STATION W. P. T. F. WILL BROADCAST TENNESSEE GAME

New Broadcasting Box Being Constructed At Stadium

The University football games will go on the air commencing with the Carolina-Tennessee game tomorrow.

The athletic department has seen fit, due to the raising of the ban on broadcasting Southern conference games and because of the example set by other colleges, to start broadcasting its home games.

State Hookup

A state wide network will relay the game, play by play. Station WPTF, Raleigh, will handle the actual broadcasting tomorrow.

A portable, sound-proof broadcasting booth is now being erected by the buildings department at Kenan stadium. The present box is not intended for permanent use, it was announced.

Interior

The booth is large enough to accommodate all necessary broadcasting apparatus. Inside the structure two announcers, one engineer, and two "spotting" assistants will be stationed.

The plans and construction have been under the direction of WPTF engineers.

This will be the first home game broadcast from the University, and the broadcasting will continue throughout the season. The Southern conference restriction on broadcasting was lifted at the annual meeting last February.

KEELER CHOSEN PAGEANT QUEEN

Dame Fashion To Style American Dress

Elizabeth Keeler was chosen Dame Fashion to rule over Alpha Kappa Gamma's fashion show in yesterday's election.

The voting was close between the five nominees for the honor. The other coeds nominated were Eliza Rose, Virginia Burd, Mrs. Kirby Smith, and Marguerite Morris. All of these girls will take part in the pageant.

Historical Approach

Miss Keeler as Dame Fashion will review the styles of American dress from 1776 to the present and will typify stylishness.

A resident of Clarksdale, Miss. Miss Keeler is entering the junior class of the University this year, transferring from Mississippi State college for women.

Series To Be Probed By Phi Committee

Early Termination of Christmas Holidays to be Discussed

A committee to investigate the student entertainment series was appointed yesterday by Frank McGinn, speaker of the Phi assembly.

Drew Martin is chairman of the committee composed of E. L. Peterson, Leighton Dudley, and Bob Dalton. Martin will announce a meeting of this group at an early date.

The bill for the Phi's Tuesday night meeting is a discussion of the early termination of Christmas holidays, as scheduled in the University's calendar of events. Following this, the group will talk about the Roosevelt administration's benefits to North Carolina.

"Pea Vine Special" May No Longer Run Passenger Service

Railway Company Has Made Application to Discontinue Ancient Relic

The old "Pea Vine Special," which has for many years transported students from University station to Carrboro, may soon get the retirement it deserves.

Application of the State University Railroad company to discontinue passenger service between Chapel Hill and University will be heard by the State Utilities commission at 10 o'clock October 7, C. H. Noah, of the commission's transportation department, said last Thursday.

Ancient Relic

The old train is one of the remaining railroad relics in this section of the country. The stove, the box cars in the rear, and even the old conductor with his cob pipe, bring back memories of long ago.

HUDSON CHOOSES EXECUTIVE GROUP FOR SOPHOMORES

Criteria For Selection Based On Interest Of Appointees

Fifteen students were named to the sophomore class executive committee yesterday by Bud Hudson, class president. Announcing that he had "tried to get a fair balance of fraternity and non-fraternity men, as well as a good blend of campus interests," Hudson released the following names as committee members:

Carl Fistel, chairman, Sam Davis, Charles Kline, Bill Stronach, Marvin Ruffin, M. A. Stroup, Jack Cheek, Jim Joyner, Charles Robinson.

Others

Bill McCachren, Mace Gwyer, Brooks Patton, James Hendon, Will Arey, and Bill Hendrix were also named.

The sophomore dance committee also announced by Hudson follows:

Ernest Byfield, chairman, Charles Wales, John Moore, Clarence Joyce, Wallace Winborne, and Don Ward.

The first executive council meeting will take place in Graham Memorial at 7:30 p. m. next Monday.

Alumni Review Will Go To 3,000 Subscribers

New Cover Design Picturing Kenan Stadium Is Used

The first issue of the Alumni Review for the scholastic year of 1936-37 was mailed to over 3,000 subscribers yesterday.

A new cover design picturing Kenan stadium is being used for this fall number. The magazine contains 28 pages of articles, reviews, and athletic news.

The custom of issuing a four-page football supplement each week is again followed this year. This supplement will be mailed weekly to the regular Review subscribers.

Ticket Sale

The athletic office yesterday reported that approximately 4,000 tickets had been sold for the Tennessee game.

That total does not include the reserved space for the 3,000 students or general admission seats, which go on sale at noon tomorrow.

Candidates for Dame Fashion

Mysterious Theft Adds to Growing Legend of Blonde Tradition-Breaker

A vivid likeness of the well-remembered Hazel Beacham is secreted some place on the campus today, and as a result, there is a growing rift between Editor Henry Lewis and his Yackety Yack staff meeting.

Four days ago, a photograph of the blonde former coed was mysteriously taken from the senior class file of the annual and posted on the bulletin board of the editorial office.

Yesterday afternoon it was neither on the bulletin board or back in the files.

Skulduggery

As a result, accusations of thievery were flying thick and fast between Editor Lewis and his subordinates. Lewis maintains complete innocence; his helpers are not so sure.

Miss Beacham, new students will learn some day through legend, was prominent last year in publications work, Playmaking, and as the first coed member of the Di senate.

Possible kidnappers of her photograph (as indicated to the press by an unimpeachable source) are: Lewis, Rutherford Yates, or Fletcher Ferguson, all acquaintances of hers last year.

Staff photographer Yates (our unimpeachable source says) recently asserted: "I wish that picture of Hazel wasn't up there." Lewis and Ferguson were the last seen (by our unimpeachable source) in the Yackety Yack office on the probable night of the kidnapping.

The number of keys fitting the Yackety Yack office has not been learned, though such a check-up would be certain to involve Pete Ivey, manager of Graham Memorial.

Other possible significance is the fact that none of the annual's staff has yet offered a reward for the missing object.

Complete details of the hunt for Hazel will be printed as soon as local justice swings into action.

Old South Bell Will Summon Students To Rally Tonight

Reduced Rail Prices For Football Special Is Still A Possibility

Southern Railway Seeking Per- mission from The I. C. C.

Coach Bob Fetzer, athletic director, announced yesterday that there is still a good possibility of reduced rail rates for the University's special football train to New York City on October 16.

The Southern railway is attempting to get permission from the Interstate Commerce commission for a reduction of the $15 round-trip daycoach fare to $13 or $14 for the N. Y. U. special.

Pete Ivey, student promoter of the football train, yesterday asserted, "I'm sure if we can reduce the cost to $13 that we can get 500 students to make the trip."

UNIVERSITY CLUB NAMES KEEPERS OF TEAM MASCOT

Lamb At 245 And Skeen Weighing 115 Pounds Are Chosen

The University club last night picked the big and the little of 3,000 students to serve as exalted custodians of Mascot Rameses III during the football season.

B. J. Lamb, weighing in at 245, was chosen the "big" over two other applicants. "Philbert" Skeen, who approaches 115, became the "little" by unanimous vote.

Official Garb

As Lamb, who himself is a stellar lineman on the Phi Gamma Delta football team, has no white flannels and can't buy his size in Chapel Hill, the official custodians' garb will this year be blue pants and a white sweater.

Following a discussion as to the possible difficulties of a Lamb leading a ram at the Tennessee game, the club passed to other business.

Welcomers

Jack Atwood, Gene Bricklemeyer, Bill Davis, Randy Berg, Bill Holland, Tom Bruce, and Page Keel were appointed by President Nick Read to be official welcomers of visiting football teams this fall.

Paul D'Ascensio was chosen to represent Graham dormitory at the club during the year.

Final arrangements for tonight's pep rally were announced.

Read announced that pictures of the club will be made next Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. in front of Graham Memorial.

Shack Dance

The lounge of Spencer hall will be turned into a temporary ballroom tonight for the occasion of the annual Shack dance.

Approximately 76 invitations have been issued, requesting the presence of representatives from various campus organizations, publications staff, athletic council, and class officers.

The dance will be carried on as it has been for the past two years, being of the blind date type, and each dance assigned by card.

Torch Parade To Begin From Post Office At 7:15 P. M.

Wolf Is Scheduled To Speak

Individual Carolina enthusiasts will be given ample opportunity to express confidence in this year's football squad tonight when the student body convenes for the first pep rally of the year.

The loud and continued ringing of the bell in South building at 7:15 will signify the beginning of the traditional parade from the front of the post office, through town to Columbia street, up to Cameron and then to South.

The Parade

A fire engine, torches, cars, music, and, of course students, will all have their place in the procession.

Torches may be obtained at the post office and at Swain hall free of charge. Students bringing cars may park on East Franklin street below the post office until the parade starts and then fall in behind the band.

At South building, the students will be greeted by Coach Ray Wolf, Captain Dick Buck, O. K. Cornwell, and members of the team. Rameses and his newly appointed keepers, Lamb and Skeen, will not appear tonight, making their initial debut tomorrow. Cheers and songs will be led by Hoge Vick and his crew.

MONOGRAM HEAD RESIGNS POSITION

Marvin Allen Elevated To Presidency

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the Monogram club Monday night, Jim Finlay formally resigned as president of the club. He was elected last year but found the pressure of other activities too great for him to continue and do justice to the position.

The executive committee, composed of Marvin Allen, James Finlay, Andy Bershak, Ramsay Potts, Irby Wright, Graham Gammon, Frank Umstead, Reuben Graham, and Pete Mullis, accepted the resignation and immediately elected Marvin Allen to the vacated presidency and Pete Mullis to fill the vacancy caused by Allen's promotion. Prior to his being elected as president Allen held the position of vice president of the Monogram club.

League Holds Panel Discussion On Spain

Professors Beale, Frazer, Von Beckeroff On Program

The Foreign Policy league held its first meeting of the year last night in the small lounge of Graham Memorial, with President George MacFarland presiding.

The panel discussion was on the subject, "The Implications of the Spanish Civil War." The panel was composed of Dr. H. K. Beale, Dr. Herbert Von Beckeroff of the University of Bonn, Germany, and President MacFarland.
