

Saunders

(Continued from first page)

During the commencement exercises of the University the seniors will need tickets for five events and all members of the graduating class should secure their tickets as early as possible. The 1 o'clock informal luncheon at the Carolina Inn on Class Day is the only event for which a ticket is necessary that will cost the student. These will be sold for 50 cents.

Oratorio tickets will be given out to graduating men Saturday from 10:30 to 1 o'clock and Sunday from 12 to 1 o'clock. Tickets left after that time will be distributed to anyone desiring them from 2:30 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Playmaker production bids will be given out from 10:30 to 12 o'clock Monday morning to seniors and from 12 to 3 o'clock to others who are not seniors.

Correspondence

(Continued from page two)

"honor system." It is as if a passel of cats should meet to discuss vegetarianism!

Let us carry it higher up to our national officers. Not long ago a nit-wit Missouri boy was subjected to pitiless publicity because he had submitted an essay not his own in a national contest. But how is that different from the "ghost writing" resorted to by our semi-literate national figures? No future historian will be able to compile the writings of cabinet officers and other notables—many of them will be found to be from the pen of one George Michelson, ghost writer.

A man in my class was sent home last quarter for copying one word on an examination paper. How about expulsion for the campus big-shots who practice perjury on a bigger scale?

A FACULTY MEMBER.

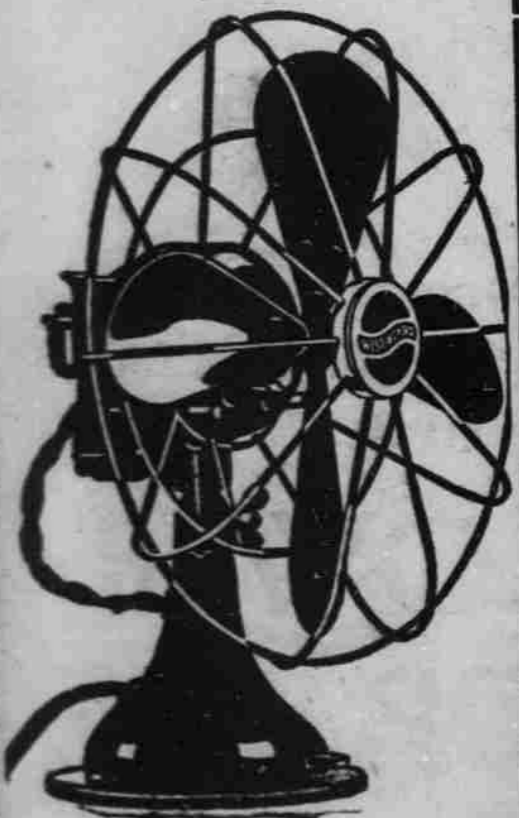

Finals

(Continued from first page)

Both the new and old officers will participate in the figure Saturday evening. The outgoing officers and executive committee are Ben Willis, Lewis Morris, Oscar Tyree, Archie Scales, Mark Lynch, Van Webb, Jimmy Craighill, Dave Mosier, Joe Shull, Pete Williams, and Charlie Edwards.

The incoming officers and committeemen are Jim Finlay, Oscar Tyree, Randy Roland, Brad Toby, Morris Fitts, Louis Shaffner, Bill Lamm, Bill Scott, Billy McClelland, Boylan Carr, and Sam Neaves.

A Fan Will Help You Pass Your Exams

Electric & Water Division
U. C. S. PLANTS

Trustees

(Continued from first page)

Mr. Hill introduced J. K. Wilson and John B. London, who continued in the manner of their predecessors.

At this point the session was enlivened by Mr. Fred Sutton's question: "If we let Carolina keep the engineering school, what do we get? What are they going to do for us?"

Mr. Hill made a motion that the President of the University be empowered to call on any faculty members for their opinion, after President Graham had signified his desire to do so.

Difficulty

After much debate, in which Mr. Charles W. Tillett asked that the faculty be heard, the motion to that effect was adopted. A difficulty then developed when the faculty delegation composed of Dr. Archibald Henderson, Dr. W. F. Prouty, Dr. H. V. Wilson, and Dean H. G. Baity could not be located. President Graham was sent out to search for the wayward professors, but returned without his quarry.

Since the lunch hour was at hand, the meeting was declared in recess while the trustees partook of free lunch provided by the Woman's College.

Afternoon

The afternoon session began with the prompt appearance of the faculty committee who undertook to point out technical and practical weaknesses of a plan to move the engineering school.

Dean Francis Bradshaw, sought to delineate between the two types of engineering education. "Engineering rests on allied courses and not on a few elementary courses," Dr. H. V. Wilson, the elderly biology professor calmly stated, "It looks like a piece of madness to me."

The University faculty members argued in vain, for immediately upon their conclusion and withdrawal, there was launched an attack of backwoods oratory that very effectively cast a spell over the tiring trustees.

Josephus Daniels, U. S. ambassador to Mexico, unleashed a roaring speech, which, although confined to generalities, had visible effect upon his listeners. "We see in Frank Graham," he thundered, "a leader worthy of North Carolina. All the other gentlemen spoke of the University as the Chapel Hill branch only. . . They want Carolina to be a University and State to be a junior college. . . Are we children to fix our mandate one day and rescind it the next?"

Judge John J. Parker, Sr. sounded a solemn note as he rose to defend the plan. "If we pass this motion to reconsider," he warned, "consolidation is wrecked. If consolidation fails, President Graham's life is a failure and he knows it."

DIPLOMA FEE

Each student expecting to receive a degree at this year's commencement is requested to pay his diploma fee to the University cashier at once.

It is necessary that all indebtedness to the University be settled before one is eligible for graduation.

(Signed) T. H. Evans, Cashier.

BOAT TO NEW YORK—$10

Agent will make reservations all day Monday in Y. M. C. A. lobby. Reservations may also be placed with IRA SARASOHN at 205 Lewis.

Special connecting bus leaving Chapel Hill Thursday at 1 o'clock direct to boat at Norfolk. Price $2.95 including trunk. Meals and berth included in boat fare.

University Graduates Run For Legislature

The approach of the local primary June 6 finds a University professor and three former Carolina students offering themselves as candidates for Orange county representative to the state legislature.

Lawrence Flinn, who graduated from the University with honors in 1932 and has been studying at Duke for his Ph.D. in political science, runs on a platform promising "an appropriation for the University sufficient to restore all salaries and to meet its needs."

R. F. Stainback, professor of electrical engineering here, is also a candidate for the position. Other University men who are running are John T. Johnston, member of Golden Fleece, and B. J. Howard, former pastor of the United Church. W. P. Berry of Rougemont is the fifth candidate for the office.

ART EXHIBIT

An exhibition of watercolors by Leonard Good, one of the distinguished young artists of the southwest, will be on display in Hill Music hall from June 1 to 15. This exhibit will replace the "Modern Masters of Etching" exhibit, which will remain on view through today.

Good's work is being brought here by the University Extension Division.

An angelic boyhood becomes a satanic old age.—Erasmus.

Buy Your Gift from the Leading Jeweler in Chapel Hill

L. R. DEKLE
Jeweler & Watchmaker
Over Andrews-Henninger

Athletic Equipment

One hundred and sixty athletes have failed to respond to our request to turn in their equipment at the storeroom. I wish to urge that each man of you who has equipment return it, or recheck it for summer use, at the storeroom tomorrow.

(Signed) R. A. FETZER.

Thanks Students

For Your Patronage

We Wish For You a Very Pleasant Vacation.

Berman's Department Store

Only those live who do good.—Tolstoy.

SPECIALS on FORMAL WEAR

MESS JACKETS $3.95

DINNER JACKETS $6.50 to $9.75

The YOUNG MEN'S SHOP
126-128 E. Main St.
Durham

We Wish to Take This Opportunity to Thank Our Customers for Their Patronage and to Wish Them a Very Pleasant Vacation.

BRUCES 5c to $1.00 STORE

Engraved Cards

For Commencement

Any Style, 100 Cards $2.50
And Plate, Delivered

Orange Printshop

Phone 3781

Carolina Inn Cafeteria and Dining Room Will Be Open During the Summer.

Haywood Duke, Mgr.

To The--- Students

We wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your patronage during the past year and to wish for you a great big summer.

University Service Station

H. S. PENDERGRAFT, Proprietor

Happy Landing

However You Travel Home—One Inexpensive Way to Go Is on One of Our

USED CARS

Several in Running-Condition $25—Others at all Prices

Strowd Motor Co.

"FORD PRODUCTS SINCE 1914"

CAROLINA

HERBERT MARSHALL

GERTRUDE MICHAEL

"Forgotten Faces"

TODAY

BROWN in Sons O' Guns

with JOAN BLONDELL
BEVERLY ROBERTS
ERIC BLORE
WINIFRED SHAW
CRAIG REYNOLDS
JOSEPH KING
ROBERT BARRAT

—OTHER FEATURES—
Musical Novelty—Paramount News
MONDAY

—Tuesday—
GRACE MOORE
FRANCHOT TONE
in "THE KING STEPS OUT"

—Wednesday—
DIXIE DUNBAR
JOHNNY DOWNS
in "THE FIRST BABY"

—Thursday—
"PALM SPRINGS"
Gay and lifting romance with radio's No. 1 star!
FRANCES LANGFORD
SIR GUY STANDING
Ernest Cossart • David Niven
Smith Ballew • A Paramount Picture
Directed by Aubrey Scott
A WALTER WANGER Production

—Friday—
JAMES DUNN
SALLIE EILERS
PINKY TOMLIN
in "DON'T GET PERSONAL"

—Saturday—
EDWARD G. ROBINSON
JOAN BLONDELL
FRANK McHUGH
in "BULLETS OR BALLOTS"