UNIVERSITY DAY SCHEDULES TALK BY DR. MITCHELL

University Of Richmond Professor To Give Major Address

Dr. Samuel Chiles Mitchell, professor of history at the University of Richmond, has accepted an invitation to make the University Day address October 12.

Dr. Mitchell's subject will be "What Is A State University? It Is A State Thinking." This coming University Day will be the 143rd celebration commemorating the laying of the cornerstone of Old East building, the oldest state university building in America.

Graham

President Frank P. Graham delivered the Founders' Day address in 1934 and last year gave his famous address, "Can Democracy Survive in This Modern World?"

Dr. Mitchell is a native of Mississippi and was president of the University of South Carolina from 1908 until 1913. In 1914 he became president of the University of Delaware and remained in this position until 1920 when he became professor of history at the University of Richmond.

Dr. Mitchell is the editor of a volume on social life in "The South in the Building of the Nation."

NEW MEN ADDED TO CHEER SQUAD

Vick Names Assistants To Cheer Leaders

Head Cheerleader Hoge Vick held a tryout for new assistants yesterday afternoon and chose three men to serve on his squad.

Pat Patterson from Burlington, and Hammett Cecil from High Point, will serve actively on the cheering squad along with Veterans Vick, Boo Campbell, and Glen Davis. A. B. Dickson from Raeford, was chosen as alternate.

Debut

These new men will make their debut at the first pep meeting of the year which will be held Friday night at 7:15. The students are to gather in front of the post office and march behind the band to the South building.

"I wish to thank all of the men who came out and cooperated with me during this search for new cheerleaders," Vick announced.

Di Senate To Argue Admission Of Coeds

The Di Senate, student organization for the purpose of discussing and debating contemporary campus, national, and international problems, will hold its first business session tonight at 7:30 in the assembly room in New East.

The subject for debate, announced George Steele, Senate president, is: Resolved, that Women Graduates of Chapel Hill high school should be allowed to enter the freshman class of the University. Newton Craig supports the negative in opposition to Alex Heard, who will lead the affirmative discussion.

This will be the first meeting of the year open to freshmen. All those interested are invited to attend the meeting.

Musician

Albert Spalding, called one of the world's leading violinists, who will appear here on the tentative date of January 15.

ALBERT SPALDING TO APPEAR HERE

Violinist Secured For Winter Concert

Albert Spalding, recognized as one of the leading violinists of the world, will appear here in Memorial hall under the auspices of Phi Mu Alpha, honorary musical fraternity, on tentative date of January 15.

Each year Phi Mu Alpha brings a leading artist to the campus. Last year, Gladys Swarthout, Metropolitan contralto, was the guest of the fraternity.

Debut

Spalding made his concert debut in Paris in 1905 and since then has appeared in recitals all over the world. His first appearance in America was with the New York Symphony society in 1908. In addition to his skill in interpreting the works of others, Mr. Spalding has composed several works himself.

Coed Restriction

Women students must not enter any fraternity house on the campus until Mrs. Stacy has made arrangements with each fraternity allowing coeds to be entertained there, according to Margaret Jordan, president of the Woman's association. Miss Jordan requests full cooperation in this matter.

Tombstones Of Foreign Soldiers Amuse Local History Professor

MacKinney Cites Conditions as Seen on Foreign Soil During Past Six Months

Medieval History Professor L. C. MacKinney, having just returned from an extensive six months' visit to Europe, declares "I can't understand why so many tombstones and markers are being erected for the dead soldiers of the last war."

"Every country I visited has been, and still is, erecting monuments on the sites of the old battlefields, which amuses me very much, for in my opinion, they are practically ready to break into another conflict."

Youth

"I was particularly impressed by the youth in Italy, France,

GRAHAM ADVISES FRESHMAN CLASS AS TO LIFE HERE

University Head Names Honor As Greatest Of Traditions

Urging members of the freshman class to avail themselves of "every opportunity for development which the campus offers," President Frank Graham addressed for the second time this year the incoming class of '40 in yesterday morning's assembly.

Dean of Administration R. B. House introduced the President of the Greater University, who moved onto the lower platform to speak in his customarily informal manner.

Honor

"Greatest of the traditions of the University of North Carolina is that of honor," he declared. "Be sincere and truthful and develop for yourself a personality to cope with those you come in contact with every day."

Issuing a plea for truth and honor, the basis of the University's policy of freedom, he cautioned the freshmen to "be honorable. If there is any remnant of dishonor here, you can clean it out. Get something on your own responsibility. If you cheat yourself now, you will cheat yourself later."

Qualities

"This University will remain free—a place where men can find the truth and write it and speak it," he continued. A distinguished faculty, a well-balanced curriculum, a well-stocked library, and progressive scientific laboratories are, with this essential principle of freedom, according to the speaker, the qualities which make North Carolina an educational stronghold.

Advising the freshmen to become acquainted with at least a part of the "distinguished" faculty provided by the University, the president asserted that "we have men on this faculty who are known on five continents, yet I have seen men graduate from here who never even knew about them."

Balanced Curriculum

"A well-balanced curriculum," he continued, "should be so valuable that you may come to know yourself as a physical organism. By means of the biological and physical sciences, you learn something of the social organism about you. In the humanities, you learn the best of the spirit of our race."

Chairman

Trez P. Yeatman, chairman of the Human Relations Institute committee, who will begin his year's work tonight at a meeting of the group.

HONOR COUNCILS TOLD OF DUTIES

Parker, Weaver Explain Group Functions

Honor councils of the senior, junior, sophomore classes, and the pharmacy school met last night with Student Council President John Parker and Vice President Fred Weaver and learned their duties as adjuncts to the Student council.

Speaking to each council in turn, Parker and Weaver explained their functions as "hearing all cases involving, as defendants, members of your respective class. You will determine only innocence or guilt." If the class council decrees the defendant guilty, his case will be advanced to the Student council for final judgment and sentence.

Meetings

Each group was urged to make plans for a meeting of the entire class it represents, at which a full explanation of the new honor system's program will be made.

Appointment of faculty advisers to the four councils will be made by the Student council this fall.

In addition to the delegates chosen by the student body last May, those present at last night's sessions were class presidents and the class delegates to the Student councils, who are chairmen of the honor council of their class.

A. S. U. Group Lays Plans For Action On Coed Question

Organization Expects to Interview John Sprunt Hill

Detailed plans for gaining admission of local girls into the freshman and sophomore classes of the University were outlined at a meeting Sunday of the American Student union steering committee, in charge of the campaign.

President Jack Frink has contacted John Sprunt Hill, prominent trustee of Durham, and the group expects to interview him on the matter soon. Petitions will be brought to the tomorrow night meeting of the organization, and the circulation of the petitions will be organized at that time.

Various A. S. U. members will appear at the meetings of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Phi assembly and Di senate this week to ask for their support in the local coed issue. Figures on registration of coeds from 1931-1936 are being compiled, and other data secured to be presented to the group meeting tomorrow night.

Human Relations Committee To Open Year's Work Tonight

Phi Assembly Plans Freshman Greeting At Meeting Tonight

Speaker McGlinn Scheduled to Make Inaugural Address

The Philanthropic assembly will hold a meeting especially designed for the freshmen and new students tonight on the top floor of New East at 7:15.

All freshmen and other students that are interested in debating, campus issues, politics, speaking, national and international issues are urged to come and take part, according to Frank McGlinn, speaker.

Speaker McGlinn will make a short inaugural address on the assembly's history. The bill for discussion tonight deals with whether freshman and sophomore coeds should be admitted here.

Campus To Vote On Dame Fashion For AKG Pageant

Polls Open at "Y" for All Students to Select Outstanding Coed for Show

A fashion show depicting the evolution of American dress styles from 1776 to the present will be given by Alpha Kappa Gamma the nights of October 29 and 30.

The spotlight of the program will be turned on Dame Fashion who will reign over the event, and will be chosen by popular election Thursday. The polls will be open all day in the "Y," and every student is asked to vote for his favorite of the five girls nominated by Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Nominees

The girls nominated for Dame Fashion are Elizabeth Keeler, Marguerite Morris, Eliza Rose, Virginia Burd, and Mrs. Kirby Smith, formerly Juanita Greene. Margaret Jordan, in charge of the election, requests that each student vote only once.

The pageant will be produced in five scenes showing the fashions of 1776, 1860, 1880, 1900, and 1936. The second act will be the modeling of advanced fall and winter styles. Both boys and girls will be used in the exhibition of the older styles.

Assistants

Assisting Alpha Kappa Gamma in the production of the pageant are the Y. W. C. A., Pi Beta Phi, Chi Omega, town girls and residents of Spencer hall, each of which will be responsible for one scene.

Mrs. Jackson, proprietress of the Betsy Ann Shop, is securing costumes and gowns from New York to be worn at the pageant.

Archaeologists Plan Annual Meeting Here

The biennial meeting of the Archaeological Society of North Carolina will be held on the campus Friday and Saturday.

T. M. N. Lewis, head of the department of anthropology of the University of Tennessee, will give a lecture, "Unraveling Tennessee's Pre-history," at 8:30 p. m. Friday in Graham Memorial.

There are 96 members of the organization, with Dr. W. E. Caldwell of the history department as president.

Institute Group Plans To Bring Prominent Speakers Here

Study Of Problems Purpose

Concerned with plans and problems for this year's program, the Human Relations Institute under the chairmanship of Trez P. Yeatman, will hold its first committee meeting of the year tonight at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A.

The institute has as its purpose, according to Harry F. Comer, executive secretary of the organization, and general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the extensive and intensive study of some leading social, economic, international, political and interracial problems of the modern world—under the leadership of a group of nationally outstanding visitors.

Membership

Membership in the institute and participation in the seminars is open to all interested students.

The student representation on the executive committee consists of Don McKee, Nick Reed, Niles Bond, George MacFarland, John Parker, Bob Magill, Louis Shaffner, Anne Fauntleroy, Frank McGlinn, Mac Smith, Albert Ellis, Jim Daniels, Jane Ross, Julien Warren, and Trez P. Yeatman, chairman.

The members of the committee representing the faculty are F. P. Graham, E. L. Mackie, D. D. Carroll, K. C. Frazer, H. W. Odum, E. J. Woodhouse, F. F. Bradshaw, Harriet Herring, H. D. Wolf, R. B. House, C. B. Robson, J. M. Sanders, and H. F. Comer, executive secretary.

BOND TO RESIGN BUCCANEER POST

Senior Class President Pressed For Time

Explaining his desire to do effective work in a few extra-curricular activities, Niles Bond last weekend asked the Publications Union board to relieve him of his duties as business manager of the Buccaneer, effective after the first fall issue of the humor magazine.

"... I have several other positions of responsibility here on the campus for the coming year, all of which make necessary and legitimate demands upon my time," his communication to the board reads.

Board Meeting

The first issue of the Buccaneer will appear about October 15. Before that time, a meeting of the Publications Board will be called for the selection of Bond's successor.

Some of the activities which have forced Bond to quit his publications position include presidency of the senior class, a freshman advisory position in Graham dormitory, and membership on numerous campus committees.

A. S. C. E. To Meet

The American Society of Civil Engineers will hold their first meeting tonight at 7:30 in room 319 Phillips hall.

President Robert Peck stated that a vice-president will be elected, and plans for the coming year will be discussed.
