

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME XLV

BUSINESS PHONE 4154

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1936

EDITORIAL PHONE 4151

NUMBER 9

HONOR COUNCILS WILL HOLD FIRST MEET TOMORROW

Class Representatives To Get Together In Student Union

Organization meetings of class honor councils, first in the University's history, will take place in Graham Memorial tomorrow night.

Senior and sophomore councils will convene at 7:30 p. m., and junior and pharmacy school groups an hour later.

John Parker and Fred Weaver, president and vice president of the Student council, will meet with the two sections to discuss their functions and duties.

Members

Representatives who will meet tomorrow night are listed below.

Senior class, Marvin Allen, Joe Grier, Bill Lamm, Louis Shaffner, Julien Warren and Robert E. Williams.

Junior class, Gene Bricklemeyer, Warren Haddaway, Joe Patterson, Carl Peiffer, Ramsay Potts, and Mac Smith.

Sophomore class, Bill Campbell, Bill Hendrix, Jim Joyner, John Moore, and Bill Stronach.

Pharmacy school, Herman Thompson, senior; Joe Link, junior; and Grey Kornegay, sophomore.

Mistaken Identity

A woman with a decided society drawl stopped at the desk of the Carolina Inn and asked: "What were all these men doing outside?"

"They are the Colgate team come down to play Duke tomorrow," replied clerk Billy Worth.

"Oh, yes, Colgate cold cream."

"No, ma'am, Colgate toothpaste," explained serious faced Billy.

"Why, of course," she said and walked out.

DRAMATIC GROUP WILL MEET SOON

State Directors Plan For Two-Day Program

The directors of the Carolina Dramatic association will hold their fall meeting in Chapel Hill October 9 and 10, and tentative plans for the meeting herald a program to which all forms and phases of drama in the state will convene.

For the opening session Friday evening, October 9, at 7:30, a special Federal theater rally is planned. At this meeting Dr. Frederick H. Koch, regional adviser of the Federal theater project, will explain the new organization of the Federal theater projects in North Carolina, and introduce the newly appointed state supervisor, Howard W. Bailey, and Mrs. May E. Campbell, of the Works Progress administration.

Talks

Mrs. Campbell and Dr. Koch will give short talks concerning the plans and hopes for this work; a presentation to demonstrate the work is planned for several of the Federal theater groups.

At 8:30 Saturday morning, October 10, the Carolina Inn will be the scene of the usual breakfast-business session. At this session, report and plans for the Festival will be made.

The morning session, meeting in the Playmakers theater at

(Continued on last page)

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet

These "Y" girls conducted this fall the first woman's orientation program ever held on the campus. Reading from left to right, front row: Anne Fauntleroy, Mamie Rose McGinnis, Elva Ann Ranson, Polly Pollock; second row, Jo Kessler, Margaret McGirt, Mary McKee, Julia Peebles, Nancy Smith, Ruth Crowell; third row, Eliza Rose, Molly Rumsey, Kay Murphy, Helen Pritchard, and Julia Folsom.

Shining Copper Tubes Will Give Dorm Boys Saturday Night Water

University Replaces Old, Rusty Pipe with 1800 Feet of New Larger Hot Water Carrier

A new hot water supply system connecting the dormitories of the two quadrangles on the campus was completed this week in an effort to make the University homes a more desirable place to live.

Some 1800 feet of large copper tubing have been laid in double lines during the past 50 days so as to carry hot water from the University water plant to the dormitories. The pipe is rust proof and larger than that in use in the past.

This step was necessary as the steel pipe used for the past 15 years was badly rusted and too small to give adequate service.

This project as well as the dormitories as a whole have been declared to be in nearly perfect condition by Dr. Melvin of the State Board of Health. Dr. Crissman of the local health department has also inspected the rooms of the school's living quarters and found them in good condition.

BANK TO REMAIN OPEN UNTIL 2 P. M.

Students' Convenience Cause Of Change

Beginning tomorrow, the Bank of Chapel Hill will remain open every day until 2 o'clock, except Saturday, when it will shut its doors at 1 o'clock.

"We want to cooperate with the students," said Cashier W. E. Thompson yesterday. "There has been much misunderstanding that we feel is due to the fact that students do not understand banking procedure. For instance, the student is often nettled when he finds that he must be identified before he can cash a check. This is necessary because we must certify the endorsement to the bank on which it is drawn."

The 1 o'clock closing time was tried in order that the tellers would not have to eat luncheon during banking hours, thus leaving only two men on duty. However, since this change has not resulted in any convenience to the bank, and has inconvenienced students and faculty alike because of classes and meetings, the return to the old schedule has been made.

KOCH SPEAKS ON THIRTY YEARS OF FOLKPLAY WORK

Drama Division Head Shows Color Slides In Lecture

"Every human is an artist," said Dr. F. H. Koch Friday night in an illustrated lecture at the Playmaker theater on the history of his 30 years in folkplaymaking.

"Our object is to bring out that bit of art. The kind of education we believe in is not just intellectual art, but that which satisfies the soul of man."

"I want to congratulate you on having the opportunity to take part in such a course of theatrical art. Up until a few years ago, we were obliged to study Shakespeare out of books. Shakespeare himself had been dead a number of years before his plays became recognized as

(Continued from page one)

Daily Tar Heel Is Swamped With Ninety-Seven Aspiring Writers

Sixteen Coeds Report to Work on Campus Newspaper; Increase Made Over Last Year

Ninety-seven candidates, sixteen of them coeds, have reported to the editorial offices of the DAILY TAR HEEL to offer their services to the paper.

Those reporting were: R. C. Afzelius, Harold Augenblick, R. K. Barber, Richard Barrett, D. L. Beaty, Joseph Boak III, Tommy Braddon, R. M. Bragdon, Jr., Fred Browne, H. J. Burgess, Pete Burkheimer, J. C. Busby, G. W. Carr, Jr., H. C. Clement, G. N. Crowell, J. S. Currie, Sarah Dalton, E. R. Dickerson II, Eleanor Doak, Bill Dowling, Ruth Duffee, T. D. Eaves, Margaret Evans, E. P. Parish, A. A. Fox, N. J. Ganslen, John Gibbons, Cornelia Gray, C. W. Gunter, B. C. Halperin, S. P. Hancock, Martin Harmon, D. C. Hicks, P. B. Holbrook, Frank Holeman, D. A. Howard, Norman Hurwitz, C. B. Hyatt, J. D. Joslin, Norman Kantor, Bernard Kaufman, Elizabeth Keeler, T. B. Keys, Walter Kleeman, Julian Lane, Robert Leslie, L. S. Levitch, J. B. Long, R. B. Lowery, J. C. McCall, William McGeady, Paul McGinty, Mary Matthews, W. J. Mauter, E. H. Megson, W. W. Michaux, Ralph Miller, Katherine Moore, W. R. Morris, R. G. Murchison, K. V. Murphy, G. E. Nicholson, Jr.,

(Continued on last page)

Name Over Entrance Lonely Survivor Of Obie's Swain Regime

Waitresses in Green-and-White, Gleaming Metal Steam Tables Transform Old Commons

"Would you like some bacon?", asked in a charming voice, its owner dressed in soothing green and white, is something novel to hear in Swain hall, once the University eating commons. It puts a new aspect on 8:30 classes, hurried lunches, and leisurely suppers.

But Swain hall is no more. Only the frame remains. Not so long ago a dilapidated structure containing numerous plain wooden chairs and plain wooden tables, this historic frame now has the honor of housing a delightful architectural masterpiece of shiny rails, light green walls, chairs with noiseless gliders, a double row of steam tables, and an atmosphere guaranteed pleasant by a washed air cooling system. With indirect lighting, wonders have been worked in securing spaciousness and brightness.

Variety

A variety of foods, planned by an expert dietitian and cooked by chefs who can cook, leaves no room for complaint from such finicky specialists in vitamins

(Continued on last page)

Phi Gam Initiates

Three members were initiated into the fraternity of Phi Gamma Delta Wednesday night. They were Zack Long, '25, Gene Harrington '39, and Lawrence Copenhagen, '39.

Long finished his medical course at Pennsylvania, and has been practicing since in Rockingham. Harrington comes from Wilson, and was a member of last year's freshman tennis squad. Copenhagen comes from Johnson City, Tenn., and is on the football squad this season.

Famous 'Ec. 11' Proff To Address Cabinets

Sophomore, Junior-Senior "Y" Groups will Hear Zimmermann

Dr. E. W. Zimmermann will speak to the sophomore and junior-senior "Y" cabinets tomorrow night at 7:15 in the lecture room of Bingham hall.

George MacFarland, president of the Y. M. C. A., invites any on the campus who are interested to attend the meeting.

John Bonner, president of the Freshman Friendship council announces that a speaker is scheduled on his program, which includes the sophomore quartet led by Ellis Bullins.

Coeds Transfer Here

Approximately 100 new women transfer students have been enrolled in the University, according to figures obtained yesterday from the infirmary, where all new students were required to undergo a physical examination.

Coming here from colleges located throughout the nation, these new students have found living quarters in Spencer hall, Archer house, and private dwellings in Chapel Hill. Seventy-five girls live in the Shack.

Mrs. M. H. Stacy, adviser to women, states that the number of new transfers is no larger than last year's.

Tar Heels Beat Deacons 14-7 By Rally In Final Quarter After Trailing First Half

Pianist

Everett Stevens, composer-pianist, who will play at this afternoon's Graham Memorial concert at 5 o'clock.

PIANIST STEVENS TO GIVE RECITAL THIS AFTERNOON

Student Union Concert Will Feature Famous Washingtonian

This afternoon at 5 o'clock Everett Stevens, composer-pianist of Washington, D. C., will give a concert in Graham Memorial lounge.

Mr. Stevens was secured for the second concert of the Graham Memorial series on the recommendation of Mrs. C. T. Murchison, wife of Dr. Murchison, who was formerly of the University faculty.

Other Appearances

He has made appearances over the radio in New York, Washington and other large cities and is now engaged as soloist with the National symphony orchestra. "Haymakers," published by

(Continued on last page)

FRESHMEN ASKED TO PHI ASSEMBLY

First Regular Meeting Will Be Tuesday

The Philanthropic assembly will open its doors to freshmen at its first regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:15 in New East.

All freshmen and upperclassmen interested in debating and discussion of campus, national, and international issues are urged to attend the meeting, according to Frank McGinn, speaker of the Phi.

For Coeds

Speaker McGinn will deliver a short inaugural address, telling the history of the assembly, and its work for the year. The bill for discussion will be, Resolved, That the Phi assembly go on record as approving admission of freshman and sophomore coeds to the University.

The assembly was founded in 1795, and many prominent men, including Josephus Daniels, Governor Ehringhaus, and Elisha Mitchell, have been members. Three formal debates, including one exclusively for freshmen, will be held this year with the Dialectic senate, the other literary society on the campus.

Buck, Little And Ditt Star In Tar Heel Victory

Wake Forest Scores Early

By FLETCHER W. FERGUSON

Memorial Stadium, Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 26—After being outsmarted by a heady Wake Forest team for the first and second periods, Coach Wolf's North Carolina football machine came back in the final periods here this afternoon to run wild and triumph over the Baptists 14-7.

The Deacons opened scoring in the first period when Dallas Morris, halfback, returned Bunny Burnette's punt 57 yards through the entire Tar Heel team to cross the goal line standing up. His kick for the extra point was good.

Le Start

However, the Tar Heels were not to be outdone this afternoon, their efforts finally bringing two scores in the last quarter as Little passed to Buck for the first marker of the year and the mighty mite, Crowell Little, skirted right end for the second touchdown. Burnette's accurate toe added both placements.

That Carolina was in for a busy afternoon was evidenced right at the start. Wake Forest took the upper hand and maintained an almost complete domination until midway through the second period. With only seconds remaining in the first quarter, Dal Morris, a Charlotte boy, made his sideline jaunt for the touchdown.

Near One

Near the end of the second

(Continued on page three)

'DRUNKARD' CAST WILL BE CHOSEN

Tryouts To Be Held Twice Tomorrow

Tryouts for the first in a six-show bill of plays for the year, "The Drunkard," or "The Fallen Saved," will be held in the Playmakers theater tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and tomorrow night at 7:30.

Temperance Drama

The play, an uproarious temperance drama of other times, will be directed by Harry Davis. Professor Davis wishes it made clear, in response to many questions, that previous experience is not necessary, and that everyone, including freshmen, upperclassmen, faculty, and townspeople, is invited to try out for any of the numerous productions throughout the year.

Props

Ora Mae Davis will design the costumes, and create the dances to be used in "The Drunkard," and John Walker will construct the sets with the assistance of the classes in scenery design.

During the season the Playmakers will give five other productions as well as six bills of experimental plays written in Proff Koch's playwriting courses. A tour is being planned by the organization, which will be even more extensive than that of last year.