BAND TO SECURE 35 NEW OUTFITS

Athletic Association Contributes Funds

This year, through the generosity of the Athletic association, the University Band will be equipped with 35 new uniforms. With the 37 uniforms purchased last year this will give the band a total of 72 new uniforms, still short of the 100 mark planned for by Mr. Slocum, the band's director.

The uniforms will be here for the football team's first home game at which time the band will assist both the Athletic association and the student body by marching, playing, and cheering.

Drum Major

G. Clarence Courtney will complete his fourth year as drum major of the band. He will be assisted by Mr. Walker, who comes to the band with several years experience as drum major at Asheville high school.

Starting last year, Mr. Slocum inaugurated the system of try-outs for positions in the band, thus creating a better and more interested organization.

The new officers of the band are Jimmy Fuller, president; Tom Harlow, vice-president; Bob Simmons, secretary-treasurer; and Kim Harriman, business manager.

The band plans to accompany the football team on several of their games away. Later in the year the band will make several concert tours throughout the state.

Pete Ivey Directs Many Social Events Of Summer Sessions

Weekly Impromptu Amateur Shows In Student Union Prove Popular

Students at the past summer school were probably the most social minded of any group ever at the University, according to those in charge of the session.

Under the leadership of Pete Ivey, Graham Memorial director, the 1,019 students of the first summer session, and the 639 of the second participated in weekly amateur shows, dances, concerts, and parties.

Amateur Shows

Ivey's most brilliant production was an impromptu series of Wednesday night amateur shows. Overflow crowds filled the student union for the programs with such masters-of-ceremonies as Colonel R. B. House, Admiral Archibald Henderson, Field Marshal W. A. Olsen, and Generalissimo Harry Comer.

Dancing to Jimmy Fuller's music took place every Friday and Saturday night. A new ruling of the summer school permitted women students to remain out every night until midnight.

Ivey was editor of a summer school news column in issues of the Chapel Hill Weekly. Glee clubs and band concerts were heard under Davie Poplar.

Recordings of classical music were played weekly in Kenan stadium during the second quarter.

But with all the social activities, almost 1,000 men and women worked toward degrees during the summer. The remainder did special work and attended institute sessions.

Dr. Edgar A. Knight, summer school director, announces that the 1936 session was the largest in several years, and was one of the University's most successful.

Parker Addresses Freshman 'Y' Group At First Meeting

Bershak, Vanderburgh Also Talk to Freshman Friendship Council

Featuring talks by John Parker and Andy Bershak, the Freshman Friendship council held its first meeting of the year last night at 7 o'clock in the Di Senate hall.

John Bonner, president for this year, presided over the meeting, with Hoge Vick conducting the business session. Jack Seawell, president last year, offered suggestions on running the council.

Speaking on "Football at the University," Andy Bershak urged the freshmen to make the best of their advantages here. Parker spoke on "What Is Education?" and advised members to subordinate activities to studying. Ernest Vanderburgh gave a talk on the League of Nations.

The officers for the coming year are: John Bonner, president; Ed Rankin, vice-president; Roy Clark, secretary; and Harvey Pitman, treasurer. Hoge Vick and Ray McClinton are the advisers.

Phi Assembly

The Phi Assembly will hold its first meeting of this quarter tonight at 7:15. Frank McGlinn, the new speaker, will be in charge of the meeting.

Plans for the coming year will be discussed.

SPECIAL MEETING CALLED BY CLARK

Ivey Train May Cause Rush Rule Change

In an effort to prevent any violation of rushing rules which might arise from freshmen and fraternity upperclassmen traveling together on Pete Ivey's special train to the N. Y. U. game, Henry Clark, president of the Interfraternity council, has called a joint meeting of the Greek chapter heads and the members of the faculty committee on fraternities at 7 o'clock tonight in Graham Memorial to discuss possible changes in rush week plans.

As the regulations governing the rushing of new men prohibit all except the most formal intercourse between fraternity men and rushees, and as the proposed train to New York would necessarily carry freshmen as well as upperclassmen, it seems likely that plans will be made to hold pledge day before the weekend of the N. Y. U. game.

The definite composition of the cabinet will be effected during this week. It was decided last night that the cabinet should consist of nine men, whose duties would be that of a student executive committee for the Foundation.

Several 'Y' Leaders Follow Examples Set By Own Predecessors

Fathers of Turners, Barnett, Magill, and Loomis 'Y' Workers

Several leaders in the University Y. M. C. A. are following their fathers' footsteps, according to Harry Comer, general secretary of the local organization.

Eugene A. Turner, Sr., who has been visiting his sons, Eugene, Jr., and Frank, and checking the work of the University Y. M. C. A. for the last few days, plans to return soon to China where he will resume his work in the foreign department of the American Y. M. C. A.

Played Baseball

Turner is remembered particularly in the alumni annals of Wake Forest for his baseball ability, which contributed much in the defense of the school against the onslaughts of Guilford's nine, led by A. W. Hobbs, dean of the school of arts and sciences. Eugene Turner, sophomore, and Frank Turner, freshman, are both on the Y. M. C. A. cabinets.

Eugene Barnett, alumnus of the University and former secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. chapter, heads the American Y. M. C. A. forces in China as executive secretary. His son, Bob Barnett, attended the University until he received a Rhodes scholarship three years ago. Another son, Dewitt, entered the University this fall as a freshman.

Bob Magill is a prominent cabinet member of the local organization and was formerly president of the sophomore cabinet. Bob was reared in China where his father was on the American Y. M. C. A. staff.

Manly Loomis, Y. M. C. A. junior-senior cabinet man, is the son of a national staff member.

Girls' Glee Club Votes To Pay Dues At First Meeting

Meeting of Club Officers to be Held Sometime This Week

A motion to pay dues amounting to 50 cents a quarter was passed unanimously at the first meeting of the Girls' Glee club yesterday afternoon. This is the first time dues have been paid, and the money will be used as a reserve fund which will be drawn upon when the occasion arises.

Alice Hudson, president, Erika Zimmermann, vice-president, Kate Murphy, secretary, Helen Pritchard, business manager, and Josephine Kessler, librarian, will adopt the constitution and by-laws of the Men's Glee club at this time.

Credit will be given for glee club work if rehearsals are attended regularly. A number of concerts, at least one of which will be given out of town, have been announced.

Although a large number of girls attended the first meeting, more members are needed and are invited to come to the next rehearsal of the group Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Cheer Practice

Hoge Vick announced yesterday that there will be a meeting at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Hill Music hall for the purpose of practicing cheers and songs. All new students and others are urged to be present.

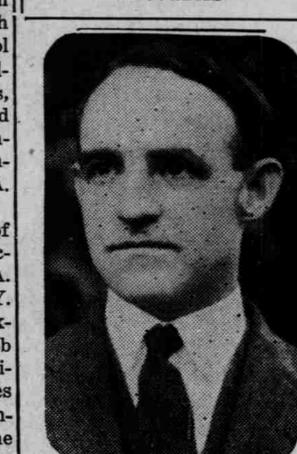

President Graham Welcomes Freshmen To College Career

Greater University Head Tells First Year Men Of Responsibility, Warns Them To Take Fundamentals Of Life Seriously

Charging members of the freshman class with the responsibility of the "fresh bodies, expectant minds, and eternal spirit of youth eager for adventure" which they bring to the University, President Frank P. Graham welcomed first year men to a college career at assembly yesterday morning.

Just returned from a visit to the Harvard tercentenary celebration where he was recognized by Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, Dr. Graham warned the freshmen against the pitfalls which await those who do not take seriously "the fundamentals of human life and personality—body, mind, and spirit."

Returns

Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, who recently returned from the Harvard tercentenary celebration, welcomed first year men yesterday.

Some Fall
"Alma mater knows in her wisdom and sorrow that with every college generation come those who have not the stuff of preparation or the stamina to come through," he declared. "Some break under the strain of worry and overwork. A few are annually dismissed by their fellow students for cheating or other forms of dishonor."

"Others," he continued, "make a noise without much substance, are weeds without the roots of character or thought. A few fall by the wayside of their own empty pleasures, seek to cover their inward failure with outward display or blunt their sense of decent workmanship with the follies of a false freedom."

"Greater Joy"
Emphasizing the necessity of adjustment to the strains of the modern age, President Graham declared that there was "a greater joy for the larger number who follow none of these ways of damaged satisfactions, none of the shortcuts to pleasures which turn to ashes."

"Youth is gloriously free and courageous in defying conventions and practices," he further said, "which have lost their reason or which tend to perpetuate injustice and wrong. Yet the proudest youth cannot, without being broken, break the constant laws of his own nature."

Morality
Upholding the value of morality and denouncing the worth of "superficial sophistication," Dr. Graham asserted that the latest revelations of science and the oldest records of human experience, as well as the "intuitions of the inner man" acknowledge with reverence that "there are moral laws which men cannot violate without damages deeper than their bodies."

Declaring that there is a "personal strength and dignity, an inward happiness, a spiritual radiance, and a wide social usefulness" in living that is "on good physical terms with his own physical nature and the nature of the universe," he advised the freshman to assume a responsibility for personal health requirements.

The women, meeting with Mrs. M. H. Stacy, discussed the pageant, which will be given jointly with the Betsy Ann Shop of Chapel Hill. The pageant will be an evolution of American fashions, and work will begin immediately.
