Congress will be held at Geneva on the theme 'The World We Mean to Make,'" said Evans, "and a great deal of interest will be aroused from this."

Lights will be strung for the occasion and special speakers will be heard. Light refreshments will also be served the freshmen during the evening.

Randall Berg was put in charge of plans for getting the University club members to organize the alumni in their town and give smokers or other informal get-togethers for the high school graduates and prospective students during the summer.

HEALTH BUREAU ISSUES WARNING

Chapel Hill Office Urges Precaution for Vacationers

The health department of Chapel Hill calls attention to the fact that vacation brings with it dangers as well as pleasure and recreation.

It warns against drinking water from unknown sources, as the coolest and most enticing water may be polluted.

It also points out precautions to be taken in swimming. These are: swimming in unapproved or unsupervised places, where water may be polluted; swimming where the depth is too great for the swimmer's ability, or the tides and currents are too strong; swimming less than an hour after eating or when extremely hot or tired.

The department further warns about care in selecting an eating place, as vacation typhoid is still common, resulting especially from milk which is not properly inspected.

Attention is also called to the constant need for care when taking a trip in a car.
