

Student Council Recommends Severance Of All University Affiliations With Co-op Stores

Parker Resigns From New Referee Board

OTHERS GET REQUESTS

The Student Council has requested the University to relinquish all official contact with the Co-operative Stores of Chapel Hill.

In a session this week, the council adopted the resolution that "the Student Council not allow the student body president to assume any official capacity in the charitable trust; that it consult other student officers having been so appointed and request that they resign; and that the council recommends to the University that the University relinquish all official contact with the Student Co-op."

Parker Resigns

Since the resolutions adoption, John Parker has resigned from the Co-operative Stores' Board of Referees. In announcing the council's resolution, Parker stated yesterday that the council had felt the Board of Referees an ineffective organ and that student membership was superfluous.

The council has asked John Williams, next year president of the law school, to resign the position on the board that his presidency entitles him to under the provision of the Co-operative Stores' trust agreement adopted a week and a half ago. Williams is reported to be still "considering" the request.

The president of the Interfraternity Council, who is the

MADRY TO WRITE BOOK FOR McNITTS

Volume Will Deal With College Publicity; Will Be First Of Its Kind

Robert W. Madry, director of the University News Bureau, the publicity department of the University, has accepted an assignment to write a book on college publicity for McNitts, Inc., nationally known printers and engravers of Cleveland, Ohio.

So far as can be ascertained, the volume will be the first ever written to be devoted strictly to college publicity. A large number of books dealing with publicity in general have been in circulation for years, of course, but it is to fill a specific need for college executives and publicists and librarians that Mr. Madry was asked to write the proposed volume.

Need for Book

"During the last 15 years the demand for capable college publicity directors has grown by leaps and bounds, and although many of the needs have been filled, there still exists a great demand by trained college publicists and an even greater demand for a comprehensive book dealing with the various phases of college publicity," says H. A. McNitts, president of McNitts, in announcing Mr. Madry's acceptance of the assignment.

Mr. Madry says he will begin work on the book immediately and hopes to complete it in the next several months. He expects to draw on the experience of other college publicists

OLDSTERS' CLUB GATHERS IN JUNE

Patriarchs' Group Will Be Honored at Banquet to Be Given By University

Plans to organize a "Patriarchs' Club" at the University have just been completed and all graduates of the class of '86 will be initiated into the new organization during the coming commencement season.

According to J. Maryon Saunders of the alumni office, there has been an unusual response from the "grand old men of the alumni" who are eligible to join the new Patriarchs' Club if it has been 50 years since they were graduated.

There are 182 alumni of the classes between 1886 and 1889 who are living. These men will become charter members of the club when it is organized on June 8 at a dinner given in its honor by the University.

John Duncan of Columbus, Tex., who is the oldest living alumnus of the University, will automatically be appointed president of the group. Mr. Duncan will be 98 years of age next August 31 and was a graduate of the class of 1859.

RECORDINGS ARE FAMOUS

Best Known

Bowly left England at the peak of his career and while he was unquestionably the best-known popular singer in Europe to join Noble in New York.

When he came to New York to join Ray Noble, Bowly received a reception equal to the one accorded the orchestra leader and has now made himself a perfect adjunct to the orchestra.

Although Noble and Bowly will feature the last four dances

ECONOMIST WILL PRESENT ARTICLE

Kenan Professor Zimmermann To Give Report on University to Relations Congress

Dr. Erich W. Zimmermann, Kenan professor of economics, has been chosen to represent the University at the bi-annual meeting of the Congress on International Relations which will meet in 1937.

Professors from Stanford, Minnesota, Michigan, and the Fletcher School of Diplomacy have been chosen by the Social Science Research Council to attend the meeting also.

Overseas

A report on each of these separate universities has been rushed to Paris and will also be read shortly in Madrid, Spain. Contained in this report is an article by Dr. Zimmermann outlining the plans, faculty publications, and other items of special interest about the University.

This article which is included with reports of the same nature from the other five nationally known universities should help make this institution become better known in Europe. Work which has been carried on here in the various fields will also be brought more conspicuously to the notice of Europeans in this way.

Until recently the only official link between the United States and the International Congress on International Relations was the Council of Foreign Relations. Recently appointed, however, is an organization by the name of the American Co-ordination committee.

It has been many years since so many out-of-door features have been listed on the University's closing exercises. A lawn party on Baccalaureate Sunday will open these events when the University Band gives the first of a series of outside concerts.
