Hollett Succeeds Miller As Acting Dean Of Engineering

Baity Quits WPA Post To Teach Sanitary Engineering

Miller Takes Alabama Position

A. R. Hollett, professor in the civil engineering department, has been appointed to act as dean of the engineering school in the absence of Dean H. G. Baity, who is serving this year as professor of public health in the sanitary engineering department.

Professor Hollett succeeds William J. Miller, who acted during the past three years as engineering dean of the University while Professor Baity was on leave as local administrator of the WPA. Professor Miller resigned last spring to assume a position in the electrical engineering department at the University of Alabama.

The vacancy left by Professor Baity's resignation as WPA administrator has not yet been filled.

Vacancies

Other appointments have been made to fill the vacancies created in the engineering department by the resignation of some of the professors. Dr. Sherman Smith, a member of the chemistry department last year, has become the new head of the chemical engineering department. He succeeds Dr. White, who acted in that position last year.

Captain F. F. Groseclose, former V. P. I. professor, and C. N. Stanford, of Langley Field, Va., have come here this year to serve in the mechanical engineering department, and Charles T. G. Leoney, formerly of the University of Illinois, has become professor of civil engineering here.

SYMPHONY HOLDS FIRST REHEARSAL

Re-elect Albin Pikutis Head Of Orchestra

Albin Pikutis was re-elected president of the University symphony orchestra at a meeting Tuesday night. Bob Kirschman was elected vice president; Mrs. Davis, secretary-treasurer; and Charles Miller, business manager.

The first campus concert is scheduled to take place near the end of the winter quarter. Several out-of-town engagements are also being arranged.

Concerts

Dr. Swalin, conductor of the orchestra, has requested that all prospective members see him immediately so that adequate plans can be made for concerts in the near future. There is a special need at this time for bassoon, double bass, cello, and violin players.

Rehearsals are being held regularly every Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Hill Music hall.

Meade To Lynchburg

R. D. Meade, social science instructor here, is leaving today to accept an associate professorship in history at Randolph-Macon college in Lynchburg, Va.

Mr. Meade taught at the University of Illinois, where he received his Ph.D., Vanderbilt university, University of Virginia and at the University during the past four years.

Resigns Post

Professor H. G. Baity, dean of the engineering school on leave, who has recently resigned his WPA post he held last year to serve as the professor of public health in the local sanitary engineering department.

McClinton, Cassels New Staff Members In YM-YWCA Work

Both Are Graduate Students Having Wide "Y" Experience

The University Christian association announced yesterday through Harry Comer, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the addition of two new staff members for the year.

They are Ray McClinton and Jane Cassels, who are both following an academic career in the social science graduate school.

McClinton and Miss Cassels were co-chairmen of the Blue Ridge conference of the association held last June, and both have been executives in the organization for the past few years.

McClinton

An honor graduate of Millsap, Jackson, Miss., McClinton was president of the Millsap Y. M. C. A., and president of the student body in his senior year. With experience as chairman of the Southern Field council of the student Y. M. C. A. he is serving as an assistant secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., his work being devoted largely to the Freshman Friendship council and freshman Y. M. C. A. activities.

Special Train To Yankee Stadium Would Cost $15.40 Per Student

Ivey Hopes to Have 500 Passengers on Train Which May Leave October 6

A round-trip fare of $15.40 per person seemed last night the lowest possible rate. A. Guy Ivey, supervisor of the Carolina-N. Y. U. special football train, can obtain for the 500 students he hopes will make the journey on October 17.

Ivey has spent the last week communicating with officials of Southern and Seaboard railways, both of whom are required to make the same rates under government regulations. Though both lines have made flat rates, he is still attempting to get a greater reduction in fare.

Confident that many students from New York state and New England will want to join the

Annual Shack Dance To Be Held Oct. 2 With Johnson's Orchestra

Invitations Being Issued for Spencer Hall Card Affair

The annual Spencer hall dance will be held Friday, October 2, it was announced yesterday by Nancy Kyser, chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

Freddie Johnson's orchestra which has been engaged for the affair, will then make its initial appearance in Chapel Hill for this year.

Invitations are being issued individually, and blind dates are being arranged. The entire dance will be by card.

Previously Spencer hall has issued blanket invitations to the Interfraternity council, the Athletic council, the Interdormitory council, the publications staffs, and the University club, these organizations sending their representatives to the dance.

PLAYERS CHOOSE 'THE DRUNKARD' TO OPEN SEASON

Drama First Produced At Boston Museum Century Ago

"The Drunkard," or "The Fallen Saved" will be the opening play for the 19th season of the Carolina Playmakers, it was announced yesterday.

Written long before but first produced in 1844 in the old Boston Museum, the play is a shining example of the blood-and-thunder or "Aha, me proud beauty" plays of that and later periods.

"The Drunkard" is one of those rare pieces of literature which, though they are regarded in this day as being more on the funny side, were then looked upon seriously as having a tremendous moral lesson to be recognized and appreciated by all.

Tryouts

In the Samuel French edition of the play, which the Playmakers are using, there are parts for 13 men and six women including Edward, the hero; Mary Wilson, the heroine; Lawyer Cribbs, the villain; Agnes Downton, a maniac, and several other principals.

Tryouts for the production, which is to be given on the evenings of October 22, 23 and 24, under the direction of Harry Davis, will be held in the Playmakers theatre Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

New Art Department To Exhibit Masters At Formal Opening

Renovated Person Hall Serves New Purpose November 1

Once the scene of pharmaceutical concoctions, musical instruments, and Playmaker scenery, historic Person hall will soon open its doors to easels and paint brushes.

According to Russell Smith, head of the newly-created art department, the opening will take place between November 1 and 15.

The occasion will be marked by an exhibition of old masters and will be held in the center room which has already been laid with a floor "ideal for a museum," Mr. Smith said. Overhead light and plain wall coverings will permit pictures to be demonstrated to the best advantage.

Exhibits

Following this opening exhibition, Dr. Smith hopes to have a showing of modern art such as is being done by the Federal Arts Project. Student exhibits will also be held from time to time.

On one side of the exhibition room will be a classroom for students in the new history and appreciation of art classes. On the other side will be a studio for practical art students. All the latest contrivances for fitting out studios will be contained therein.

Aiding Dr. Smith in the art department is Mrs. Stanley McNeir, who is at present teaching extension classes in the western part of the state. Three or four students have already registered for the course leading to a degree in fine arts.

Everett Stevens To Give Concert In Graham Memorial Sunday At 5

Registration

The registration figure yesterday stood at 2948, predicting this year's enrollment at the University to be the largest in its history, according to Ben Husband, registrar.

DR. CHANG JOINS MICHIGAN STAFF

Was Former Exchange Teacher Here

Dr. Y. Z. Chang, recently connected with the English department of the University, has been appointed an exchange professor at the University of Michigan for this year.

Confucius

After leaving the University at the end of the spring quarter, Dr. Chang went to New York City where he did work in the city library on a book about Confucius. After that Dr. Chang went to Ithaca, N. Y., to work in the Cornell university library. He is also working on a book on English Literary Criticism.

Lectures

Later in the summer Dr. Chang went to Mississippi and to Georgia to deliver lectures.

While teaching on this campus Dr. Chang gave many lectures to clubs and organizations here as well as in many of the neighboring cities.

A.S.U. Commences Campaign To Gain Admittance Of Local Girls As University Freshmen

Begins Drive

John W. Frink of Chapel Hill, president of the ASU, who began an organized campaign last night to admit Chapel Hill girls to the General College of the University. Frink assumed his new duties as head of the ASU this month.

Attention, Freshmen!

Henry Clark, Interfraternity council head, announced yesterday that freshmen rooming with fraternity upperclassmen must cease to do so immediately if they expect to join a Greek lodge.

Local ASU Group Forms Plan Of Action; To Start At Once

Would Use Canvass, Petitions

By RUTH CROWELL

The University branch of the American Student union last night started its drive for admittance of Chapel Hill girls to the University in their freshman and sophomore years.

A committee of seven members was appointed to organize the campaign and collect definite data and figures on the matter to be presented to the union at its meeting next week. Headed by Jack Frink, president of the union, the committee consists of John Elmendorf, Nancy Kyser, Jane Cassels, Manny Kirschner, Mary Lindsay, and Ruth Crowell.

Plan of Action

A tentative plan of action, subject to the change of the steering committee, was outlined by Frink. First, statistics on local coed attendance from 1931-35 will be secured, and figures on where local coeds now attend school will be obtained. Petitions will be circulated throughout the entire student body and a house-to-house canvass of the town will be made getting signatures of persons wanting local coed admission. Recommendations from faculty members will be obtained, and the attitude of the trustees toward the matter will be sounded. The petitions will be submitted to the board of (Continued on last page)

FIRST MAGAZINE TO APPEAR SOON

Feature Story On Labor Exploiters Here

An article exposing University faculty members as not the most innocent exploiters of self-help students will be a feature of the first Carolina Magazine, due October 15.

Written by a student who, according to Editor Jim Daniels, has held practically every type of self-help job in Chapel Hill, the article will also give the new editor an opportunity for fresh editorial bombastics in his first issue.

Other Articles

In addition to the account of exploitation of student labor in Chapel Hill, at least two other articles will appear by students who have lived what they write.

The first of a series of accounts of life in a C.C.C. camp will be written by a student-veteran of that life.

A satire on freshman attempts to "make" certain fraternities, written by now-Sophomore Randolph Reece after last year's rushing season, will also appear in the first magazine.

In announcing his first magazine, Daniels last night stated that his editorial columns will reveal "some definite opinions and prejudices."

The official deadline for all magazine copy is October 6.

Parker Moves Office

Mr. John Parker, head of the department of community drama, has moved his office to 314 South building.
